Periodicals of the Disciples of Christ and related religious groups, made possible through the cooperation of Culver-Stockton college with the Disciples of Christ Historical Society, is the first attempt at a comprehensive list of the periodicals of the Disciples of Christ, the Christian church, and the churches of Christ. In this work I have attempted to list the title of every periodical designed for more than individual church circulation. Although over eleven hundred titles are listed, I know that there must be many others as yet unknown to me.

Exactly what to include and what to omit created a problem. Periodicals published outside of the United States and Canada have been left for a later list. College publications and Sunday school materials are listed, perhaps not very completely. Interdenominational publications with Disciple editors are not listed unless started under Disciple auspices. Papers published exclusively in the interests of individual churches are not included; such a list would have thousands of titles. Non-religious papers edited by Disciples, unless of an inspirational or educational nature, are not listed.

The arrangement is alphabetical with the main entry under the last title by which the periodical was known, with references from earlier titles. Under the main entry will be found the following information if known: the place of publication, the inclusive volume numbers, the inclusive dates of publication, the names of the editor or editors (in many cases first and last editors only are given with the word "others"), previous titles with inclusive dates, and other notes tending to identify the periodical. Christian church and churches of Christ periodicals are so indicated after the titles. Only churches of Christ periodicals founded later than 1906 are so listed. For easier identification, periodicals with like names have the name of the state in parentheses following the title. This notation does not mean that the paper was a "state" paper.

Information concerning each title has been secured through actual examination of the periodical, through a careful search of the news notes in hundreds of volumes of periodicals, and through lists and statements made by others working in this field. Documentation of each title has been made and filed in the archives of the Disciples of Christ Historical Society.

And what is the purpose of this publication? It is to be used as a check list in the preparation of a union catalog of our periodicals. Later I hope that such a catalog will be published showing the location of the titles listed here and of those which have been omitted, through oversight or ignorance, from this list. Too, the list may well be used as a searching guide for collectors of our periodicals. It may also be of some value as a guide-post in the cataloging of those periodicals. Through cooperative checking of the list, much new information will be secured concerning these and other titles.

Finally, I am indebted to many persons for help in the compiling of this list. Acknowledgment must be made to Charles C. Ware, curator of the archives of the Historical Commission of the North Carolina Christian Missionary Convention; to Edgar Riley, president of Kentucky Female Orphan School; and to Don Carlos Janes of Louisville, Ky., for exceedingly valuable aid. The Standard Publishing Company, the Christian Board of Publication and the Gospel Advocate Company have allowed generous use of the files of their publications.
