Four and one half days on a famous black college campus!

Four and one half days in the "Birthplace of the National Organization of Black Disciples of Christ."

It was nothing more than a dream. I have told this repeatedly to my wife and children, but still they are not convinced. They persist in claiming that we have "stolen some Child's birthday." They are demanding that I take all their lovely presents and give them to the poor.

I will have to admit that it was strange that we should all have identified dreams on Christmas night but didn't we all eat the same foods? And share in the same activities and excitements?

It just had to be something we ate!

We got out of bed early like any normal family on Christmas Day, exchanged greetings and presents; and spent an hour or so assembling toys for the little ones. And after a very light breakfast, because we didn't want to spoil our dinner, the wife suggested that we all go to church.

There was nothing unusual about that because we always go on Christmas and Easter and sometimes on New Years Day if the parties don't last too long. And it wasn't an unusual sermon. We've heard that Christmas Story so often, even the kids know it by heart.

The Wise Men following the Star in the East and finding the Christ Child in the manger and presenting Him with gifts of gold, and frankincense and myrrh. It's a beautiful story and one of our favorites because it's all about joy and happiness. And we enjoy the Christmas music. Why this year our daughter played the part of Mary, the mother of Jesus, in the Sunday School pageant?

We came home, following services, and had one of the best Christmas dinners I have ever eaten. The wife insisted on goose, although I prefer turkey, and it wasn't at all as greasy as I had imagined. We made some pop calls, sang carols and exchanged gifts with a few personal friends, and had a few drinks.

And then we went to bed.

This ragged, dirty little Child just popped up out of nowhere. He didn't belong on our side of town at all with His sniveling and crying and begging -- disturbing people in their sleep. He kept sobbing that we had "stolen His birthday" and that the presents "rightfully belonged to Him."

I was so angry at His presence and His insistence that I threatened to call the police -- to demand that they force Him back across the tracks where He obviously belonged. He was spoiling the Spirit of Christmas.

But somehow, as I looked into His tear-streaked face and heard His plaintive cry, I felt guilty. It was something about His eyes. They were brighter than the lights on the tree and more sparkling than our Christmas tinsel.

As I stared into those eyes, fascinated and almost hypnotized I saw the poor children of all the world and of all times and of all colors speaking in all tongues. They were naked and crippled and diseased and starving -- and

HIGHLBAUGH SUCCEEDS DICKERSON

A Chicago homemaker and part-time secretary has been elected second vice-moderator of the 1.3 million member Christian Church (Disciples of Christ).

Mrs. Richard G. Highbaugh was chosen unanimously November 18 by the Administrative Committee of the church to succeed Dr. Ann E. Dickerson who died October 25.

Mrs. Highbaugh, a six-year veteran of the church's General Board and Administrative Committee, will chair the key business committee for the Disciples' General Assembly and will serve two years.

The mother of two, Mrs. Highbaugh works part-time doing statistical typing in the controller's office of Marshall Field and Company.

A daughter, Claudia, 25, is studying for the ministry at Claremont School of Theology, Claremont, Calif. Her son, Burton, 21, is a student at Hiram College in Ohio but currently at home working.

Mrs. Highbaugh has been secretary of the state convention of Disciples in Illinois and served on the constitution committee. She was secretary of the Chicago Disciples Union for three years and has been active in Christian Women's Fellowship work.

She was first elected to the General Board of the Christian Church in 1969.

She is a member of Park Manor Christian Church on Chicago's South Side.

As a black member of the church's Administrative Committee, she once said that blacks have had significant influence on the church at the national and international level.

A lot of things additionally will have to happen at the grass roots for most effective service by blacks to the church, she said.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH NEWS
DR. ANN E. DICKERSON of Nashville, Tennessee -- at 38 years of age elected last August in San Antonio as second vice-moderator of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) -- was a recipient of the Ph. D degree in Child development from the University of Illinois just 10 days before she died suddenly in St. Louis, Missouri, October 28. She was attending the first meeting of a national church committee.

Services of memorial were held at the Gay Lea Church of Nashville where she had held a membership; at Meharry Medical College where she had been employed as assistant director of the Child Development Center and assistant professor of pediatrics; and the final service in the chapel of Fisk University where she had completed her college work.

Gay Lea Pastor, William A. Dansby gave the principal eulogy at Fisk University and was assisted by Drs. Kenneth Teegarden, General Minister and President of the Christian Church, Indianapolis, Indiana; T. Garrett Benjamin, Pastor of Second Christian Church, Indianapolis; and Samuel W. Hylton, Jr., Pastor of Centennial Christian Church, St. Louis and President of the National Convocation of the Christian Church.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Philandria Dickerson.

HENRY HUGH REED, JR. of St. Louis, Missouri -- 45 year old church leader in the Centennial Christian Church died November 9, 1975 in a local infirmary following a sudden illness. He was a teacher in the public high school system.

Brother Reed who grew up in the Centennial Church, had served as chairman of the official board, deacon, elder, church school teacher and member of the chancel choir.

He was a graduate of Tuskegee Institute (Alabama) and Harris Teachers College (St. Louis). Just two months before his death he received a Master of Arts degree from Webster College, Webster, Missouri. Special work was also done at Southern Illinois University.

Following graduation from Tuskegee Institute in 1954, he was commissioned a Lieutenant in the United States Air Force and had a three year tour of duty.

He left to mourn his loss a faithful mother who is also an outstanding church leader. The memorial service was conducted by Dr. Samuel W. Hylton, Jr., Pastor of the Centennial Church.
JUSTINE A. SUTTON of St. Louis, Missouri -- 62 year old church leader in Centennial Christian Church and the region died in early December 1975 in her home after an extended illness. She was a veteran elementary school teacher and specialist in mathematics in the St. Louis public school system.

Sister Sutton was the first woman in Centennial to serve as chair lady of the Official Board. She had been president of the local C.W.F.; chailady of various functional church commissions; and active in the district and regional structures of the Christian Church.

She was a vice-president of United Church Women of Greater St. Louis and had been president of the local C.W.F.; chairlady of various functional church commissions; and active in the district and regional structures of the Christian Church.

Ms. Sutton was in great demand as a crafts instructor in summer camps for young people.

She leaves to mourn her loss a sister, brother, nieces and nephews and a great number of friends.

The memorial service was conducted by Dr. Samuel W. Hylton, Jr., Pastor of the Centennial Church.

BLACK
CALLED LOW

A committee which deals with race and poverty issues for the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) has issued a request for a national consultation on employment of blacks in churches, sent a letter to President Ford on the New York City financial crisis, and approved a total of $119,000 in grants.

The General Committee on Reconciliation authorized the preparation of a resolution to be sent to the General Board of the Christian Church empowering the committee to convene and fund a consultation of general and regional units and institutional administrators to deal with the issues of minority employment.

In behalf of the National Convocation of the Christian Church, a committee, led by A. C. Stone and Clarence Clemons, both of Cincinnati, Ohio, presented a report on minority employment. It said that 16 general units have 9.5 per cent minority employment; 20 colleges have 7.3 per cent minority employment and 5.8 per cent minority enrollment; seven seminaries, 8.7 per cent minority employment and 8.4 per cent minority enrollment; and 37 regional offices, about 10 per cent minority employment.

"This is low compared with 20 per cent goal for church units set in 1969 by Resolution 19 at Seattle, Wash., to be achieved by 1975," said Stone, spokesman for the Convocation committee.
Black church leaders in Mississippi are being recruited for a training program on social action and service to begin in early 1976.

The program represents a new direction for the Mount Beulah Foundation and Development Corporation, organized in 1973 by the Division of Homeland Ministries of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ).

Under the new program, the Rev. John Perkins, Mendenhall, Miss., non-denominational minister, will recruit clergy and lay persons from Disciples' congregations and from other denominations.

The training program will be under the direction of the Delta Ministry which will work with the church leaders in determining the community problem they will tackle.

For the past two years, the board has funded projects initiated by persons and groups in Mississippi to achieve greater economic, social and cultural advantages.

The corporation board sees the change from funding to training as necessary for survival. A major reason for the shift is the need to become a major resource for black congregations in Mississippi willing to become involved in social change.

Competition for money is stiff and new sources for funds are drying up. Money for programs funded comes from the sale of the old Southern Christian Institute campus at Edwards, Miss.

Use of the $50,000 realized from the sale was limited to programs which continue the SCI "tradition of service to the black community".

While the recruiting and training program is in operation, grants will not be made for other programs.

COMPANIONS
CLERGY

Dear Companions:

While in the process of facilitating one of the several tasks of home-making, I was about to put the final touches on my husband's home "study nook" (with the exception of the desk, which is "never-never land"), when my eyes fell on two captions on the front page of the current issue (December-January 1975-76) of the Minister's Bulletin.

They were: "It's a Great Church", by Spencer P. Austin, President, Church Finance Council; and "The Ministry as Servanthood", by Thomas E. Wood, Executive Secretary, Department of Ministry and Worship, Division of Homeland Ministries. The former came through to me as the testimony of a veteran who had so disciplined himself in the course of his "journeyings" for Christ and His Church so, that on the eve of retirement, he could say with joy and a real sense of satisfaction "God bless you all", and "I'd choose this way again". The latter, in my opinion, offered a challenge - a call even for covenantal renewal and self-examination on the part of Christ's ambassadors. Among several things Mr. Wood asks: "Can a minister living in a $40,000 home in the suburbs really bridge the gulf to the Black mother in the ghetto, the Chicano in the harvest field, or the twelve year old, barefoot, illiterate in Appalachia? And, then he adds, "we, like you, call ourselves servants. We believe our ministry is modeled after the ministry of Christ. But sometimes His words bring us back to the stark truth: 'If any man would come after me, let him deny himself...".

Christmas dawned this year on a national and a world scene that is seemingly helpless but not hopeless. This is evident to me, and I believe to all who look and listen, when one takes even the casual glance at our age of crises and, along with it, a real hard look at efforts in ministry and witness and mission on the part of the Church; the testimony and challenges offered by its present leadership; the young men and women who have made the awesome decision for full-time Christian service.

As "Companions of the Clergy" and during this particular season when we do homage to God for his gift "Too wonderful for words", let us put aside our best gifts possible for the "Star Supporter Fund" of the National Convocation of the Christian Church, for the education of Black ministers for Christ; for "servants" who will take the risks to communicate Christ's "Good News" of liberation - of "Peace on Earth and Goodwill toward mankind."

Following up from our luncheon conversations at the General Assembly in San Antonio, plans are shaping up for a marvelous event in Nashville during the 4th Biennial Assembly of the Convocation, at Fisk University next year. Indications are that not only will the "Companions of the Clergy" turn out in their stylish best, but they will also bring an offering to Christ worthy of the "High Calling", that His transcending love may be known. His saving grace among all people.

"Companions" in Alabama presently reign. Who will hold the sceptre in the bi-ennium 1976-1978?

A fruitful New Year to all!

Sincerely,

Marion Sands Henry

MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP FOR ANN DICKERSON

FAULKNER SWORN IN

Elder Charles Faulkner, pastor of the Clark Street Christian Church of Greenville, Texas, and an elementary public school teacher, was recently sworn in by District Judge Hollis Garmon as a member of the Hunt County Juvenile Board.

Brother Faulkner is filling a vacancy on the board erected by the Rev. M. Curtis Perry who moved to Dallas.

The Juvenile Detention Center serviced an ever increasing number of youngsters in 1975.
"Give me the strength to be free and to endure the burden of freedom and the loneliness of those without chains." Thus entoned the veteran scholar, mystic and lecturer Dr. Howard Thurman of San Francisco, California as he led a special forum series at Second Christian Church of Indianapolis last November.

Dr. Thurman, once listed by Life magazine as "one of the 12 great preachers of this century," held a full sanctuary spell-bound for three consecutive nights as Second Church sponsored its first Annual Fall Lecture Series in partnership with the Lilly Endowment Fund.

Dr. T. Garrett Benjamin, Jr., pastor of Second Church, presided each night as Thurman inspired the congregation when he declared; "Freedom is the ability to stand in your place in the present and so act in the present as to determine or shape or influence the future."

A "Howard Thurmond Recording and Listening Room" in Second Church was dedicated during the lecture series.

The new Board member is active in the life and work of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in Johnson City.

Mrs. Bessie Thomas Williams of Johnson City, Tennessee, a daughter of the late Dr. James H. Thomas, widely known Christian educator of Martinsville, Virginia was elected to the Board of Education of Johnson City during the 1975 elections.

Mrs. Williams received the highest number of votes in the run-off and will serve six years. The Board chose her to be the secretary.

After two years, the St. James Church of Christ (Disciples of Christ) of Durham, North Carolina continues to struggle and prove that an essentially all-black congregation can grow in a predominantly white neighborhood.

Unlike in most communities, whites in the area are not running because a few blacks have moved into the neighborhood.

Elder R. Earl Jones, pastor of St. James, has been striving to reach all of the residents, regardless of color, by house-to-house visits and the purchase of a church bus.

CAPITAL AREA BLACKS MEET

A group of Black Disciples of Christ leaders representing five predominantly Black congregations in the Greater Capitol Area was convened in Washington, D.C. the week-end following Thanksgiving to consider church development among Black people in the region.

Elder Frank Bradley was selected to chair the ad hoc Task Force as future discussions were scheduled. Oscar Haynes, president-elect of the National Convocation of the Christian Church, and William K. Fox, the Administrative Secretary, were among the resource persons participating.

Ministers' wives present agreed to lead the Capitol Area in sending no less than $1000 to the Nashville assembly of the National Convocation August 18-22 for the Ministers Wives Fellowship scholarship fund project.
DICKASON to SAGINAW

Elder Booker Theodore Dickason, Jr. left his position in New York City as assistant to the area minister of the Northeastern Association of Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ) to become co-pastor of First Christian Church in Saginaw, Michigan as of January 1, 1976.

Ted completed his college work at Hiram College, Hiram, Ohio and was an honor student at Union Theological Seminary in New York City where he received a master of divinity degree in 1974.

Brother Dickason is the 10th member of his family to be ordained as a minister of the Disciples of Christ. The Dickason family line has been active participants in Christian Church history for 110 years.

While in New York City, Elder Dickason served as staff for the United Church of Christ-Disciples task force on youth activities; participated in the Interfaith Coalition for Equal Justice; advised the Black Ministers Fellowship of Metropolitan New York; and was active with the Christian Education Research for Black Disciples in the New York City area.

The Homeland Ministries board of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) recently appropriated $36,000 to assist three congregations in Texas and California. There is one church each in Black, Hispanic and White areas.

One grant for $15,000 is for the Hispanic Emmanuel Christian Church of San Benito, Texas. It is located in a Spanish-speaking area and growing rapidly under the leadership of a Cuban pastor, Feliberto Pereira. To go along with these funds in a project to erect a new building are $15,000 from the congregation, $10,000 from the regional church, $7,000 from nearby Rio Grande valley congregations and a loan of $30,000 from the Board of Church Extension of Indianapolis.

A second grant for $15,000 is for a new congregation in a fast-growing White suburban development southwest of Houston, Texas. To aid this cause $10,000 is to be raised by the region and $10,000 by the Coastal Plains area churches. The new congregation will start with a pastor-enabler and hold services in members' homes until such time as a building becomes available.

A third grant, this one for $6,000 is for a Black church at Lynwood, Calif., which will pick up the assets of First Christian Church, which has been discontinued as a congregation in the region. The Southern California regional church for this first year is helping with leadership and a grant of $5,000.

Pastor and Mrs. George Hart were honored November 2, 1975 on their 6th anniversary as minister at the Mt. Olive East Christian Church, Martinsville, Virginia. The slogan was "WE REALLY LOVE YOU, GEORGE AND LUCY HART, AND WE THINK YOU ARE DYNOmite." The Harts are leaders in the Piedmont area.

The Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) will show a net gain in participating members in 1975 for the first time in 12 years. Baptisms will be up by the largest percentage in 16 years.

The data is drawn from reports of local congregations and will be included in the church's 1976 Year Book and Directory which is now available.

Despite the gains, the church's overall 1.3 million membership again will record a decline since that figure includes long inactive persons and congregations, some of which gradually are being weeded out.

Participating membership climbed from 857,629 in 1974 to 862,755 in 1975 and baptisms were up 3.4 per cent to 22,624.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH NEWS

INDIANS MEET CHURCH LEADERS

Leaders of 15 church bodies and 15 Indian tribes held an historic pow-wow on the Sioux reservation here, some Indians indicating they felt about Christianity like they felt about General Custer.

The occasion was the first Native American Consultation with the Churches, October 1-3, 1975 and the purpose was to measure Indian aims and needs against church resources and sense of mission. The Inter-religious Foundation for Community Organization of New York City was the coordinator for the meeting.

Six Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) leaders were among some 120 persons who gathered in a dingy gymnasium in the heart of the Million-acre Rosebud reservation of the Brule Sioux.

The location was about 100 miles east of Wounded Knee and the violent confrontations between government and Indian haunted the consultation. Tribal participants complained of constant FBI harassment and asserted that wanton killing of Indians continues.

The churches were seeking to meet the Indians on their own ground and determine what the responsibility and ministry to Indian people is 200 years after the birth of the nation.

Though no formal findings were reached at the consultation, IFCO issued a report upon which denominational or ecumenical action will be based.

Among informal sharings:

--Life expectancy of the Indian is low, suicide rate high, poverty rampant, alcoholism and upper respiratory diseases severe.

--Indian morale is dominated by concerns over loss of land, broken treaties, forced civilization and other people always making their decisions.

--Indians are working on several legal fronts to regain and protect their land, to block rape of the environment, and to ensure water and fishing rights.

--Efforts are being made to recapture and preserve Indian culture, including the Indian religion which is considered essential by some as the force that binds Indian people together.
Dr. C. Eric Lincoln, author of the "The Black Muslims in America" and "The C. Eric Lincoln Series in Black Religion" will be the principal lecturer during the fourth biennial assembly of the National Convocation of the Christian Church, August 18-22, 1976 at Fisk University. Among the six graduate degrees, Mr. Lincoln has earned are a M.Ed and a Ph.D from Boston University. He left Union Theological Seminary in New York in 1973 to become professor of religion and sociology and adjunct professor of ethics and society at the School of Divinity at Vanderbilt University.

The following six predominantly Black congregations were among the "One Hundred Contributing and/or Reporting Churches Reporting the Largest Number of Additions":

These congregations are to be commended for doing the basic mission of the Church so well. This listing recognizes 104 congregations on Pages S277-278 with the leading congregation - again Central of Wichita, Kansas reporting a total of 272 additions for 1975 - four other congregations beside the Fountain and Thomas Chapel Churches of Christ, Disciples of Christ reporting a total of sixty-two.

Did the church clerk or board secretary in your church fill out the report blank and get it back to your Regional Church Office? Will somebody in your congregation be responsible for getting it in for 1976?

Every congregation which sends in a report is placed in "The Record". Other members of the Household of Faith can be encouraged to go on when they see how God has been working through your church during the past year.

Another part of "The Record" is reporting how your congregation has used God's money to do His work in the U.S.A. and around the world. Unfortunately no predominantly Black Disciples of Christ congregation has yet made the top "One Hundred" in this respect. However, there are several who could and eventually will.

An offering envelope in one congregation has this on the front: "Current Expenses for My Own Comfort $; Benevolences for My Neighbors Necessities $; Building Fund for Our Church Home $; Special or Other $.

What will "The Record" say about how your congregation has used God's money to do His work. Especially about "Benevolence for My (needy) Neighbor's Necessities" as compared with "Current Expenses for My Own Comfort"?

A familiar but still challenging Christian stewardship goal is to strive to "Give as much for others as for ourselves."

Effie Long Blair of Houston, Texas - an educator prepared to do Church work by Northwest Christian College of Eugene, Oregon and the Graduate Seminary of Phillips University in Enid, Oklahoma - became the successor to Dr. Lorenzo Evan's post in the national Church February 1, 1976 as director of education for minority constituencies of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ).

While being employed as an elementary school teacher for six years in the Houston public school system, Mrs. Blair was active as a Christian Women's Fellowship and Bible School leader in the University Christian Church.

January 25, 1976 in a special worship service at First Christian Church of Houston, she was ordained to do Christian work upon recommendations by the Official Board of First Church to the appropriate bodies of the Regional Church.

The Rev. Blair's active association with Houston's South Suburban Human Relations Council, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Urban League, Congress of Racial Equality, League of Women Voters and Parent-Teacher Organization will enable her to be effective in her work with Black Hispanic and Native American congregations.

As a former Disciples minister's wife, she has been a part of the life and work of predominantly Black congregations like Third Church, Warren, Ohio; Park Manor Church, Chicago, Illinois; Third Church, Bloomington, Illinois; East Sixth Street Church, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma and Pine Street Church, Tulsa, Oklahoma.

The graph above describes the current economic condition; while the labor force has continued to climb, employment fell off drastically in 1974, and is just beginning to recover. This produces the high unemployment rates as noted above. Note that the MINORITY UNEMPLOYMENT RATE continues to run twice that of the general rate, and is almost twice as high as in 1968. (From NEWSLETTER Feb. 19, 1976 - National Office of PROJECT EQUALITY)

PLAN NOW FOR NASHVILLE

Unfinished Black Agenda—1976

A National Urban League summary of socio-economic conditions in the Black community, U.S.A. at the end of 1975 highlights several challenges to Black as well as institutions in the American system. The February 16, 1976 issue of the AMSTERDAM NEWS gave two column coverage to the League report on the "State of the Black Nation". Here is a partial listing of issues which contribute to the UNFINISHED BLACK AGENDA in this Bicentennial year.

1. HEALTH—White women are expected to live to be 76.7 years old and Black women 71.3 years. Black males have a life expectancy of 62.9 years as against the 68.9 average of white males.

The infant mortality rate for Blacks is twice the rate of whites.

Only 2% of the nation's medical doctors are Black; 2.6% of the dentists and 5.7% of the professional nurses.

2. EDUCATION—The federal government appropriated $215 million in 1975 for the Elementary and Secondary Education Act as compared to $236 million in 1974. This Act is designed to assist school systems and community groups raise the quality of education and operate programs to reduce the negative effects of racial isolation.

The gap between the number of Black and white graduates is widening according to a report prepared by the National Association for Equality in Higher Education.

3. LEGISLATION—During the first session of the 94th Congress, legislators failed to pass legislation pertaining to socio-economic programs and policies that would bolster full employment.

The law-makers defeated the Administration's attempt to have recipients of the food stamp program pay more for the stamps.

Congress defeated three Presidential vetoes dealing with renewed funding authority for health services and nurse training programs; the amendment and extension of the school lunch and child nutrition programs; and the appropriation for education.

After much filibustering in the Senate, Congress affirmed its guarantee of the right to vote for Blacks and expanded that guarantee to include Hispanic Americans when it extended the Voting Rights Act of 1965 to another seven years.

Several northern senate Democrats, considered to be liberals on civil rights issues, joined the ranks of conservatives to support an anti-school busing amendment.

4. CRIME - Blacks were four times as likely to be robbed as whites, twice likely to be assaulted, and four times likely to be raped. 51 percent of the murder victims in 1975 were Black.

A Race Relations Information Center survey revealed that in 42 states out of a total of 41,894 state police personnel, only 616 or 1.5 percent were Black.

In a city like Chicago where 32.7 of the population is Black, only 10 percent of the police force was Black.

The League concludes that "the experiences over the past year made it clear that in addition to monies, part of the new directions that must be followed in solving the crime problem is the broader participation of Black and minority communities in the planning, development and implementation of crime prevention programs."

The Report also urges the empowerment of "minority groups to recruit among their members in order to increase the number of minorities serving on the law enforcement agencies throughout the country."

Scholarships for Disciple Students

Fifty-three annual tuition scholarships of $1,140 each are available now on "a first-come-first served basis" at Jarvis Christian College in Hawkins, Texas. Young people who are either members of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), gifted in music (voice and/or band) or have special abilities in athletics will be given preference.

The $1,140 annual tuition scholarship may be renewed after the first year, dependent upon the maintaining of a "B" average.

In making the announcement, Jarvis President John P. Jones stated that these are United Christian Missionary Society Scholarships which "may be renewed for three years provided the student meets the set criteria."

Dr. Jones said "We are looking for above average high school scholars, talented students and young people who are members of the Disciples of Christ."

Interested persons should contact President Jones at Jarvis Christian College, Hawkins, Texas 75765.

A Washington, D.C. based organization called "The Black Forum on Foreign Policy" has urged that black American Vietnam veterans and other Afro-Americans "not be a part of the divide and rule tactics" in Angola - or anywhere else on the international or national scene.

In a Black Forum statement on "Angola Mercenaries" distributed in February, the Foreign Policy study group gave the following reasons for opposing the involvement of Black men and women in the Angolan conflict.

First -- it is increasingly believed that US government funds are being used to recruit and finance these black American mercenaries.

If that is the case, then black American men are once again being exploited by their own government to sacrifice their lives at the expense of a very questionable US foreign policy.

Both Houses of the U.S. Congress have voted to deny American aid to Angola. Yet, the Administration has doggedly advanced its insistence on furnishing arms and ammunition for the continued destruction of the people and the resources in that bountiful land.

Second -- no matter which party gains control of the New Angolan government, it is clearly not the business of the United States government to be intimately involved in affecting that outcome. And, it is certainly not appropriate for black Americans to participate in that tragic war that has pitted black African warriors in a devastating battle against each other.

Third -- we take special note that the context of the situation in which black Americans are being solicited to participate is one that finds an identity of interests between the US and the racist regime of South Africa . . .

Fourth -- black Americans have for too long suffered as powerless members of a society that has selfishly ignored the needs and the goals of oppressed peoples both here and abroad.

Thus, it is genocidal for black Americans to succumb to the misguided principles of an American administration that encourages the killing of Africans.

Tragically, economic conditions in this country make too many black Vietnam veterans see the offer of pay to fight in Angola as an answer to their financial problems . . .

Continuing in the style of its forerunner, the Second Annual National Retreat for Black Ministers of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) provided ample opportunity for soul searching, personal reflection, pointed challenges and mountaintop rejoicing.

Eighty-eight Disciples' ministers, seminary students and church vocations college majors from twelve states gathered in Cincinnati, Ohio March 17-18 for a program emphasizing LET OUR REJOICINGS RISE!

Predominantly black congregations United, Bond Hill and Fifth were brought together as hosts by Pastors John Compton, Frank Garner, and J. Curtis Brooks. Clarence L. Johnson Jr., Director of Black Ministry, Indianapolis, was the coordinator.

Frederick G. Sampson, Jr., pastor of Tabernacle Baptist Church, Detroit, Michigan, delivered three soul-stirring Bible lectures on the theme. Supported sermons were rendered by Brothers Booker T. Dickason, co-pastor of First Church, Saginaw, Michigan; Melvin C. Dickson, pastor of Warner Avenue Church, Dallas, Texas; and Vice-Bishop Mordeci Johnson of the Goldsboro/Raleigh District, Wilson, North Carolina.

A 25 member "Steering Committee" was selected to develop retreat programs.

Group-wide discussions showed real concern for finding methods of providing recognition to leadership of fellowship groups in areas with dual regional structures and the creation of a major unit of the church to deal with concerns of the Black constituency.

Seminar groups reported that among the programmatic concerns were the nurture and development of young ministers, crime in the black and urban community and certification and standards of ministers.

Other highlights included a report by Walter Bingham, Pastor of Third Christian Church, Louisville, Kentucky, on the Fifth Assembly of the World Council of Churches meeting in Nairobi, Kenya and a panel discussion on Restructure and the Organization of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) which included William K. Fox, Administrative Secretary, National Convocation; Francis Craddock, Vice-President, Division of Homeland Ministry; Robert A. Thomas, President of the Division of Overseas Ministry, Thomas E. Wood, Executive Secretary of the Department of Ministry and Walter Bingham.

The choirs of United Christian and Fifth Christian Churches led singing in two services which provided the group with festive occasions for which to rejoice.

Mrs. Mozelle Chaney of Cleveland, Ohio, invited back a second time as pianist for the retreat sessions, electrified the ministers.

The participants voted the following dates and locations for future retreats:

- April 12-14, '77 - Washington DC
- March 7-9, '78 - Roper, NC
- May 1-3, '79 - Jacksonville FL
- June 4-6, '80 - Oklahoma City OK
- April 15-17, '81 - Detroit MI

PLAN NOW FOR NASHVILLE
The memorial service for the illustrious Paul Robeson held January 24, 1976 in New York City's Mother AME Zion church had a printed program with a statement Paul wrote in response to the "Salute to Paul Robeson" held at Carnegie Hall in New York, April 9, 1973.

Excerpts from that statement are printed here as a memorial to the Robeson spirit.

"Warmest thanks to all the many friends here and throughout the world who have sent me greetings on my 75th birthday. Though I have not been able to be active for several years, I want you to know that I am the same Paul, dedicated as ever to the worldwide cause of humanity for freedom, peace and brotherhood.

Here at home, my heart is with the continuing struggles of my own people to achieve complete liberation from racist domination, and to gain for all black Americans and the other minority groups not only equal rights but an equal share.

In the same spirit, I salute the colonial liberation movements of Africa, Latin America and Asia... Together with the partisans of peace--the peoples of the socialist countries and the progressive elements of all other countries--I rejoice that the movement for peaceful coexistence has made important gains, and that the advocates of 'cold war' and 'containment' have had to retreat.

On this occasion, too, I want to say a warm hello to the many dear friends who have sent me encouraging messages during my long illness. I am deeply grateful to you all--

Though ill health has compelled my retirement, you can be sure that in my heart I go on singing."

"But I keeps laughing
Instead of crying,
I must keep fighting
Until I'm dying, and Ol' Man River
He just keeps rolling along"

Paul Robeson

The first National Conference of Concerned Black Women in the United Methodist Church was held at the Georgian Terrace Hotel in Atlanta on January 16-18, 1976. This was the first meeting of this group of women since 1968 when the Controversial Central Jurisdiction of the United Methodist Church was abolished. It was noted that there has been a general decline in the participation of black women in the United Methodist Church since the dissolution of the Central Jurisdiction.

The findings of a research survey project conducted by Ms. Annette Hutchins-Felder of New York provided factual trends for the consideration of the work groups. Among Ms. Hutchins-Felder's findings were the following:

65 to 75% of black United Methodist are women, making a total group of approximately 245,000.

Racism and white female domination rank among the major reasons black women do not participate beyond the local church.

Existing church structures and organizations are not concerned with vital concerns of black women, but with "tea and cookie" issues.

Racism among white women has emerged as the tide has shifted from minority concerns to women's concerns.

Black male domination has contributed to black women's lack of participation, particularly in leadership roles (beyond the women's society) in local churches.

While more leadership roles for women have opened up in the church, (denomination) white women are in them because they tend to have more time and money and influence to participate on boards and committees.

(From BEDROC NEWS, Dec-Jan. 1976)
ALICE MAE SIMMS MC LEAN of Vicksburg, Mississippi -- 55 year old Church leader and beautician, February 1, 1976 in a local infirmary.

The memorial service was conducted February 8 by Elder D. C. Griffin, minister of Central Christian Church in Vicksburg.

Mrs. McLean was a sister of Elder G. E. Lakes, minister in Wichita, Kansas. She joined the Christian Church in Port Gibson through the late K. R. Brown. After moving to Vicksburg, she became a member of the finance committee and board of trustees at Central Church and served as vice-president of the third district of the Mississippi Christian Missionary Convention.

Mrs. McLean was active in high school sports and was the president of the Local Vicksburg Beautician Club.

She leaves to mourn her loss a father, two brothers, two sisters and a host of distant relatives and many friends.

RICHARD ROBY of Shelby, Mississippi. Brother Roby was a local minister in the Church. Pastoral services to Mr. Roby had been provided by Elder Edward L. Griffin, minister for Christian Church congregations in Clarksdale, Shelby and Mound Bayou.

ELIZABETH GIVENS of St. Louis, Missouri died February 10, 1976.

Dr. Samuel W. Hylton, Jr., minister at Centennial Christian Church, conducted graveside rites at St. Peter's Cemetery and issued a printed "Tribute" to the high quality services to humankind by Miss Givens.

She had served Centennial Church and the church-at-large for more than 50 years as a church school teacher, church Treasurer, outreach Treasurer, and Christian Womens Fellowship worker. Her humility, devotion to duty and loyal devotion was undiminishong.

She served the community best through the public school system where for nearly 30 years she taught and worked as an administrator.

Ms. Givens leaves to mourn her loss a brother, sister and many friends and other relatives.

EDNA BRINKLEY of St. Louis, Missouri -- devoted member of the Centennial Christian Church, February 20, 1976. Mrs. Brinkley had been active as a member of the Board of Deaconesses and was in the Home Care Assistance Program of the National Benevolent Association - the social and health services of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ). Dr. Samuel W. Hylton, minister at Centennial, conducted the memorial service.

"A Sound from Heaven"

The Theme "A sound from Heaven" claimed the attention of more than 100 eastern seaboard Disciples of Christ Black ministers assembled in the annual Goldsboro-Raleigh institute for pastors March 3-5 at Goldsboro, North Carolina.

Principal Bible lecturer was Dr. Kenneth E. Henry, Chairman of the department of church history at the Inter-denominational Theological Center in Atlanta, Georgia.

The Rev. Lester D. Palmer, vice-president secretary of the Pension Fund of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), brought a major address.

A Minister's Wives Fellowship program was also a feature of the Institute.

Elder Karey E. L. Gee, associate regional minister for the Christian Church in North Carolina, joined presiding Bishop James L. Melvin in leading a discussion on "A Look at the Full Time Ministry - What is the Meaning of Support?"

Other participants included Elders C. W. McLaurin, J. H. Beckton, George T. Sandlin, Gladys Brewer, and J. F. McLaurin.

Disciples Help Haitians

The Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) will spend $9,000 to help Haitian refugees in the United States settle their legal problems and to meet their daily needs.

The Haitians fled their country in small fishing boats and were imprisoned as illegal aliens in Florida instead of being granted political asylum, according to Miss Marilynne Hill, who heads the Disciples' relief and development fund.

The money, donated through the Week of Compassion offering, will be used by the Christian Community Service Agency of Dade County to secure the release of those imprisoned and to gain refugee status.

The refugees are in the 13-35 age range, 70 per cent unskilled, French speaking and 30 per cent women, according to Miss Hill.

Disciples contributed $7,500 to the program last year.

Congregations also gave $16,000 for relief and reconstruction in Guatemala. (Christian Church News)
A creative project in continuing education for Black and Hispanic Disciples of Christ ministers in metropolitan New York City and New Jersey is continuing in the St. Mary's Church of Christ (Disciples of Christ), Brooklyn, New York.

The program was initiated three years ago through the cooperative sponsorship of the Northeastern Region, Board of Higher Education Board of Church Extension of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), and New York Theological Seminary.

This year the Christian Church Foundation, Inc. provided a grant which helped to continue the program.

Bishop J. W. Gardner, seated, pastor of the St. Mary congregation and presiding prelate for one of the eastern seaboard Assemblies, talks in his church study with Elder Roger Williams, minister of the Williamsburg Christian Church. Both pastors support the Leadership Project.

More than 50 ministers from metropolitan New York City and New Jersey regularly attend the Leadership Project.
A first "Consultation on the Ministry" was held at Jarvis Christian College, Hawkins, Texas February 21-22 seeking to find ways in which the college could serve both interested students and nearby predominantly Black congregations through a program of ministerial preparation.

Dr. Emmett J. Dickson, college minister and special lecturer in religion at Jarvis, developed the event with the full support of Dr. John Paul Jones, Jarvis' president.

The Church needs creative writers, communication technicians, administrators, social service workers, higher education professors, congregational ministers, linguists, office stenographers and/or secretaries, accountants and maintenance engineers - just to name a few.

Would you work for a salary paid by the Church? Do you have marketable skills and/or professions you would be willing to place in the ministry of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ?

Would you move from where you are to serve in such positions? Are you willing to really get involved in the Church?

If you want to know more about such opportunities, fill out the following blank and send it to the office of the National Convocation of the Christian Church; attention - W. K. Fox.

Twenty-two persons, including students majoring in religion, ministers serving nearby congregations, administrative faculty and national church staff were represented in the consultation.

Discussions revolved around ways to enrich curriculum and provide continuing education opportunities for both full-time students and ministers serving Texas churches.

The group assembled agreed to develop a program called JARVIS COOPERATIVE EFFORT IN MINISTRY which would mobilize resources through the Church and community to achieve those goals.

Black Disciples To Visit Africa

Five black Disciples of Christ leaders will be among the twenty-one member Church-to-Church Visitation delegation to Kenya, Zambia, South Africa and Zaire July 14 - August 5.

The black church leaders are Mrs. Alva Brown, associate minister, the Christian Church in the Southwest, Fort Worth, Texas; Dr. Raymond E. Brown, vice-president, Board of Church Extension, Indianapolis; Dr. Enoch W. Henry Jr., director of special congregational services, Indianapolis; Dr. Kenneth E. Henry, professor, International Theological Center, Atlanta, Georgia; and Dr. Samuel W. Hylton Jr., pastor of Centennial Church, St. Louis, Missouri and president of the National Convocation of the Christian Church.
A campaign to draw at least 100 to the Disciple Men's gathering at Purdue University from the Capital area was launched recently by a group of laymen from Twelth Street Church. The more than 150 men and women, representing five congregations, heard Frank T. Springer, Director of Financial Development, challenge them to better churchmanship and accept a new challenge by joining with some 3,000 Disciples June 18 to 22, 1976, to discover "Who's in Charge". Pictured left to right, are, Richard Gentry, Emcee, Oscar Haynes, Co-chairman, Mr. Springer, Rev. George W. Jones, Pastor, and Macon Williams, Co-Chairman, a third Co-Chairman not pictured was I. Q. Hurdle.

Disciples leaders made a similar "fraternal visit" to Asia and Asian churches four years ago.

The leaders will meet with their counterparts in the African churches to become acquainted with life and mission of the churches, and with secular leaders to weigh the social and political context.

They will try to demonstrate that Disciples see the church as a world community rather than a national one, that they understand mission as two-way exchange and that contacts must be broader than just through a foreign mission board.

Dr. James A. Moak of Lexington, Ky., the church's moderator, and Dr. Kenneth L. Teegarden, Indianapolis, the general minister and president, will lead the delegation.

The Pastor's Salary

The Penn Central Conference of the United Church of Christ issued a "Salary Guide for Pastors" which was adapted in its annual conference meeting June 6-8, 1975.

The twelve principles given have been drawn from the experience of several denominations. Thus the guidelines are broad-based.

Principle number six states that "A full-time pastor (sole pastor or senior pastor) serving a congregation of up to 400 members should receive, as a minimum, a salary equal to the median family net income of the community. This

"In addition, the church would provide the free use of a parsonage (or a housing allowance based on 30% of cash salary), pay its portion of the pension payment, health insurance, and provide adequate reimbursement for business expenses, including an auto allowance."

"Some churches provide additional fringe benefits."

Principle number ten advises "the base of the salary would be higher in more complex job situations, for example:

a. Size of congregation -
   400 - 650 add $ 500
   650 -1000 add 1,000
   1000 -1500 add 1,500

b. Other complicating conditions - inner city church, new church organization, complicated multi-church, rural field, . . .
   Add appropriate amount."

The executive council of the United Church of Christ has authorized a team to meet with leaders of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) to explore possible union.

The general minister and president of the Disciples, Dr. Kenneth L. Teegarden, reacted positively to the United Church action, indicating a meeting has been set to explore next steps.

In response to the United Church of Christ action, Dr. Teegarden observed:

"As far back as 1961, the predecessor body to our General Assembly authorized us to explore union with the United Church of Christ when it seemed appropriate. We've not been working on it for the last nine years because all our energies have gone into the wider possibilities of the Consultation on Church Union. Any revival of these two-way conversations would be done with full commitment to the continuing COCU developments.

"We feel very positive toward the United Church of Christ interest in re-opening union discussions, and look forward to meeting in September with United Church of Christ representatives to explore what ought to be the next steps."

Thirty-four years ago Black Disciples of Christ were spurred on to go back to Nashville through a clarion call sounded by this typical C. H. Dickerson poem:

Were going back to Nashville, we’re going back to Nashville Where we started 25 years ago. The Pioneers are falling, we hear the remnant calling, Our hearts turn back to Nashville, and we must go.

We’re going back to Nashville, the home of Preston Taylor She broadcasts invitations and surely we’ll not fail her Sister Taylor says “Ready”, Crawford and Walton “Steady” Maloy and others beckon and we must go . ... We’re going back to Nashville, ’Tho some have crossed the river Echoing are their voices, cheering us on forever Our names are on the roster, with time’s wheel turning faster Let’s meet once more in Nashville, before we go . . .

The late C. H. Dickerson’s poem of 1942 has continuing relevance in 1976. ‘WE’RE GOING BACK TO NASHVILLE.’

The Convocation event at Fisk University and Meharry Medical College in Nashville, Tennessee can make this Bicentennial Year really significant for members of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ).
Benjamin Introduces Carter

Front-running Democratic nominee, Jimmy Carter of Georgia, visited Second Christian Church of Indianapolis just prior to the May Primary in Indiana. The following is a version of Pastor T. Garrott Benjamin’s introduction of the former governor. The description appeared in the May 17 issue of THE WASHINGTON POST with William Lee Miller, author of “Piety Along the Potomac” and faculty member at Indiana University, given the by-line—

Brenda, Carl, and Shirley were singing “There’s no tomorrow” when Mr. Carter, for whom there evidently is a tomorrow, was escorted to the pulpit platform by the pastor, Dr. T. J. Benjamin Jr., and seated in a chair facing the alcove where the trio was singing. That meant he sat with a side view of himself fully visible to the rest of us through 20 more minutes of gospel music, clapping his hands, tapping his foot, and being whispered to by Dr. Benjamin. He turns out to be one of those persons who does not look as good in person as he does on TV. Seen thus in the flesh, close up, unprotected, unedited, and in profile he is not the glamour figure of his endlessly smiling photographs and TV appearances but a middle-aged ex-governor with undistinguished socks and a receding chin. I liked him better for that.

I also liked the way Dr. Benjamin introduced him. I had looked at some Carter propaganda in preparation for the evening and although I assume Mr. Carter’s first name is James I certainly couldn’t find that out from his leaflet. It came not from a mere Carter presidential campaign but from the Jimmy Carter presidential campaign; it is Jimmy Carter who “has not spent years in Washington”; Jimmy Carter who “doggedly fought special interests and selfish manipulators”; Jimmy Carter’s campaign that “isn’t supported by power brokers paying back political favors; Jimmy Carter 12 times in two short pages of text; Jimmy Carter five times in a few paragraphs under his picture; Jimmy Carter every time the text itself refers to him. Somebody somewhere surely has made a decision about what he is to be called. So, having been Jimmy-ed almost into sheer Republicanism, I was glad to hear Mr. Benjamin introduce his guest as Gov. Carter.

He said he had first met the governor as an unscheduled speaker at a board meeting of the National Urban Coalition; sometimes, he said, you have to put up with an in-troo-sion in the agenda. At the subtly needling use of the word “intrusion” a murmur of amused comprehension went through the black congregation. Carter’s eyes abruptly turned wary and his smile momentarily solidified. Dr. Benjamin clearly is his own man.

Mrs. Lydan Range of Columbus, Ohio, is chairwoman for the nominating committee. Serving with her are D. W. Heath, Rockford, Ill.; Clarence Johnson, Indianapolis; Frank Bradley, Hagerstown, Md.; Claudia Hightbaugh, Claremont, Calif.; Mrs. Verona Rattin, Jackson, Miss.; and Mrs. Eli Wilbert, Dayton, Ohio. (from Christian Church News).
More than 400 representatives of community organized groups throughout the nation gathered in New York City at the International House of Columbia University June 25-27 to review the underlying causes of the economic crisis and protest "repression in America."

Ann Douglas, executive director of the Interreligions Foundation for Community Organization, Inc. - The Conference sponsor - launched the meeting with an emphasis on the urgent and continuing need for an aroused and vigilant citizenry if the true values of economic justice, liberty and self-fulfillment were to survive.

A major background paper on "What is Happening in the Economic Crisis" was presented by Dr. Roy Sano of the Pacific School of Religion in Berkeley, California. Responses were given by Marxist Thinker, Michelle Russell of Detroit, Michigan and Joel Gajardo, the Chilean exile now professor at Cornell University, Ithica, New York.

The responders linked economic crisis with the realities of oppression in America and throughout the world.

Conferees plunged into energetic floor discussion.

Following a series of presentations on "Organizing Style and Ideology" on the second day, the more than 400 attendants became immersed in 18 workshops dealing with issues and strategies. One of the climaxing features was a drama entitled "S-1" - a take-off on the proposed Senate Bill which contains alleged national security measures. The play points out aspects of the bill which could lead to a police-state in the U.S.A. The play was written and directed by Amiri Baraka (Leroi Jones).

The first National Organizers Conference ended on Sunday with a long list of recommendations for action passed on to the I.F.C.O. Board of Directors.

Marilyn Clement, Assistant Executive Director for I.F.C.O., gave special coordination to the Steering Committee which designed and promoted the conference.

On the opening night Ms. Douglas and Ms. Clement were both given bouquets of flowers by the I.F.C.O. Board of Directors and staff in recognition of their resigning to assume "new opportunities to serve in the freedom and empowerment struggle."

Stepping Stones To Survival

by Ernest Newborn

Righteousness exalts a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people.

Proverbs 14:34.

Three men approached the lake shore in a fishing boat. One of them dropped the anchor several yards from the shore. With four quick steps he was on the land. He was followed by one of his companions who took four steps across the water and landed on the shore. The third man rose from his seat and stepped into the water. Immediately he went down. There he was in the water up to his hips. With a desperate effort he pulled himself back aboard the boat. His face registered puzzlement as he tried it again. For the second time he went down. Again he climbed aboard the boat. His two companions watched him attempt for the third time. At this point one of the men said to the other, "We had better let our friend know where those stepping stones are before he drowns!"

As we approach the two hundredth birthday of our nation, let us consider the role of religion in our history. This nation has survived and endured many treacherous waters for two centuries. We have had the advantages of certain "stepping stones" which serve as sources of strength...

... Nearly two hundred years ago Thomas Jefferson stated the moral basis for the establishment of an independent United States of America: "We hold these truths to be self-evident that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights." This assertion of the equality of man was not in itself new. It had its roots in the Judeo-Christian attempts to control the more primitive impulses of man by identifying religion with man's responsibility for his fellow man. The concerns for justice, freedom and equality are rooted in our religious heritage. Concern for the unfortunate and respect for the inherent rights of the individual are rooted in our religious orientation.

The unique supports of the Constitution, education, economic abundance, and religion have fortified our nation in its struggle through the tragedy of civil war, a great depression, Watergate, and other crises. I am confident that religion has been and will continue to be a vital "stepping stone" as we tread toward our destiny as a nation.

Nashville Monuments Still Speak To Present

Persons attending the fourth biennial meeting of the National Convocation in Nashville, Tennessee August 18-22, 1976 will tour this “Athens of the South” where monuments speak eloquently to the nineteen seventies.

Above, Convocation Vice-President Elizabeth Enix points to the prophetic words of the Christian Church founding father — Alexander Campbell — on the monument in front of the Disciples of Christ Historical Society. More than a century ago Campbell pointed to the present concern for the Church’s creative involvement in higher education. To the need for an open society then and even more so now he said: “The spirit and soul of all reformation is free discussion.”

Standing on a slope in Nashville’s elegant Greenwood Cemetery between memorial stones erected at the heads of college presidents is the graceful pillered stone over the grave of Preston Taylor — founder of The Cemetery — first president of The National Christian Missionary Convention — contributor to the work of the Church even until this day. On his left lies Dr. F. West, who was president of Meharry Medical College; on Eldon Taylor’s right are the remains of Dr. Charles S. Johnson, eminent sociologist and scholar who was president of Fisk University.

The monuments of all three black national leaders still speak to the importance of courage, and excellence in performance.

You will see more of this while you attend the Convocation meeting in Nashville, Tennessee.

Assembly “Suit” Settled

The Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) General Assembly, admitting no fault, has settled for $3,000 with a San Antonio, Texas, catering firm that claimed last summer it suffered an $86,000 loss on food service to assembled Disciples.

The settlement was said to be roughly equivalent to what would have been the assembly legal fees if the matter had gone to court. No suit was filed.

Rosemary’s Catering claimed it lost money when a special cafeteria set up at the assembly was little used. Assembly officers maintained that the cafeteria was set up at the firm’s own risk.

Higher Education Decisions Critical

Policies on funding church-related colleges adopted by the General Board of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) meeting in Chicago June 12-15 will have long-range effect on institutions like Jarvis Christian College, Hawkins, Texas and possibly Tongaloo College, Tougaloo, Mississippi.

A five member task force, appointed by Moderator James A. Moak, and chaired by C. C. Nolen, president of North Texas State University, presented the General Board with a major study document dealing mainly with funding undergraduate colleges which are related to the Church.

The Board voted to have the Board of Higher Education convene a church-wide task force to develop a covenant statement to be signed by all undergraduate colleges agreeing to be termed "church-related".

Those schools signing the covenant would then be granted financial support based on the following criteria:

1. Each school would receive a minimum of $30,000 a year from the basic mission funds of the Church.

2. Each college would receive an additional $10 for every full-time undergraduate student (regardless of church affiliation).
3. Each college would receive $100 for every full-time student who is a member of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ).
4. Each institution would receive $400 for every graduating student who enrolls in a seminary (to prepare for the ministry).

Any surplus money would be distributed to cooperating institutions in accordance with a special formula.

The General Board decision on the church's funding undergraduate college education will have a direct relationship to such enrichment and expended curricular programs as Jarvis College's proposed COOPERATIVE MINISTRY PROJECT and the "Jarvis Preacher Association" program.

Emmett J. Dickson (above left), retired general church leader, now College Minister and professor of philosophy at Jarvis Christian College, Hawkins, Texas, is the catalyst for the COOPERATIVE MINISTRY and "Jarvis Preacher Association" projects. The group (above, right), was being led by Dr. Dickson recently in the development of these programs.

Similar programs are underway in other church related undergraduate institutions.
The Macedonian Call in Chaplaincy

by Robert W. Tindall
Director of Chaplaincy Services

Since January 1972 the office of chaplaincy services has endeavored to communicate with seminarians and ministers of our church concerning the opportunities and needs of Black ministers to serve as chaplains in various institutional settings and in the military services. Excellent support has been received from church leaders, as the message of opportunity and need was passed. Today we can report the sowing of the seed is bearing fruit.

In 1975 the Commission on Chaplaincy Endorsement and Services, of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) endorsed two qualified institutional chaplains, Chaplain Charles J. Williams, Cherry Hospital, Goldsboro, North Carolina, and Chaplain Kay K. Joseph, Division of Mental Health, St. Thomas, Virgin Islands. Also, two Black candidates for military chaplaincy have been endorsed for active duty in 1976 in the United States Air Force - Chaplain James Brooks, Mt. Rainier, Maryland, and Chaplain Danny Ray Thompson, Philadelphia, Penna.

During recent meetings, the military Chiefs of Chaplains and institutional officials have reiterated the opportunity and need for more qualified Black clergy to serve as chaplains in the military services, and in hospitals, prisons and correctional institutions - have you heard the Macedonian call?

First Black Disciple
Air Force Chaplain

Danny Ray Thompson, a native of New River, Virginia and nurtured in the faith at First Baptist Church at New River, was ordained as a minister in the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) April 24 in Third Church, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

The ordination under the direction of Pastor C. Richard Taylor, climaxed Thompson's acceptance of active duty in the United States Air Force Chaplaincy.

Elder Thompson had served as assistant minister at Third Christian Church since 1973. He became the first black to receive an ecclesiastical endorsement from the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) for an appointment as an Air Force Chaplain.

Among the ordination participants were Clarence L. Johnson, Jr., General Church staff, Indianapolis; Dwight French, Regional Church executive, Pittsburg and Frederick Crawford, chairman of the Third Church Board of Elders.

Chaplain Thompson's family includes his wife, Mauricia Clayton and sons, DeWayne age 6, and Shawn age 2.

New Church in Northeast

The 175 member French-speaking Evangelical Crusade of Fishers of Men congregation of Brooklyn, New York has been received as an approved church of the Christian Church (Disciples Successful orientation of Pastor Philius Nicolas and members to the faith, life and work of the Disciples of Christ through the Northeastern Regions Metropolitan Commission on the Ministry, led to full acceptance. Members went to Bethany College and enrolled in study classes on Disciples doctrine.

Ministers' Salaries Rise

The average salary of Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) ministers for 1975 was $9,250, a rise of $2,342 over 1970 salaries.

The average salary plus housing allowance for 1975 was $10,632 compared to $7,944 for 1970, according to figures released by the Disciples' Pension Fund.

Although the salary plus housing allowance increased 33.8 per cent since 1970, compensation for Disciples ministers remains below average pay for other professional persons, according to Dr. William Martin Smith, Pension Fund president.

The 1975 average salaries include postal workers, $13,400; policemen, $11,800; teachers, $11,600; and firemen, $11,200.

“Ministers are dedicated and committed servants of Christ and his church. They are not overly-concerned with finances; they seldom feel free to ask for an increase. They depend on the Christian spirit and fairness of the church,” said Dr. Smith.

He suggested congregations reimburse ministers for business expenses, including auto, travel and welfare; make an “offset allowance” for Social Security taxes; provide pension and health care benefits; and allow for inflation.

Black “Love Groups” Proposed

Dr. Nathan Hare of Berkeley, California has proposed the establishment of “black love groups” in order “to feel loved, to love ourselves, and therefore one another.”

Hare is a psychologist and former professor at Howard, Virginia State and San Francisco State Universities.

According to the psychologist, “a black person in our society doesn’t have to be sick in any way to experience problems in life and living requiring professional guidance.”

The “love group” would operate like a psychological workshop or group therapy which would help resolve personal conflicts. There would be indirect contributions to the general resolution of black-male-female conflicts so vital to the race as a whole in the crucial years ahead.”

Dr. Hare is founder-publisher of THE BLACK SCHOLAR and a clinical psychologist at C.H.A.N.G.E., Inc., a black mental health clinic in Berkeley.

Jones Succeeds Enix

Mrs. Don (Ricarda Jean) Jones, 23 of Indianapolis, Indiana has been chosen by the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in Indiana to succeed Mrs. Elizabeth Enix as a Regional Staff Associate.

Ricarda Jones, employed on a two-third time basis, will share staff responsibilities for the Department of Christian Women’s Fellowship and work with the youth. Both Ricarda and her husband, Don, are active members of Second Christian Church, Indianapolis, and students at Christian Theological Seminary.

Mrs. Jones has a Bachelor of Science degree from Ball State University with a major in journalism and a minor in psychology. She is listed in “Who’s Who in American Colleges and Universities” and while in college worked in the office of Special Programs and Orientation.
Black Congregations Hit Crime

A dozen projects aimed at “creating safer and more just communities” was launched by the Department of Church in Society of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) this spring.

The programs, originated by congregations, will be pilot projects in Michigan, Pennsylvania, North Carolina, Indiana, Illinois, Maryland, New York, Ohio, Alabama and Washington, D.C.

A group of 21 Black and Hispanic ministers and lay persons plan to “sensitize congregations and communities to the correlation between drugs and crime,” according to Gerald Cunningham, Indianapolis, director of human rights and criminal justice for the Disciples’ Division of Homeland Ministries’ Church and Society department.

Inflation and unemployment may create tremendous problems this summer, Cunningham predicted.

“Just like food in the supermarket, drugs are higher in the innercity — and less accessible. A $35 a day drug habit two years ago now costs $65-75. This inflates the incidence of crime in the community.

“With unemployment hitting addicts hard, the drug pusher is in a dangerous position from the addict, not the police,” Cunningham said.

“The use of drugs creates serious problems for the community and the church has to find ways of dealing with them,” Cunningham said.

A late-evening “pastors patrol” is one attempt at easing crime in Detroit. An ecumenical effort started by LeMar Clark of United Christian Church, the purpose is to be aware of trouble spots in the city and help with rumor control.

Black Disciples’ congregations in the Washington-Norfolk assemblies of the church will hold a series of workshops reaching 64 congregations and educating them on ways to create safer and more just communities. Hopefully, specific projects will be tackled in 1977, Cunningham said.

A similar education and action program is anticipated in Hagerstown, Harrisburg and Baltimore, Md., and Washington, D.C. churches.

A neighborhood drug counseling clinic is anticipated in Pittsburgh, led by Arthur L. Harris, pastor of East Hills Christian Church.

East Fayetteville, N.C., also will get a drug counseling program, under the leadership of Pleasant Grove Christian Church and J. O. Williams Sr., pastor.

A community program in Bricks, N.C., supported by the Disciples and the United Church of Christ, will work on a host of problems of youth related to drugs, including malnutrition, lack of education and unemployment.

Hillside Christian Church in Indianapolis is working on a program aimed at juvenile drug users and Second Christian Church of Indianapolis is concentrating on youthful offenders and providing “alternatives to fear” for the community around the church.

Bethel Christian Church in Robstown, Texas, is spearheading a project to cut down on drug-related crimes, as well as vandalism against schools, churches and businesses.

Programs also are anticipated in Chicago; Cincinnati, Ohio; Gary, Ind.; New York City, and Birmingham, Ala.

Some projects will be funded locally, with others receiving support from division funds available, Cunningham said.

Programs initiated with the church action for safe and just communities seminar held here recently.

Hannah First
Black DHM Executive Head

William W. Hannah, pastor of Fifth Church in Cleveland, Ohio, a congregation which has averaged a 20 per cent growth in its membership per year during his 11 year ministry, will become the first Black executive secretary of a divisional church unit September 1, 1976, when he heads the Department of Evangelism and Membership.

Brother Hannah will succeed Loyal A. Northcott who retires August 30. The Department of Evangelism is one of six departments making up the Division of Homeland Ministries. Kenneth A. Kuntz is president.

Dr. Kuntz asserted that evangelism is a priority for the Church. He further stated "I am confident we have a person of outstanding ability to lead us in this vital and necessary field".

Elder Hannah became pastor of the now Fifth Christian Church in 1964 while still a college student. He is a past president of the Ohio Black Minister's Conference and been an active leader in many community affairs.

He is a native of Stanaford, West Virginia with an undergraduate degree in religion from Hiram (Ohio) College, and a divinity degree from Pittsburgh (Pa.) Theological Seminary.

City Leaders Honor Blackburn

Cleo W. Blackburn of Indianapolis, Indiana was recently given a testimonial dinner at the Indianapolis Hilton Hotel.

Recognition by representatives of government, higher education, social services and philanthropy was given to his 40 years of nationally acclaimed leadership of Flanner House in a variety of unique and trailblazing community services.

Speakers reminded the packed ballroom of diners that under Dr. Blackburn’s leadership Flanner House had started a home-building project; neighborhood cannery, pre-school children’s program; city-wide track meet; health care services; vocational education and training; a Rohab Housing Corporation, and the federally chartered Board of Fundamental Education.

While inspiring and administering such programs Blackburn served for a time as president of Jarvis Christian College.

Dr. Blackburn, who is a Disciple of Christ minister, was jailed for his civil rights convictions in 1929 while a student at Butler University. Though now retired, he has never given up the struggle. The black leader has five honorary doctorate degrees.

Blackburn responded to the occasion by admitting "there were some people who had the courage to take some risks. There were many failures — but there have been some little successes which have now become national policy... Can this agency (Flanner House) stop us from tearing ourselves apart and bring healing to the community?"

He urged support for Reuben B. Hill — the new executive director of Flanner House.

Among those paying tribute to Dr. Blackburn were: Mrs. Lionel F. Artis, secretary for Flanner House Board of Directors; Ray Crowe, director of Indianapolis Department of Parks and Recreation; Otto N. Frenzol III, president of United Way of Greater Indianapolis; Harry T. Ice, former president of Flanner House Board of Directors; Glenn Irwin, M.D., Vice-President of Indiana University; Johy Lynn, former secretary and general manager of Lilly Endowment; William T. Ray, assistant to the Governor; and James E. Hawes, Jr., president of the Flanner House Board of Directors.

T. Garrott Benjamin, Jr., Blackburn’s pastor, provided ministerial services for the honor banquet program.

Little Boys Become Men

Little boys and girls grow up to be men and women. Brian Tourner, son of Gregory and Katherine Tourner of Indianapolis, Indiana is typical of the pre-school children (e.g. 3 years to 6 years) who will be helped in their most important growing years by The Children's Activities program conducted during the Nashville Convocation assembly August 18-22.

Pre-school children’s activities will be carried on daily during the Nashville Convocation program at a cost of $12 per child. Special rates for parents having two or more children.

Brian Tourner of Indianapolis, Indiana — they grow up.
"TRAGEDY - something that could happen and never does."

- S. W. Hylton, Jr.

Last August in Nashville, Tennessee, Convocation President Samuel W. Hylton, Jr. of St. Louis gave a stirring challenge to more than 700 assembled representatives of 75,000 predominantly black Disciples of Christ in 22 states and regions.

"Tragedy", Dr. Hylton, Jr. said, "is not something that happens to you, but something that could happen and never does."

Lighting Candles

Dr. Hylton - and the other Keynoters for the Fourth Biennial Assembly of the National Convention - challenged us to "light candles."

The need for window breaking, cursing, picketing and protest has diminished. Candle-lighting, prayerful meditation and earnest justice and liberation effort (work) is urgent.

The whole Church and the whole world needs the light which God has given to YOU! Most black Christians and many predominantly black Disciples of Christ congregations have large portions of

- Biblical faith - expressed in personal belief, preaching and teaching - giving life a foundation.

- Spirituality in celebration - represented in individual testimony, corporate worship and style of Christian living - making life a joy.
Howard University's School of Religion in Washington, D.C. plans to do a "major study" on the black church, funded by a recent $250,000 grant from the Andrew Mellon Foundation.

Major subjects are to be explored, according to Dr. Lovenger Bowden, professor of speech and principal investigator for the study, include a profile of the contemporary black church, its internal and external communication methods, and its social impact.

"The black church has long been a popular subject for writers and thinkers, but scientific documentation of its characteristics and contributions has been lacking," said Dr. Bowden.

Her study has already convinced her, she added, that the black church is the "Only black institution which started in the African forests, survived slavery and remains the most viable organization of the black community in the United States."

The study is planned in two phases. The first, a preliminary study of the metropolitan Washington, D.C. area, already underway, will serve as a prototype. Its findings will be announced in August.

The second phase, a major study conducted in selected areas of the United States, extends from August 1976 to June 1977.

June 21 through July 2, 1976 the annual Leadership Training Conference was held at the Goldsboro Disciple Institute. After two weeks of intensive Bible study and leadership training for four years the following seniors graduated: Michelle Lynette Chesnutt, Mary Anne Glover, Angela Lorraine Godwin, Janice Faye McDonald, Cassandra Faye White, Velda Denise Williams, and Tania Lanese Williams.

Dr. Paul A. Sims of Fort Worth, Texas, an outstanding churchman and community leader, has been named coordinator of public relations for Jarvis Christian College.

Dr. E. W. Rand, the newly elected president of Jarvis Christian College in making the announcement stated that Jarvis was fortunate to have a man of Dr. Sims experience to fill this important function.

According to Dr. Rand, Sims is well known by churchmen, politicians and community leaders, not only all over Texas, but across the whole United States.

Dr. Sims is a native of Kansas, but has been a Texan for 24 years. He is no stranger to Jarvis. He served on the Board of Trustees when Jarvis received full accreditation as a four year college during those days of development.

Mr. Sims has served on the faculty of the Evening College at Texas Christian University, and as an Executive of the Regional Christian Church. Jarvis Christian College conferred the Doctor of Humanities degree upon Mr. Sims in recognition of his outstanding work at Community Christian Church - Fort Worth, Texas. Community Christian Church under the leadership of Paul Sims, an ordained minister of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) developed a "parish ministry" program in a predominately disadvantaged neighborhood.

According to Dr. Rand, Mr. Sims will continue to direct activities at Community Christian Church on a part time basis, for an interim period, because of the nature of the ministry there; thereby enabling him to begin work at Jarvis immediately.

Career Aid for Ministers

Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) ministers who want to strengthen their ministries may apply for scholarships for career assessment programs in the U.S. and Canada.

Scholarships are available through the department of ministry, Division of Homeland Ministries, according to L. Eugene Brown, director of clergy development, Indianapolis, IN.

Career development counseling is available at 14 centers in the U.S. and in Canadian programs accredited by the ecumenical Church Career Development Council, Brown said.

An intensive three-day, on-site evaluation helps professional church leaders "identify their unique personal strengths and professional competencies in order to plan and build a more effective and satisfying career in ministry," he said.

The program is for "healthy ministers who want to become healthier, not for ministers under emotional strain," he said.

Peak stress years for ministers are three-five, 10-12 and 18-20 years after seminary. "During these periods, ministers go through the process of asking questions about their vocations. This is healthy; this is in harmony with the Gospel," Brown said.

Since the counseling program was organized by 14 denominations in 1969, more than 20,000 pastors, Christian educators, missionaries, church executives, seminary students and ministerial candidates have participated in the program.

In 1975, 33 Disciples of Christ ministers and 13 spouses took part.

Help for Retarded

Mentally retarded adults entering Woodhaven Learning Center, Columbia, MO., no longer will be required to pay an entry fee.

Dr. Charles Palmer of St. Louis, MO., executive director of services to the mentally retarded for the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), said the only fee required will be the monthly cost of care charge.

The move to eliminate entry fees at Woodhaven, a facility of the Disciples' National Benevolent Association, is an effort to provide services to a wider segment of trainable mentally retarded adults, Dr. Palmer said.

No entry fee is charged for children under 18 years entering Woodhaven, nor is there a fee at Serra Center for Adult Mentally Retarded at Fremont, Calif., both NBA facilities.

Woodhaven and Serra Centers train mentally retarded adults in basic work habits and teach skills such as silk-screening, upholstering, manual arts and kitchen, dining room, laundry and factory work.

The sheltered workshops have contracts with major corporations for assembly production.

The program is being expanded and facilities for mentally retarded adults are being planned in several states, Dr. Palmer said.

Two national black women’s organizations recently made contributions totaling a quarter million dollars to the United Negro College Fund (UNCF) and in addition have pledged another half-million dollars, to be paid within the next two years. Tougaloo College is a member of the UNCF and will benefit from these gifts.

Christopher F. Edley, UNCF Executive Director, said the two gifts are “dramatic evidence of the interest and growing support blacks are giving to the UNCF.”

One gift, of $150,000, was made by the Links, Inc., at their biennial assembly in Seattle, Washington. Mrs. Pauline Ellison of Arlington, Va., President of the Links, made the presentation to Mr. Edley at a luncheon at the Seattle center attended by almost 1,000 persons.

The Links’ 1976 gift brought the total they have given to the UNCF in the past four years to some $350,000. In addition, the Links voted to continue the UNCF as their prime charity and to make a donation comparable to $150,000 in 1978.

“Black funeral parlors, black banks and black businesses are all part of the new activity stirring on behalf of the UNCF, Mr. Edley said.”

A week of preaching July 11 - 18 with visiting ministers, their congregations and choirs, marked the end of Elder Charles Webb Jr’s first year as minister for the Pine Street Church of Tulsa, OK.

A seven member committee led by Sam Griffin coordinated activities. Refreshments, fellowship and a “Gift of Love and Appreciation” for Pastor Webb presented by Board Chairman Ernest Walker were among the events.

The anniversary celebration was climaxed July 18 by a bus trip to Muskogee, OK for the members and friends of Pine Street Church.

Featured event in Muskogee was having Brother Webb’s 96 year old grandfather, Mark Webb, and other Webb kin as guests. Grandfather heard his grandson preach for the first time.

East Sixth Street Church of Oklahoma City and the Shepperd Street Church of Chickasha closed the “Week of Preaching.”

According to Herbert H. Lambert on the Adult Publications of The Christian Board of Publication, book sales during the 1976 Assembly of the National Convocation in Nashville amounted to $1,927 as compared with $1,265 during the 1974 meeting in Atlanta.
Dr. Rand Named President

Dr. E. W. Rand of Marshall was named president by the Jarvis Christian College Board of Trustees and assumed duties August 5.

Dr. Rand, 64, is a native of Lodi, Texas in Cass county and his experience in the education field reaches back 46 years with his first teaching assignments in the Public Elementary Schools of Cass and Marion counties.

His appointment to the head position at Jarvis marks the fifth time in his career he will be affiliated with the college. The first contact was in 1931 when he was a student of Jarvis, then a junior college. His later positions included biology instructor and dean of the college, 1937-1942; professor of education and dean of men, 1945-1948 and executive dean, 1957-1959.

In announcing Dr. Rand as president, Hunter Brush, chairman of the board said, "We are privileged to have a man of Dr. Rand's caliber to assume the presidency of Jarvis Christian College. He is a man that is well known in educational circles and will bring a sincere dedication to the task of making Jarvis a leading institution of higher learning."

Dr. Rand vacated the office of coordinator of teacher education and administrative consultant to the president of Wiley College in Marshall to accept the Jarvis presidency.

The 64 year old veteran educator holds a B.A. from Bishop College, Marshall; a M.S. in biology, Atlanta University and a Doctorate of Education, Indiana University where he majored in administration.

In accepting the presidency Dr. Rand said, "It is my hope to enhance the position of Jarvis as an educational institution in East Texas through the provision of programs of significant value to students who wish to attend".

He and his wife Verbie have two children and six grandchildren. Dr. Rand succeeded John P. Jones, who resigned the position July 10, 1976.

Jackson Ordained

Ordination ritual was held for Alvin O'Neal Jackson September 12, 1976, at Loudon Avenue Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), Roanoke, Virginia. The service climaxed his successful completion of four years of seminary preparation.

Representatives from state, regional and Piedmont District participated in the service. Dr. T. Garrott Benjamin, Jr., Minister of Second Christian Church, Indianapolis, Indiana gave the "Keynote Spiritual Message."

Alvin O. Jackson came to Loudon Avenue licensed to preach in 1973 to serve as student minister while matriculating at Duke University Divinity School, Durham, North Carolina.

Prior to coming to Virginia he had spent a semester in Chapman College's (California) "World Campus Afloat". He visited Japan, Malaysia, Taiwan, Hong Kong, India, Ceylon, Tanzania, South Africa, Senegal and the Ivory Coast. After leaving Chapman, he attended Butler University in Indianapolis. He was Student Minister of Second Christian Church serving with Dr. Benjamin.

Mr. Jackson graduated from Butler University, entering Duke University in 1973.

He graduated from Duke - cum laude - in May 1976 with a Master Divinity degree.

WHAT HAPPENED IN YOUR STATE?

Nashville Business Issues

The Ministers' Fellowship, through the prime leadership of Daniel Heath of Rockford, IL. and T. Garnett Benjamin of Indianapolis, IN presented the Convocation Board of Trustees with a request that "the necessary funds" be set aside to "enable a task force to define, appraise, evaluate and project direction for the Convocation... and the black expression of The Christian Church."

A proposal for the formation of a black church unit at the general church level with peer status to the other 17 national units was also presented to the Trustees.

The Board of Trustees expressed gratitude for the proposals and informed the sponsors and assembly that the Board of Trustees accepted the responsibility for guiding the process and directing the dynamics as the Convocation deals with a proposal for the survival of the Black Christian Church, and that

The Board of Trustees would begin a study process which called for:

a. Additional input from the Convocation on the subject b. Review of the articles of operation of the Convocation c. Performance of other related study and research functions and d. Design an action program setting for the target dates.

Footprints and Shadows

by Joe Saunders, Dayton, Ohio

The National Convocation is a great family reunion with brothers and sisters coming from California and New Jersey, Michigan and Mississippi. Coming by plane, by bus and by automobile to renew old friendships and to make new ones.

The National Convocation is a gigantic evangelistic meeting with preaching and signing and teaching. There are Biblical books and wares to be hawked and sold; booths and displays to be admired; and pamphlets and leaflets to gather and take home and to add to the pile of unread pamphlets and leaflets from previous Convocations.

The National Convocation is a refugee camp, always with more to be housed and fed than accommodations will permit. There is the ever present crowd clamoring for service, so insistent and persistent that they seem to be speaking in unknown tongues. There are the long lines waiting at the cafeteria; the demands for towels or bed linen; the complaints about rooms or stairs or heat or noisy neighbors.

The National Convocation is a mid-summer vacation. It is an escape from the worries and cares of life at home. It is a visit to far-off places that may not have been visited otherwise. It is dining without cooking or washing dishes; souvenir hunting and shopping in strange stores. It is sightseeing and a chain of "wish you were here" postcards to send to friends back home.

The National Convocation is the main drag in Harlem while at the same time it is a small black southern town at train time. It is Black America come together to show the nation its Blackness - to share that one thing we all have in common.

The National Convocation is a blind minister listening to a worship that he cannot see. It is a small child asleep in his father's arms as he hurries down the street to another session. It is an aged rheumatic lady slowly hobbling with her cane to her night quarters. It is the look of rapture on faces as they listen to the songs and the words of Zion. It is a warming friendly smile and greeting from a Disciple whom you've never seen before, and whom you may never see again.

The National Convocation is not a thing, nor a place, nor is it just an event. The National Convocation is an experience. It is a sense of the past, the present and the future - all come together to form an unforgettable interlude in Black History.

Yes, the National Convocation is all of this and something more. It is a feeling of belonging. It is the impression of arriving home after a long and tiresome journey. It is warmth and love and affection. It is family, it is brotherhood, it is a step toward oneness.

It is the ghost of black saints long departed. It is the spirit of black saints now marching in. It is the hope of the yet-to-be-born saints of tomorrow.

All that is what the National Convocation has meant to me.

Return from Africa

Twenty-two American members of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) returned from a fraternal visit to Africa on August 5 better informed about that continent and impressed with the vitality of its churches.

They had spent three weeks talking with African leaders in Kenya in the east, South Africa at the southern tip, Zaire in the heart of the continent and Liberia on the west coast.

The group, including 19 professional and elected Disciples leaders, was headed by Dr. Kenneth L. Teegarden of Indianapolis, Disciples' general minister and president; Dr. James A. Moak of Lexington, Ky., moderator; and Dr. Robert A. Thomas of Indianapolis, president of the church's Division of Overseas Ministries.

Topics of discussions included African churches' determination to run their own affairs and stop depending on overseas churches, liberation, development, current social conditions, Africanization, Christian unity and church programming.

Arrangements for the fraternal visit were handled by Dr. Robert G. Nelson of Indianapolis, executive secretary of the Africa department of the Disciples' Division of Overseas Ministries. The Americans were shown church endeavors ranging from the Communication Training Center of the All-Africa Conference of Churches in Nairobi, Kenya, to a rural development project and hospital at Kimpese, Zaire.

The visitors worshiped with some congregations that still follow patterns introduced by missionaries and others that have adapted traditional African forms, including drums and dancing.

They saw major cities and thatch-roofed villages, up-to-date demonstration farms and manioc patches cultivated by women with short-handled hoes, modern air terminals and squalid slums, young independent nations and South Africa's rigid apartheid (racial separation) system.

En route to Africa, the group stopped in Geneva, Switzerland, for orientation in offices of the World Council of Churches.

Stressing that the fraternal visit was for increasing understanding, not decision-making, Dr. Teegarden said that participants will prepare no "findings" or recommendations.
Every air traveler knows that while rain may be pouring down on the ground, the sun can be shining brightly two to three thousand feet above. Aeronautical science enables us "to see through a dark glass." So if the radar screen shows a storm raging ahead, we merely fasten our seat belts and fly a little higher.

Fourteen year old poet Lynn Swisher of Spokane, Washington recently sent UP-DATE these lines:

"But now things look so sad.
For all our prayers and promises
Have washed up on the beach.
They are in our sight and at Arm's length,
Just not within our reach."

But Christmas which makes the Christ and His way central joins the New Year to bring new hope.

UPON THE MIDNIGHT CLEAR.

We are urged to fasten our seat belts and fly a little higher.

It is in the spirit of this hope that UP-DATE staff sends SEASON'S GREETINGS

The Administrative Committee of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) recently approved a four-year program of establishing black, Hispanic and white congregations.

The committee, which met in Indianapolis November 14-16, heard a request from a consultation on new church establishment which suggests the program begin in 1980.

The consultation, in its recent meeting, said major emphasis should be placed on establishing black congregations, "but not to the exclusion of Hispanic or white congregations."

The proposal calls for three phases:
- Launching the necessary funding process by January 1, 1980.
- Establishing congregations in strategic areas determined by thorough research during 1981.
- Determining the number of black, Hispanic and white congregations to be established during 1982-83.

The consultation agreed that "if research indicates, Asiatic and/or native American congregations may also become a concern in congregational establishment."

(Congregations - whether black, Hispanic or white - would be established "where population density dictates such priority rating." Where possible, they would be integrated and bilingual.

Any program of new congregation establishment must be "intentional on the part of the church," the consultation said, calling for "support, goodwill and participation" of congregations, regions and general units involved in church establishment, evangelism, minority ministries and financing the program and physical aspects of new congregations.

The congregation being established must have enough resources to "assure a measurable degree of success" within five years and be able to provide a full-time minister, an adequate site, a first unit and a congregation of "sufficient size as to manifest vitality and viability."

The consultation is recommending consideration of the Board of Church Extension as the organization responsible for coordinating church establishment programs with the Division of Homeland Ministries, regions and the Church Finance Council.

Participants in the consultation included representatives of general and regional units and black and Hispanic constituency groups. (CCN)
More Money for Seminaries

The body which allocates funds to the work of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) has announced an 18 per cent increase to seminaries in 1978.

The amount is more than three times the increase that will go to general program units of the church and is in response to a General Assembly resolution making ministerial education a major priority through 1979.

The church's Commission on Budget Evaluation has allocated $803,378 to seven seminaries and seminary foundations in 1978. The $676,861 allocation for 1977 was made two years ago.

Commission Chairman Dale A. Stitt, a Portland, Ore., pastor, gave as one of the reasons for the substantial increase the unavailability of foundation and government funds "in most circumstances" for seminaries.

He raised again the possibility - talked about for years - of "some consideration regarding possibly consolidating the current seminaries into larger and more productive units."

The commission allocated $7,308,229 to 15 general units of the church for 1978, an increase of 6.2 per cent over the 1977 allocation.

The commission recommended $4,552,079 of the available general funds in 1978 be sent to the 35 regional operations, though the precise amounts must be negotiated with each region separately.

Some $930,000 would be given in 1978 to undergraduate higher education institutions based on a formula related to enrollment and other factors.

The total of $13.5 million is about $1.5 million less than the general units, regions and education institutions indicated they needed from church funds in 1978.

The 13-member commission - roughly equally divided between lay men, lay women and local pastors - heard appeals from the church units

September 20-21 and waded through a book of financial data two inches thick in making its decisions. (CCN)

BCE Benefits Northeast Area*

Ninety-three years ago the Board of Church Extension came into existence to provide capital financing for Christian Churches involved in facilities expansion and improvements. Since that time, the Board has granted more than $159 million in loans. Of this amount over $1 million has gone to Christian Churches and their organizations in the Northeastern Region to help purchase sites, parsonages and equipment; finance remodeling and construction of education worship and fellowship facilities; acquire and improve camping conference centers; and provide facilities for regional offices, campus ministries and church sponsored community service centers.

Currently, seventeen loans with principal amounts totaling $578,900 are in effect in the five states of New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Maine and Connecticut - comprising the Northeastern Region.

Interest bearing loans of $428,500 are currently being held by the following congregations in the Region:

Antioch Church of Christ, Brooklyn, New York
Sinai Christian Church, Brooklyn, New York
St. Philips Christian Church, Brooklyn, N.Y.
Stuyvesant Heights Christian Church, Brooklyn, La Hermosa Christian Church, New York City
Primera Iglesia Christiana, Rochester, NY
Third Christian Church, New York City
Pompey United Church, Pompey, NY
Friendship Christian Church, New Brunswick, New Jersey
Evangelical Christian Church, Lawrence, Massachusetts

Board of Church Extension has in the past offered interest-free loans to congregations with special needs. More than $7 million in such loans has been granted since the program was inaugurated in 1949. Of this amount, $154,000 has gone to congregations in the Northeastern Region.

The Board has found it necessary to establish a moratorium on interest-free loans. This decision is due to the fact that when the need for such loans for new facilities was great, including those of minority congregations, the Board provided these funds even though it means using monies on which it must pay interest.

In the Northeastern Region the following churches currently hold $109,000 in interest-free loans, granted before the moratorium was imposed:

- Sina Christian Church, Brooklyn, New York
- Salem Church of Christ, Hempstead, NY
- Central Christian Church, Elmira, NY
- Primera Iglesia Christiana, Rochester, NY

At the close of 1975, fifteen requests for interest-free loans amounting to $44,400 were on a "holding" list pending availability of funds.

Church Extension's principal source of income for the interest-free loan fund is gift allocations from churches and special regional capital campaigns. The Board feels that it is essential that this vital service be restored to the churches as quickly as possible. However, until outreach capital giving is sufficiently increased to clear up the overdraft, the interest-free loan moratorium will continue.

In addition to the scores of field visits by professional staff to counsel Northeastern area congregations on financial, architectural, fund raising, study and site matters, over $88,049 in gifts from the Church Extension Development Fund has been granted to the Northeastern Region and to the Board of Higher Education of the Christian Church to fund the highly successful, four-year Northeastern Leadership Development Project to assist Black and Hispanic ministers in the improvement of their education and leadership skills.

None of the aforementioned services could have been provided at all without the availability of millions of dollars in funds invested with the Board of Church Extension by individuals and organizations across the nation...

Blacks and Browns Lead Crime Fight

Black and Hispanic (Brown) Disciples of Christ leaders, located mainly in racial minority communities, have launched major efforts to fight crime. The eighteen projects located in fifteen states is called "Church Action for Safe and Just Communities" and is coordinated by Gerald Cunningham on the Department of Church and Society Staff of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), Indianapolis.

The programs are designed to meet one or more of the following objectives:
1. Promote programs serving a high impact in a small segment of a given community.
2. Direct attention to a particular facet of the problem of crime in a minority community.
3. To increase citizen participation in anti-crime efforts in local communities.
4. Aim at pre-trial diversion and the release of juveniles or adults to volunteer persons in a local community.

Here is what Black and Brown (Hispanic) church workers are doing now:

Iglesia Cristiana del Pueblo Church Action Project, Dallas, Texas recruits volunteers from Iglesia Cristiana del Pueblo and the East Dallas Christian Church to develop alternative programs for juveniles, some of whom were involved in drug abuse, dropping out of school and other "non-status offenses."

Franklinton Center, Inc., Bricks, North Carolina, a project sponsored primarily by the United Church of Christ, is a juvenile delinquency prevention program. A major feature of this project encouraged young people to be aware of their rights and responsibilities in the criminal justice system.

La Hermosa Christian Church project, New York City, involves the La Hermosa Christian Church in a program of providing services to prison inmates and their families, including transportation to prisons in the New York City area to assist persons in visitation of incarcerated relatives.

Project Alternatives to Fear, Chicago, Illinois, provides an organization to combat fear and apathy to the problems of crime and the fear of crime on the southwest side of Chicago, an area referred to as the West Pullman District, a Black, Spanish and multi-ethnic community.

Warren Area Clergy Task Force on Violent Crime engages members of the Third Christian Church in a coalition effort through the Warren Area Clergy Task Force on Violent Crime to combat instances of violent crime and the problem of the lack of police accountability to the Black Community in Warren, Ohio.

The Washington and Norfolk District Church Action for Safe and Just Communities has sought to contact all pastors and churches in the Norfolk District to ascertain problems and awareness of criminal justice activity in this area. This project has also included voter registration as a strategy to enhance police accountability.

Second Christian Church Action Project, Indianapolis, Indiana, engaged two probation officers and an ex-offender in a series of meetings with young people as a juvenile delinquency prevention program measure. This project also engaged the Indianapolis Police Department public affairs office to conduct seminars on anti-crime techniques. This project has been carried out in collaboration with Youth Illustrates and Ex-felons and Community Together.

Pastors on Patrol was organized by the United Christian Church in Detroit, Michigan as an effort to assist local churches to patrol their neighborhood through the use of CB Band radios and walking patrols.

Night Hawk counseling service was also organized and sponsored by the United Christian Church in Detroit providing an emergency service to assist youth and adults. This Church Action project also provided a community recreation program to help fill a gap brought about by greatly diminished city recreational services.

Pleasant Grove Christian Church Action Project, Fayetteville, North Carolina, making use of personnel from Ft. Bragg military post, conducted a program of recreation and drug counseling.

Hillside Christian Church Action Project, Indianapolis, Indiana organized young people around various work projects and provided drug counseling.

Second Christian Church Action Project of Hagerstown, Maryland, in collaboration with the First Christian Church and the Hagerstown Businessmen’s Association, organized a Neighborhood Information Center and drug prevention program.

Youth Illustrates, Indianapolis, Indiana, provides the occasion for young people to educate the community through the use of drama, acting out problems of drug abuse and other forms of delinquency engaged in by many youth. This program also provides a telephone hot line.

East Hills Community Christian Church, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, Neighborhood Emergency Project is a concerted effort on the part of the East Hills Community Christian Church and the local groups in the East Hills community of Pittsburgh. This project attempts to develop a liaison system between local social service type agencies and the police department for the purpose of referral and action.

Felons & Community Together, Indianapolis, Indiana, is aimed at engaging ex-offenders as para-professional counselors providing guidance to youth with difficulty with the law.

Segunda Iglesia Cristiana Church Action Project, Bronx, New York, through the work of Angel Bonilla provides services to undocumented aliens.

First Christian Church, Kansas City, Missouri, provided GED (General Education Development) training for 80 persons to date for this year and couples volunteers with juveniles in trouble. This program also provides space and various services to the elderly, including a neighborhood community safety program.

It is anticipated that the Church Action Projects will need to be expanded by 3 to 5 projects in 1977, while projects in two communities might be consolidated.

A special donor plus contributors to Reconciliation help congregations perform these ministries.

On the Johnson Departure

by W. K. Fox

Clarence L. Johnson, Jr., Director of Black Ministry, for the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) has concluded his services in the Department of Ministry. He left to accept opportunities for doing an even greater work in other parts of the Church.

According to competent observers who have followed staff serving Black Disciples of Christ ministers for the past 25 to 30 years. Elder Johnson successfully blazed some new trails of service to ministerial recruits and ministers. His two and one half years of employment by the Department of Ministry enabled some landmarks to be established.

There is now a new enthusiasm on the field among Black Disciple ministers and laity — much of it due to the work of Clarence Johnson.

Benefits coming to the Church from the Black Ministry program are due primarily to the Black Disciples of Christ Caucus group of the late 1960’s who sensitized the Church to respond to these pressing needs in Christian ministry. Other leaders, of course, joined the Caucus and General Board in making the work a reality.

Through the Salary Support Program authorized by the General Assembly in 1971 and administered by Brother Johnson from 1974 through 1976 ten previously bi-vocational Black pastors are full-time salaried ministers and their congregations under high motivation.

Approximately 35 Black pastors have taken advantage of continuing education opportunities.

One has to go back to the days of the 1940’s when Charles Webb and Emmett Dickson were national staff to find any significant response of Black pastor’s to an institute which comes near approaching the program and attendance of the first two national retreats directed by Elder Johnson.

Approximately 100 seminary and undergradu-were heard. . .

Today, as we compose in a relative atmosphere of unrestricted freedom, do the words of our songs still have meaning? Are we sending forth word of the Good News or are we just filling the air waves with a warmed over string of sharps and flats that sound pretty but only make a momentary impression?

Are we sending forth in song, a message of comfort and hope and promise that the world is so greatly in need of? . . .

Some of the Negro spirituals are well over 300 years old and people still find a message of comfort and solace in them. How long and how universally will our songs of today be remembered?

Is there a message in our songs? And Are the people hearing it?

Black Song

(Ode to Black Poets)
by Pat Ford, Philadelphia, PA.

I am a song, A black song.
A loud, wild, untamed song.
I fly on the wings of the wind,
My voice screaming at the sky.

I am as dark and mysterious as the night,
Created out of the heart of my people,
Nourished by their tears
Like a flower is nourished by the rain.

I grew strong, proud, fearless.
I am a song
A black beautiful
song.

Women & Work

In the United States:

1. Nine out of ten women will work in paid employment during their lifetime.
2. Women make up 39 percent of the national labor force.
3. A majority of women work because of economic need. About three-fifths of all women workers are single, widowed, divorced, or separated, or have husbands whose earnings are less than $7,000 a year.
4. Women workers are concentrated in low-paying dead-end jobs. As a result, the average woman worker earns less than three-fifths of what a man earns even when both work full-time all year round.
5. Half of all women workers are employed in only seventeen kinds of occupations; half of all men workers are employed in sixty-three kinds of jobs.
6. Women are 77 percent of all clerical workers but only 4 percent of all craft workers and 19 percent of all managers.
7. At age thirty-five, a married woman who has completed her family has a work life expectancy of twenty-four years.

While many women work, they continue to earn less than men.

JARVIS CHRISTIAN -- Jarvis Christian College has just received $5,000.00 in special grant through Eastman Kodak Company's 1976 Educational Aid Program, according to Dr. Earl W. Rand, College President.

Special grants are made by Kodak to help institutions revise and interrelate their academic programs to meet the challenge of changing times with new programs and specialized facilities. Jarvis Christian College is among 42 schools sharing $3.9 million in Kodak special grants.

Commenting on Kodak's grant, Dr. Rand said: "Kodak's Educational Aid Program includes direct grants that help defray an institution's cost of educating college graduates now involved in the company's business success; research grants to help support graduate education and research at the master's and doctoral level; and contributions to selected organizations and associations that further the goals of quality education."

"The Philosophy of Shalom" was the subject of an address given this fall to the students and staff at Jarvis Christian College by Rabbi Eugene Levy of Temple Beth El, Tyler. Rabbi Levy's talk is being sponsored by the Jewish Chautauqua Society.

The Chautauqua Society, an educational project of the National Federation of Temple Brotherhoods, seeks to create a better understanding of Judaism and Jews. Jarvis Christian College historically relates to the Judeo-Christian tradition.

Tougaloo received an unrestricted grant of $62,000 for the 1976-1977 school year.

Increasingly, these three colleges have had large numbers of black graduates taking responsible and leadership positions in business, industry, government, education and the professions, with a commensurate increase in their giving ability. Each of the Colleges has recently begun emphasizing the need for alumni gifts as a major source of basic institutional support, as has been the case with most independent colleges in America for generations. The challenge grants are expected to greatly accelerate this pace.

The foundation directors have further indicated that these grants may be the beginning of a series of such challenges to other private, black colleges.

The congregation of the United Church of Christ, Jackson, Mississippi, observed Tougaloo College Day last October.

Mrs. Thelma Sanders, a Jackson businesswoman, alumna, and trustee of Tougaloo College was the guest speaker.

All alumni and friends of Tougaloo College and Southern Christian Institute were urged to attend.

Several black Disciple Churches across the brotherhood are also observed a special day as Tougaloo Day during October and the month of November to aid in the financial obligations of this institution. Churches were urged to send checks directly to Tougaloo College.

Mrs. Ruth P. Hobbs, a member of the trustee board is responsible for launching this project.
