WILLIS JONES ACCEPTS PRESIDENCY
To Take Office August 1

Willis R. Jones, of Hiram, Ohio, has accepted appointment as president of the Disciples of Christ Historical Society, it was announced recently by Harry M. Davis, of Hopkinsville, Ky., chairman of the Society's board of trustees and executive committee.

He will assume his duties on August 1. Mr. Jones has been the director of church relations for Hiram College since 1952.

A graduate of the University of Michigan, Mr. Jones entered professional higher education in 1940 as director of public relations for William Woods College, Fulton, Mo. He was director of admissions at Drake University, Des Moines, Ia., during 1941-43, and in 1943 became acting director of public relations. In 1943-45, during World War II, he was on leave of absence as a Red Cross field director.

Mr. Jones was regional director of the National Conference of Christians and Jews in western Pennsylvania and West Virginia in 1946-47. He then became director of admissions at Transylvania College, Lexington, Ky., serving there from 1947 to 1952.

While at Hiram College, Mr. Jones has coordinated development of Hiram's financial drive to build its million-dollar physical education, health, and recreation building, to be dedicated on May 1.

As first president of the Society under the constitutional revision of 1958, Mr. Jones will administer the organization's total program. Claude E. Spencer, curator, and administrative officer, 1952-1958, retains his position as curator. He will work exclusively with materials and people doing research.

Born in Bloomington, Ill., Mr. Jones is a son of Dr. and Mrs. Edgar DeWitt Jones. A citation in honor of Dr. Jones was awarded posthumously by the Society in December 1958.

Mrs. Willis R. Jones is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest B. Bell, of Paducah, Ky. She is former head of the art department of Transylvania College, Lexington, Ky. The Jones' have no children.

Mr. Jones is a trustee of Doctors' Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio, and a member of the public relations committee, Commission of Higher Education, of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. He is also a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity, the Board of Higher Education of Disciples of Christ, and the Commission on the Ministry of the Ohio Christian Missionary Society.
Editorial Notice

The December 1958 and February 1959 numbers of THE HARBINGER AND DISCIPLIANA were not issued. Lack of staff, time, finances and other reasons beyond our immediate control caused this situation. Only five numbers were issued in 1958 and only five numbers will be issued in 1959. The next several issues will contain only four pages each.

At the International Convention Assembly in Denver, Colorado, August 28-September 2, the Society will occupy booth 94, corner of Thomas Campbell Trace and Harry Hines Boulevard in the exhibition hall. Events being planned by the Society are a luncheon for the Board of Trustees, Friday noon, August 28, and a dinner for members and friends, Tuesday evening, September 1. Details will be announced later.

Seventy-five reels of microfilm of The Christian-Evangelist and its forerunners are ready for distribution by the Society. Because the costs of the negative was paid from grant-in-aid funds from the Christian Board of Publication costs of the positive prints are very reasonable. Those interested in securing the whole set or any individual year should write for the descriptive price list.

Methodist Theological Seminary Librarians and other interested individuals had a dinner in the Phillips Memorial, Monday evening, April 13. The principal speaker was Society curator, Claude E. Spencer, who talked about the Thomas W. Phillips Memorial as a research center.

Many persons from out-of-town have used the research facilities of the Society during the past six months. All those who plan to come to Nashville for work should write for Rules and Regulations Governing the Use of the Phillips Memorial Building and Its Library and Archives, and for an application blank for the use of a private study.

Those who come without advance notice may not be able to use the Society facilities. Since there is not an adequate staff all work with materials must be arranged for through the curator. When he is out-of-town or busy with other projects, new research work does not get started.

The Tennessee Christian Ministers Institute met in the Phillips Memorial Building, January 19-21. The Society furnished refreshments at "coffee break" time, Wednesday, the 21st.

A special exhibit of Tennessee church materials was shown in the memorial museum during the meeting of the Convention of Tennessee Christian Churches in Nashville, April 14-16.

The Society expects to microfilm a complete file (14 volumes) of Barton W. Stone's Christian Messenger, 1826-1846. A tentative price of $25.00 to $30.00 has been set for positive prints. At least orders for 10 sets must be received before microfilming is started. Those interested should write the Society immediately.

At the Executive Committee meeting of January 26, Dr. Charles E. Crouch was elected ad interim president of the Society. Dr. Crouch, of the Vanderbilt University department of economics and business administration, is also treasurer of the Society.
Plans are being made by the Society for the publication in mimeograph form of a dramatic narrative suitable for the use of church groups celebrating the sesqui-centennial of the Declaration and Address of Thomas Campbell. This document was approved by the Washington Christian Association and ordered to be printed September 7, 1809.

Copies of the Declaration and Address may be purchased from The Christian Board of Publication, St. Louis, Missouri. Those interested in securing copies of the dramatic narrative at a nominal cost should write to the Society.

On Saturday, April 11, Claude E. Spencer, curator of the Society, was awarded a citation and medallion at the Second Annual Alumni Recognition Day at Culver-Stockton College, Canton, Missouri. Mr. Spencer, who graduated from the college in 1922, was librarian there from 1922-1951.

Some months before the death of Dr. Edgar DeWitt Jones in 1956 the Society board of directors voted to give an honorary life membership with an appropriate citation to him during the International Convention Assembly in Des Moines, Iowa. Since Dr. Jones died before the convention the citation was awarded posthumously at the morning services of the Central Woodward Christian Church, Detroit, Michigan, December 7, 1958. The presentation was made by J. Edward Moseley, chairman of the Society board of directors. The citation, received by Mrs. Jones, read as follows:

"DISCIPLES OF CHRIST HISTORICAL SOCIETY TO EDGAR DEWITT JONES:
This citation is presented in recognition of illustrious service in the fields of pulpit oratory and of religious and historical writing.

For a half-century, through his sermons from the pulpit and in the written word, he walked in the high tradition of great preaching to take his own place among the "Royalty of the Pulpit."

Through work on commissions of both state and church and as president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America and of the Association for the Promotion of Christian Unity of the Disciples of Christ, he constantly challenged the Disciples to new and broader service in the Church Ecumenical. As a writer and lecturer on American history, especially through his zeal for Lincoln lore, he richly reminded the present generation of the spiritual roots of our American heritage."

The Christian Theological Seminary of Indianapolis, Ind., and the Society are co-sponsoring "Landmarks of Disciple History," a traveling seminar as a part of the Seminary's Summer Institute. Indianapolis will be headquarters for the seminar which will be held June 30-July 17.

Two trips by Greyhound Bus will be taken by the group which will be limited to 38 persons. The first trip will be to Nashville, Dale Hollow, Lexington and Cane Ridge. The second trip will be across the Western Reserve to Bethany, West Virginia and return.

Three hours of academic credit will be earned by those taking the seminar. Instructors will be Dr. Ronald E. Osborn and Dr. Henry K. Shaw, with special lectures by individuals along the way.

The group expects to arrive in Nashville Monday evening, July 6, and leave Wednesday morning, July 8. The Society's participation in the seminar will be detailed in our June issue.

Those interested in registering for the seminar should write immediately to Dr. Ronald E. Osborn, The Christian Theological Seminary, Indianapolis 7, Indiana.
The Disciples of Christ Historical Society was established May 7, 1941, in St. Louis, Missouri, with the approval of the International Convention then in session.

It is the only organization among Disciples of Christ whose sole purpose is the locating, collecting, cataloging and arranging for use the historical materials of the brotherhood. It is not an opinion-forming agency. Its purpose is to maintain and further interest in the religious heritage, backgrounds, origins, development and general history of Disciples of Christ, Christian Churches, Churches of Christ and related groups.

From 1941 until 1946, the Society had no designated headquarters. It existed entirely as a voluntary organization of those interested in the general field of Disciple history. In 1946, the Society accepted the offer of Culver-Stockton College, Canton, Missouri, to set up its headquarters and archives there, with the privilege of using the Henry Barton Robinson Collection as a nucleus around which the Society would build its own collection.

From April, 1952, the Society's headquarters, archives and library were located in the Joint University Library building on the Vanderbilt University campus in Nashville, Tennessee. Nashville was designated as the permanent location of the Society because of the unique opportunity offered for participation in the building of an American church history center and because of the granting of a $55,000 subsidy by the Nashville Planning Committee which enabled the Society to start full-time operation.

In November 1955, construction was started on the Society permanent headquarters building, the Memorial to Thomas W. Phillips (1835-1912), a gift to the Society from the Phillips family of Western Pennsylvania. This magnificent new facility, costing a million dollars, the most extensive of any religious body for the housing of its historical collection, was dedicated September 12-14, 1958.

Since full-time operation was begun, the Society collection has grown rapidly. Included in the vast Society holdings are books, pamphlets, periodicals, manuscripts, photographs, paintings, church records and museum articles. Research and informational services rendered by the Society have multiplied in recent years.

The Society solicits all kinds of historical materials pertaining to the Disciples of Christ and related groups. Authors and publishers are requested to send copies of all publications. Churches, organizations and institutions are requested to place the Society on mailing lists to receive all printed or mimeographed materials.

The Society is incorporated in Tennessee as a non-profit religious organization. Its work is financed through membership dues, gifts, and Unified Promotion. Annual membership in the Society is $5.00. Life membership is $100.00. Interested persons are urged to become members.

Theme of the Society Dinner at Denver

The main attraction of the Denver Assembly of the International Convention for Society members will be the dinner meeting, Tuesday evening, September 1, at 5:30, at the Cosmopolitan hotel. The theme of the program will be “By Way of Serendipity,” or the art of locating valuable historical items while not looking for them.

Presiding will be Mr. Harry M. Davis, chairman of the Board of Trustees and minister of the First Christian Church of Hopkinsville, Ky. Dr. Fred Helsabeck, President of Culver-Stockton College, will act as panel moderator.

Six brotherhood figures will briefly tell of their experiences in the accidental location of rare and unusual materials of interest to Disciple historians.

Dr. Warner Muir, minister of the University Christian Church, Des Moines, Ia., will describe the finding of an attic full of periodicals and pamphlets. Mr. C. Richard Dawson, minister of the First Christian Church, Rock Falls, Ill., will tell of the securing of an unusual Walter Scott letter.

Dr. Louis Cochran, Santa Monica, Calif., will share some of his experiences in locating source material for his best selling book, The Fool of God. Dr. Henry K. Shaw, librarian of the Christian Theological Seminary will relate the story of finding an interesting museum conversation piece.

Dr. James DeForest Murch, managing editor of Christianity Today, will explain how he found a rare book in a most unusual place. Final arrangements for the sixth panelist have not been completed.

The dinner is open to the public. Members and society friends are urged to buy their tickets as soon as they arrive at the Convention. The price per plate is $3.95 and tickets can be had at the Convention ticket office or at the Society booth #94, corner of Thomas Campbell Trace and Harry Hines Boulevard.

DAVID UPDEGRAFF WINS HERITAGE ESSAY AWARD

A check for $100.00 was presented by President Willis R. Jones to David Updegraff as the first place winner in the Disciples' Heritage Essay Contest. The presentation was made Sunday evening, August 30, at a general session of the International Convention Assembly meeting in Denver, Colorado.

PRESIDENT JONES AND MR. UPDEGRAFF

Other winners in the contest were: Alan Bone, second place, $75.00; Edith Virginia Reynolds, third place, $50.00; and fourth place, Glen Steyer, a copy of Barton Warren Stone by William G. West. Awards for these winners were given at the exhibition booth of the Society at the Convention.

The Society contest was open to college students only, while the Commission for the Promotion of Christian Literature contest was for high school students and the Council on Christian Unity contest for seminary students.

Mr. Updegraff, twenty years old, is entering his junior year at Bethany College, Bethany, West Virginia. His winning essay, "A Look into the Beginnings of the State and National Missionary Societies of the Disciples of Christ," was originally presented as a term paper in a class taught by Dr. Lester G. McAllister. Mr. Updegraff, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Updegraff of the First Christian Church of Fort Lauderdale, Florida, has long been active in the work of the church and the C.Y.F. At present, he is youth director for the Christian Church at Mount Lebanon, Pennsylvania.

"From One to Seven; the Growth of Disciples of Christ Churches in the Peoria Area," was the title of the second winning essay by Mr. Bone, age 21. His work was done at Eureka College, Eureka, Illinois, where he is a senior. Active in the work of the West Bluff Christian Church, Peoria, he expects to make religious journalism his profession.

Miss Reynolds, daughter of missionaries, Mr. and Mrs. I. Hubert Reynolds, and was last year a freshman at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio, won third place with her "Unity, a Disciple Heritage Worth Offering to the World."

Mr. Steyer, age 19, author of fourth place winner "Shipwrecked," a member of the First Christian Church of Loveland, Colorado. (Continued on page 15)
NEW STATE HISTORIES . . . AND SOME OLD ONES

COLE, Clifford Alonson

DARST, Henry Jackson, Jr.

ECKSTEIN, Stephen D., Jr.

LOVELL, James L.

Early History of the Disciples in the Western Reserve, Ohio by A. S. Hayden in 1876 marked the beginning of historical publishing by Disciples about themselves. It is significant that the first historical writing was of regional or grass roots nature, and that much of subsequent research has been on the state level. General histories of the movement did not begin to appear for another twenty years. Histories of individual congregations, i.e., Peter Vogel's Tale of a Pioneer Church [Somerset, Pa.] were published as early as 1887.

The four histories listed above are the most recent in a long series of studies about the development of churches and church related organizations within the geographical limits of a state. Two deal with Christian churches and two with Churches of Christ.

Dr. Cleveland Kleihauer in the introduction to Dr. Cole's book says "No important phase of the expansion, the progress, the growth of the church in all the out reaches of its services has been neglected, and yet there is nothing pedantic about the telling of this story. It is thrilling with intriguing interest from beginning to end." Brief histories of 149 Southern California churches are included. The book was styled and printed by the Christian Board of Publication of St. Louis.

Ante-Bellum Virginia Disciples is a scholarly study of Virginia churches prior to the Civil War. It is well documented with comprehensive footnotes. Two appendixes list the Virginia congregations in 1848 (as printed in The Christian-Register) and Virginia preachers in 1858 (as printed in The Christian Intelligencer). The book is reproduced from typewritten copy by photolithoprint.

We have not seen Eckstein's The History of the Churches of Christ in Texas. The thesis deals with that part of the Disciples of Christ movement that does not use instrumental music in worship or believe in the support of missionary organizations. Dr. Eckstein, who did some of his research in our library in 1953, expects to publish the work.

James L. Lovell's History of the Churches of Christ in California includes a brief history of the growth of the Churches of Christ.
in California together with historical information about 340 churches and pictures of 254 preachers. It is a revision of a special historical number of the West Coast Christian for July 1942.

Every church and every minister should have the history or histories relating to his state. Many on the following list are out-of-print and must be secured from second-hand sources. Included in the list are unpublished theses and manuscripts.

WANTED IN ORIGINAL COVERS: THE MILLENNIAL HARBINGER

The Millennial Harbinger, the most influential periodical among first generation Disciples, was published for forty-one years, 1830-1870. During all this time the place of publication was Bethany, Brooke county, in Northwestern Virginia, later West Virginia. Alexander Campbell was the editor, publisher and printer, until February 1864 when his son-in-law, W. K. Pendleton took charge.

There are many complete sets of the periodical in existence and it is currently being reprinted and distributed by two book clubs. It has been used extensively for research by students and writers.

As was the case with many of its contemporaries, the covers of The Millennial Harbinger had items not to be found in the body of the periodicals. Bishop Campbell often gave notice of his preaching appointments, reviewed pamphlets, and listed his subscribers on the covers.

Campbell Letters Indexed

Woodrow Wasson Starts New Project

Woodrow Wilson Wasson started work on a special project for the Society on October 1. He is engaged in indexing and annotating the travel letters of Alexander Campbell in The Millennial Harbinger.

Dr. Wasson is exceptionally well qualified for this particular position as he has had much experience in research work. His B.A. and M.A. are from Vanderbilt; his B.D., and Ph.D. are from the University of Chicago. He is the author of James A. Garfield: His Religion and Education, 1952. He has had teaching experience in history and religion at the University of Houston, the University of Georgia, and Vanderbilt University Divinity School. For five years he was dean of the Christian College of Georgia. In 1958-59 he was a research associate in the Highland Hospital, affiliated with Duke University, Asheville, N.C.

The indexing and annotating of the Alexander Campbell letters has long been needed. The letters range in time from "Incidents of a Tour to Nashville, Tennessee," 1830, to "New York State Missionary Society," 1862. As only the American letters are included in the project, the "Letters from Europe" are omitted. When the indexing is completed, the Society will be able to answer many specific questions about where Alexander Campbell went and what he did and thought on his many trips in the United States and Canada.

Jones Receives Honorary Degree

Culver-Stockton College Grants LL.D.

At a special convocation, Wednesday, October 14, Culver-Stockton College honored the president of the Disciples of Christ Historical Society, Willis R. Jones, by granting him the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. Presiding over the convocation was Fred Helsabeck, president of Culver-Stockton. Other program participants were Claude E. Spencer, Society curator who gave the devotional; J. Edward Mosely, Indianapolis, Ind., member of the Society executive committee, with an address "Challenge and Response in Missouri;" Mr. Mosely also read "A Short History of the Disciples of Christ Historical Society" that had been prepared by Society board chairman Harry M., Davis, Hopkinsville Ky., who was unable to be present.

George Walker Buckner, editor of World Call, Indianapolis, Ind., told of Mr. Jones’ work for Brotherhood institutions, and of his selection as the first executive president of the Society. Dr. Brucker also introduced from the audience Mrs. Willis R. Jones, Mrs. Edgar DeWitt Jones of Detroit, Mich., and Westbrook Jones of Chicago, Ill. (mother and brother of Mr. Jones.)

SOCIETY PUBLICATION RESUMES ORIGINAL NAME, DISCIPLIANA, BEGINNING NEXT ISSUE

An old friend, a bit streamlined now as early readers will note, but happily remembered, will return next issue to its long time dwelling place in the masthead of this publication.

The present four-word title, THE HARBINGER AND DISCIPLIANA, will give way to the single word, DISCIPLIANA, thereby restoring the name the publication bore at the time of its founding in 1941, and by which it was known for the next twelve years. In July, 1953, when a special emphasis on promotional and development activities was launched, the name was expanded to its current size.

The restoration of the name DISCIPLIANA (pronounced Di-si'-plee-âna) will affix to the paper the most accurately descriptive term possible. In the light of present purposes and future intentions, the paper will return to its original emphasis as an historical and bibliographical periodical dealing with the Brotherhood of the Disciples of Christ.

Dr. Claude E. Spencer, founder and editor of the Historical Society publication, will resume some of the special topics of interest which characterized the publication in its earlier years and he has added a few more. Mrs. Willis R. Jones has drawn sketch headings for these columns some of which are: "What's New in Our Library," "From Earlier Days," "Wants and Needs," "News of Members," "Basic Bibliographies," "Dates to Remember," "By Way of Serendipity," "Disciple Authors," "Research in Progress."

When the next issue is published, it will be sent to a list which has been increased from 3,500 to 6,500. The increase in the main is by way of the inclusion of the vast number of new church memberships which took place automatically when the Society became a member of Unified Promotion.

Another significant innovation will take place with the next issue. It will be mailed from Indianapolis. Through the gracious assistance of the mailing service of Unified Promotion, the mailing list of the DISCIPLIANA will be maintained and serviced under their mailing program.

The DISCIPLIANA will be mailed without an envelope. Experience has proved that this procedure works well in the vast percentage of cases. Those who receive a copy which is imperfect will assist by advising us, and it will be the pleasure of the Society to send a replacement copy.

We await, then, with pleasure and anticipation, an old friend who will greet us from the masthead in the next issue. . . . Hail, DISCIPLIANA!

—Willis R. Jones.
Honoring The Declaration And Address

On Sunday, October 25, a special convocation was held at Bethany College, Bethany, W. Va., honoring the sesquicentennial anniversary of the publishing of The Declaration and Address of Thomas Campbell. The event was sponsored by the Association for the Promotion of Christian Unity, the Disciples of Christ Historical Society, and Bethany College.

The publication of The Declaration and Address was authorized September 7, 1809, by the Christian Association of Washington, Pennsylvania. Thomas Campbell and a committee of twenty-one persons had been instructed, August 17, 1809, by a group of people of different religious denominations, to “determine upon the proper means to carry into effect the important ends of the association.” These ends were to be defined by the committee.

The resulting document contained a “Declaration,” an “Address,” and an “Appendix.” The “Declaration,” was actually a constitution for the government of the Christian Association, and was probably the work of the committee. It is thought that Thomas Campbell, alone, was responsible for the “Address,” which explained and amplified the “Declaration.” In the “Address” is to be found the thirteen propositions, of which the first is the often quoted, “That the church of Christ upon earth is essentially, intentionally, and constitutionally one; consisting of all those in every place that profess their faith in Christ and obedience to him in all things according to the Scriptures, and that manifest the same by their tempers and conduct, and of none else as can be truly and properly called Christians.”

The exact date of the distribution of the printed work is unknown, but probably occurred in early or middle November, 1809, as Alexander Campbell arrived in Washington on October 25, and read the proof sheets then.

The Declaration and Address is one of two documents basic in the origin and development of the Disciples of Christ and related groups. The other is the Last Will and Testament of the Springfield Presbytery, published by Barton W. Stone and his associates in Kentucky in 1804.

DCHS Trustee Fills Speaking Engagements

Forrest F. Reed, vice-chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Disciples of Christ Historical Society, and managing partner of the Tennessee Book Company, Nashville, filled two significant speaking engagements in the late fall.

On Sunday morning, October 18, Mr. Reed occupied the pulpit of the First Christian Church, Little Rock, Arkansas, where Mr. Dan C. Kenner, a former trustee of the Historical Society, is the minister. Mr. Reed served as speaker for the Church’s observance of Layman’s Sunday.

On November 12, Mr. Reed spoke to the students and faculty of Milligan College. He was one of several laymen selected by the college to present a message on religion in life.

Miss Mate Graye Hunt, retired librarian from the Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, who has been teaching in the library school of the George Peabody College for Teachers the past quarter, and a frequent “coffee break” visitor, gave a Christmas present to the Society—a chest for silver, steak knives, a carving set, and ninety-one pieces of cutlery, bronze metal with buffalo horn handles, from Thailand.
PERRY GRESHAM VISITS PHILLIPS MEMORIAL

Perry Epler Gresham, president of Bethany College, Bethany, W. Va., visited Nashville, Thursday, November 19, addressed a special convocation at Vanderbilt Divinity School, held a conference at the Disciples Divinity House, and was entertained at a luncheon by the Disciples of Christ Historical Society.

Dr. Gresham was highly commended for his speech before the Divinity School students. His talk was based on The Declaration and Address of Thomas Campbell, its effect upon the Disciples of Christ, and its implications for the Christian world of today.

The luncheon for Dr. Gresham was held in the lecture hall of the Thomas W. Phillips Memorial. The meal magnificently prepared by the Historical Society porter, James Thomas, was graciously served by the Society hostess committee: Mrs. Charles E. Crouch, chairman, Mrs. Willis R. Jones, Mrs. Forrest F. Reed, and Mrs. Claude E. Spencer.

Those present at the luncheon in addition to Dr. Gresham were: Kenneth Kauffman of Murfreesboro and Jay J. Smith from Goodlettsville; A. W. Braden, Charles E. Crouch, Frank Drowota, William Foster, Langdon Gilkey, H. Clyde Hale, W. M. Hardy, John E. Hibbard, J. Philip Hyatt, George N. Mayhew, Alex Mooty, Roger T. Nooe, Herman A. Norton, Forrest F. Reed, and R. I. Wratther, from Nashville; and staff members, Willis R. Jones, Claude E. Spencer, and Woodrow W. Wasson.

After the luncheon Dr. Gresham in a very informal conference on the challenges and problems of the ministry at the Disciples Divinity House, answered questions with penetrating insight and gave many helpful suggestions.
FOR THE CHURCH HISTORIAN

Fabric of Fact and Faith, by J. Edward Moseley, a review of twelve recently published local church histories, has been reprinted by the Society for distribution to the historians of local churches and church history committees. The article originally appeared in the summer 1959 issue of Encounter, Christian Theological Seminary.

Because Mr. Moseley points out the good and bad features of these histories and gives such excellent advice, generally, this reprint should be "must" reading for those who plan the writing of the history of the local congregation.

The Society will send a copy to every church historian on its mailing list. As there are only about a hundred names on the list it is evident that many more names are needed before all historians are included. Every person reading this is requested to send us a postal card with the name and address of the historian, or the chairman of the history committee of their home church.

Gus Baker, Nashville artist who designed the stained glass medallions in the windows of the Thomas W. Phillips Memorial, has reproduced in a pen and ink sketch, "The Adoration," a detail from the window below the main stairlanding, to be used as the Society's 1959 Christmas card. An announcement concerning the availability of a frameable print probably will be made in our next issue.

FROM ABILENE TO TRANSYLVANIA . . .

Since Barton W. Stone taught languages in Succoth Academy, Washington, Georgia, in the 1790's and Alexander Campbell opened Buffalo Seminary in his home on Buffalo Creek in 1818, their followers have been busy founding and operating educational institutions.

These have included elementary and secondary schools, academies and seminaries, liberal arts colleges and Bible schools, graduate schools and theological seminaries, and normal schools. Disciples were pioneers in the higher education of women, in the use of the Bible as a class-room text-book, and in teacher training programs.

Although a list of nearly 500 such institutions has been compiled, little is known about many of them. More than 80 per cent have ceased to exist.

Histories have been written of a few of these institutions. The following is a list of known published works and unprinted theses:

What's New in Our Library...

The receipt of material for the library has been excellent since the beginning of the current fiscal year, July 1, 1959. During that time the Society has received items from two-hundred fifty sources; individuals, churches, and agencies. Not included in this number is the regularly mailed pieces from churches; orders of worship, bulletins, and newsletters. Such material is being received from nearly a thousand churches.

Personal Papers

Mention must be made of some especially large and valuable collections received during this half year. Future issues of the DISCIPLIANA will give in some detail the quantity and quality of these materials.

Henry

Many books and considerable correspondence and other papers of Frederick Augustus Henry, 1867-1949, and his father, Charles Eugene Henry, 1835-1906, were received from Charles E. Henry, alumni secretary of Hiram College, Hiram, Ohio. F. A. Henry, prominent Ohio lawyer and Hiram College trustee, was International Convention president in 1913.

Jones

The family of Edgar DeWitt Jones, 1876-1956, has designated the Society as the repository for the personal papers relative to his participation in local church life, brotherhood affairs, and ecumenical matters. These include a large mass of correspondence and hundreds of sermons. Dr. Jones' Lincoln material went to the Burton Historical Collection of the Detroit, Michigan, Public Library.

Gano

From Mrs. William Breckenridge Ardery, Paris, Ky., the Society received hundreds of letters written, 1830-1880, to John Allen Gano, Bourbon county, Ky. These were recently discovered in the Volney W. Ferguson home in Bourbon county by a son, Maner Ferguson and given to Mrs. Ardery. The papers, on semi-permanent loan to the Society, are especially valuable for students of Missouri Disciple history for they include thirty-eight letters from Thomas M. Allen, of Boone county, Mo., to Elder Gano, dated 1836-1870. Before turning the papers over to the Society, Mrs. Ardery had them microfilmed at the University of Kentucky library.

Garrison

During this period Dr. W. E. Garrison, Houston, Tex., added some significant correspondence and supplementary material to the personal papers of his father, James Harvey Garrison, 1842-1931, on file in the Society library.

Texas CWF

Materials from the office of the Texas Christian Women's Fellowship have been received for preservation in the Society library. These include correspondence, minutes, programs, reports and other items, dating from 1902 to 1953.

Pension Fund

From the Pension Fund of the Disciples of Christ the Society received several boxes containing obsolete correspondence and minutes of various Pension Fund activity meetings. These are to be housed with the mass of material previously received.

Convention Trip

Among the various articles picked up by the president and curator on their way to and from the International Convention at Denver, Colo., were a number of valuable books from the library of Dr. C. M. Chilton, St. Joseph, Mo., and bound magazines and books from Earl T. Sechler, Springfield, Mo.

Texas Church Histories

The Historical Commission of the 72nd annual (1959) Convention of Texas Christian churches sponsored a contest for the preparation of local church histories. The twelve histories entered were read and judged by Dr. Noel Keith, and Dr. Colby D. Hall of Fort Worth and Dr. W. E. Garrison, of Houston.

First prize was awarded to History of the First Christian Church of Lancaster, while special distinction was given to A Venture of Faith, Story of Belle Vista Christian Church, Brownsville, by Pablo Cotto, and to A Seed Was Planted; a Brief History of the First Christian Church, Houston, by Thelma R. McCarty.

Other entries, all given honorable mention were: The First Hundred Years of the First Christian Church, Austin; History of Central Christian Church, Dallas, by Grace and Joe Murray; East Dallas: A "Neighborhood" Church; A Short History of the East Dallas Christian Church, Dallas, by J. Howard Payne; History of Northworthy Christian Church, Dallas, by Mrs. Frank P. Meador; Story of One Hundred Years of Service; Palestine First Christian Church, by Lorine Scott; The Realization of a Dream; A History of the Memorial Christian Church, Paris, by Paulette Allen; Frontier Faith for the Future; First Christian Church, San Angelo; Fiftieth Anniversary, 1907-1957, Central Christian Church, Stamford; and History of Central Christian Church, Waco, by Ida Moore Hays.

One of the conditions of the competition was that a copy of each entry be provided for file in the libraries of the Disciples of Christ Historical Society and Texas Christian University.

Gifts of china and glass have been made recently to the Society by Mrs. Forrest F. Reed and by Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Wrather, Miss Eva Jean Wrather, Mrs. Charles E. Crouch and the Gladys Crouch Circle of the Vine Street CWF.

Mrs. Reed gave money for the purchase of a service for twenty of the Florence pattern, Spode china. The Wrather's gave twenty Fostoria goblets of Jamestown blue. Mrs. Crouch and her circle gave money for the purchase of additional china and glasses.

PIERSON, Roscoe Mitchell

These letters, not intended for publication were edited by Miss Scheer and distributed in mimeographed form to College of the Bible personnel, and a few of the Pierson's relatives and friends.
