ROBERT RICHARDSON RETURNS HOME TO BETHPAGE

The family of Robert Richardson in the summer of 1857. Left to right: Fannie (age 8), John (12), Mary (18), Julia (20), Mrs. Richardson, David (15), Dr. Richardson, and the twins, Emma and Edgar (5). Emma later became Mrs. G. L. Wharton, missionary to India. Not in the picture was William, an infant of 2 years, Nathaniel a practicing lawyer, and Anne who had married.

Editorial note: About June 1, a new book Home to Bethpage, A Life of Robert Richardson by Dwight E. Stevenson, will be published. Since many of our younger members will not be familiar with Richardson’s name, we have asked Mr. Stevenson to tell us who Robert Richardson was and what he did.

Robert Richardson was:

A pupil and convert of Walter Scott.

A doctor of medicine: Campbell’s physician.

Associate editor of Scott’s Evangelist, 1834-5; Co-editor of Campbell’s Millennial Harbinger, 1836-1859, (except for brief intermissions).

One of the first trustees of Bethany College. A member of Bethany’s first faculty. Vice-President of Kentucky University (successor to Bacon College and predecessor to Transylvania).

One of the leading scientific farmers of Virginia. A musician and artist who painted his own original canvasses and composed for the flute and violin. Father of a cultured family which had then and now has great solidarity.

Alexander Campbell’s companion from 1836 until his death in 1866. Minister at Campbell’s death-bed, and preacher of the funeral sermon. His biographer: The Memoirs of Alexander Campbell.

The leading devotional spirit of the Disciples during the first century. Author of Communings in the Sanctuary and of numerous articles and books meant to convert the Disciples from cold intellectualism and from argumentation. The first historian and interpreter of the Disciple movement. With Isaac Errett, strong champion of Christian liberty and cooperation.

These are some of the activities and achievements of Doctor Robert Richardson, a member of the inner circle who lived intimately with Walter Scott, Thomas and Alexander Campbell. We can now see where his quiet, unostentatious influence helped to shape the mould in which we were cast. His genius for pushing forward his cause and hiding himself from public view has all but robbed us of knowing one of the most colorful, humane and saintly of our pioneers.

The life of Richardson is filled with human interest. To become a Disciple he had to break with a strong tempered Irish father and bear his indignation for years. He fought eye trouble all his life and many times groped in a twilight which threatened to close down into total darkness. And yet, he painted his own original canvasses, and composed music for his own flute and violin. The large family of ten children over whom he presided was a happy, scintillating company. The farm he managed—Bethphage, nigh unto Bethany—was an inspiration to farmers for miles around. Enemies misunderstood and misrepresented him. Friends sometimes imposed upon him. He wrote the 1300 pages of Memoirs of Alexander Campbell when he could see so badly that he could commit it to paper only by dictating it to one of his daughters. He was a physician, but riding in a buggy, stage-coach, or train made him deathly sick; nevertheless he covered thousands of miles in these vehicles bringing health to bed-sides, peace to quarreling churches, and the gospel to the unconverted.

Always there was a citadel of spiritual refreshing in his life—his beloved Bethphage with its neat fields and rambling old house that grew a room at a time to shelter his growing family. To Bethphage he returned at the close of the day after fording the Buffalo Creek when his teaching was done and his medical calls were over. There, long after supper when the family circle had broken up and the night settled in, he sat at his desk with a quill pen in hand and wrote by the light of a candle in the moving prose which filled issue after issue of the Millennial Harbinger and flowed out across the life of the Brotherhood to nourish the soul of a living, growing, vital religion of the spirit.

He is worth knowing—one of God’s quiet noblemen. He will refresh your faith in your fellows and make you glad that you are a member of the human family.
THE CAMPBELL HYMN BOOK

A Bibliographical Study by Claude E. Spencer

The second part of a study of the various editions and printings of the hymn book first published by Alexander Campbell in 1828 and continued in many revisions and printings until 1882. The first part of this study appeared in the January 1949 Discipliana.

II 1834-1843

In 1834 the book was issued under the joint editorship of Campbell, Walter Scott, Barton W. Stone and John T. Johnson. Walter Scott, in the preface of the new book, said in part:

“It is known to many of the disciples, that brethren Stone and Johnson have published a hymn book: there were of course two hymn books in the field at the same time; and the result was that some preferred one and some the other. Hence the two hymn books were not unfrequently found in the same assembly to the no small inconvenience of the disciples. As the best remedy for the evil, it was deemed most advisable by brother Campbell to make of the twain one new hymn book; and for this reason he addressed an epistle to the brethren Stone and Johnson, setting forth the inconvenience of having two hymn books, and requesting them to concur with him in the production of a new one, which should meet the exigencies of all the churches. This the brethren approved, and replied, that they deemed it a very necessary movement and one to which they now most willingly acceded.”

The Christian Hymn Book, improved, second edition, edited by Stone and Johnson had been published at Georgetown, Kentucky, in 1832. This probably was a revision of a book, The Christian Hymn compiled by Stone and Thomas Adams in 1829, three years before the merger of the reformers and Christians.

Had Scott also published a hymnal by this time? If not why was he asked to help in the compilation of this one? He did compile a book in 1839, which was evidently the book Campbell mentions later.

Mr. Campbell, in telling of the combined hymn book, said that the last edition of the Stone and Johnson book had sold 3,000 copies while the fourth edition of his book had sold between 7,000 and 8,000 copies.

At this time Mr. Campbell also said, “I, therefore give up the sole and exclusive right of publishing that work, and have now only 1-3 of the interest in the new book.” Just how the financial arrangement was worked out so that Campbell got one-third interest when there were four compilers is unknown. Perhaps Scott did not have a financial interest in the book or, maybe Stone and Johnson had a third share between them. Later, Mr. Campbell said, “It has been one great object with me every since we became a community, to have but one hymn book, as we have but one Bible . . . I finally purchased the interests of all the books first used amongst us.”

Prefaces by Walter Scott and Alexander Campbell.

Eraturn note: “In the preface, the title Disciples Hymn Book was printed before the present title was adapted.”

The School of Religion Library, Butler University, has a copy of this edition. Campbell said that 6,000 copies were made.††

The Library of Congress has a copy of this edition which I have not examined. When the 2d and 3d editions were issued I have never learned. Some questions raised: Did each of the various compilers issue the book under his imprint? Were all editions so issued? Did Campbell’s printing shop do all the printing and furnish a separate title page for each compiler?

256 p. size 2\(\frac{3}{4}\) x 4\(\frac{1}{2}\) calfskin bound.
Stereotyped by L. Johnson, Philadelphia.

Contents include:
Preface to the fifth edition, pages 3-4.
Introduction, signed A. Campbell, pages 5-10.
Psalms (33); Hymns (35); Spiritual Songs (180).
Anthems, 2 pages.
Table of first lines.

There is a copy of this edition in Society archives. Since this edition was “stereotyped from the fifth edition,” there undoubtedly was a fifth issue. Date unknown, but some time between 1835-1838.

III. 1843-1851

Although Mr. Campbell had previously stated that the 1834 edition was perfect, no changes were needed, and no additions would be tolerated, in 1843 a new edition of the book was published with the following comment from Mr. Campbell, “Our hymn book will appear in a few days, with a second part.” Then followed the reason for the issuing of the new book.

It was during the latter part of this period that competition again began to bother Mr. Campbell. S. W. Leonard and A. D. Filmore brought out The Christian Psalmist late in 1847 (or early 1848). This book contained music as well as words. Although Mr. Campbell published the prospectus of the new book, he commented editorially by saying, “I would prefer to have an organ, or a fashionable choir as a means of my worship than the words of hymn set to the notes of a tune on which to fix my eyes while engaged in the worship of God.”

1. Psalms, Hymns and Spiritual Songs. 2 parts, 1843. We have never seen a copy of this edition, which was later issued in so many stereotyped printings.

256 - 192 pages. Size 3 x 4\(\frac{1}{2}\) calfskin bound.

Contents include:
Introduction, signed A. Campbell.
The remainder of Part I is the same as the previous entry II-3.

Warren

Last September we received a large box of books, manuscripts and letters from Mrs. W. R. Warren of Sarasota, Florida. These were items collected and saved by her husband, the late W. R. Warren. So much material was in the box and we have been slow in working through it. We can report at this time some of the things received.

Among the books were the following: Morrison—The Logan Place; Errett—Walks About Jerusalem, 1871; Campbell—Lectures on the Pentateuch, 1st ed. (Timothy Coor’s copy); Campbell—Christian System, 4th ed., 1857; and Gaus—The Press and Religion, an address before the Bethany Ministerial Retreat, June 21, 1934.

There was a copy of volume 5, 1847-48 of the Christian Record which just fitted into our file of this scarce periodical. In the field of local church periodicals was vol. 2, 1890 of the Church Stylus, Dayton, Ohio.

Also there were many volumes of duplicates which will be placed in our loan collection.

Mr. Warren was executive secretary of the 1909 Centennial Convention and had saved his voluminous correspondence in regard to the convention. This was included in the gift. The following International Convention badges not already in our archives were received: 1910, 1913, 1915, 1917, 1928, and 1929. The CWBM medal for the Centennial Convention was a part of the gift.

Recently we have received from Mrs. Warren, her son and daughter, the diaries Mr. Warren kept from the time he was a student at Bethany College until his death. These were sent to us on a loan basis.

In future issues we shall continue our report on the Warren material as we go on with the work of cataloging.

Even though the yearbook in its present form and content is a valuable reference tool, it could be made much better by some changes and additions. The “periodicals published by Disciples of Christ” is very inadequate and inconsistent. Just as an example: Why should some college papers be listed while the great majority are left out? Why not a section giving the constitution and by-laws of the various organizations reporting? Why not show how Unified Promotion, the Commission on Budgets and Promotional Relationships and other Commissions function? And why not a satisfactory index instead of a table of contents?

RESTRICTED GIFTS

Occasionally, valuable letters and other documentary material is destroyed because the owners feel that the contents are too intimate or personal to become public property during the lifetime of the persons involved. Robert Lincoln so felt concerning his father's personal papers and solved the problem by placing them in the Library of Congress to be opened twenty-five years after his death.

We have in our archives a few such papers. They are carefully placed in manila envelopes, sealed, and marked with the date on which they can become available for research workers. Some of these are letters of a personal nature concerning highly controversial subjects.

While the publication of such material might seem inadvisable at the present, it should be preserved for the historian of the future. The Society offers to individuals and organizations a safe place for letters and documents of this sort.

We recently received a copy of the Home Missions Review published by the UCMS. Undated, without volume and number, this was probably the only issue gotten out. It has an article on Home Missions by Dale Ellis.

ABOUT THE DISCIPLES OF CHRIST HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The Disciples of Christ Historical Society was organized May 5, 1941, at St. Louis, Missouri, and received the approval of the International Convention of the Disciples of Christ which was then in session. The Society is custodian of International Convention and World Convention archives by official action of those conventions.

The purpose of the Society is to maintain and further the interest of the Disciples of Christ (sometimes known as Christian Church or Church of Christ) in its religious heritage, backgrounds, origins, and development.

Membership is open to any individual, institution or organization that is in accord with the purpose of the Society.

In 1946 the Society secured as a gift from Culver-Stockton College, the valuable Henry Barton Robison Collection of Literature Relating to the Disciples of Christ which contains thousands of books, periodicals, pamphlets, manuscripts and illustrative materials dealing with the religious groups which grew out of the Restoration movement fostered by Abner Jones, Elias Smith, James O'Kelly, Barton W. Stone, Thomas and Alexander Campbell, Walter Scott, and other reformers of the early 19th century in America. The collection is being used as a nucleus for a comprehensive research library.

The Society which became incorporated in the State of Missouri in 1946 maintains its headquarters at Canton, Missouri, where authors and publishers are asked to send copies of all new publications. Churches are requested to place the Society on their mailing lists to receive orders of worship, papers, reports, yearbooks and other printed records. Gifts and bequests from individuals are especially welcome.

Classes of membership are as follows:

Individual member, per calendar year $1.00.

Individual founding member, $1.00 per year from 1941.

Individual life member, one payment $25.00.

Institutional member, per calendar year $15.00.

Local church member, per calendar year $12.00.

Institutional membership is offered to educational institutions and other organizations including state boards and national agencies.

GARRISON MODELS CAMPBELL BUST FOR CONVENTION SOUVENIR

Plans have been perfected for the distribution by DCHS of small busts of Alexander Campbell at the Cincinnati convention this fall. This project was authorized by the Board of Directors last fall at San Francisco.

The Campbell casts will be sold only to members of DCHS. The small cost, just 50 cents each, will allow members not only to get one for themselves, but to send, for a slight additional mailing charge, several to friends and relatives back home. Persons who are not now members of the Society may purchase the souvenirs by becoming members.

The model for the old ivory colored statuette was made by DCHS president, W. E. Garrison. Dr. Garrison has long had sculpturing as one of his hobbies. The relief plaques in the Butler School of Religion building in Indianapolis are his work.
WHERE THEY SLEEP

Editorial note: Mr. Bobo, who describes his hobby, is minister of the Thayer Street Church of Christ, Akron, Ohio, and a member of DCHS.

Since reading in childhood Gray's Elegy written in a country church-yard, I have had a peculiar hankering after cemeteries as most interesting repositories of local history. Through the years I have visited hundreds of them with a feeling of being better acquainted with the community after the visit.

My interest in the burial places of pioneer preachers began after I moved to the Western Reserve (Akron, Ohio) over three years ago. About that time I began reading some history of the restoration movement, and, finding myself in the very heart of the area of their greatest labors, I naturally began looking about for any traces of the men including their graves. Failing to find any prepared list of their burial places, I began listing the ones I found under the above heading.

Due to the pressure of my regular duties, I have had very little time to devote to the effort, so that it is still more of a purpose than a well developed hobby. I have not been able to locate files of the religious papers of that period here in Akron, and so have had to go elsewhere to get access to their obituary columns. However, through what research I have been able to do, through personal inquiry, and through sheer guessing I have been able to locate more than a hundred graves. Among them are the graves of such men as John Henry, Marcus Bosworth, Adamson Bentley, William and A. S. Hayden, Almon B. and Philander Green, Darwin Atwater, Harrison Jones, Lathrop Cooley, and many less well known characters. I have also visited such well known graves as those of the Campbells and others at Bethany, West Virginia, Walter Scott, Barton W. Stone, and the group at Lexington, Kentucky, though I do not have complete information on all of them.

Upon finding the graves I note the section and lot numbers when they can be had, and such other information and direction as will make them easily accessible. I copy the epitaphs, and hope eventually to have pictures of most of them. I have not found any as yet that were not sufficiently marked, but would like to do something about any that I might find.

In a few cases valuable information has been given by relatives of the men. Any information given me by such persons will be greatly appreciated and will be preserved. In turn, if the information which I have or may gather can be of service, it will be gladly given. If enough information is collected to make its publication worthwhile, that may be done sometime in the future.

RELIGIOUS HISTORIAN

Tolbert Fanning was a man of many accomplishments according to Josephine Murphy in "The Professor and His Lady," an article in the Nashville Tennessean Magazine for April 3, 1949. (Miss Eva Jean Wrather sent us a copy.) In addition to being an educator, preacher, agriculturist, horse enthusiastic, he edited several periodicals, the last of which was The Religious Historian.

Thanks to Mrs. Bertha Mason Fuller, Little Rock, Ark., who recently sent us ten or twelve issues, we now have a respectable file of this monthly periodical, published at Nashville, Tenn., and edited by Mr. Fanning. Vol. 1, no. 1 was dated January 1872, and the last number was Vol. 3, no. 5, May 1874.

In his prospectus for the Religious Historian Fanning said: "In the belief that there is a great and fruitful field of Christian labor, not fully occupied, we have established The Religious Historian, for the purpose of re-examining the Elementary Principles of the Christian Institution, and of giving our energies to Church History, as revealed in the Bible, found in the World’s history and set forth in Denominational records. All matters of a practical character, connected with the Church of Christ, shall have due attention, and Education, especially, will come under revision."

Our file now lacks vol. 1, no’s. 3, 4, 5, 6, 9, and 11; vol. 2, no’s. 1, 8; and vol. 3, no’s. 3, 4, and 5.
THE CAMPBELL HYMN BOOK

A Bibliographical Study by Claude E. Spencer

The third part of a study of the various editions and printings of the hymn book first published by Alexander Campbell in 1828 and continued in many revisions and printings until 1882.

IV 1851-1864

From the late 1840's through the early 1850's Mr. Campbell frequently called attention to the fact that his hymn book was copyrighted, and that some of his competitors were lifting hymns and using them without his permission. He again reiterated his position in regard to the desirability of only one hymn book for the brotherhood.

But his competitors did more than steal a hymn or two; at least one published a complete hymn book without Mr. Campbell's knowledge or consent for he said, "I find in circulation through Missouri, a hymn book labeled on the cover, Campbell's Hymns. It is our former hymn book, stereotyped by George D. Emerson & co., Springfield, Ohio."

1. Campbell's Hymns. Cincinnati, Published by W. H. Derby and co., Printed by Morgan and Overend, 185-?

We have never seen a copy of this edition. Certainly since it was circulated extensively in Missouri we should be able to locate a copy in our home state.

Mr. Campbell, now having complete control of the book brought out a new edition copyrighted in 1851, but probably bearing an 1852 date on the title page. I have never seen a copy of this book, which, due to an error in printing, should be rather rare. Mr. Campbell said:

"Yet during our absence from home, although a full and complete index of all the compositions for the book was put into the hands of a careful, and, as we thought, a very trustworthy compositor, a few compositions were left out, amongst which were two or three of our most favorite and popular songs. These were not discovered to be wanting until after the edition was issued and in the market. Fortunately, however, they were discovered in time for the stereotyped edition, in progress in Philadelphia. These hymns and compositions were, therefore, restored to their places."

Offer was made by Mr. Campbell to take back all copies of the erroneous edition for which copies of the stereotyped edition would be sent instead. There is no way of knowing how many people availed themselves of this proposal.

2. Psalms, Hymns, and Spiritual Songs, Original and Selected, compiled by A. Campbell, W. Scott, B. W. Stone, and J. T. Johnson, elders of the Christian Church; with numerous and various additions and emendations adapted to the personal, family, and church worship by Alexander Campbell, 2d edition. Henry K. Shaw, Elyria, Ohio, has a copy.

7. Recently we learned of a 5th edition with an 1864 imprint date published by H. S. Bosworth of Cincinnati. We have not seen this.

Two years (1864) before his death Campbell had arranged for the copyright of the hymn book to be owned by a group of trustees. A committee was jointly selected by Mr. Campbell and the American Christian Missionary Society to revise and enlarge the book, so as to meet the general wishes of the brotherhood of disciples. Any money received as profit was to be given to the American Christian Missionary Society. Until 1884 the trustees had paid the ACMS more than $9,000. (Since publishing of the 1851 revision Mr. Campbell had been using the profit from the sale of the book in educating ministers at Bethany College). Three type sizes stereotype editions were printed as follows: 1865 medium size type; 1867 small size type; 1868 large size type. All carried 1865 copyright dates. I have not seen the original printings of the 1865 and 1867 editions. New stereotype plates were made for medium size type edition in 1869.††

Last March the Society received one of its greatest gifts: the material collected by Mrs. Sarah Lue Bostick, a Negro woman of Little Rock, Ark., who was a devoted worker for the CWBM for many years. Mrs. Bostick, nearly 80 years old at her death, May 1, 1948, gave her personal papers to Mrs. Bertha Mason Fuller, who in turn placed them in the archives of DCHS so that they may be of continued use through the years.

Since it will be several months before this collection will be completely cataloged, it is impossible for us to list, even in a general way, the many items received. We are quoting, however, the following description prepared for Mrs. Fuller to use in a life of Mrs. Bostick which is now being printed.

“When Elder S. W. Scott organized an auxiliary of the CWBM, in the late 1890's, in the Pea Ridge, Arkansas Negro church, he couldn't have realized that indirectly he had started a series of causes and events which would eventu-
HELP HELP!

In the July 1946 issue of DISCIPLIANA we made a call for books, periodicals, and pamphlets on Christian unity, which had been produced by the brotherhood to be sent to The World Council of Churches headquarters in Geneva, Switzerland, for its library. We especially asked for copies of the Christian Union Quarterly (the first two years were titled the Christian Union Library) edited by Peter Ainslie at Baltimore, Md.

Some material was received in response to this request, and twice packages were mailed to the World Council Library. A partial set of The Quarterly was secured from Mrs. Ainslie by Robert M. Hopkins. We have some additional numbers here which have not yet been sent, but the following issues are needed to complete the World Council file:

The Christian Union Library, no's. 1-3, 6-8.

The Christian Union Quarterly, vol. 3, 1913, no's. 9, 11, 12; vol. 4, 1914, no's. 15-16; vol. 5, 1915, all no's.; vol. 6, 1916, all no's.; vol. 22, 1938, no. 1; vol. 23, 1934, all no's.; vol. 24, 1935, no's. 1 and 2.

DCHS is acting as the clearing house in this matter at the request of the Association for the Promotion of Christian Unity. Gifts of the needed numbers are hoped for, but the Association will pay for them if necessary. Anyone who has for gift or sale any of the wanted issues should contact the curator of DCHS at once.

THE GOSPEL BROADCAST

From Eugene S. Smith, Dallas, Texas, we have received as a gift bound volumes 4-8, 1944-1948, of The Gospel Broadcast which Mr. Smith edits and publishes. We are also receiving current numbers as issued.

CHRISTIAN HYMN BOOK

We recently purchased a copy of The Christian Hymn Book, Corrected and Enlarged. Third edition. Cincinnati, Looker and Wallace, Printers, 1815. The last few pages and a few interior ones are missing. The last page in our copy is 256.

That this is a very rare item is made plain when one looks at no. 247 of the American Imprints Inventory, no. 17, A Check List of Ohio Imprints, 1796-1820, and finds no copies are located.

There are no known copies of the original edition published in 1810. It is known that the hymns were collected and arranged for publication by John Thompson, David Purvivance, Samuel Westerfield, William Snodgrass and William McClure. Thompson and Purvivance were co-workers with Barton W. Stone.

of Negro conventions about ninety-nine per cent. Only three or four such minutes had been secured before; now there are scores more. Letters share with minutes and reports as being materials of vital importance to the historian. Much attention is being given today to securing manuscript items of all sorts and the society’s archives are much richer for Mrs. Bostick’s correspondence.

Mention must be made of one very curious book: Mnemotechny for the Million, or How to Remember by Edwin H. Hawley, 1858. While the book has nothing to do with the church or religion, it was written by a Disciple author, and was long on the Society’s want list.

No, there are not any rare imprints or beautiful bindings among the things Mrs. Bostick saved; a book dealer wouldn’t have given $1.50 for the lot. There are just the common place things, the stuff most of us destroy, but which is so necessary in writing the history of our people, our churches, and our brotherhood. Better history can be written because of Mrs. Bostick.”

We are now receiving regularly the Free-Lance Evangelist. C. Dana Malpass of Wilmington, N. C., editor.
RARE MISSOURI ITEM

A rare pamphlet written by Jacob Creath, Jr., and published in St. Louis, has been presented to the Society by Henry K. Shaw of Elyria, Ohio. The pamphlet, Some Essays on Marriage and Divorce, is listed as no. 435 in American Imprints Inventory no. 1, A Preliminary Check List of Missouri Imprints, 1808-1850, with no copies located.

The complete title reads: Some Essays on Marriage and Divorce; and the Equality of Men and Women Considered and the Excellency and Nobleness of Women Shown (quotation: four lines) by Jacob Creath, Junior | A Teacher of Christianity, in the Christian Chapel on Franklin Avenue, at the Corner of Sixth Street. Price 25 cents | Saint Louis: T. W. Ustick, Printer, cor. of Main and Olive Sts. 1845. paper covers, 42 pages.

Mr. Shaw also gave several other rare items. One is a pocket edition of Alexander Campbell's printing of the New Testament. Titled the Sacred Writings ... stereotyped from the third edition revised, it has Bethany, Brooke co., Va., Printed and Published by A. Campbell, 1833, as the imprint. Upon comparing this copy with another copy owned by Mr. Shaw, we have almost decided that this is a pirated printing issued by J. A. James, the Cincinnati stereotyper who made the plates for the original pocket edition. Our conclusions are largely based on type of binding and kind of paper. We believe that this copy was actually printed during the 1850's.

For a long time we had been searching for Frank Thompson's The Transgressor, published in 1920. Mr. Shaw bought a copy for us in New York this winter. The book, a novel, contains a chapter, a part of which is about Johnson Bible College. Ashley S. Johnson considered it an attack upon the college and answered at some length in The Christian Standard.

Mr. Shaw also gave us vol. 1, 1843, of The Orthodox Preacher, published at Cincinnati, Ohio, by Arthur Crihfield. We had volume 2 in the archives.

Still another gift from Mr. Shaw is the 3 volume Works of Thomas Reid, philosopher of the Scotch Common sense school. Although authorities disagree as to the influence of this school of philosophy on Alexander Campbell, all agree that he was fully acquainted with its works.

EVANGELICAL INQUIRER

We have just received a microfilm copy of the Evangelical Inquirer, edited by David S. Burnet at Dayton, Ohio. Vol. 1, no. 1 was dated June 7, 1830. Twelve numbers were issued before the periodical suspended publication. In the last number, vol. 1, no. 12, May 2, 1831 Mr. Burnet had this to say: "Why suspend your publication so soon? will undoubtedly be asked. To this I answer—engagements already contracted forbid the devotion of much time to any pursuit, that yields little or no pecuniary recompenses: and such is precisely the state of the Inquirer."

The editor had warned his subscribers in March 1831 that the paper would probably be suspended. He concluded by saying "A great number of our subscribers are in arrears. We hope they will take the hint and enable us to pay the printer."

In the first issue it had been explained that each number would contain 24 duodecimo pages and that the last number would contain a title page and index. Terms of subscription were $1.00 a year if paid within the first six months; $1.50 if paid later than that.

Alexander Campbell's "Parable of the Iron Bedstead" was reprinted from The Christian Baptist in the first issue. Later numbers contained considerable material about the invasion of Ohio by the Mormons.

The editor, David S. Burnet, 22 years old, was at the beginning of his long career as minister, author, editor, educator and administrator, and this was his first venture into journalism. It was not his last, however, as later he edited and published the Christian Preacher, the Christian Family Magazine, the Christian Age, the Reformer, the Monthly Age and the Sunday School Journal.

According to the title page the periodical was printed by E. Lindsley.

Our microfilm print came to us from the photographic department of Yale University which photographed the copy in the W. R. Coe Collection of Western Americana in the Yale Library.
NEW BOOKS RECEIVED

Goodnight, Cloyd and Stevensen, Dwight Eshelman.

An extensive pre-view of Richardson and his work was given in the April DISCIPLIANA.

Although Mr. Goodnight's name is used first on the title page of the book, the actual writing was done by Professor Stevenson and is unusually readable for a religious biography. Much of the material on which the book is based was gathered by Mr. Goodnight and was for some years lost until Mr. Stevenson was able to locate it. This should be a must book for ministers, church councils, and interested laymen.

Nichols, Frederick Sammons.

A book of ten essays on Mother Goose characters, all given contemporary significance. The author is minister of the Christian Church at Walton, Kentucky.

Phillips, James D., ed.

Title self explanatory.

Sessions, Will A., Jr.

A series of fourteen sermons preached by the minister of the Independence Boulevard Church.

Smith, Everett S.

The second printing of a handbook of ordinarily unknown facts about the Bible first published in 1945. The author is pastor of the First Christian Church of Miami.

Smith, Everett S.

Westrup, Tomas Martin.

The story of the introduction of the Gospel in Mexico. An English translation is waiting publication.

Watters, Florence Gray (Mrs. Albert E. Watters).

A most attractively printed and well written booklet.

West, Earl Irvin

The first volume of a projected two volume work concerns the years 1849-1865 when the beginnings of the split in restoration ranks was becoming evident. This story of the movement by a Church of Christ author using many sources not generally familiar to Disciple historians is a must buy for an understanding of the Churches of Christ. When the work is complete we expect to have it fully reviewed. The author is pastor of the Irvington (Indiana) Church of Christ.

CURATOR’S NOTES

March 4 the curator started on a two weeks trip through the Southwest. The first stop was at Springfield, Mo., where he conducted an interest group round table on “Why the Christian Church” at the Missouri State Convention of Disciples Student Fellowship.

March 6, was spent on the campus of Phillips University at Enid, Okla. On March 8, he talked to the Homiletic Guild of Brite Bible College at Texas Christian University, Fort Worth, and had fellowship with the men’s group of the University Christian Church in the evening.

At Dallas he visited DCHS Board of Director Member Dick James and at Austin he made the acquaintance of G. H. P. Showalter of the Firm Foundation Publishing Company. Other places visited in Texas were San Antonio, Laredo, and Corpus Christi.

March 16, he talked at a church dinner at the First Christian Church in Little Rock, Ark. While in Little Rock he secured much valuable material concerning Negro disciples which had been gathered by the late Mrs. Sara Lou Bostick, a Negro home missionary, and was given to our archives by Mrs. Bertha Mason Fuller.

In the late afternoon at Mrs. Fuller’s house, he spoke to a group of Little Rock Negro pastors and workers. Nine of the fourteen present became members of the Society.

On his way home the next day, the car in which he was riding (owned and driven by his brother) was almost totally wrecked. Fortunately there were no serious injuries and the mass of material gathered during the trip was not damaged.

The curator attended a meeting of the Campbell Home Committee in Chicago, March 30. Others in attendance were W. H. Crumblet, President of Bethany College, Hubert L. Barnett, Chairman of the committee, and W. E. Garrison, President of DCHS.

The curator, with other members of the Campbell Home Committee, presented the case for a campaign to raise funds for the repair, restoration, development and endowment of the Campbell Home before the Commission on Budgets and Promotional Relationships at Columbus, Ohio, April 26.

From Columbus the curator went to Mansfield, Ohio, for a couple of hours visit with Ernest J. Wessen of the Midland Rare Book Company and continued to Elyria, Ohio, where he stayed a day and a night with DCHS Executive Committee member, Henry Shaw.

The curator attended a meeting of the Committee of 33 at Indianapolis, May 19, 1949. This committee was called to make recommendations concerning resolutions 51 and 64 passed by the International Convention at its meeting in San Francisco in 1948.

By the time our members are reading this issue of DISCIPLIANA, the curator expects to be up to his neck (and probably ears) in moving DCDS archives into the new Carl Johann Memorial Library building. At the same time he will be moving the Culver-Stockton library of some 33,000 volumes. So—no vacation this summer.

We hope to have pictures of our new set-up in the October issue, with a full description of all our new facilities. Elsewhere in this issue we are listing a number of items we need to be able to be of more efficient service to the brotherhood.

July 1, 1949, Christine Buder started work as assistant librarian of Culver-Stockton College. She will be remembered as the girl who was the curator’s secretary (she typed the copy for the Author Catalog) during her college days, 1944-1948. Now she has an M. S. degree in library science from the University of Illinois.

BITS OF DISCIPLIANA

The Star Spangled Banner was first set in type by Samuel Sands, later a member of the Christian Church, according to a letter to The Christian Standard written by D. R. Wilkins of Baltimore, Md., and published in the Standard of January 23, 1886.

The song was published in the Baltimore American of September 21, 1814, and was headed "The Defense of Fort McHenry." That it was set up by "Bro. Sands," who later became the agricultural editor of the paper was certified by James Vernon of the Para Street congregation in Baltimore wrote Mr. Wilkins.

Oliver R. Whitley, Yale University, is preparing a paper on The Sociological and Cultural Interpretation of the Disciples.

THE CHRISTIAN

From Miss Theresa Capp of St. Joseph, Mo., we recently secured a bound file of The Christian, published monthly by Barnes and Co., under the auspices of the Home Mission Board of the Disciples of Christ of the Maritime provinces, St. John, New Brunswick. The editor was Donald Crawford with T. H. Capp as co-editor.

Our file starts with vol. 3, no. 1, November 1885, and ends with vol. 9, no. 1, November 1891.

THE CHRISTIAN PIONEER

Not the first Disciple periodical to be published in Missouri, but the first to continue for any length of time, was The Christian Pioneer, which started in 1860 and ended in 1870. Recently we completed our file by securing from the State Historical Society of Missouri a microfilm print of the last issues, April 8, 1869—November 3, 1870.

NEW THESSES

New theses completed are:

Heffernan, Miriam M.
The Ideas and Methods of Vachel Lindsay. New York University, 1948.

Goodrich, Martha H.

McCaw, John Emory.

Wilkinson, Robert Talmage.

Mrs. Bertha Mason Fuller, 2216 Summit, Little Rock, Ark., has prepared the life story of Mrs. Sarah Luc Bostick in booklet form. It is now being printed and will sell at fifty cents per copy. Those interested should write Mrs. Fuller at once.
IT'S TOUGH TO BE POOR

Before DCHS can render the service which a great brotherhood should demand from a Society like ours, we must have many pieces of equipment and much more money for current expenses. Now that we shall have adequate room for our headquarters in the new Johann library, we are requesting gifts to purchase needed equipment.

A microfilm camera and supplementary material for a photographic laboratory is wanted. With such a laboratory in operation DCHS could do much microfilming on a cost basis for other organizations and institutions of the brotherhood. $1,000 would make this possible.

A vari-typer would allow us to issue mimeographed publications with a printed look at a reasonable cost. $750 will buy the machine and several sets of type.

A recording device which can be used for dictating purposes (such as the audigraph) is almost a necessity. $400 to $600 would supply this need.

There are other wants such as card catalog cases, exhibit cases, and storage cabinets.

We hope that eventually we shall find friends who will supply us with the money for these purchases.

"IT IS RECOMMENDED"

At the annual meeting of the Board of Higher Education in Columbus, Ohio, April 24-26, 1949, the following by-law was approved: "It is recommended that each cooperating institution deposit with the Disciple Historical Society a copy of each official publication."

We hope that institutional representatives at that meeting will act in accordance with this by-law and will have DCHS placed on their various mailing lists.

DCHS has a list of several thousand titles of books and pamphlets which are needed to complete our holdings of the work of individual authors of Disciples of Christ and Churches of Christ. As many of these authors are living, we checked our wants and picked out 79 persons whose books we lacked. To these people we wrote letters requesting copies of their work for our archives and giving them the titles of their books now on our shelves.

The first letters were sent out in April and the last early in June. The response has been beyond our expectations. We received replies and material from 34 of the 79 individuals—a 44% response!
ABOUT THE DISCIPLES OF CHRIST HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The Disciples of Christ Historical Society was organized May 5, 1941, at St. Louis, Missouri, and received the approval of the International Convention of the Disciples of Christ which was then in session. The Society is custodian of International Convention and World Convention archives by official action of those conventions.

The purpose of the Society is to maintain and further the interest of the Disciples of Christ (sometimes known as Christian Church or Church of Christ) in its religious heritage, backgrounds, origins, and development.

Membership is open to any individual, institution or organization that is in accord with the purpose of the Society.

In 1946 the Society secured as a gift from Culver-Stockton College, the valuable Henry Barton Robison Collection of Literature Relating to the Disciples of Christ which contains thousands of books, periodicals, pamphlets, manuscripts and illustrative materials dealing with the religious groups which grew out of the Restoration movement fostered by Abner Jones, Elias Smith, James O'Kelly, Barton W. Stone, Thomas and Alexander Campbell, Walter Scott, and other reformers of the early 19th century in America. The collection is being used as a nucleus for a comprehensive research library.

The Society which became incorporated in the State of Missouri in 1946 maintains its headquarters at Canton, Missouri, where authors and publishers are asked to send copies of all new publications. Churches are requested to place the Society on their mailing lists to receive orders of worship, papers, reports, yearbooks and other printed records. Gifts and bequests from individuals are especially welcome.

Classes of membership are as follows:

Individual member, per calendar year $1.00.
Individual founding member, $1.00 per year from 1941.
Individual life member, one payment $25.00.
Institutional member, per calendar year $15.00.
Local church member, per calendar year $12.00.

Institutional membership is offered to educational institutions and other organizations including state boards and national agencies.

Local churches should take advantage of the opportunity to share in the work of the Society by becoming members. The local church dues include individual memberships for the minister and one layman.

Subscriptions to DISCIPLIANA, gifts for the Society, payment of dues, and inquiries concerning the work of the Society should be sent to:

ON RELIGIOUS REFORMATION.

TO THE RELIGIOUS PUBLIC.

The following documents are most respectfully submitted, for the purpose of eliciting mistakes, and correcting erroneous statements, by presenting a precise and definite view of the religious reformation for which the author, with many others in these states, has, from and since the year 1800, been humbly and earnestly contending.

Having happened in eastern Virginia, as in many other places distant from our commencement, that various mistakes and discordant misrepresentations, injurious to the proposed reformation, have been unhappily indulged and officiously propagated, charging the reformers with a fickle unprincipled versatility; and the reformation with almost every thing deemed erroneous, it appears a duty we owe to ourselves, and to the public, in behalf of the all-important cause in which we are engaged, to give a public exhibit of the following well authenticated documents, which have been in the hands of the public from, and since, the date of our commencement to the present day; which, taken in connexion with our other public exhibitions of faith and duty, both from pulpit and press, we are persuaded, must and will exonerate both the reformers and the reformation from the above unfounded imputations; and also evince to every candid professor of Christianity, that the reformation, for which we humbly plead, is worthy of all acceptation—unexceptionably just and necessary, the very and immediate duty of all concerned for the glory of God, the enjoyment of his salvation, and the conversion of the world. Impressed with these sentiments, (the result of the rigorous investigation of upwards of twenty years, during which time the following specifications and assumptions, upon which the proposed reformation has been predicated, and in a strict undeviating conformity to which it has hitherto proceeded, have been subjected to the strictest scrutiny of objecting opposers of every description, without even the alleged detection of a single error; which, however, is not the sole ground of our evidence, which is more especially founded upon the materials of which these specifications and assumptions are composed, namely; express scripture testimony, undeniable facts, and universally acknowledged principles, which, we are persuaded,
UNIQUE BARCLAY ITEM ON EXHIBIT

The society had on display at the International Convention the passport issued by the State Department of the United States to James T. Barclay, August 25, 1850 in order for him and his family to travel to Jerusalem to start the first mission under the auspices of the newly organized American Christian Missionary Society. Dr. Barclay was described as being 5 feet 10 inches tall with medium forehead, grey eyes, nearly straight nose, medium mouth, round chin, mived grey hair, fair complexion and oval face. The passport, measuring 16 x21 inches when unfolded, was signed by Daniel Webster as secretary of state.

This interesting document which, through the various visas, shows all the places the Barclay family visited on their trip to Jerusalem and return, was on exhibit through the courtesy of Mrs. J. O. Donaldson of Jackson, Mississippi. Mrs. Donaldson (Mary Elizabeth Jefferson) is a great-granddaughter of Dr. Barclay. Her mother was Julia Margaret Barclay (she married Samuel Mitchell Jefferson) oldest daughter of Robert G. Barclay, James T. Barclay's oldest son.

James Turner Barclay, 1807-1874, had an unusual career as a physician, missionary, college teacher and preacher. As a result of his experience in Jerusalem he wrote The City of the Great King, published in 1857, which was widely acclaimed as having material about Jerusalem not to be found elsewhere. Two of his children (including Robert G.) were born at Monticello, the home of Thomas Jefferson, which Dr. Barclay owned for three years, 1832-1835. No adequate biography of the Disciples' first missionary has been written: one is needed.

The document, used first in 1850 and last in 1854, is now in our archives. Lee C. Pierce, minister of the church at Jackson, brought it to the convention for our exhibit and made arrangements for us to bring it back with us.

RARE PAMPHLETS RECEIVED; ONE BY THOMAS CAMPBELL

LeRoy Munyon, Sturgeon, Mo., sent for the Robison Collection a file of Millennial Harbinger's, 1830-1862. Upon examination it was discovered that several of the volumes contained pamphlets bound in with the Harbinger's. The five pamphlets described below are all rare and are very valuable additions to our archives.

2. Minutes of the New York State Convention of the Disciples of Christ; Held with the Christian Church in Tully, September 13th, 15th, and 16th, 1855. 16 pages.

4. Shannon, James. Inaugural Address Delivered Before the Trustees of Bacon College at His Installation as President of that Institution ... 1840. Bethany, W. Va., Printed by A. Campbell, 1841, 20 pages.

5. On Religious Reformation. Although this 16 page pamphlet does not show an author, publisher or date, we have concluded from internal evidence and a searching of Millennial Harbinger files that it is the work of Thomas Campbell, prepared for distribution in the Baptist churches of eastern Virginia during his trip there in 1832, and that it probably was printed in eastern Virginia and not at the printing shop on Buffalo Creek.

"The contents include "To the Religious Public," (with the statement that the "following document published in Cincinnati, May 1829 is here unto subjoined." This had been reprinted in the Christian Baptist, vol 7, pp. 11-13, signed Thomas Campbell), pp. 11-12; and selections from the Millennial Harbinger, 1831, no. 12 with quotations from Calvin's Institutes, Dr. Worcester's Letters to Christians and a conclusion, pp. 12-16.

Andrew Broaddus, in the Religious Herald, February 3, 1832, (reprinted in the Millennial Harbinger, 1832, p. 146) says "Our aged missionary, (Thomas Campbell) coming amongst us in the profession see page 39.

So far as I know the last edition of the hymn book was the revision of 1882 which set off "the hymn book controversy" that rocked the brotherhood, brought on a bitter, personal dispute between Isaac Errett and David Lipscomb,* and saw the birth of Fillmore's New Christian Hymn and Tune Book. (The whole story is a good subject for a graduate thesis).

The original printing of this revision was issued by H. S. Bosworth, as the lowest bidder for the job.

320 p. size 6x8½ cloth bound.
Electrotyped by Campbell & co., Cincinnati.

Contents include:

CONCLUSION

Much needs to be done yet to complete a comprehensive study of Mr. Campbell's hymn book. All of the various editions and printings need to be located. Total printings need to be more accurately estimated. Geographical distribution and use should be determined if possible. The sale of the book to others than Disciples would be valuable knowledge. All this in addition to research in to the quality of the hymns and their impact on the people who sang them.

Then, too, a search into the authorship of the hymns could be made. We know that Campbell wrote some of them, namely: "On Tabor's Top the Saviour Stood"; "This Darkness Here, But Jesus Smiles"; "Upon the Banks of Jordan Stood"; "Come, Let us Sing the Coming Fate"; and "Jesus is Gone Above the Skies."† What ones did Scott, Stone and Johnson contribute? Were other Disciples represented?

My hope in preparing this incomplete study is that someone will find the task interesting enough to finish.

Annual Meeting
The annual meeting, held in the Hotel Gibson, October 27, was attended by about 50 persons who heard a panel discussion "Cincinnati in the Life of the Disciples." Those composing the discussion group were W. E. Garrison, Howard E. Short, Edward A. Henry, Henry K. Shaw, and Eva Jean Wrather.
The following Directors were re-elected for a three year term, ending 1952:
Robert W. Burns, Atlanta, Ga.
A. T. DeGroot, Fort Worth, Texas.
W. E. Garrison, Chicago, Ill.

Claude E. Spencer, Canton, Mo.
Louis A. Warren, Fort Wayne, Ind.
Eva Jean Wrather, Nashville, Tenn.

Board of Directors
Two meetings of the Board were held during the Convention. The first meeting was held at the Hotel Sinton, October 26, when the main item of business was the reading and discussion of the curator's report and passing upon various items connected with the report.
The curator was authorized to have published as soon as practical, a revised edition of Theses Concerning the Disciples of Christ.
The Executive Committee was authorized to prepare long range plans for the society to present at the meeting of the council of Agencies in February 1950. Such plans should make provisions for a full-time staff, adequate equipment, and an archives building, and should be sent to each member of the Board of Directors for approval.
A committee composed of Warner Muir and A. T. DeGroot made the following report which was approved by the Board:

"The Disciples of Christ Historical Society wishes to offer to the Commissions of the Northern Baptists and the Disciples of Christ, which are concerned with overtures relating to a proposed union of their bodies, all the resources of its historical materials as grounds of study relating to this project. The DCHS is a research rather than an opinion forming agency, but it is acutely aware of the elements of history which will have influence on any outcome of the current hopes for union. Individuals and commissions of both historic communions are cordially urged to employ the facilities of the DCHS for preparing their plans and programs."

At the second meeting of the Board immediately following the Annual meeting the following officers were elected:

President, W. E. Garrison.
Vice-president, Chester P. Hensley.
Secretary-treasurer, Donald E. Sykes.
Curator, Claude E. Spencer.

Members of the executive committee, in addition to the president and curator, Chester P. Hensley, Henry K. Shaw and Louis A. Warren.

Campbell Busts

If you were not at the convention, or if you were and missed purchasing a Campbell bust (pictured on the front page of the July Discipliana) we can send you as many as you want at 50 cents each, post paid. The price to non-members is $1.00, although we will send them in quantity lots to churches, Sunday schools, young peoples groups and women's councils at 50 cents each, for resale.

Dues

Our fiscal year ends December 31. Membership fees are collected for the calendar year and all who have not paid for 1950 should do so now. All who owe for 1948 and 1949 in addition to 1950 will be dropped from our membership rolls and from the Discipliana mailing list if the money has not been received by January 31.

AT CINCINNATI

Amateur photographers had a field day photographing various parts of the DCHS—Campbell Home Booth. We hope that these shutter bugs will remember to send copies of their prints for our archives.

We picked up in the exhibition hall at the Convention the following items not in our archives: Higher Education for Christian Leadership; "Pioneers! O Pioneers! by Wright and LeVier; Brief History of the Old Cane Ridge Meeting House by Thompson; Disciples Unashamed by Davison; Constitution and By-Laws of the National Christian Convention; A Blue Print of the Future; Foreign Missions Handbook; Montana Christian News, September-October, 1949; South Carolina Christian, September 19-49; Program of the 33rd Annual Session of the National Christian Missionary Convention; Kindergarten Department of the Church School by Reynolds; The Romance of Religious Journalism by Haislip; and numerous college catalogs and pieces of promotional equipment.

That our historical exhibit, changed each day to correspond with Dwight Stevenson's morning lectures, was a success was evidenced by the crowds that came each day to look and ask questions.

We appreciate very much the spirit of cooperation shown by the City Art Museum of Cincinnati which loaned us the two fine exhibit cases we used at the convention. We would like to have some of these cases in our archives permanently.

An attractive feature of our booth was Robert M. Campbell of Santa Monica, Calif. Octogenarian Mr. Campbell, the grandson of Alexander Campbell, is a graduate of Bethany College, and a retired minister.

A most attractive feature of our booth was the huge photo mural of the Campbell Home, made by Kossuth of Wheeling, West Virginia, and used as the back wall decoration of our exhibit space. This was furnished by the Campbell Home Committee.

Lots of Oh's! and ah's! were heard from booth gazers when they saw the cradle in which Alexander Campbell's fourteen children were rocked and many a young minister got a thrill from standing behind the pulpit of the old Brush Run Church. The cradle came from the Campbell Home and the Brush Run pulpit from Bethany College. Both were a part of the Campbell Home Committee half of our booth.

Our thanks are due the Library of the Butler School of Religion for a copy of the minutes of the meeting of the first general convention in 1849 which was loaned us for display purposes.

And to the Library of the College of the Bible for the copy of Walter Scott’s Inaugural Address at Bacon College which we displayed.

And to Prof. Green and the Bethany College Library for the original edition of Thomas Campbell’s Declaration and Address and Alexander Campbell’s printing of the New Testament, interleaved and bound in two volumes for A. C.’s own use, which was loaned to us.

In addition to Mrs. Spencer and Miss Ganote (Culver-Stockton student who is the curator’s secretary) there were several DCHS members who made themselves quite valuable in the booth. Our thanks go especially to W. P. Harman, Eva Jean Wrather, Henry Shaw, Prof. Green and Chester Hensley for being around when needed.

And we’ll wager that no better spaghetti is made in Oklahoma City than we found at Caproni’s in Cincinnati.

RARE PAMPHLETS

...character of a “reformer,” exhibits, in certain printed documents, which I have heard read, the basis or grounds upon which he seems desirous that the reformation should be established.”

Thomas Campbell, in a letter addressed to Alexander, dated February 27, 1832, and printed in The Harbinger, 1832, p. 169, says “Before this come to hand you will have received... the Religious Herald of this place (Richmond)... You will have seen the combined result of the attack upon you and me by the Anti-reforming interest of this part of the state... upon me, for my friendly visit and exhibition of documents, of which I suppose, you will have received the numbers I ordered to be forwarded to you.”

This is undoubtedly one of the most rare and valuable pieces of pamphlet material in our archives.
ABOUT THE DISCIPLES OF CHRIST HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The Disciples of Christ Historical Society was organized May 5, 1941, at St. Louis, Missouri, and received the approval of the International Convention of the Disciples of Christ which was then in session. The Society is custodian of International Convention and World Convention archives by official action of those conventions.

The purpose of the Society is to maintain and further the interest of the Disciples of Christ (sometimes known as Christian Church or Church of Christ) in its religious heritage, backgrounds, origins, and development.

Membership is open to any individual, institution or organization that is in accord with the purpose of the Society.

In 1946 the Society secured as a gift from Culver-Stockton College, the valuable Henry Barton Robison Collection of Literature Relating to the Disciples of Christ which contains thousands of books, periodicals, pamphlets, manuscripts and illustrative materials dealing with the religious groups which grew out of the Restoration movement fostered by Abner Jones, Elias Smith, James O'Kelly, Barton W. Stone, Thomas and Alexander Campbell, Walter Scott, and other reformers of the early 19th century in America. The collection is being used as a nucleus for a comprehensive research library.

The Society which became incorporated in the State of Missouri in 1946 maintains its headquarters at Canton, Missouri, where authors and publishers are asked to send copies of all new publications. Churches are requested to place the Society on their mailing lists to receive orders of worship, papers, reports, yearbooks and other printed records. Gifts and bequests from individuals are especially welcome.

Classes of membership are as follows:

Individual member, per calendar year $1.00.
Individual founding member, $1.00 per year from 1941.
Individual life member, one payment $25.00.
Institutional member, per calendar year $15.00.
Local church member, per calendar year $12.00.

Institutional membership is offered to educational institutions and other organizations including state boards and national agencies.

Local churches should take advantage of the opportunity to share in the work of the Society by becoming members. The local church dues include individual memberships for the minister and one layman.

Subscriptions to DISCIPLIANA, gifts for the Society, payment of dues, and inquiries concerning the work of the Society should be sent to:

That Walter Scott, in 1851, felt very much neglected, out of the main stream of brotherhood life, and even forgotten is shown in a letter written by him to F. W. Emmons. Scott says in part “... believe me that since I ceased editing the Protestant Unionist I have become, as David says of himself, in the 31st Ps. ‘Like a dead man out of mind;’ so that with the exception of that worthy class of bipeds named Creditors or Duners I am, I may truly affirm, forgotten by almost all my former friends.”

Scott goes on to tell that he was living in Mayslick, Ky., and that “my duties are in nature Academical. I am turned Pedagogue and teach grammar, Rhetoric, Logic, Nat. Philos, Chern., etc. I used to be perfectly acquainted with Euclid and his doctrine of solids when no other, Alex. Campbell said, taught it in the West. I have a few pupils in Algebra! the fruit of Academical labors and 500 that I receive per ann is the amount of my present income.”

After characterizing his second wife as “one of the best, meekest, and quietest of human beings” and their child as “a sweet daughter,” Scott gives his friend Emmons some personal advice of an intimate nature.

Probably Emmons had requested permission to reprint some of Scott’s Evangelist articles for Scott said “I will tender you license on your own terms.” After a brief discussion of his teaching on faith Scott adds these significant sentences: “Out of the Advocacy introduced by your humble servt. has arisen two great peoples—the Mormons and our own Brethren: for Rigdon took it from me and gave it to the Mormons as has been fully proved. This alone accounts for all their success.”

(See Page 55.)

SCOTT’S FROG SERMON

An interesting anecdote concerning Walter Scott is told in The Autobiography of Lydia Sexton, Dayton, Ohio, 1882, and reprinted here through the courtesy of Charles C. Ware, Wilson, N. C., who has a copy of the book in the Carolina Discipliana Library.

“My father’s brother Samuel married Rachel Smalley, and removed to the Genessee Valley, New York. They had a family of six children—David, Jacob, Samuel, Lochey, Rachel, Eliza, and Caty. Rachel married Mr. Samuel Huson, a merchant in Dundee, New York. Eliza married Mr. Maltby, also a merchant, of the same place. But uncle Samuel was never pleased with the match, and showed to them no favors or countenance.

As a family history embracing thousands of persons and incidents would be incomplete without a few episodes, commonly called family jars, I may in the course of this history give one occasionally, sometimes as a warning to others, and at other times as a relief from tedious monotony, as the minister introduces some familiar and thrilling anecdote to arouse a drowsy audience. To illustrate, Elder Walter Scott on one occasion, in Dayton, Ohio, was preaching a very able discourse upon the sufferings, crucifixion, and resurrection of our Saviour. The ornamental element of the congregation soon became drowsy, even under the masterly arguments and brilliant eloquence of the minister, who observing it, changed the subject and took up the story of the boys and the frogs, picturing to the life the very wicked characters indulging in the sport, and in plaintive tones very feelingly portrayed the sufferings and massacre of the bruised and mangled frogs. The change of subject elicited the attention of the sleepers, who gave earnest attention to the story of...
LIVING ORACLES

Although we speak familiarly of Alexander Campbell's printing of the New Testament as the Living Oracles that name does not appear on the title page of any of the various printings. The first use of the name on the book was on the spine of the 3rd edition, 1832. We have always considered that all copies of this edition were so labeled. Not so! We have just received a copy from Mr. Earl Johnston of St. Louis, Missouri, which has the wording New Testament on the spine.

All copies of the 3rd edition which we have seen have been bound in dark tan calf with a thin leather label of another color pasted on the spine.

One cannot know without further evidence which was distributed first but we can suppose that the one with the New Testament label came first since all succeeding printings used a Living Oracles title on the spine.

There are at least two colors, red and dark green, used on the 3rd edition labels. Since red was used for the New Testament one, we can again suppose that the Living Oracles with the red was distributed before the one with the dark green. Too, the 1st and 2nd editions have red labels while the fourth and later ones have dark green. (By the way, we are still looking for a 5th edition.) The theory that Mr. Campbell used red labels until he could secure red no longer, or grew tired of red, and changed to dark green (almost black) would be easily exploded by finding any of the first three editions with dark green labels stamped New Testament. What would be more startling would be to find one of the first two with Living Oracles as a cover title.

WANTED: We need Vol. 1, no. 1, July 1911, of The Christian Union Library and vol. 4, no. 15, January 1915 of The Christian Union Quarterly to complete our files of the Quarterly edited and published by Peter Ainslie.

Monroe E. Hawley, East St. Louis, Mo., is doing research for a thesis, History of the Restoration Movement in St. Louis Until 1890, at Washington University.

CAMPBELL CHROMO

We have just received for the archives a chromo of the first painting made by James Bogle, 1817-1878, in 1851 of Alexander Campbell. (The original painting is now owned by Mrs. Virginia Hagerman Watson, great-granddaughter of Campbell, of Los Angeles, Calif.*) This reproduction came to us as a gift of Mrs. Gertrude Hart of Bloomington, Ill. It was the property of Mrs. Hart's father, John Carlock, who lived for many years at Oak Grove, Ill.

The picture, framed in gilt, is in an excellent state of preservation and is of much better workmanship than the modern copies sold today. The difference is quite apparent when the old and new are placed side by side. The new acquisition has all the quality and look of an oil painting.

On the reverse of the picture is an inscription which shows that it was published by R. W. Carroll and Company of Cincinnati and that it was chromed by Colton, Zahm and Roberts, Art publishers of New York. The copyright date is 1872.

Mack A Warren, pastor of the Centennial Christian Church of Bloomington, was instrumental in securing the picture for DCUS. Recently the picture was exhibited in the Centennial Church.

SPIRITUAL HYMNS

Our copy of the second edition of Alexander Campbell's Psalms, Hymns, and Spiritual Songs, 1829, has been considered the first and probably only printing of this edition. From Ernest J. Wessen, Midland Rare Book Company, Mansfield, Ohio, we learn that evidently the first books printed of the second edition contained an error in the spelling of a word on the title page. Mr. Wessen listed for sale in Midland Notes, No. 46, illustrated with a facsimile reproduction of the title page, a copy with the spelling "Spiritual" instead of "Spiritual." Unfortunately our book budget would not allow us to order this unique item and we do not know who was fortunate enough to be able to buy it.

WANTED: Memoir of Elizabeth Hardy by J. H. Hardy. St. Louis, John Burns, 1880.
THE CAMPBELL HYMN BOOK

A Bibliographical Study by Claude E. Spencer

This fifth part of a study of the Campbell hymnbook deals with hymnals of the Christian church previous to 1828 and with books issued in competition to Mr. Campbell's book.

Appendix

I. Christian Church Hymns.

Mr. Campbell was not the first of the American reformers to issue a hymn book. Men connected with the Christian church, often called "Christian connexion," and some times "new lights," published hymn books as early as 1805. Some of these were compiled by Abner Jones, Elias Smith, Joseph Thomas, James O'kelly, Rice Haggard, David Millard and Joseph Badger. I have been unable to locate any accurate bibliographical description except for these three.

1. SMITH, ELIAS, 1796-1846

36 p.

An earlier edition was published in 1805.

2. THOMAS, JOSEPH, 1791-1835 (THE WHITE PILGRIM)

The Pilgrim's Hymn Book, Offered as a Companion to All Zion Travelers. Winchester, Va., 1817.

216 p.

An earlier edition was published in 1815.

3. THOMSON, JOHN and others, ed.

256 p.

According to the American Imprints Inventory, no. 17, A Check List of Ohio Imprints, 1796-1820, an earlier edition had been published at Dayton, Ohio, in 1810, of which there are no located copies. Co-compilers were David Purviance, Samuel Websterfield, William Snodgrass, and William McClure. Probably the only located copy of the 1815 printing is in DCHS archives.

II. Hymn Books Issued in Competition With Mr. Campbell's Book, 1832-1882

In addition to the Stone and Johnson book issued in 1832* and called the Christian Hymn Book† and Walter Scott's book, both previously mentioned (section II, 1834-1843) copies of which are unlocated today, there were the following:

1. LEONARD, SILAS WHITE, 1814-1870 AND FILLMORE, AUGUSTUS DAMON, 1823-1870.

383 p.

Stereotyped by E. Shipard, Cincinnati.

* The Biography of Elder John T. Johnson by John Rogers, 1861.
† The Christian Messenger, July 1832, p. 216.
2. LEONARD, SILAS WHITE, 1814-1870 AND FILLMORE, AUGUSTUS DAMON, 1823-1870.

The Christian Psalmist; a Collection of Tunes and Hymns, For the Use of Worshipping Assemblies, Singing and Sunday Schools, numeral edition, compiled from many authors, 18th ed. Louisville, Ky., Published by S. W. Leonard, c1850, c1851. 146 p.
Printed by Morton and Grisworld.

3. LEONARD, SILAS WHITE, 1814-1870.

The Vocalist; a Collection of Songs and Hymns, With Appropriate Music, Original and Selected. Also lessons in numeral music, forming a numeral manual. Louisville, Ky., Morton and Grisworld, 1850. 32 p.

4. HALL, BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, 1803-1873.

There was an introduction to the musical department by L. L. Pinkerton. Credit was given in the preface to Love H. Jameson, A. D. Fillmore, and Prof. T. Harrison for assistance. The book was the result of a committee being appointed from the Annual Meeting of the Churches of Tennessee in 1850.

5. The Christian Sunday-School Hymn Book was published in 1850 by the Christian Tract Society. The corresponding secretary said, "We have ... published a hymn book which meets with a ready sale ... This is the only book we have been able to publish for want of funds." The book went into several editions. We have this one in our archives:

"Preface to the fourth edition."

6. FILLMORE, AUGUSTUS DAMON, 1823-1870 AND, SKENE, ROBERT.

7. FILLMORE, HENRY, 1849-1936.

8. LUCAS, DANIEL ROBERTSON, 1840-1907.

Apostolic Hymns and Songs, Both New and Old, For the Church, Protracted Meetings and the Sunday Schools. Cincinnati, Chase & Hall, 1875.

‡ Minutes Christian Tract Society, 1850, p. 51.

155 p.

10. A. D. Fillmore compiled a number of song books 1850 to 1870. Some of these contained religious songs and perhaps one or two were hymn books. We have been unable to examine any except The Temperance Musician, 1853. Other titles were: Choralist; Concordia; Harp of Zion; Little Minstral; Nightingale; Polyphonic; Universal Musician; and Violet.

11. A hymnal by Sherwood prior to 1882 is mentioned in a contemporary account.

WHOLESALE SAVING

For the past few years we have had little space in our archives for expansion. As large amounts of miscellaneous materials were received from some of our members, who save current items for us regularly, we had to leave many cartons unpacked, or in some cases we hurriedly sorted and repacked again for storage. Now that we have, for the time being, adequate space and facilities, we are digging into thirty or forty boxes—and what fun we are having!

This past week we’ve been into packages sent to us during the last year and a half by Mrs. Bertha Mason Fuller, Chester Hensley, Allan W. Lee, J. Edward Moseley, Orval D. Peterson and Carl Robinson. At times our archives room looks like a twister had struck. Papers, letters, pamphlets, pictures, post cards and what not are scattered in piles on tables, chairs, book shelves, filing cabinets and on the floor. One just can’t do a job of sorting without being messy.

What a wealth of material we have. We can’t possibly enumerate in our limited space the contents of these containers. There’s a thrill in finding a needed convention program, a long looked for periodical to complete a gap, a run of several issues of a paper that we didn’t know existed, some material for our biographical file, or a photograph of a fine, new church. Of course there are a good many duplications, that’s to be expected, but those are saved and will eventually be exchanged or given away. Many of the duplicate periodicals will be clipped and put away in some one of our various specialized files. (This wouldn’t be necessary if we had a “Readers guide” for Disciple magazines.)

Since each of the above named persons live in a different area of the country and have separate interests, duplications are not so numerous as would be expected! We wish that we had a saver and a newspaper clipper in every part of the country. Perhaps under our proposed expansion program we can have someone in every state and every city watching for items we can use. Perhaps we can cause the brotherhood to become source material conscious.

Our thanks again to you, Mrs. Fuller, and Messers Hensley, Lee, Moseley, Peterson and Robinson for sending us today the stuff from which today’s history will be written tomorrow. May a lot of new names be added to our wholesale savers.

QUOTATIONS

“Some of our brethren have taken upon themselves to question the propriety of the title Orthodox Preacher... I can come as near getting the word orthodoxy from Scripture as any other man can the word ‘millennium.’”

BOOKS TO BE WRITTEN

Here are a few books which need to be written. Some of them would make fine subjects for graduate theses.

1. David Staats Burnet, 1808-1867, his life and influence on the development of the brotherhood during the mid-nineteenth century.

2. Disciples and Bible Revision, a study of our relationship to the various Bible revision societies which were active in the 1850's.

3. The Rise and Fall of the American Christian Publication Society, with a check list of its publications.

8. The John Thomas Apostacy.

PATRICK GASS, 1771-1870

Patrick Gass, the sole surviving member, in 1859, of the Lewis and Clark expedition of 1804-1806, was a Disciple according to the Dictionary of American Biography which states that "In his later life he joined the Campbellites, being baptized in the Ohio River." Gass, who lived near Wellsburg, W. Va., most of his life, wrote A Journal of the Voyages and Travels of a Corps of Discovery, Under the Command of Capt. Lewis and Capt. Clark, etc., etc., which was printed in Pittsburgh in 1807. This has become a most sought after item of Americana and is quoted by second-hand book dealers at around $50 per copy. At least six editions of the book were printed in the United States with three or four in foreign countries.

In 1859 John G. Jacob wrote The Life and Times of Patrick Gass which has become almost as rare as the original 1807 edition of Gass' Journal.

No, we haven't these two volumes, but will gladly accept a check for a hundred dollars with which to purchase them. We do know where they can be had.

STRAY THOUGHTS

Cataloging of books is a slow process. There isn’t any substitute for knowledge of the materials to be cataloged and often that knowledge must come through careful examination of the materials themselves, together with several reference books. Getting this knowledge slows up the process. All of which reminds us of the girl in a high school library methods course who placed The Home Nursery in the section with care of the sick when it really belonged with agriculture. Moral: Always examine a book before cataloging.

A student in a library course wouldn’t believe what we found the other day; a periodical with volume numbers running backwards! Volume 22 was a year later than volume 23, volume 21 succeeded volume 22. Some Disciple editors and publishers (present generation excepted) would make good street cleaners. But we are not entirely innocent, ourselves, about our numbering. Did you notice the last issue of Discipliana was volume 19, no. 3. We know why the mistake occurred; the make-up man thought the strike-out on our dummy (galley proofs pasted on an old issue) was a one. How we came to miss the error when we read page proof is an equine of a different shade.

Looking over some old sermon notes, with the various colored inks used for emphasis by many ministers of sixty years ago, causes us to remark “What a field day those ministers would have with the present ball pointed pen with interchangeably colored inks.”

Again before closing Scott aludes to his being a forgotten man by saying “I am a poor man delivered a city; and no one remembered that poor man. Admirably but still the poor man had the inward and great and glorious conviction that he had delivered the city.”

The letter from which the above quotations have been taken was given to the Society by C. Richard Dawson, who discovered it fastened in a book in a second-hand book store in Cincinnati. The letter has attached to it length wise a slip of paper with these words: “Letter of Elder Walter Scott, No. 120. From the file of F. W. E.” Evidently Mr. Emmons was a methodical man who saved his correspondence. One wonders, of course, if this was the 120th Scott letter or just the 120th letter in his file! No amount of speculation, however, will help turn up the other 119 preceding letters!
ABOUT THE DISCIPLES OF CHRIST HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The Disciples of Christ Historical Society was organized May 5, 1941, at St. Louis, Missouri, and received the approval of the International Convention of the Disciples of Christ which was then in session. The Society is custodian of International Convention and World Convention archives by official action of those conventions.

The purpose of the Society is to maintain and further the interest of the Disciples of Christ (sometimes known as Christian Church or Church of Christ) in its religious heritage, backgrounds, origins, and development.

Membership is open to any individual, institution or organization that is in accord with the purpose of the Society.

In 1946 the Society secured as a gift from Culver-Stockton College, the valuable Henry Barton Robison Collection of Literature Relating to the Disciples of Christ which contains thousands of books, periodicals, pamphlets, manuscripts and illustrative materials dealing with the religious groups which grew out of the Restoration movement fostered by Abner Jones, Elias Smith, James O'Kelly, Barton W. Stone, Thomas and Alexander Campbell, Walter Scott, and other reformers of the early 19th century in America. The collection is being used as a nucleus for a comprehensive research library.

The Society which became incorporated in the State of Missouri in 1946 maintains its headquarters at Canton, Missouri, where authors and publishers are asked to send copies of all new publications. Churches are requested to place the Society on their mailing lists to receive orders of worship, papers, reports, yearbooks and other printed records. Gifts and bequests from individuals are especially welcome.

Classes of membership are as follows:

Individual member, per calendar year $1.00.
Individual founding member, $1.00 per year from 1941.
Individual life member, one payment $25.00.
Institutional member, per calendar year $15.00.
Local church member, per calendar year $12.00.

Institutional membership is offered to educational institutions and other organizations including state boards and national agencies.

Local churches should take advantage of the opportunity to share in the work of the Society by becoming members. The local church dues include individual memberships for the minister and one layman.
