Discipliana - Archival Issues

1960

Discipliana Vol-20-Nos-1-6-March-1960-January-1961

Claude E. Spencer

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.discipleshistory.org/discipliana

Part of the Christian Denominations and Sects Commons, History of Religion Commons, Religious Thought, Theology and Philosophy of Religion Commons, and the United States History Commons
Tennessee Christian Missionary Society Records Added to Archives

The State Board of the Tennessee Christian Missionary Society recently authorized the placing of the official records of that society in the archives of the Disciples of Christ Historical Society. The Board in taking this action recognized that the records would be preserved better in the air-conditioned humidity controlled storage stacks of the Phillips Memorial Building than in its own offices, and that the materials could be made available to a greater number of people under supervised conditions.

Thirteen bound volumes were received from Mr. Alex Mooty, executive secretary of the Tennessee Christian Missionary Society. These included: 1. Minutes of the meetings of the Society from the beginning in 1890, until about 1950 (some in pamphlet form, some in manuscript, and some as reported in the periodicals), 2. Periodicals issued by the Society (The Tennessee Missionary, The State Missionary, and The Tennessee Christian), 3. Programs, and 4. Significant correspondence.

Of Special Interest

One of the most interesting of the bound volumes is the one labeled, 1890-1901. This contains a variety of items, including Minutes of Tennessee Christian Missionary Co-Operation, held in Walnut Street Church of Christ, Chattanooga, Tenn., October 6-9, 1890, printed in Nashville by the University Press, 1890, and containing twenty-three pages. The second item in the book is a pamphlet containing two addresses delivered at the Chattanooga meeting; The Lord’s Plan by J. H. Roulhac [and] Business in Religion by A. E. Garner. This was also printed in Nashville by the University Press, 1891, and contains twenty-seven pages.

Minutes of other meetings of the cooperation are included as well as Year Books of the Churches of Christ in Tennessee, 1897-1898; 1898, 1899, 1900, and 1901. The Year Books gave the minutes of the Missionary Society’s annual meetings, various reports, and statistics of the churches.

From 1895-1897

An incomplete file of seven issues of The Tennessee Missionary, 1895-1897, are in the center of the book. This was evidently the first paper published by the State Society. Volume one, number one, was issued in January, 1895, from Nashville. R. Lin Cave and J. H. Roulhac were the editors and A. I. Myhr was the business manager. The last issue in the volume is dated December, 1897, Vol. 3, no. 1.

The second bound volume, 1902-1907, has only one issue of a society issued periodical, The State Missionary, Vol. 2, no. 1, dated December, 1903-January, 1904. From internal evidence we can assume that Vol. 1 had been issued quarterly, or, perhaps, at even longer intervals. Mr. Myhr, manager, stated that Bros. Sheffer, Crystal and Stuart would be the editors of the periodical which would be sent out monthly after that issue.

The Tennessee Christian

The files of The Tennessee Christian follow. The first copy preserved is dated September, 1904, and numbered Vol. 1, no. 7.

(Continued on page 8)
Nineteen years ago, come March, a very modest mimeographed paper of eight pages was sent forth from Canton, Mo., to a very select group of people who either were interested, (or should have been) in the history and literature of the Disciples. A new term DISCIPLIANA was suddenly thrust upon an unsuspecting brotherhood. Who coined the word? We believe that it was Charles C. Ware, who in reporting a gift said, “This is a capital item of discipleana.” A year later the same term, with slightly different spelling, was chosen to be descriptive of the literature and history of the Disciples, and the name of the new periodical.

Three hundred copies of that first DISCIPLIANA were mailed, free of course. Fortunately, the stencils were saved for a second 300 was necessary to supply the demand for additional copies for distribution at the International Convention in St. Louis in May, 1941.

DISCIPLIANA was planned as a quarterly publication to acquaint Disciples and related religious groups with the resources and needs of the Henry Barton Robison Collection of Literature Relating to the Disciples of Christ. It was to be a “house organ” for a special collection in the library of Culver-Stockton College. The publisher was the college Ministerial Association; the managing editor was student, Carl B. Robinson, of the Class of 1943 (now, associate minister of the University Christian Church, Des Moines, Ia.); and the advisor was Claude E. Spencer, college librarian. Some talking was necessary on the part of the advisor to get the Ministerial Association to finance the venture. The typist was Mary Evelyn Rankin, the librarian’s student secretary (now, Mrs. Walter M. Haskell of Tucson, Ariz.). All assembling, stapling and mailing were done from the library office.

Before the second issue, May, came out, the Disciples of Christ Historical Society had been organized and was front page news. The periodical, published three years in mimeographed form, continued to feature news about the Society.

In April, 1943 (Vol. 3, no. 1) the college library assumed the publication of DISCIPLIANA, although the alumni of the Ministerial Association continued financial support. With the April, 1944 (Vol. 4, no. 1) issue the periodical became a printed magazine, and as a college publication secured second class mailing privileges. For the first time Claude E. Spencer was listed as the editor.

An announcement was made in January, 1946 (Vol. 5, no. 4) that the Disciples of Christ Historical Society had accepted responsibility for the administration of the Robison Collection and would establish its headquarters and archives at Culver-Stockton. The April, 1946 (Vol. 6, no. 1) number was the first issue of DISCIPLIANA published by the Society. This was the first number of the periodical to carry an illustration. Publication continued quarterly from Canton, Mo., until 1952, when the Society moved to Nashville, Tennessee.

(Continued on page 15)
We Greet 3000 New Recipients; We Salute a Host of Helpers; We Confront Our Journalistic Future . . . Discipliana

The heart beats just a bit faster these days for the staff of the Disciples of Christ Historical Society. A beloved representative steps forth in a new dress to appear before the 3500 recipients who have greeted it through seven rewarding years by another name and a somewhat different look. And it steps forth to appear before an additional 3000 recipients, who shall meet it for the first time. DISCIPLIANA greets warmly its nation-wide family of 6500. DISCIPLIANA is eager to please.

Our New Recipients

A word about the 3000 new recipients. When the Disciples of Christ Historical Society became a part of Unified Promotion, every church contributing to Unified Promotion became a contributing member of the Society. This membership includes a subscription to DISCIPLIANA. As we send this publication to our new recipients by way of an assigned individual in each church, we are aware that far more than 3000 new readers will ultimately see the publication. We are stirred by the great new breadth of our reading public. DISCIPLIANA is determined to be worthy of its vast new opportunity.

A committee of four persons will supervise the publication of DISCIPLIANA; Forrest F. Reed, vice-chairman of the Board of Trustees, chairman; J. Edward Moseley, Claude E. Spencer, and Willis R. Jones. The publication will be mailed from Indianapolis, early the month it is due. Each issue will be 16 pages, except the summer issue in July which will be four pages.

Dr. Spencer, Editor
DISCIPLIANA is fortunate to have as editor, Claude E. Spencer, who in March, 1941, dreamed into reality this publication; wrote, mimeographed, and mailed the first issue from Culver-Stockton College. He has been associated with the publication continuously since that date, and his competence and dedication as a Disciple historian have enriched the columns of the publication from that day forward.

Two distinguished members of the Board of Trustees of the editorial staff of DISCIPLIANA and will contribute articles from time to time out of their research and scholarship in the Disciple field. Eva Jean Wrather, author, specialist in the life of Alexander Campbell, member of the Board of Trustees since the founding of the Society, chairman of the Fine Arts Committee for the Thomas W. Phillips Memorial, will be a contributing writer upon her return next Fall from the World Convention in Edinburgh. Miss Wrather's contributions will appear under the heading "Adventures in Biography."

"By Way of Serendipity"

J. Edward Moseley, widely known Disciple journalist, whose work with many of our agencies brings him constantly before the Disciple reading public; a founder of the Society and a past president of the Board of Trustees, will conduct a column bearing the caption "By Way of Serendipity" which will appear three or four times a year.

DISCIPLIANA salutes Miss Ann Davidson, treasurer of Unified Promotion, for her splendid assistance in setting up the DISCIPLIANA mailing program through the facilities of Unified Promotion and the United Christian Missionary Society. DISCIPLIANA is grateful to Carl Boegel, commercial artist at McQuiddy Printing Company, Nashville, and member of the Eastwood Christian Church for his creative work in drawing the publication name plate, and to Mrs. Willis R. Jones for her gracious assistance in sketching the special column headings which will be used to identify features appearing in DISCIPLIANA.

We present to you happily and hopefully, DISCIPLIANA.

—Willis R. Jones, President
May Is Election Month
Members to Vote for Officers

The first election by mail of officers and members of the Board of Trustees of the Society will be held prior to May 7, when the election will close. Before this year elections have been held in connection with the general meetings of the Society.

The constitutional revision of 1958 provided that elections "may be conducted by mail or at a general meeting of the Society (due notice having been given), at the discretion of the Executive Committee." The Committee at its meeting of January 25, authorized a mail election.

The report of the Nominating Committee with ballots will be sent to all dues paying members at least 15 days in advance of the closing date, May 7. Board officers to be elected are: chairman, vice-chairman, secretary, treasurer, and three additional trustees as members of the Executive Committee. Six persons comprising the Class of 1963, are to be elected to serve on the Board of Trustees.

J. Edward Moseley, Charles E. Crouch, and Forrest F. Reed have been appointed as members of the Nominating Committee. Mr. Moseley, as chairman of the committee, will welcome suggestions from any Society member. His address is 5155 Atherton South Drive, Indianapolis 19, Ind.

Present officers of the Society are: Harry M. Davis, Hopkinsville, Ky., chairman; Forrest F. Reed, Nashville, vice-chairman; Roscoe M. Pierson, Lexington, Ky., secretary; and Charles E. Crouch, Nashville, treasurer. Additional members of the Executive Committee are William J. Hadden, Jr., Greenville, N. C.; and J. Edward Moseley, Indianapolis, Ind.

Additional members of the Executive Committee are William J. Hadden, Jr., Greenville, N. C.; and J. Edward Moseley, Indianapolis, Ind.

Trustees whose terms expire in 1960 are: W. E. Garrison, Houston, Tex.; William J. Hadden, Jr., Greenville, N. C.; James De-
The Tennessee Christian Minister’s Institute

The 1960 Tennessee Christian Minister’s Institute was held for the second consecutive year, January 18-20, in the Thomas W. Phillips Memorial. Principal speakers were Arthur J. Stanley, Executive Director, Church Planning and Development, United Christian Missionary Society, Indianapolis, Ind., and James D. Glasse, Associate Professor of Church Administration, Vanderbilt Divinity School, Nashville.

Officers of the Institute were Farrell D. Walters, Tullahoma, president; Jasper Timbs, Memphis, vice-president; and Robert D. Hall, Chattanooga, secretary and treasurer.

Guests of Society

The group of ministers were guests of the Disciples of Christ Historical Society at “coffee break” time Tuesday afternoon. An exhibit showing programs of the Institute and local church histories was arranged in the upstairs conference room.

The Tennessee Christian Minister’s Institute grew out of a Midwinter Conference of Tennessee Christian Churches started in 1924. For twenty years the institute programs were numbered from this date. At first, both laymen and ministers attended, but gradually fewer laymen came to the meetings. By 1935, the program carried the name, Minister’s Midwinter Conference. By 1941, the name had been changed to Minister’s Institute.

According to records in The Tennessee Christian and the yearly programs, the meeting has been held annually except for 1946.

Society to Participate in Four

Arrangements are complete for the Disciples of Christ Historical Society to have program participation in four state conventions during the spring months.

Willis R. Jones, president of the Society, will speak at the Florida state convention, which meets in Jacksonville, Florida, May 11-14. He will conduct a study program on church histories to be held as a part of the Pennsylvania state convention which will meet in Kingston, Pennsylvania, May 16 through 18.

Under the leadership of Hugh Riley, member of the Board of Trustees of the Society, and pastor of the Oak Cliff Christian Church, Dallas, the Society will conduct a special study program in oral history, during sessions of the Texas convention which will meet, April 27 through May 1 in Lubbock, Texas. A booth featuring a Society exhibit will also be a part of the Texas convention with a representative from the Society in charge.

The Society will have exhibit space at the Tennessee convention to be held in Chattanooga, May 3 through 5. One of the important events of that convention will be the Historical Society Breakfast to be held Thursday, May 5.
Under this heading will occasionally appear interesting and unusual items reprinted from brotherhood periodicals since the beginning of the movement.

Conversion not Stewardship, 1844

"In my tour I had two objects supremely in view. 1st. I wished to ascertain the progress the Churches were making in the truth; and 2dly. I wished to make known the objects of Franklin College and collect funds for rearing the buildings. After careful observation, I was almost irresistibly led to the conclusion, the disciples as they get strength and influence, incline much to the corruptions of the age, and become too well satisfied with mere conversion. In reference to the College, I wish to state, that I found enthusiastic admirers of the plan, but it was almost offensive to speak to religious people about funds. A couple of SCEPTICS, however, subscribed a hundred dollars each, and one wealthy old brother put down ten dollars." Tolbert Fanning in The Christian Magazine, Vol. 1, no. 9, September, 1844, page 197.

Slavery in the South, 1845

Tolbert Fanning, in an article approving the formation of the Christian Bible Society in 1845, said "Some have been unfavorable on the ground of suspicion, that in as much as the Christian Bible Society originated in a free State [Ohio], it must ergo be tainted with Abolitionism. I regret exceedingly that the brethren of the north or south should be suspicious of each other. True, many at the north look upon slavery as a great evil; but as to the abstract question of good or evil, ninety-nine hundredths of the disciples of the south will have no controversy." The Christian Magazine, Vol. 2, no. 10, October, 1845, page 234.

Church Co-operation, 1890

"The Churches of Christ are the institutions of the Lord for perfecting the Saints and converting the world. No other organization is needed or allowable. . . . No association of churches or individuals is permissible that presents a separate organization from the Churches of Christ."

"Churches may co-operate in spreading the gospel; first, by two or more churches, each communicating with an evangelist and supplying his wants and necessities when he is in a distant or destitute field."

"Two or more churches may co-operate in sustaining an evangelist by conferring with each other through a messenger, and agreeing what portion of the work each shall do. This grows out of one sending a messenger to ask aid of others."

"A messenger differs from a delegate, in that a delegate has powers delegated to confer, advise, organize, and determine. This is practical legislation as to what the churches shall do. A messenger delivers what has been decided," so said David Lipscomb in a special report to the group organizing the Tennessee Christian Missionary Cooperation. Minutes of the Tennessee Christian Missionary Co-Operation, 1890, page 17.

Tennessee Statistics, 1894

A. I. Myhr in his report to the Fifth Annual Convention of Churches of Christ in Tennessee, meeting at Vine Street Christian Church, Nashville, October 16-18, 1894, said, "When this missionary enterprise [the Tennessee Christian Missionary Co-Operation] was inaugurated five years ago, there were only nine congregations in Tennessee supporting ministers for the whole time. Three of these were not supplied. Now, there are twenty-six congregations having regular pastoral services. There are also eleven Churches having preaching half time. There are about one hundred Churches having preaching one Lord's day in each month. There are about 275 Churches that have occasional preaching—most of them only in protracted meetings." The Tennessee Missionary, Vol. 1, no. 1, January, 1895, page 16.

Trouble in the Church

Some churches in Tennessee had peculiar troubles. In a "History of the Christian Church in White County," is the following paragraph: "The first congregation of disciples [sic.] was organized about 1820 on Cherry Creek. This Church prospered for some years, but alas, one Sunday afternoon, a daughter of one of the leading members had her fortune told, which caused a split in the Church. It revived years after that and did fairly well till about three years ago, when one of the Elders killed his nephew (a member) which killed the Church." The Tennessee Missionary, Vol. 2, No. 4, October, 1896, page 12.
TENNESSEE PERIODICALS: A PRODIGIOUS OUTPUT WITH A LONG HISTORY

Under the heading of Tennessee Christian Register, Alexander Campbell printed in the October, 1829, issue of The Christian Baptist the following notice:

"I am glad to acknowledge the receipt at this office, of a prospectus for a work of the above title, to be edited by Mr. George R. Fall, of Nashville, Tennessee, devoted to the interests of religion, letters and the cause of temperance. This paper, issued once-a-week, at 3 dollars per annum or $2.50 in advance, is, in so far as religious, pledged to no sect or party, but to those of the same profession and practice of those called 'Christians first at Antioch.' Mr. Fall, I have understood, is a young gentleman of much promise. I wish him much success in all the laudable objects proposed in his paper."

So far as is known, this is the first mention of any paper of Disciple origin in Tennessee. And this is only the notice of the receipt of a prospectus for a periodical that was in the planning stage. There are no copies in Nashville libraries.

Five in the 1830's

Three papers are known to have existed in the 1840's. John R. Howard published the Bible Advocate at Paris from 1842 to 1846. In 1847 it was moved to St. Louis, Mo. The Christian Review, started by Tolbert Fanning, was published in Nashville, 1844-1847. This was immediately followed by The Christian Magazine, 1848-1853.

The Gospel Advocate

The Gospel Advocate, begun in Nashville in 1855, by Tolbert Fanning and William Lipscomb has continued to the present day. It has the longest history without change of location, name, and uninterrupted service of any periodical of the restoration movement.

Since the middle of the 1850's many periodicals have been published by Tennessee Disciples. A list of nearly sixty of these follows. Given is the title of the periodical, place of publication, the publisher, the early editor, and the date of beginning. College and local church papers are not included.

Fifty-Six Periodicals

Apostolic Times, Nashville, James A. Allen, 1931.

Bible Student, Franklin, C. E. W. Dorris, 1899.

Bible School Visitor, Nashville, circa 1895.

Bible Study Helper, Nashville, A. B. Lipscomb, circa 1916.

Chart Instructor, Mockeson, Luther R. Campbell and Harry Jordan, 1899.

Children's Gems, Nashville, circa 1922.

Christian Advocate, Franklin College, Tolbert Fanning, circa 1859.

Christian Magazine, Murfreesboro, George DeHoff, 1946.

Christian Plea, the official organ of Negro Disciples of Christ was published in Nashville, 1939-1947 with Merl R. Eppse as editor.

The Christian Traveller, Nashville, Andrew and Grace Peel, 1943.

Gospel Witness, Gainsboro, Ben H. Anderson, 1940.
King's Banner, Jasper, A. Alison, circa 1874.
Lesson Leaf, Nashville, 1866.
The Monthly Musical Review, Athens, W. C. Hafley, circa 1883. [title could have been Musical Review].
The Pilot, Nashville, J. A. Hopwood and James A. Tate, circa 1896.
Primary Quarterly, Nashville, 1895.
The Primitive Christian, Jackson, Coleman Overby, 1920.
The Primitive Christian, Martin, C. B. Douthit, 1925.
The Religious Historian, Nashville, Tolbert Fanning, 1872.
The State Missionary, Johnson City, 1902.
The Teacher's Quarterly, Nashville, H. L. Calhoun, 1928.

The Tennessee Christian, Johnson City, 1904.
The Tennessee Missionary, Nashville, 1895.
The Tennessee Standard, published by the Standard Publishing Co. in Cincinnati, O., A. I. Myhr was editor, 1899.

SEVENTY YEARS OF HISTORY
(Continued from page 1)

Evidently, with the beginning of a monthly paper a change of name was thought necessary. Normally, we might think that the first number of the new periodical was issued in March, 1904, because the September issue was numbered 7. This type of reasoning breaks down when we find that the November and December issues were also numbered 7.

A fairly complete file of The Tennessee Christian, 1904-1911, 1914-1949, is contained in seven bound volumes. No copies were available of the years 1912-1913, and files for 1950 and since have not yet been bound. [Both the Tennessee Christian Missionary Society and the Disciples of Christ Historical Society have complete unbound files since 1949.]

Other Bound Records

Other bound volumes of the records are titled: Tennessee Christian Churches, Annual State Convention Minutes, July 2, 1928-July 13, 1939; Tennessee Christian Missionary Society Minutes, October 2, 1923-October, 1945. There are two additional books; one, a journal containing the minutes of the State Board Meetings, 1911-1923, and the other, a looseleaf book with the minutes of State Board Meetings and various reports, 1948-1952.

In addition to the thirteen bound volumes was a typescript copy of a thesis by T. H. Johnson, Eugene Bible University, 1928; History of the Restoration Movement in Tennessee.
The Christian-Evangelist Index

Since April 1955, the Society has been engaged in a project of indexing and microfilming The Christian-Evangelist under a grant-in-aid from the Christian Board of Publication.* The present indexer is Miss Nancy Melvin of Mayfield, Ky., a graduate of Murray State College, Murray, Ky., with a major in library science.

Other indexers have been Mr. John Lipscomb, who started the indexing, and worked three months, and Mrs. Agnes Hunt Mills who worked from October, 1955, with some interruptions, until September, 1958.

Indexer, Nancy Melvin, files slips in one of the eighty-six trays holding The Christian-Evangelist index.

The indexing part of the project is nearly completed for the twentieth century. Nothing has been done with 1863-1900. Complete files for the earlier years when the paper was known as The Gospel Echo and The Christian have not been located. The project could be speeded up if additional indexers could be found.

Miss Melvin came to the staff in August 1958. Since then, she has added thousands of slips to this invaluable tool for research workers which locates articles by author and subject, obituaries, headline news, and special features in a foremost Disciple publication.

Microfilming of The Christian-Evangelist for seventy-five years has been completed. Sales of positive prints have been made to many leading seminary libraries, both Disciple and non-Disciple. Further microfilming will be done as additional files are located.

The approaching marriage of Miss Melvin and Joe Donald Turner has been announced for an early date. She will continue her work with the Society.

*For news stories concerning the project, see the following issues of this periodical: December 1954, page 161; January 1955, page 2; March 1955, page 39; October 1955, page 120; August 1956, page 43; October 1958, page 46.

The Peabody Reflector for December 1959 printed "Light for Our Darkness," by Ronald E. Osborn and "Civil Liberty and Religious Freedom," by Harold E. Fey. These are the texts of two vesper service addresses to the students and faculty of George Peabody College for Teachers in Nashville. Dr. Osborn, presently dean of the Christian Theological Seminary, Indianapolis, spoke June 21, 1959, and Dr. Fey, editor of The Christian Century, Chicago, followed the next Sunday, June 28.

The same issue also contained the story of the presentation of a folk cantata "The White Pilgrim," based on the life and work of Joseph Thomas, 1791-1835, as one of the vesper series.

Paradise Restored, an Anonymous Poem, published in Cincinnati by R. P. Donough in 1843 or 1844, and advertised for sale for thirty cents a copy was evidently written by a Disciple. In The Christian Magazine, Vol. 1, no. 4, April 1844, pages 91-97, J. B. F. [evidently J. B. Ferguson] commented as follows, "I recognize in its easy flowing strains the voice of an old acquaintance whose arduous exertions in the Editorial and Ministerial duties of a public advocate for the Restoration of Primitive Christianity are known to all the brotherhood of the great valley of the Mississippi." Are any copies of this work in any of our libraries? Who has knowledge of the author? Could he have been Arthur Cribbfield?
Disciples ... History ... Doctrine

Under this heading we shall attempt from time to time to list those books essential for an understanding study of the entire movements of the Disciples of Christ. These bibliographies will be given in various categories, i.e., general, doctrinal, biographical, etc. Recently two such lists have appeared; "New State Histories ... and Some Old Ones," in August, 1959 (Vol. 19, no. 3) and "From Abilene to Transylvania ... College Histories," in December, 1959 (Vol. 19, no. 4).

In this issue we are listing general histories of the movement, together with some basic early documents. Since one cannot study the general history of the Disciples without some knowledge of Disciples thought [Our Plea], then and now, we are also including in this issue general doctrinal books.

General Histories

BROWN, John Thomas

COREY, Stephen Jared
Fifty Years of Attack and Controversy; the Consequences Among Disciples of Christ. [St. Louis, Mo.] Committee on Publication of the Corey Manuscript, c1953. xiv, 306 pp., index.

DAVIS, Morrison Meade

DeGROOT, Alfred Thomas

ENGLAND, Stephen Jackson
We Disciples; A Brief View of History and Doctrine. St. Louis, Mo., Christian Board of Publication, c1946. 80 pp.

FORD, Harold W.

FORTUNE, Alonzo Willard

GARRISON, James Harvey, ed.

GARRISON, James Harvey
The Story of a Century; A Brief Historical Sketch and Exposition of the Religious Movement Inaugurated by Thomas and Alex-

GARRISON, Winfred Ernest

GARRISON, Winfred Ernest and DeGroot, Alfred Thomas

GATES, Errett

HAGGARD, Rice

Reprint of an anonymously published pamphlet of 1804.

HAILEY, Homer

HALEY, Jesse James

HALL, Colby Dixon

HAYDEN, Amos Sutton
Early History of the Disciples in the Western Reserve, Ohio, with Biographical Sketches of the Principal Agents in Their Religious Movement. Cincinnati, Chase and Hall, publishers, 1875. 476 pp., index.

Although this is regional it is included for its information concerning the beginnings of one section of the movement.

JENNINGS, Walter Wilson

JORDAN, Robert L.
Two Races in One Fellowship. Detroit, Mich., United Christian Church, 1944. 91 pp., illustrations.

LONGAN, George W.

MATSLER, Win R.

MOORE, William Thomas

MORRILL, Milo True

ROGERS, James R.

ROGERS, Vere H.
The Disciples of Christ; A Study and Discussion Course. St. Louis, Mo., Christian Board of Publication, 1936. 36 pp.

STONE, Barton Warren
THOMPSON, Rhodes, ed.
Voices from Cane Ridge, Including the Story of the Historic Meetinghouse; Facsimile Reproduction of the Biography of Barton Warren Stone, its Minister; and Voices from the First National Laymen's Retreat (1949) and Subsequent Annual Cane Ridge Meetings (1950-53). St. Louis, Mo., Bethany Press, c1954. 259 pp.

TYLER, Benjamin Bushrod
A History of the Disciples of Christ. New York, The Christian Literature Co., 1894. 164 pp., index. (Also published as the first part of Volume 12 of The American Church History Series).

VAN KIRK, Hiram

WALKER, Dean Everest

WARNER, Robert D.
Orbiting Our Past; History of the Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ). [Indianapolis, Ind.]. Curriculum and Program Council, Disciples of Christ [1959]. 12 pp. [Leader's guide for courses 138a and 138b].

WELSHIMER, Pearl Howard

WEST, Earl Irvin

WHITLEY, Oliver Read

YOUNG, Charles Alexander

General Doctrinal

ABBOTT, Byrdine Akers
The Disciples: an Interpretation. St. Louis, Mo., Bethany Press, c1924. 271 pp., index.

ADAMS, Hampton
Why I Am a Disciple of Christ. New York, Thomas Nelson and Sons, c1957. 144 pp., index.

AINSLIE, Peter
The Message of the Disciples for the Union of the Church; Including Their Origin and History. New York, Fleming H. Revell Co., c1913. 212 pp. (Lectures delivered before the Yale Divinity School, New Haven.)

AMES, Edward Scribner
The Disciples of Christ. [Chicago, Disciples Divinity House of the University of Chicago]. 1924. 22 pp. Reprinted many times.

ARMSTRONG, H. C.
The Disciples of Christ; Who They Are and Why They Are. Baltimore, Md., Association for the Promotion of Christian Unity, 1924. 56 pp.

CAMPBELL, Alexander

The first edition of this book had the cover title, Christianity Restored, 1835. The Christian System has been reprinted many times. Christianity Restored has recently been reprinted, see our Books of Recent Columns.

CAMPBELL, Thomas

DeGROOT, Alfred Thomas

FLANAGAN, James M., ed.

GARRISON, James Harvey, ed.
*The Old Faith Restated, Being a Restate-

GARRISON, Winfred Garrison

KELLEMS, Jesse Randolph

KERSHNER, Frederick Doyle

LAMAR, James Sanford

LOWBER, James William

MOORE, William Thomas

PHILLIPS, Thomas Wharton

RICHARDSON, William Franklin

RICHARDSON, Robert
The Principles and Objects of the Religious Reformation, Urged by A. Campbell and Others, Briefly Stated. Bethany, Va., Printed and Published by A. Campbell, 1853. 88 pp.

This has been reprinted many times.

SHORT, Howard Elmo
Christian Unity is Our Business; Disciples of Christ Within the Ecumenical Fellowship. [St. Louis, Mo.]. Published for the Association for the Promotion of Christian Unity by the Bethany Press, c1953. 59 pp.

STONE, Barton Warren and others.
Last Will and Testament of the Springfield Presbytery. See entry under Thomas Campbell.

THOMAS, J. D.
'We be Brethren'; A Study in Biblical Interpretation. Abilene, Tex., Biblical Research Press, 1958. 262 pp., index.

TYLER, Benjamin Bushrod

SWEENEY, Zachary Taylor and others.

WEST, Robert Frederick and West, William Garrett
Who Are the Christian Churches and What Do We Believe? [Chattanooga, Tenn., Authors], 1954, 35 pp.

WORLD Convention of Churches of Christ (Disciples) 1955.
Doctrines of the Christian Faith, Six Reports by Study Committees of the World Convention of Churches of Christ (Disciples) [St. Louis, Mo., Christian Board of Publication], 1955. 66 pp.
According to a brief note in THE HARBINGER AND DISCIPLIANA for November 1953, the periodical was not long published. Three numbers are known to have been issued in 1876. Probably these were all that were printed; for by early 1878, Lucas was offering "his copy-right, back numbers, and material on hand . . . to anyone who will relieve him of the slight liabilities incurred." Evidently lack of support killed the enterprise.

The continuation of The American Christian Gazetteer would have contributed to the enrichment of Disciple scholarship and would also have provided present day students with valuable source materials. The project was an ambitious one. The editor estimated that 8,200 pages would be needed to complete the biographical sketches alone; no figures were given concerning the pages necessary for reporting congregational history and statistics.

In "editorial notes," on the front cover of the July issue, the editor stated that he had already traveled 15,000 miles and spent $500.00 on postage in securing material from 2,000 churches in thirty-two states. He pleaded with the brotherhood to support him by mailing cash subscriptions, 30 cents per copy or $2.70 for a complete volume.

William R. Vivrett, Jr., minister of the East End Christian Church, Pittsburgh, Pa., was instrumental in securing this rare item for the Society. It originally belonged to Mrs. Fullman's father, Peter Vogel, early Pennsylvania Disciple minister and author of the Tale of a Pioneer Church [Somerset, Pa.] 1887.

Souvenir Plates

Our holdings of souvenir plates slowly increases. Recently received are:

Vine Street Christian Church, Nashville, "October 12, 1958," gift of Mrs. Charles E. Crouch of Nashville.

First Christian Church, Sublette, Kans.
1950, with a historical sketch on reverse, gift of Mrs. Gladys Wallace and her Sunday School class of Sublette.

Davis Street Christian Church, Ottumwa, Iowa, with a historical sketch on reverse, gift of Mrs. Hazel Criswell, Ottumwa.

First Christian Church, Weirton, W. Va., "125th Anniversary, 1830-1955," with a historical sketch on the reverse, gift of Mrs. C. M. Eddy, Weirton.

Park Avenue Christian Church, New York, N. Y., 1810-1960, gift of the church.

James Abram Garfield, 1831-1881, civil war centennial plate, gift of the artist, Charles Fay, Hiram Ohio. Garfield is the central figure surrounded by illustrations depicting events in his life.

Another Baptism Debate!

OUR 20TH YEAR

(Continued from page 2)

In a news release concerning the establishment of the Historical Society at Culver-Stockton in 1946, the following statement was made, "The Society is not obligated to remain in Canton, but if it ever finds it expedient to move to some other place, it may do so. The only necessity will be the return of the Robison Collection to the college." The Society did find it expedient to move to some other place and it did return the Robison Collection to the college. DISCIPLIANA, however, went with the Society to its new location. The first number from Nashville was dated July, 1952 (Vol. 12, no. 2).

DISCIPLIANA became THE HAR-BINGER AND DISCIPLIANA, July, 1953 (Vol. 13, no. 2) and at the same time a monthly publication. The periodical changed to a bi-monthly status, June, 1956 (Vol. 16, no. 4). During this period the number of pages varied from four to twenty and a few numbers were omitted. More space was given to promotion and less to literary gossip. For four years much news was carried about the planning, construction and occupation of the Thomas W. Phillips Memorial. James E. McKinney, executive director of the Society, was associate editor these years.

In the beginning there was some doubt that enough material could be found for a quarterly publication such as this. For nineteen years we have put together from four to twelve issues a year and our big problem has not been lack of material, but what to put in and what to leave out. We have acknowledged and described gifts; detailed our wants and needs; outlined our program; reprinted materials from earlier days; noted research in progress; gossiped about Disciples, books, and history; compiled bibliographies; featured guest writers; offered varied services to researchers; advertised materials for sale; written news items about Society members; published more trivia than any other publication; and above all, urged support of the Historical Society.

The twentieth year will be no exception. We shall continue as we started. DISCIPLIANA is again the name. Perhaps, promotion will be less obvious but more subtle. We hope to bring interesting news of Disciple historical and literary doings, print useful bibliographies, and keep our readers acquainted with what is going on at Society headquarters.

We hope you like our new look!

—Claude E. Spencer, editor.

DISCIPLES, TENNESSEE AND EDUCATION, was the title of an article on page 33 of the June 1956 issue of DISCIPLIANA. More than 40 educational institutions were listed. Location and approximate dates were given. All had some connection with Christian Churches and Churches of Christ.
Thesis Check List . . . To Be Revised and Republished

Theses Concerning the Disciples of Christ, a mimeographed 54 page booklet, was the first publication to bear the Disciples of Christ Historical Society imprint. The introduction was dated December 9, 1941, Culver-Stockton College, Canton, Mo.

One hundred ninety-six theses were listed alphabetically by one hundred sixty-nine authors. In addition, there were separate listings by educational institutions and by subjects.

The one hundred twenty-five copies were distributed free to the entire membership of the Society. The remainder, about thirty-five copies, were advertised for sale at fifty cents a copy. In April, 1942, the curator reported the sale of six copies. In two years the extras were all sold.

Stencils for the booklet were cut by Culver-Stockton student library assistants and the mimeographing and binding was also done by the students. The total cost of production, exclusive of labor, was $10.32.

There has been a steady demand for the booklet, even today, although it has long been out-of-print. A new edition is being readied, and should be available in late spring or early summer.

The revised edition will list more than four hundred new titles, arranged alphabetically by author, and will have institutional and subject indexes. The sixty pages will be approximately $8\frac{1}{2} \times 11$ in size. Reproduction will be by photolithoprint or multilith. Paper cover stock will be used for the cover. The price will probably be $1.00.

Those interested should write for detailed information and order blank.

---

CHRISTIAN BOARD OF PUBLICATION PURCHASE

The Christian Board of Publication has announced the purchase, from A. T. DeGroot, of a large collection of periodicals, dealing with the Disciples of Christ. The collection, rich in British publications, with long runs of major and minor American ones, has been given to the Disciples of Christ Historical Society. It has been moved from Ft. Worth to Nashville where it will be integrated into the Society's extensive holdings. Duplications will be made available to Disciple seminary libraries.

Future issues of DISCIPLIANA will feature details.
A desk perfectly designed for a gothic structure such as the Thomas W. Phillips Memorial has come to the president's office. It is the gift of Central Woodward Christian Church, Detroit, Mich.

The desk has a notable history. It was purchased for the pastor's study when Central Woodward, a building of noble gothic lines, was built in 1927. It was used until his retirement in 1947, by the late Dr. Edgar DeWitt Jones, whose son, Willis R. Jones, will now use the desk during his administration as president of the Disciples of Christ Historical Society.

The desk was used by Dr. Perry Epler Gresham during his pastorate at Central Woodward and by the late Dr. Warren Grafton, until 1959, when a new desk was purchased for him.

Delivery of the desk to the Society added a striking new entry in its unique and meaningful history. It came from Detroit on the top of a private automobile and was delivered in person by Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Darling, long-time leading members of Central Woodward Church.
Editorial . . . .

Papa, mama, and the children are beginning to think about summer vacations. CYF groups from our churches are planning trips. And some ministers and college professors are looking for a quiet, air-conditioned place in which to spend a week or so in secluded study. The answer to the problem is the Thomas W. Phillips Memorial.

Family and church groups should include Nashville and the Disciples of Christ Historical Society on their vacation itineraries. The most beautiful building of its kind in Protestantism with its stained glass window medallions, its specially designed sculptured in stone symbolism, its historical museum, and its forecourt with the early leaders' cenotaph, could be the high peak of a summer's holiday experience.

For persons desiring a place for quiet work the private studies of the Memorial are ideal. Here at hand is the largest collection of literature produced by and about the Disciples of Christ and related groups. Here are indexes, catalogs, and personnel to help in the location and use of the material.

Visitors are always welcome at the Thomas W. Phillips Memorial. The building is open from 8:30 A.M. until 5:00 P.M. daily, except Sunday. Arrangements can be made to see the building at times other than the above hours by writing for a special appointment. Groups expecting to visit the Society at any time should give several days' advance notice as to date, time of arrival, and number in the party. Individuals planning to use the study facilities also should make advance arrangements.

The Society has two maps which it will send on request. One shows points of interest in Nashville, including the Society headquarters; the other maps the University Center and indicates lodging and eating places in the vicinity.

Happy holiday!

Our Name

We want to call attention to our name. It is Disciples of Christ Historical Society, not Disciples Historical Society, National Historical Society, or Historical Society. We have been called all of these and others, too. In our own periodical DISCIPLIANA we frequently for the sake of brevity write of ourselves as the Society, but others in addressing us or in writing or speaking about us should use our full name. There are many other societies with which we may be confused if our full name is not used. Even Historical Society does not place us properly as there are a great number of historical societies, many of them of a church history nature. The use of Disciples of Christ Historical Society will distinguish us from all others.

(Continued on page 31)
April 29: The Society Accepts Periodicals; Observes Eighth Anniversary in Nashville; Is Host to Long Range Committee

As we go to press, plans are being completed for a notable day, Friday, April 29. Three major events occur on that day.

The Society will formally accept the distinguished collection of American and British Disciple periodicals purchased by the Christian Board of Publication, St. Louis, Missouri, and collected by Dr. A. T. DeGroot, Brite College of the Bible, Texas Christian University.

Presentation will be by Dr. Wilbur H. Cramblet, president of the Christian Board of Publication. Acceptance for the Society will be by Dr. Willis R. Jones. Dr. Henry K. Shaw, librarian, Christian Theological Seminary, will give the featured address.

In an afternoon session preceding the acceptance dinner, Dr. Claude E. Spencer will talk about "The Value of the Collection to Disciple Scholarship"; and Dr. A. T. DeGroot will speak on the subject, "Some Experiences in Assembling the Collection."

Afternoon Session

Presiding at the afternoon session is the Reverend Harry M. Davis, pastor of the First Christian Church, Hopkinsville, Ky., who is chairman of the board of trustees of the Society. Heading up a committee of eight hostesses representing the Christian churches in Nashville, is Mrs. Charles E. Crouch.

The program of acceptance is the main event on the Society's observance of its eighth anniversary of the move to Nashville. Special guests for the occasion include those who formed the original committee that brought the Society to Nashville, and those who made up the team of workers that raised the $55,000 necessary to accomplish the move. Also included are members of the committees presently serving the Society.

Evening Session

Presiding at the evening session is Mr. Forrest F. Reed, vice-chairman of the board of trustees, who headed up the original committee that brought the Society to Nashville in April, 1952. Serving with Mr. Reed in preparing for the day's events has been Miss Eva Jean Wrather, also a leading figure in the original move to bring the Society to Nashville, and a member of the board of trustees.

The Invocation at the dinner meeting will be presented by Dr. Loren E. Lair, Des Moines, Ia., President of the International Convention of Christian Churches, and member of the Society's Long Range Planning Committee.

April 29 is also the day on which the newly appointed Long Range Planning Committee will hold its first meeting. This committee is composed of the following members: Dr. Wilbur H. Cramblet, chairman; Dr. Spencer P. Austin, Dr. W. B. Blakemore, Dr. Robert W. Burns, Harry M. Davis, Dr. Frank F. Drowota, Dr. J. Philip Hyatt, Dr. Loren E. Lair, Dr. Riley B. Montgomery, and Forrest F. Reed.

Because of the far reaching significance of the events on April 29 in the services of the Society to churches, seminaries, and in general research a full account of the day will be carried in the July issue of DISCIPLIANA.
it was necessary for him to walk when the mud became so deep that other ways of transportation had broken down; and the driver of the team so inebriated that it made traveling on foot the only and safest way.

Campbell’s travels took him into the original thirteen colonies, the new states of the fastly developing Union, the colonial New England states, and the states of the ever-advancing America west. He preached, lectured, held “conversation meetings” far into the night, corrected errors regarding Disciples, made friends of the locally known and of the nationally known, in the great cities as far south as New Orleans and Atlanta and as far north as Chicago, New York, and Boston, in the hamlet and village of the West, in the county seat town, and in the cross-road meeting house of the rural county.

The 104 letters, if edited and published with an introduction, detailed annotation and index, would encompass a large volume of over eight hundred pages. W. K. Pendleton, Campbell’s son-in-law and at one time a co-editor of the Harbinger, wrote two of the letters while accompanying Campbell; Isaac Errett, later to become a prominent leader among the Disciples of Christ, wrote one. Other than these three letters, Campbell writes either from memory or from notes the events of the day in the remaining 101 letters.

Places of Travel

Campbell referred to his travels into various states of the Union as "tours" and "excursions." They would encompass in time a minimum period of twenty days which would take him into the Western Reserve of Ohio and a maximum period of almost six months in his travels to the South in the Fall and Winter of 1838-39, taking him to Washington, D. C., Virginia, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Kentucky.

The average time he spent on his travels each year during this period of over a generation would be approximately two and one-half months. The number of miles traveled was staggering for that day and the various modes of travel. One round trip took him over 2,800 miles; another took him into the West of over three thousand miles. He traveled by train, steamboat, wagon team, stage, rig, and saddle horse. Occasionally...
Society Holds Open House During Cole Lectures

Through the invitation of The Divinity School of Vanderbilt University, the Society was privileged to hold an Open House following the session of the Cole Lectures, Monday afternoon, March 21.

Mrs. Charles E. Crouch, chairman of the Hostess Committee was in charge of the event, and presented the beautiful bouquet of early spring flowers that graced the tea table. Mrs. Forrest F. Reed, chairman of the Volunteer Services Committee, poured. Miss Eva Jean Wrather, Mrs. R. I. Wrather, and Mrs. Claude E. Spencer, greeted the guests. Mrs. Willis R. Jones assisted in decorations.

George Stuart, Professor of Homiletics, Christian Theological Seminary, and a Society visitor on March 24, reaches for a book from the Edgar DeWitt Jones collection of Yale Lectures, now housed in the president's office. These books, 74 in number along with a bibliography of 71 others, were used by Dr. Jones in the preparation of the book, The Royalty of the Pulpit, published by Harpers in 1951. Professor Stuart and Dr. Jones were long time friends. Each served as pastor at one time of the First Christian Church, Bloomington, Ill.

Out of town visitors included: Dr. and Mrs. Beryl S. Kinser, Springfield, Ill.; Professor and Mrs. George Stuart and their son, Christopher, Indianapolis, Ind.; Dr. and Mrs. William G. West, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. L. Winston Wright, Paris, Tenn.; Charles Blakemore, Madisonville, Ky.; and Billy N. Williams, Nortonville, Ky.

Mrs. Spencer and the Periodicals

Nearly a thousand churches are sending regularly their periodicals, newsletters, and orders of worship, to the Society for preservation. One level of the stack space of the Thomas W. Phillips Memorial houses these materials from local congregations.

Since January 1955, it has been the job of Mrs. Claude E. Spencer to "check in" the church papers and other periodicals. Nearly every Saturday for the past five years Mrs. Spencer has volunteered a day's labor in unwrapping, arranging, and entering on cards the receipts of the past week.

Sometimes her task is made harder because of the extremely careless methods used in the make-up of a few publications. Occasionally the title is changed or even omitted, the date is missing, or the name of the church and its location is not given. Many periodicals and newsletters do not use any numbering system, while others that carry volumes and numbers are very erratic in their application.

Mrs. Spencer

Mrs. Spencer, wife of the Society curator, is a native of Illinois. She attended Culver-Stockton College. Her sorority is Sigma Kappa. She is a member of Vine Street Christian Church, and has been historian of the Christian Women's Fellowship for the past three years.
Way of Serendipity was the title I chose for the talk there. When I sent the title to Dr. Howard E. Short, the professor in charge of the chapel programs, he replied: "Your subject sounds wonderful. What does it mean?"

Serendipity occurs when a researcher is looking for facts or materials whose source is forgotten or unknown. There needs to be familiarity with the elusive item. Perhaps, there has been intensive search for it in many places, with no luck. Serendipity occurs when, through accidental discovery, luck intervenes and success rewards the researcher's efforts.

New Column

From time to time, this column will relate a revealing experience of serendipity by myself and others.

My most recent experience with serendipity occurred last Christmas Day. I was visiting with an avid collector, Seale B. Johnson, at Jackson, Tenn. We talked about my research in the history of Tennessee Disciples.

The minutes of the Jackson Christian Church which have been preserved indicate that the congregation began its ministry in a frame building in 1867. However, the Christian Magazine (Oct. 1849, p. 391), indicates that a congregation of Disciples was organized in Jackson as early as 1849.

Mr. Johnson asked me if I knew about the "Campbellite" incident in the Jackson Baptist Church before the Civil War. I did not so he pulled his copy of a printed history of that congregation from his shelves and pointed out the rather vague reference. This clue, which came to me by way of serendipity, excited me. It started me on a search into periodicals, newspapers, minute books, and other sources that have not been completed.

I have done enough research already, though, to learn that a minority group of dissident members of the Baptist Church in Jackson who were accused of being "schismatics" and in sympathy with "Campbellism" took possession of keys to the Jackson Baptist building in January, 1859, and kept them through about eight years of litigation!

Will the basic question of when the Jackson Christian Church was organized be answered by way of serendipity?
Alexander Campbell, 1788-1866 . . . Books About Him

A knowledge of the leadership of any religious movement is basic to an understanding of the movement. Certainly one must know about the life and thought of Alexander Campbell if one is to study comprehensively the beginnings and growth of the Disciples of Christ, a group which was designated by many of its neighbors as "Campbellite."

In this issue of DISCIPLIANA we are listing the books and chapters in books about Alexander Campbell.

For theses and dissertations about Campbell of which there are more than 60, see the subject index in the revised Theses Concerning the Disciples of Christ which is to be published this summer.

In our September number will be given the books Campbell wrote and the periodicals he edited.

ATHEARN, Clarence Royalty

BAINTON, Roland Herbert

BOLES, Henry Leo

BURNET, David Staats

CAMPBELL, Selina Huntington (Bakwell) (Mrs. Alexander Campbell)

Home Life and Reminiscences of Alexander Campbell by His Wife. St. Louis, Mo., John Burns, 1882. 503 pp. front. (port.).

CHALMERS, Thomas

A photolithoprint of the original edition was issued by the Gospel Advocate Co., Nashville, Tenn., 1958.

COCHRAN, Edward Louis

EGBERT, James

GARRISON, Winfred Ernest

Alexander Campbell's Theology, Its Sources and Historical Setting. St. Louis, Mo., Christian Publishing Co., 1900. 302 pp. The research was originally done for a Ph.D. dissertation at the University of Chicago, 1897.
GRAFTON, Thomas William

HAGGAR, Thomas

HALEY, Jesse James

HAYDEN, Warren Luse

HUDSON, John Allen

HUMBLE, Bill J.

Campbell and Controversy; the Story of Alexander Campbell's Great Debates With Skepticism, Catholicism, and Presbyterianism. Rosemead, Calif., Old Paths Book Club, '1952. 292 pp., bibliography. The research was originally done for an M.A. thesis at the University of Colorado, 1949.

HUTCHINSON, Paul

JOHNSTON, Ralph W.

KELLEMS, Jesse Randolph

LINDLEY, Denton Ray

LOWBER, James William

LUNGER, Harold L.

McLEAN, Archibald

MOORE, Allen Rice

PENDLETON, William Kimbrough

RICHARDSON, Robert

ROGERS, William C.

SCHLESINGER, Arthur Meier, Jr.

SCOTT, Jerome A.

SEGAR, Charles V.

SMITH, Benjamin Lyon

SNODDY, Elmer Ellsworth

SWEET, Warren William

THOMAS, Cecil Kermit

TIERS, Montgomery C.

TUPPER, Kerr Boyce

"Alexander Campbell." (In his Seven Great Lights, 1892, pp. 141-160).

WALKER, Granville Thomas

Preaching in the Thought of Alexander Campbell. St. Louis, Mo., Bethany Press, "1954. 271 pp., bibliography, index. (Bethany History Series). The research was originally done for a Ph.D. dissertation, Yale University, 1948.

WEST, Robert Frederick

Alexander Campbell and Natural Religion. New Haven, Conn., Yale University, 1948. ix, [5], 248 p., bibliography, index. (Yale Studies in Religious Education, xxi). The research was done originally for a Ph.D. dissertation, Yale University, 1949.

WOOD, Warren

"The Sage of Bethany—Alexander Campbell." (In his Representative Authors of West Virginia, 1926, pp. 81-102).

WRATHER, Eva Jean

Alexander Campbell and His Relevance for Today. Nashville, Tenn., Disciples of Christ Historical Society, 1953. 16 pp. (Footnotes to Disciple History, no. 1).

THE CHRISTIAN-Evangelist, St. Louis, Mo.

"Alexander Campbell Sesquicentennial Anniversary Number," vol. 76, no. 36, September 8, 1938.

Dr. George Walker Buckner, editor of World Call, and Mrs. Buckner, and Dr. Dwight E. Stevenson, Professor of Homiletics, The College of the Bible, check one of the trays holding the Christian-Evangelist index. They were Society visitors, March 28.
John B. Cowden's Books

A recent gift of considerable importance came from John B. Cowden of Nashville. On the sale of his house, Mr. Cowden brought to the Society the religious books from his extensive library.

The books, when placed on the shelves in our receiving room, occupied 48 feet of shelf space with nine feet being used for books of Disciple interest. Listed below are some of the items we immediately cataloged:

From several score issues of the Christian Union Quarterly eight were discovered needed in the Society file. A copy of The Way of Prayer was inscribed to Mr. Cowden by the author, Peter Ainslie. There were several desirable books in the general field of Christian unity.

In our library we had the 1st, 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th, 10th, 12th, 14th, and 15th editions of The Church of Christ by Thomas W. Phillips. Mr. Cowden brought us the 11th.

Presently an elder in the Bellevue, Tennessee, Christian church, Mr. Cowden, a native Tennessean, has a long record of service to Christian Churches. He is the author of more than 20 books, tracts and pamphlets. A main interest has been Christian unity as is attested by some of his writings; Saint Paul on Christian Unity, 1923, Thinking Toward Christian Unity, 1928, and Worshipping Toward Christian Unity, 1930.

American Heritage

The glamor magazine of the American history field, American Heritage, is a useful periodical as supplementary and background material for our work. We have recently received from Miss Mate Graye Hunt of Kalamazoo, Michigan, a very fine file of this periodical. Of the paper cover issues we need only the Summer and Autumn numbers of 1953 and the Winter and Spring ones of 1954. The December 1959 and February and April 1960 numbers are all that are lacking from the hard bound series.

Bound Periodicals

Recently the publishers of several periodicals have sent bound copies of publications on the completion of the current volume. The following have been received:

- Bible Talk, Dallas, Tex., vols. 1-6, 1952-1958

Tea Table Gifts

Through the generosity of Dr. and Mrs. Charles E. Crouch, the Society has added significant items for its table service for teas and parties. The gift includes twenty-four glass plates and cups, and two china tea services.

Dr. and Mrs. Willis R. Jones have given the Society a large lace table cloth for use on the tea table. The Society gratefully acknowledges these gifts which have already been put to use.
OF THE MAKING OF HISTORIES THERE SHOULD BE NO END

A very vital and growing part of our library is that which is concerned with the preservation of materials from local congregations. Wanted are the current items: periodicals, newsletters, orders of worship, annual reports, pictures, special programs, and all other printed and mimeographed material.

Wanted, too, are the older materials including original minute and roll books. These may be given outright to the Society or they may be sent for storage, subject to the call of the church. The Society offers perfect preservation for such material in its vault-like, air-conditioned, humidity controlled stacks in the Thomas W. Phillips Memorial.

Long runs of bound files of periodicals are especially valuable. In January we received from Clarence E. Lemmon, minister of the First Christian Church of Columbia, Missouri, a bound set of the Christian Church Visitor, 1942-1958, vols. 1-16. From Dr. Lemmon we also secured a set of Every Week of the Hamilton Avenue Christian Church of St. Louis, Missouri, 1921-1930, vols. 1-10. Dr. Lemmon was minister of the St. Louis church before going to Columbia.

Last spring a nearly complete file, bound and unbound, of Upward of the defunct Central Church of Christ (Disciples) of Buffalo, New York, came from Orlando W. Hanks of Buffalo. Upward was started as Our Church Record in 1896 by the Jefferson Street Church of Christ. The name of the church was changed to Central Church upon removal to a new location in 1923. Our file of Upward stops in 1931. We also have a nearly complete run of a mimeographed bulletin, 1936-1942, as well as many other items saved by the church office.

Many of our churches are coming of age. They are reaching a time when they take stock of their heritage. An approaching anniversary provides an occasion for a celebration with special programs including written histories. Sometimes a building dedication or a homecoming day gives the reason for historical sketches to be printed in programs of the day.

During 1959 and thus far in 1960 the Society has received the following printed, mimeographed, or manuscript histories of local churches:

Arkansas

California

District of Columbia

Florida

Georgia

Illinois
Bloomington. Second Christian Church. Forty Years in Retrospect, 1942. 22p., typescript.
Springfield. First Christian Church. One Hundred Twenty-Five Years of Service for Christ, 1833-1958. 18p., illus.

Indiana
Indianapolis. Central Christian Church. 125 Significant Years, 1833-1958. 58p., illus.
Rushville. Main Street Christian Church. A Book of Remembrance, Centennial, 1840-1940. 56p., illus.

Iowa
Oakland. Christian Church. Centennial Anniversary, 1859-1959, includes "Our First 100 Years." 12p., illus.

Kansas
Wellington. First Christian Church. Seventy-fifth Anniversary, 1884-1959, includes "Historical Summary." 8p., illus., and Our Church in Story and Drama; an historic skit. 8p., mimeo.

Kentucky

Louisiana

Michigan

Minnesota

Missouri
Springfield. Walnut Street Christian Church. History by Mr. and Mrs. John P. Moser. 2p., mimeo.

Montana
Joliet. Christian Church. 50 Years in Joliet, 1908-1958. 4p., illus., and History by Mrs. Ida White, 1955. 2p., typescript.

Nebraska
Lincoln. First Christian Church. Pastors of the First Christian Church; An Address, 1936, by T. F. A. Williams. 5p., typescript.

New York
Pompey. Christian Church. The First Congregation of Disciples of Christ, 1834-1934, compiled by Mabel F. E. Berry. 65p., illus.
Syracuse. First Christian Church. Golden Anniversary Service, South Geddes Street Church of Christ, 1904-1954. 8p., [Name changed to First Christian Church, 1958].

Ohio
Warren. Third Christian Church. Anniversary and History, 1959, by Mr. and Mrs. James Robinson. 38p., illus.
Oklahoma

Waukomis. Christian Church. History of the Waukomis Christian Church and a Subsequent History of the Ministers Who Have Served This Church, by Sheldon Shirts. 8p., mimeo.

Oregon

Tillamook. First Christian Church. 70th Anniversary, 1889-1959, includes "First Christian Church, Tillamook, Oregon; Its Establishment and Progress," by Alice Todd Hunter. 12p.

Pennsylvania

Tennessee

Murfreesboro. Central Christian Church. The Church Register of the Murfreesboro Christian Church, A.D. 1911, includes "Brief History of the Church of Christ Established in Murfreesboro, Tenn., August, 1908." An original record book.

*Texas

Carrollton. First Christian Church. A Short History. 6p., mimeo.

Midland. First Christian Church. Dedicated to the Glory of God, 1959, includes much historical material. 32p., illus.

San Antonio. Western Hills Christian Church. Dedication Service, 1960, includes "The Church on the Hill; Our History to Date." 14p., illus.

Virginia

Lynchburg. First Christian Church. Brief Historical Sketch. 2p., mimeo.

Shenandoah. First Christian Church. A Brief History by Mrs. J. S. Walker. 7p., mimeo.

Washington

*Not included are the histories of the Texas churches which were entered in contest sponsored by the Historical Commission of the 72nd annual (1959) Convention of Texas Christian Churches. These were listed in our December 1959 issue, page 26.
EDITORIAL . . .

(Continued from page 18)

A Nice Habit

A notice in What's New in Our Library lists the receipt of a number of bound volumes of periodicals from their publishers. What a nice habit for a publisher to form, the sending annually of a bound volume of his periodical for preservation in the Society's library! We can wish that the publishers of all periodicals would follow that practice.

Plates

An interesting feature of our Anniversary dinner, April 29, will be the use of souvenir plates of Disciple concern. These plates commemorating churches, organizations, colleges, people, and events will likely prove to be conversation pieces.

Only 48 plates are available for service at this time. We hope that churches and others that have not sent us their plates will send two at their earliest convenience; one for the museum and one for cupboard use.

We Like Mail

Much of this issue is devoted to telling about local congregational materials in our library. If your church does not have the Society on its mailing list, please see that our name is included. The correct address is:

Disciples of Christ Historical Society
1101 Nineteenth Avenue, South
Nashville 12, Tennessee

Do not address either to the curator or president personally.

Materials from churches today are the sources for the history of the churches of tomorrow. As money cannot be drawn from a bank unless an account is opened with a deposit, similarly historical material cannot be drawn from our files unless an account is opened and materials are deposited. How does your church's account stand?

Wanted: To complete our file of the Christian Union Quarterly: vol. 5, no. 19, July, 1916; vol. 19, no. 4, April, 1930; vol. 20, no. 3, January, 1931; and vol. 22, no. 4, April, 1933.
DONOR OF F. A. HENRY MATERIAL VISITS SOCIETY

Charles A. Henry, alumni director of Hiram College and son of the late Judge Frederick A. Henry of Cleveland, Ohio, reads a citation for distinguished service presented to his father by the Cleveland Y.M.C.A., and now on exhibit in the Society Museum along with other mementos from the Judge Henry papers presented to the Society last July by Charles A. Henry. Judge Henry was the first lay president of the International Convention, serving in 1913 when the Convention was held in Toronto. The Henry family has been one of the most prominent Disciples families in the history of the Western Reserve, and in addition to their outstanding contribution to churches of the Disciples of Christ Brotherhood, members of the Henry family have been active in the leadership of Hiram College from the day of its founding until the present hour. Judge Henry served as president of the board of trustees from 1908 through 1938.

Dr. Spencer Receives Divinity School Appointment

In addition to his duties as curator of the Disciples of Christ Historical Society, Dr. Claude E. Spencer will have a significant new responsibility beginning next September. On April 25, Dr. J. Robert Nelson, dean of the Divinity School of Vanderbilt University, announced the appointment of Dr. Spencer as Research Assistant in Church History. Dean Nelson defined Dr. Spencer’s new duties in the following statement: “This will be a rather informal relationship which will permit students of our Divinity School to profit by the kind of counsel you can give them under historical research.”
Dr. Wilbur H. Cramblet, president of the Christian Board of Publication, St. Louis, Mo., shows an amusing item in the first issue (April, 1941) of DISCIPLIANA to Dr. Loren E. Lair, president of the International Convention of Christian Churches. A complete file of DISCIPLIANA was included in the Christian Board of Publication periodicals gift. On the shelves in the background can be seen some of the many rare British publications in the collection.
The Usefulness of Periodicals

Dr. Henry K. Shaw in his address at the acceptance dinner for the gift of the Christian Board of Publication periodicals said, "Periodicals are the backbone of seminary reference material. In fact, periodicals are the primary source from which material is gathered for most books. . . . Periodicals are the solid ground for research."

What is true for the seminary library is equally true for the research center conducted by the Disciples of Christ Historical Society. From periodicals scholars learn of the daily doings and of the individual thinking of the people of the period in which they are interested.

The only record left by many an organization, institution, or obscure movement is a two or three year file of a relatively unknown periodical. Even for the best known causes periodicals furnish the necessary continuity for careful study.

Essential for an understanding of the beginnings and growth of a religious movement such as ours, which had no central authority or control, is a comprehensive collection of its periodical literature. Interpretation and evaluation is impossible without a study of our periodicals.

In accepting the DeGroot collection of periodicals from the Christian Board of Publication the Society received its most important gift of material, both in quantity and quality. The collection, shipped by truck from Fort Worth, Tex., weighed approximately two and a half tons. Seven file drawers, letter size, plus 125 lineal feet of shelving were required for the storage of the nearly five hundred titles.

Probably most useful to the Society's work will be the nearly complete files of British publications from 1835 to 1959, including the Year Book from 1884 to date. Long runs of bound files of major and minor American periodicals will fill gaps in the Society's present holdings.

Dr. DeGroot gave special attention to securing periodicals issued by direct-support missionary agencies and institutions. Many of these, no longer being published, are complete. Also collected were Church of Christ papers of which there are complete files of some very controversial ones.

Again quoting from Dr. Shaw, "Now, thanks to the wisdom and generosity of the Christian Board of Publication in purchasing the valuable DeGroot collection for the Historical Society, opportunities for comprehensive research have been multiplied, especially in the field of rare periodicals and foreign publications. Any student can do research to the extent of the resources of a library readily available then finish his studies in the Thomas W. Phillips Memorial here in Nashville. The Disciple researcher never had it so good."
NEW TRUSTEES ELECTED: MAIL BALLOT
BRINGS 41 PERCENT RESPONSE

The Executive Committee has announced the results of the Society's annual election, conducted this year for the first time by way of a mailed vote. Forty-one percent of the full membership of the Society responded to the ballot, and in so doing vigorously endorsed the full slate proposed by the nominating committee. The results of the election are as follows:

Officers for the term, July 1, 1960 through June 30, 1961: Harry M. Davis, Hopkinsville, Ky., chairman of the board of trustees; Forrest F. Reed, Nashville, Tenn., vice-chairman; Roscoe M. Pierson, Lexington, Ky., secretary; and Dr. Charles E. Crouch, Nashville, Tenn., treasurer.

Executive Committee

Executive committee of the board of trustees for the same term: J. Edward Moseley, Indianapolis, Ind.; Dr. Hugh M. Riley, Dallas, Tex.; Dr. Howard E. Short, St. Louis, Mo.; and the four officers of the board noted above, whose election to office automatically placed them on the executive committee.

Three persons elected in the above slate are entering their assignments for the first time. Dr. Gresham and Mr. Rogers are new trustees. Dr. Riley will be serving for the first time as a member of the executive committee.

New Trustees

Dr. Gresham has been president of Bethany College since 1953, is author of the important book, Disciples of the High Calling, has held notable pastorates at Central Woodward Christian Church, Detroit, Mich.; University Christian Church, Seattle, Wash.; and University Church, Fort Worth, Tex.

Mr. Rogers, distinguished attorney of Tulsa, Okla., dean of the School of Law of the University of Tulsa, served as president of the International Convention in 1957. He is a long time leading member of the First Christian Church, Tulsa.

Bebe Boswell, the third new trustee on the board was appointed earlier this year to fill an existing vacancy. His term of office will extend until June 30, 1962.

Mr. Boswell has been for forty-five years an active member of the First Christian Church of Jackson, Tenn. and a leading layman in the state. A graduate of Peabody College, he earlier attended what is now Freed-Hardeman College. A year ago he retired from a long and useful business career in Jackson.
Participants in Periodical Acceptance Activities

(Left to right) Forrest F. Reed, Dr. Willis R. Jones, Dr. Loren E. Lair, Dr. Wilbur H. Cramblet, Dr. Claude E. Spencer, and Dr. Henry K. Shaw.

Mr. Reed presided at the dinner meeting. Mr. Reed accepted the collection for the Society. Dr. Lair gave the invocation at the dinner session. Dr. Cramblet presented the collection to the Society. Dr. Spencer, at the afternoon meeting in the upper conference room, called attention to the scope and extent of the collection and pointed out significant titles. Dr. Shaw gave the principal talk at the dinner meeting.

Two participants not pictured are: Dr. A. T. DeGroot, Fort Worth, Tex., from whom the Christian Board of Publication bought the periodicals, who told of his experiences in assembling the collection, and Harry M. Davis, Hopkinsville, Ky., chairman of the board of trustees, the presiding officer at the afternoon session.

Long Range Committee

The Long Range Planning Committee, under the leadership of Dr. Wilbur H. Cramblet held its first meeting on April 29, in the Thomas W. Phillips Memorial. In addition to the chairman the following members were present: Harry M. Davis, Dr. Frank F. Drowota, Dr. J. Phillip Hyatt, Dr. Loren E. Lair, Dr. Riley B. Montgomery, Forrest F. Reed, and Dr. Willis R. Jones. Absent were Dr. Spencer D. Austin, Dr. W. B. Blakemore, and Dr. Robert W. Burns.

The next meeting of the committee is scheduled for September 26, and will be held in Louisville, Ky.

Library Users

The following people have recently used our research facilities: Earl T. Sechler, Springfield, Mo.; John Park Winkler, Shelbyville, Tenn.; Frank Rustemeyer, Murfreesboro, Tenn.; James R. Wilburn, Winters, Tex.; Ronald McCracken, Kimberly Heights, Tenn.; Ed Harrell, DeLand, Fla.; Mrs. Louis Cochran, Santa Monica, Calif.; John G. Hollingsworth, Watertown, Tenn.; and Robert N. Story and William O. Paulsell, Nashville, Tenn.

Free

Having Fun with Periodicals, the address given by Dr. Henry K. Shaw at the dinner meeting of the program in acceptance of the Christian Board of Publication gift of Disciple periodicals, has been mimeographed. Copies may be had upon request to the Society.

We proudly announce the annual convention dinner to be held by the Disciples of Christ Historical Society on Tuesday, October 25, in the city of Louisville, Ky.

The program will make Disciple history, by presenting Dr. Winfred E. Garrison and Dr. Perry Epler Gresham in an informal dialogue.

The hour of the dinner is 5:30 o'clock and the place is the Terrace Room of the Kentucky Hotel.
The DeGroot Periodicals

Although many people have contributed much material to the Society library during the past two months, "What's New in Our Library" this time will feature exclusively periodicals from the DeGroot collection. This is not being kept as a unit but is being integrated into the already extensive holdings of the Society.

Such processing is proceeding very slowly because of the limited staff. When the work has been completed duplicates will be available to seminary and college libraries.

Because of a lack of space it is impossible to give complete bibliographic description of the items or even give a short title list of all of them. Following are listings with some commentary of some of the most outstanding and useful periodicals in the collection.

British

This list is arranged chronologically from the first periodical in 1835 to the present time.

The Millennial Harbinger and Voluntary Church Advocate. London, 1835-1836

The Christian Messenger and Reformer. London, 1837-1845

The Christian Messenger and Family Magazine. London, 1845-1847

Bible Advocate and Precursor of Unity. London, 1847-1848

The Old Paths. Birmingham, 1866-1912. [Missing are 1868, 1869, 1874-1883, 1885, and 1886.]

The British Millennial Harbinger and Family Magazine. [With slight variations of title.] London, 1848-1870

The Christian Advocate. Edinburgh, 1858-1863. [Missing are 1857, 1859, and 1860.]

The Ecclesiastical Observer. London, 1871-1889. [Missing are 1875, 1876, 1880, 1882, 1883, and 1884.]

The Bible Advocate. Birmingham, 1890-1917. [Missing are 1914, 1915, and 1916.]

Bible Advocate. Nottingham, 1931-1934

The Christian Quarterly. Birmingham, 1934-1939
The Scripture Standard. Nottingham, 1934-1959

Our Missions Overseas. Nottingham, 1942-1959

News and Views, Christian Action Fellowship. Birmingham, '44-1959

The Churches of Christ Year Book, 1884-1959. [Issued with variations in title from various places. The 1885 number is missing.]

Unique Item

The Christian Almanac, 1867. Indianapolis, Ind. [This is evidently a single issue of a proposed annual publication. The publisher was L. H. Dowling. In addition to the customary astronomical and literary notes found in other almanacs this one included, "Evangelists of the Church of Christ," arranged by states, "general summary," statistics, "Christian Literary Institutions," "Christian Periodicals," and some articles on "Faith," "Repentance" and "Baptism" by P. T. Russell. This is the only copy of this work we have seen.]

Early American

The Christian Baptist, Buffalo Creek and Bethany, Va., 1823-1830. [This is a complete set of the first printing of Alexander Campbell's first paper.]

The Gospel Luminary. New York, 1831-1832. [This is volume 6 of a Christian connexion paper edited by David Millard and Simeon Clough.]

Genius of Christianity. Lowell, Mass., 1843. [Volume 1, new series of a paper conducted by A. G. Comings. The library also has Volume 3, new series 1845.]

The Orthodox Preacher. Cincinnati, O., 1845 and 1846. [Orations on the Origin and Destiny of Man, On the Evidences of the Christian Religion, and on the Reformation of Society was issued in parts as the third volume, 1845, of the periodical. The author was Arthur Crihfield.]

The Western Evangelist. Mt. Pleasant, Ia., 1850 and some issues in 1851 and 1852. [The first volume of this important magazine is complete. The name was later changed to The Christian Evangelist, then The Evangelist. Publication was suspended June 1864, but a new series was started in 1865 which after minor name variations merged with The Christian in 1882, to become The Christian-Evangelist, the present day The Christian. Our file of the first series Evangelist is nearly complete.]

Twentieth Century

The Christian-Evangelist, St. Louis, Mo., 1910-1959. [40 volumes bound.]

Christian Standard, Cincinnati, O., 1910-1959. [47 volumes bound.]

The Christian. Kansas City, Mo., 1925-1935. [Edited by Burris Jenkins. Started in 1924 as The Linwood Christian, a local church paper. The name was changed April 8, 1926 to The Christian, when the periodical became brotherhood wide and representative of liberal thought. Our files lack volume 1, 1924-25.]

The Restoration Herald. Cincinnati, O., 1924-1959. [The publication of the Christian Restoration Association. Originally published as Facts by the Clarke Fund, the name was changed to The Restoration Herald with the September 1925 issue. James DeForest Murch was the first editor. R. E. Elmore is currently the editor. Our file, from the name change, is complete with the exception of two numbers, May 1938 and January 1940.]

Church of Christ

The Bible Banner. Fort Worth, Tex., 1938-1949. [A complete file.]

California Christian. Los Angeles, Calif., 1951-1956

Gospel Guardian. Lufkin, Tex., 1949-1959. [A complete bound file for the first ten years.]

Missionary Messenger, Louisville, Ky., 1929-1954

Miscellaneous

A significant feature of the collection is the many volume one, number one, issues of organizational periodicals, both cooperative and direct support. Some are listed:

The African, African Christian Mission. 1948

Appalachian Mountain Messenger, Appalachian Mountain Evangelizing Association. 1945

Brotherhood and Service News, Committee on War Services of Disciples of Christ. 1942

Gems From A.B.C., Alberta Bible College. 1949
Books of Recent Date

In this column will be found a bibliographical listing of books and pamphlets of recent date that have been received in our library since last listing.

BARRON, Jack

Pages From an African Notebook. Indianapolis, Ind., Missionary Education Department, The United Christian Missionary Society, 1959. 52pp., illus., paper covers.

Excerpts from a journal kept by the author during 1953 to 1956 as a missionary in the Congo.

BAXTER, Batsell Barrett and Young, Matt Norvel, eds.

Volume one was published in 1952. This is a most valuable reference work concerning Church of Christ preachers.

BORN, Gerald, comp.

The Christian Theological Seminary is to be complimented on publishing this fine index to the Shane Quarterly. Entries are arranged by subject, contributors, special features, and book reviews.

BRENTS, James Wilson

CARPENTER, Vere Clifton

Puerto Rican Disciples; a Personal Narrative of Fifty Years With Christ in the Island of Enchantment, [with a foreword by Roscoe M. Pierson]. Tampa, Fla., Christian Press, 1960. 86pp., illus., ports.

Contents include: "Shepherds of the Hills" by C. Manly Morton and "Road to Missions" by Homer W. Carpenter.

DEGROOT, Alfred Thomas

Chapter vii, "An American Experiment in Restorationism," deals with the Disciples.

DEWELT, Don

At head of title: Bible Study Textbook.

Distributed by the Old Paths Book Club, Rosemead, Calif.

B. D. Phillips, Butler, Pa., representing the Phillips family, presents the million dollar T. W. Phillips Memorial Library to Bethany College at Bethany, W. Va., during the formal dedication services, June 4. Dr. Willis R. Jones represented the Society at the ceremony.
More than a hundred people attended the dinner meeting, April 29, when Dr. Willis R. Jones, Society president, accepted the gift of periodicals formally presented by Dr. Wilbur H. Cramblet, president of the Christian Board of Publication. Presiding over the meeting was Forrest F. Reed, vice-chairman of the board of trustees.

The featured address was "Having Fun With Periodicals," by Dr. Henry K. Shaw, librarian of the Christian Theological Seminary, Indianapolis, Ind.

The occasion also celebrated the eighth anniversary of the Society's move to Nashville. Guests were members of the Planning Committee that brought the Society to Nashville together with those who raised the $55,000 necessary to accomplish the move.

Notice has been received from Dr. Fred Helsabeck that the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees of Culver-Stockton College has approved the procedure of making available on a long term loan some of the books in the Henry Barton Robison Collection that would be most valuable to the Society for the use of graduate study and research work. Details will be given in later issues of DISCIPLIANA.
Eva Jean Wrather's Campbell Biography
To Be Published by Harper and Brothers

On July 14, just hours before sailing on the SS "Liberte" for the World Convention of Christian Churches, and a second excursion to the land of Alexander Campbell, Miss Eva Jean Wrather signed with Harper & Brothers to publish her notable biography of Alexander Campbell. The date set for publication is sometime in the autumn of 1962.

Seen in this picture at the moment of signing in New York City are Miss Wrather and Mr. Eugene Exman, head of the religious book department of Harper & Brothers.

On page forty-five of this issue is Miss Wrather's DISCIPLIANA column "Adventures in Biography" written in the mid-Atlantic en route to Scotland.
The Disciples of Christ Historical Society has had the privilege of being a member of the Council of Agencies of Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ) since the days of the Council's planning and organization in 1949 and 1950. During the years of the Council's Long Range Program the Society achieved its announced objective of becoming a full-time service agency of the brotherhood with its own building and staff. A good beginning has been made, but only a beginning. What kind of a program has been planned for the future?

The Disciples of Christ Historical Society proposes to conduct in the Thomas W. Phillips Memorial a research center which will provide in original form or in photoreproduction all of the sources necessary for comprehensive studies of all phases of the beginning, development and continuing growth of the Disciples of Christ and related groups. These sources will include books, periodicals, pamphlets, correspondence, diaries, minute books, pictures and other illustrative items, by and about Disciples, their churches, educational institutions, and missionary, benevolent and service agencies. This material will be arranged, cataloged and indexed for quick and efficient use.

A staff will be selected and trained to process acquisitions (including the mass of material now on hand), to prepare and publish needed bibliographical and historical materials (including a union catalog), to answer reference questions asked by mail, and to guide people in the intelligent use of the resources of the center. Specialists in certain fields will be available for consultation by research workers, thus adding the personal touch so lacking in many libraries.

Here, under ideal study conditions, researchers will find the information and inspiration necessary for the writing of histories of local churches, agencies, college and seminaries, and of the many facets of a great religious movement and its place in an ecumenical world. Here will be found the proper climate for the production of great books: histories, biographies, and doctrinal works. Here will be provided a place for individuals of a divided brotherhood to meet in an historical and scholarly fellowship.

The Disciples of Christ Historical Society enters the decade with the belief that it has the opportunity of becoming the most significant research-reference library center in the field of church history in all of worldwide Protestantism. The Society confidently solicits the support of its fellow Council members and of the wider brotherhood in achieving its objective for the decade of the 1960's.
WITH OUR TRUSTEES...

Members of the board of trustees of the Society have been engaged in many interesting activities this summer. We are listing herewith those of which we have knowledge.

Board chairman, Harry M. Davis, was guest preacher at the National City Christian Church, Washington, D.C. three Sundays in July. He was accompanied by his family.

Vice-chairman, Forrest F. Reed, was elected president of the Tennessee Business McN's Association. The Association headquarters are in Nashville.

To Europe

Society treasurer, Dr. Charles E. Crouch, and Mrs. Crouch are in Europe until mid-September. Mrs. Crouch, who preceded Dr. Crouch to Europe by one month, was in Edinburgh for the World Convention.

Society trustees who attended the World Convention in Edinburgh were: Dr. Perry E. Gresham, Dr. James DeForest Murch, Dr. Howard E. Short, Miss Eva Jean Wrather.

Dr. W. E. Garrison taught the first part of the summer at the University of Houston, giving two courses, one in Philosophy of Religion, and the other in Comparative Religion.

J. Edward Moseley, representing the Society, attended the opening session of the North American Christian Convention held in Columbus, Ohio, the second week of July. He was present for the presidential address of Mr. Edwin Crouch of Columbus, Ind., brother of Dr. Charles E. Crouch.

Church Anniversary

Bebe Boswell represented DCHS at a historic anniversary held August 7, by the Pleasants Christian Church, Rossville, Tenn. During the ceremonies, significant items dealing with the history of the church were presented to the Society.

John Rogers has arranged for a dinner to honor all past presidents of the International Convention and their wives at Louisville. He initiated this delightful tradition at Denver last year.

Roscoe M. Pierson, secretary of DCHS, attended the annual meeting of the American Theological Library Association in Minneapolis, and also attended the meeting of a special committee of the Association, the Board of Microtext, which met in Chicago.

Dr. Ronald E. Osborn addressed the Association of Council Secretaries at their annual conference held at Williams Bay, Wisconsin. Reference to his important contribution to the Conference was made by Virgil E. Lowder in an article appearing in the July 20 issue of the Christian Century.

Dr. Hugh M. Riley has begun his pastorate at Douglas Boulevard Christian Church, Louisville, Ky. He served as pastor of the Oak Cliff Christian Church, Dallas, Tex., from 1952 until mid-summer of this year.

Dr. Paul F. Sharp attended the Intellectual Life Conference at Thinker's Lodge in Pugwash, Nova Scotia, where fifteen college and university presidents met for ten days.

Our Interim Committee

Dr. Willis R. Jones, president of the Society, attended the Biennial Meeting of the Council of Agencies of Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ) at Lynchburg College, July 11-14. Dr. Jones was elected a member of the interim-committee for 1961-62.

Mrs. Nancy Melvin Turner, indexer for the Christian-Evangelist project the past two years, resigned the last of August to accept a position as assistant librarian in the Hammond, Ind., public school system.
Society Convention Activities:

An unusual program will be presented by the Society at a dinner meeting during the Assembly of the International Convention in Louisville, Ky., when Dr. Winfred E. Garrison and Dr. Perry E. Gresham will engage in an informal discussion on subjects of significance to Disciples of Christ. Members of the Society and friends are cordially invited to attend.

Kentucky Hotel

The place of the meeting will be the Terrace Room of the Kentucky Hotel, the time will be Tuesday, October 25, at 5:30 P.M., and the cost will be $3.00 per person. Tickets may be purchased at the International Convention ticket office, or at the Society booth in the Exhibition Hall. Reservations may be made now by letter to the Society.

This will be the fourth dinner to be sponsored by the Society at International Convention Assemblies. At the first in 1956 in Des Moines, Ia., Society president, Dr. Stephen J. England, spoke on "Shadows of Things to Come." In Cleveland, O., in 1957 Dr. Louis A. Warren, addressed the group on "The Influence of the Separatists on the Disciples' Heritage." "By Way of Serendipity" was the theme of a most successful dinner meeting in Denver, Colo., in 1959, with a panel of five participants.

Trustee's Meeting

The annual meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Society will be a luncheon in the Saddle Room of the Brown Hotel, Friday, October 21, at 12:30 P.M.

A full attendance of the 18 member board is expected to hear reports of the past year and to approve plans for the development of the Society during the Decade of Decision.

Dinners, Meetings, and Exhibit

The Society will have booth No. 59 in the Exhibition Hall where members and guests will be welcome. Some historical materials will be on display, some free material will be available, and the president and curator will be present for conferences concerning the work of the Society.

Post-Convention Tour

Word has just been received that the Thomas W. Phillips Memorial will be included as a stop on a Post-Convention Tour being arranged by Convention officials.

Convention goers are urged to visit the Society on their way to or from Louisville, if it is not possible to take the planned tour.

Society Becomes Beneficiary in Number of Wills

Devoted friends of the Disciples of Christ Historical Society have become increasingly interested in guaranteeing its future by naming the Society as a beneficiary of their estate.

The Society has been apprised of its inclusion in the wills of four persons. The most recent word was received by Society president, Willis R. Jones, when a dedicated supporter of the Society made a special trip to the T. W. Phillips Memorial to inform the president of the decision he and his wife had made to include the Society as a beneficiary. In this instance the Society's share will be sizable.

In 1956 the Society received from the estate of Miss Harriett Errett of Carbondale, Ill., a sum in excess of $3,000. Miss Errett, a great niece of Isaac Errett, and also a great niece of the second Mrs. Alexander Campbell, was a member of the First Christian Church of Carbondale. In the spring of this year, the Society was informed that the (Continued on page 50)
Adventures in Biography

by EVA JEAN WRATHER

SS "Liberte"'
Mid-Atlantic
Sunday, July 17, 1960

Somehow it seems especially fitting that the first of this projected series of columns should be written at sea, posted from Scotland, and carried in the September issue of DISCIPLIANA.

For Alexander Campbell passed his twenty-first birthday—September 12, 1809—at sea, aboard the "Latonia" bound from Greenock to New York. And the Atlantic was to prove the Campbells' high road to adventure in the New World and the route by which, decades later, their ideas would recross the seas to kindle new fires of enthusiasm for Christian liberty in the Old World.

When Thomas Campbell first ventured the Atlantic—in 1807, aboard the "Brutus"—he had a quick and pleasant passage of only thirty-five days from Londonderry to Philadelphia. But his family, to follow him, were not destined for happy sailings.

Their first try, in the fall of 1808, was to become dramatic lore for biographers from Robert Richardson to Benjamin Smith and Lester McAlister: chronicling the shipwreck of the "Hibernia" off the Isle of Islay and its pregnant conclusion in Alexander's decision to enter the ministry and to begin his preparation, as his father had done, in the ancient halls of Glasgow's great university.

Though their second sailing, in 1809, was to bring them safely at last to the New World, the "Latonia" made port only after fifty-eight tempestuous days at sea, alternately delayed by calms and driven by fierce squalls. A passage to prove all too symbolic of the tempestuous years that lay ahead for young Campbell as he sought to hammer out his new weapons of religious freedom on the old anvil of theological tradition.

Almost thirty years after his passage to America on the "Latonia" Campbell made the return voyage for a lecture tour of his native land. By 1847 his time of tempest seemed past. He had a happy crossing from New York to Liverpool in twenty-five days aboard the comfortable sailing vessel, the "Siddons," whose captain had the perspicuity to invite the famous "Bishop" Campbell of Bethany to conduct the worship services every Lord's Day at sea; and the homeward voyage he made in just thirteen and a half days aboard one of the Cunard lines fleet new steamships, the "Cambria."

Now, one hundred thirteen years later still, aboard another ship at sea—one that will make a quick and pleasant and even gay (vivre la France) crossing in six days from New York to Plymouth—the biographical mind naturally turns to these earlier voyages that linked the New World and Old in a new search for timeless principles of Christian concord and unity.

Alexander Campbell loved the sea and ships. He loved the new, the untried. Certainly he—the eternal Adventurer in Freedom, and one born of a French mother—would have loved to cross the Atlantic in a gay Gallic ship called the "Liberte."

As became a September child born under the sign of Virgo, he was distinguished by firmness, by independence, by gifts for writing and speaking. Had he not been a theologian he might have been a creditable biographer.

He had the requisites of patience and curiosity. In any event, his wry sense of humor would doubtless cause him to be amused by the odd periphrasations of a historian in search of his life and letters.

(Continued on page 50)
Alexander Campbell, 1788-1866 . . . His Writings

In the May DISCIPLIANA a selected list of books about Alexander Campbell was printed. This list did not include the many books and pamphlets attacking Campbell which were published during his lifetime and immediately after. An "Anti-Campbellism" bibliography will be published later.

In this issue Campbell's own writings are given. For convenience these have been divided into three sections: books, pamphlets, and periodicals.

First editions are listed with later printings indicated. For detailed listing of various editions and printings see An Author Catalog of Disciples of Christ and Related Religious Groups, 1946, by Claude E. Spencer, and West Virginia Imprints, 1790-1863, 1958, by Delf Norona and Charles Shetler.

Campbell's writings in periodicals, other than his own, in organizational reports and in books edited by others, are not listed.

Books

The Campbell Yearbook, Choice Selections for Every Day in the Year, Compiled by W. G. Burleigh; Biographical Sketch by Peter Ainslie. [Portsmouth, Va., Compiler, 1909] 136 p., front. (port.)

Two different printings were made in 1851. It has been reprinted many times by various publishers; currently by the Gospel Advocate Co., Nashville, Tenn.

The Christian Hymn Book, see Psalms, Hymns, and Spiritual Songs.

Also published by A. Campbell, Bethany, Va., 1844, 352 p., under the title: Infidelity Refuted by Infidels; or, the Gospel Proved by the Testimony of Unbelieving Jews and Pagans; and reprinted several times by various publishers.

The Christian System, in Reference to the Union of Christians, and a Restoration of Primitive Christianity, as Plead in the Current Reformation. Bethany, Va., Printed by A. Campbell; Pittsburg, Published by Forrester & Campbell, 1839. 368, iv p.

For the first edition of this work see A Connected View of the Principles . . . ; reprinted many times by various publishers; currently by the Gospel Advocate, Nashville, Tenn.

A Connected View of the Principles and Rules by Which the Living Oracles May Be Intelligibly and Certainly Interpreted. . . . Bethany, Va., Printed and Published by M'Vay and Ewing, 1835. 404, iv p.

Cover title: Christianity Restored

The first edition of The Christian System; Campbell republished the cover title as being a binder's error; photolithoprint in 1959 by the Old Paths Book Club, Rosemead, Calif.

A Discussion of the Doctrine of Endless Misery and Universal Salvation, in an Epistolary Correspondence Between Alexander Campbell, of Bethany, Va., and Dolphus Skinner, of Utica, N. Y. Utica, C. C. P. Grosh, Printer, 1840. vi, 7-436 p.

Reprinted many times by various publishers; photolithoprint, Old Paths Book Club, Rosemead, Calif., 1956.

Reprinted many times by various publishers; photolithoprint issued in 1948 by the Old Paths Book Club.

_Debate on Christian Baptism Between Mr. John Walker, a Minister of the Secession and Alexander Campbell, Held at Mount Pleasant on the 19th and 20th June, 1820 ... Second Edition Enlarged...._ Pittsburgh, Published by Eichbaum and Johnston, 1822. [5], 292 p.
For first edition see_ Infant Sprinkling._
Two photolithoprint editions have been issued: Religious Book Service, Indianapolis, Ind., and Old Paths Book Club, Rosemead, Calif.

_Debate on the Evidences of Christianity ... Held in the City of Cincinnati, Ohio, From the 13th to the 21st of April, 1829; Between Robert Owen, of New Lanark, Scotland, and Alexander Campbell, of Bethany, Va. ... Bethany, Va., Printed and Published by Alexander Campbell, 1829. 2 Vols. in one: Vol. I, 251 p.; Vol. II, 301, [2] p.
Reprinted many times by various publishers; photolithoprint, Gospel Advocate Co., Nashville, Tenn., 1857.

Reprinted many times by various publishers.

Reprinted from the Christian Baptist, various issues of Vol. 2 and from the Millennial Harbinger, Vol. 2.

_Familiar Lectures on the Pentateuch; Delivered Before the Morning Class of Bethany College, During the Session of 1859-1860; Also Short Extracts From His Sermons During the Same Session .... ed. With an Introduction and occasional Notes by W. T. Moore. Cincinnati, H. S. Bosworth, 1867. 379 p., front. (port.)_ Reprinted many times by various publishers; photolithoprint in 1958 by the Old Paths Book Club, Rosemead, Calif.

_Infant Sprinkling Proved to be a Human Tradition; Being the Substance of a Debate on Christian Baptism Between Mr. John Walker, a Minister of the Secession and Alexander Campbell, V. D. M., a Regular Baptist Minister, Held at Mount Pleasant, Jefferson County, Ohio, on the 19th and 20th June 1820. Steubenville, O., Printed by James Wilson, 1820. [4], 216 p._
For the second edition, see_ Debate on Christian Baptism._

_Infidelity Refuted by Infidels see The Christian Preacher's Companion._
_Lawrence Greatrake's Calumnies Repell'd._ Buffaloe, Brooke Co., Va., Published by A. Campbell, 1825. 60 p.

_Letters to a Skeptic._ Cincinnati, H. S. Bosworth, 1859. 57 p.
Reprinted from various issues of the Christian Baptist, Vol. 4; may have been reprinted as a separate by Campbell in 1826; at least one reprint was made by the Christian Publishing Co., n. d.

_The Living Oracles see The Sacred Writings of the Apostles and Evangelists of Jesus Christ._

Four printings were made of the original hymn book.

Many printings were made of this revision, the second.
Psalms, Hymns and Spiritual Songs, Original and Selected, Compiled by A. Campbell, W. Scott, B. W. Stone, and J. T. Johnson; Adapted to the Christian Religion. Bethany, Va., Printed and Published by A. Campbell, 1843. 256, 192 p.

Cover title: The Christian Hymnbook

Many printings were made of this revision, the third.

Cover title: The Christian Hymn Book

Many printings were made of this revision, the fourth.

Many printings were made of three different type size of this revision, the fifth, and the last to carry Alexander Campbell's name on the title page.

Cover title of some printings: The Living Oracle

Reprinted several times with revisions by Campbell; reprinted many times by various publishers, including Welsh Language editions; photolithoprint by the Harbinger Book Club, Nashville, Tenn., 1951.

The Writings of Alexander Campbell, Selections Chiefly From the Millennial Harbinger, by W. A. Morris. Austin, Tex., Eugene Von Boeckman, Printer, 1896. xvi, 621 p., front. (port.)

Pamphlets

Address Delivered at New Athens College to the Students of That Institution by Special Request of Students and Faculty, at Annual Commencement. Published by the Students, 1838.

Printed in The Millennial Harbinger, November, 1838.

An Address Delivered Before the Charlottesville [Va.] Lyceum, on the 16th of June, 1840 [sic]. Published at the Request of the Lyceum. 22 p.

An Address Delivered to the Members of the Jeffersonian Literary Society of Franklin College, New Athens, Ohio, September 25, 1838. Bethany, Va., Printed by A. Campbell, 1838. 23 p.

An Address Delivered to the Young Men's Mercantile Library Association of Cincinnati; on the Anglo-Saxon Language, its Origin, Character and Destiny, Dec. 11, 1849. . . .

Bethany, Va., 1850. 34 p.

Printed in The Millennial Harbinger, May, 1850; reprinted in his Popular Lectures and Addresses, 1863; original manuscript in the archives of the Disciples of Christ Historical Society.

An Address on Capital Punishment, Delivered to the Washington Literary Institute, on the Evening of March 2d, 1846, Published by Request. Bethany, Va., Printed by A. Campbell, 1846. 34 p.

Printed in The Millennial Harbinger, March, 1846; reprinted in his Popular Lectures and Addresses, 1863.

An Address on Demonology, Delivered Before the Popular Lecture Club, Nashville, Tenn., March 10, 1841.

No copy known of the first edition; printed in The Millennial Harbinger, October, 1841; reprinted by Charles G. Berry, 1851; reprinted in his Popular Lectures and Addresses, 1863.

An Address on the Amelioration of the Social State, Delivered . . . Louisville, Louisville, Practice and Weissinger, 1839. 31 p.

Printed in The Millennial Harbinger, July, 1840; reprinted in his Popular Lectures and Addresses, 1863.

An Address on War; Delivered Before the Wheeling Lyceum, May 11th, 1848. [Beth-

Printed in The Millennial Harbinger, July, 1848; reprinted in his Popular Lectures and Addresses, 1863; reprinted in the Congressional Record November 22, 1937, and issued as a 19 page separate.

An Address to the Members of the Union Literary Society, of Miami University, Ohio. Bethany, Va., Printed by A. Campbell, 1844. 23 p. Caption title: Responsibilities of Men of Genius . . .

Printed in The Millennial Harbinger, December, 1844; reprinted in his Popular Lectures and Addresses, 1863.

Alexander Campbell on the Book of Mormon, see Mormonism . . .

Graduate Address, Delivered to Ten Graduates at Bethany College, July 4th, 1845. Bethany, Va., Printed by A. Campbell, 1845. 12 p.

Printed in The Millennial Harbinger, July 1845.

Breaking the Loaf see Periodicals—The Millennial Harbinger Extra, no. 2.

Character of "The Debate on Campbellism," see Periodicals—The Millennial Harbinger Extra, no. 5.

Delusions see Mormonism . . .

Education see Periodicals—The Millennial Harbinger Extra, no. 9.

Extra Defended; Being an Examination of Mr. A. Broadus "Extra Examined" see Periodicals—The Millennial Harbinger Extra, no. 3.

Kingdom of Heaven see Periodicals—The Millennial Harbinger Extra, no. 7.

Life and Death see Periodicals—The Millennial Harbinger Extra, no. 6.

Reprint of an "Extra" of The Millennial Harbinger, unnumbered, but dated December, 1844; reprinted in his Popular Lectures and Addresses, 1863; reprinted several times under various imprints.

Life and Death see also Periodicals—The Millennial Harbinger Extra, no. 12.

Reprinted from the Edinburgh Journal, 18th August, 1847.

Reprinted from The Millennial Harbinger, September, November, and December, 1837.

The Memorable Sermon on the Law see

The Substance of a Sermon . . .

Probably reprinted from The Millennial Harbinger of February 7, 1831; reprints have been made under the title Delusions, 1832 and 1925, and Alexander Campbell on the Book of Mormon, 1902?

Order see Periodicals—The Millennial Harbinger Extra, no. 9.

Reprinted from Vol. 2 of the Christian Baptist.

Printed in The Millennial Harbinger, December, 1841; reprinted in his Popular Lectures and Addresses, 1863.

The Rank and Dignity of Man; an Address Delivered to the Students of Florence Academy, Washington county, Pennsylvania, (at their request) Bethany, Va., Printed by A. Campbell, 1838. 23 p.

Printed in The Millennial Harbinger, December, 1838.

Regeneration see Periodicals—The Millennial Harbinger Extra, no. 6.
ADVENTURES IN BIOGRAPHY
(Continued from page 45)

For his present biographer, the voyage of the "Liberte'" begins a second quest abroad. The first was spent in weighty matters. Days and days of poring down one column, up another, of newspapers from London to Edinburgh to Belfast. Weeks buried in the recesses of the British Museum under tons of tomes topographical, ecclesiastical, and historical.

The present quest is undertaken in a different mood—marked by a certain insouciance that comes of a lightening of the load toward the end of the long journey. There'll be the society of those whose forefathers knew Campbell and may happily have passed on an anecdote here and there. There'll be an excursion, color camera in hand, to the haunts of Campbell's youth. There'll be a holiday excursion through the Highlands and Hebrides to the story-book village and castle of Inveraray, headquarters of Clan Campbell chieftains since the Fifteenth Century.

All this will doubtless furnish grist for the columnist's mill in the months to come. But let me hasten to add, whatever her own bent the columnist has no intention of confining herself to talk of Campbell biography and biographers.

Rather, with due apologies to Alice and the Walrus, I would assure those who have read this far that:

"The time will come
To talk of many things;
Of Stones—and Scotts—and Huguenots—
Of pussy-cats—and kings."

Maintenant, au revoir, mes amis.

SOCIETY BECOMES BENEFICIARY
(Continued from page 44)

late Mrs. Catherine Campbell Watson of Miami, Fla., had named the Society as recipient of two art objects.

The Society is deeply grateful to those who have acted with such generous concern for its future. It seeks through the integrity of its management of benefactions to be worthy of all acts of confidence and trust. Perhaps, in no single way can its future be more definitely strengthened than through a supporting program of wills.
Library Contributors, 1959-1960

The library of the Society depends almost entirely upon gifts for its accessions. Since its organization in 1941 very little money has been spent for the purchase of historical materials. Society members and their friends have been generous in locating and giving thousands of books, periodicals, pamphlets, pictures, letters, and other items to the library.

Churches, organizations, agencies, colleges, and publishers have also been most cooperative in helping the Society acquire adequate research materials by placing their own records and publications with the Society for preservation and use.

The past year, July 1, 1959 to June 30, 1960, was no exception. Material was received much faster than it could be processed. Every gift was acknowledged.

Individuals

At least one gift was received from each of the following persons; many made several gifts.

Abercrombie, Mrs. Theodore. Rushville, Ind.
Allen, Aubrey N. Canton, Mo.
Allen, Ralph G. Clarinda, la.
Ames, Van Meter. Cincinnati, Ohio
Ardeny, Mrs. W. B. Paris, Ky.
Ashby, Hobart E. Aberdeen, Miss.
Aubrey, Miss Doris. Indianapolis, Ind.

Bales, James D. Searcy, Ark.
Barker, Jack E. Ranger, Tex.
Barnhardt, Mrs. Grace Hall, San Bernardino, Calif.
Barlett, Mrs. Grace M. Honolulu, Hawaii
Bassett, Miss Mary. Lynchburg, Va.
Beauchamp, Ray M. Twin Falls, Idaho
Beasley, George C., Jr. Bartlesville, Okla.
Belcastro, Joe. Columbus, Ohio
Bell, Arthur G. Quanah, Tex.
Bergstrom, E. Dike. San Francisco, Calif.
Berry, W. F. Union, N. J.
Birge, R. J. Jackson, Tenn.
Birkhead, Miss Ethel. Santa Cruz, Calif.
Birkhead, Guthrie S. Boonville, Mo.
Bond, Mrs. J. Dixie. Brownsville, Tenn.
Bone, Allan. Eureka, Ill.
Boswell, Bebe. Jackson, Tenn.
Bower, B. A. Mt. Ranier, Md.

Boyers, Miss Ethel. Springfield, Ill.
Branson, Gene. Plattsburg, Mo.
Brenn, J. W. Nashville, Tenn.
Bridwell, John B. Warren, Ohio
Brock, Eugene K. Carrilclon, Tex.
Brook, Robert. Elora, Ind.
Brokaw, R. Emerson Bloomington, Ill.
Brown, Harlan R. Ashland, Ky.
Brown, Mrs. James Lelan. Maysville, Mo.
Burke, Miss Jessie M. St. Louis, Mo.
Burns, Robert W. Atlanta, Ga.
Burry, Bernard. Maplewood, Mo.
Butchart, Reuben. Guelph, Ontario
Butler, Mrs. Edith. Springfield, Ill.
Butwwood, Russell M. Kansas City, Kan.
Carlisle, Mrs. Floyd A. Nashville, Tenn.
Carlson, J. Erich. St. Louis, Mo
Carpenter, Vere C. Columbus, Ohio
Cayce, Hugh Lynn. Virginia Beach, Va.
Chambliss, Robert M. Dallas, Tex.
Chase, Miss Luella P. Washington, D. C.
Chastaine, Ben H. Fairbanks, Pa.
Chilton, C. M. St. Joseph, Mo.
Clingan, Donald F. Lyons, Kan.
Cole, Clifford A. Glendale, Calif.
Cook, Gaines M. Indianapolis, Ind.
Councilman, Floyd L. Cheney, Wash.
Courtey, Mrs. Francis B. Detroit, Mich.
Cowden, John B. Nashville, Tenn.
Crair, James A. Williamsport, Ind.
Crank, Charles E. Canton, Mo.
Crawford, C. C. El Paso, Tex.
Crouch, Charles E. Nashville, Tenn.
Crouch, Mrs. Charles E. Nashville, Tenn.
Currie, Miss Ada. Guelph, Ontario, Can.

Daggett, Mrs. Mildred. Prescott, la.
Daniel, Mrs. Frank M. Clarksville, Tenn.

Records from the Central Christian Church, Jacksonville, Ill. These records date from the establishment of the church in Jacksonville by Barton W. Stone in 1832 and are a part of the historical material sent to the Society for safe-keeping by official action of the church.
Daughtry, A. Paul. Fort Myers, Fla.
Davidian, Simon M. Tallahassee, Fla.
Davis, George R. Wichita Falls, Tex.
Davis, Harry M. Hopkinsville, Ky.
Dean, Kenneth G. St. Petersburg, Fla.
DeGroot, Alfred T. Fort Worth, Tex.
Deihl, Mrs. Lawrence. Butler, Ind.
Dennis, Herbert R. Fairfax, Va.
Derby, Payson D. St. Louis, Mo.
Detamore, Arthur M. Fort Worth, Tex.
Dimke, Miss Gertrude. Indianapolis, Ind.
Dixon, Ben F. San Diego, Calif.
Dungan, Millar. North Middletown, Ky.

Eades, Mrs. H. E. Houston, Tex.
Eikner, Allen V. Springfield, Mo.
Elder, Mrs. E. B. Nashville, Tenn.
Ellison, Miss Emma J. Yukon, Okla.
Ely, Miss Lois Anna. Santa Monica, Calif.
Epp, Miss Mayble M. Indianapolis, Ind.
Epply, Mrs. Keith W. Anderson, Ind.
Farr, John A. Bowling Green, Mo.
Faulconer, Ted G. Nelsonville, Ohio
Faw, Mrs. Judson. Indianapolis, Ind.
Fay, Richard. Hiram, Ohio
Ferguson, Mrs. M. S. Atlanta, Ga.
Fiers, A. Dale. Indianapolis, Ind.
Fischer, Mrs. J. P. Dallas, Tex.
Fitch, Joseph B. El Dorado, Ark.
Flanagan, James M. St. Louis, Mo.
Fountain, A. M. Raleigh, N. C.
Freed, Miss Matilda. Scott City, Kan.
Fullman, Mrs. W. G. Pittsburgh, Pa.

Garrett, Leroy Jacksonville, Ill.
Garrison, Winfied E. Houston, Tex.
Gresham, Perry E. Bethany, W. Va.
Griswold, Walter H. Kansas City, Kan.

Haddon, A. L. Dunedin, New Zealand
Hall, L. V. San Angelo, Tex.
Hankins, Lee. Bethany, Mo.
Hanson, Kenneth. Long Beach, Calif
Hardy, W. M. Nashville, Tenn.
Harris, Ted C. Lawrenceville, Ga.
Harris, William E. Hope, Ark.
Harrison, Mrs. Lora Banks. San Antonio, Tex.
Hawn, David L. Enid, Okla.
Hayden, K. E. Illilpolis, Ill.
Henry, Col. Charles E. Hiram, Ohio
Heron, Mrs. Frances Dunlap. Chicago, Ill.
Hesson, Mrs. L. J. Nashville, Tenn.
Hewitt, Miss Margaret. Corvallis, Oregon
Hickman, C. R. Athens, Ga.
Highers, Alan E. Memphis, Tenn.
Highers, Mrs. Alan E. Memphis, Tenn.
Himes, Mrs. J. H. Falls City, Neb.
Holly, H. B. Hazel Green, Ky.
Holt, Charles A Florence, Ala.
Hunt, Miss Mate Gaye. Kalamazoo, Mich.
Hurst, Ted D. Wellington, Kan.
Hutchings, N. William. Tarkio, Mo.
Hutton, Glen W. Myrtle Point, Ore.
Hutton, S. W. Fort Worth, Tex.

Ijams, Carroll. Memphis, Tenn.
Ishikawa, Kiyoishi. Japan
James, Mrs. Mary E. Columbus, Ohio
Jenkins, A. M. Buford, Ohio
Jones, Mrs. J. H. Springfield, Mo.
Jones, Westbrook. Chicago, Ill.
Jones, Willis R. Nashville, Tenn.
This small souvenir plate of the Main Street Christian Church, Rushville, Ind., was distributed by the C.W.B.M. as a means of raising money. The plate, imported from Austria, shows the church building erected in 1893. This, the oldest plate in the Society's extensive collection, was presented by Ben Sparks of Nashville whose mother purchased it in 1895.
Churches listed below sent in at least one gift of material to the library. Not included are nearly a thousand churches that regularly send their newsletters, periodicals, and orders of worship to the Society.

Batter Park Christian Church, Richmond, Va.
Bellevue Christian Church, Bellevue, Wash.
Belmont Christian Church, Fresno, Calif.
Broadway Christian Church, Wichita, Kan.
Brookhaven Christian Church, Atlanta, Ga.

Central Christian Church, Fairmont, W. Va.
Central Christian Church, Greenville, Tex.
Central Christian Church, Jacksonville, Ill.
Central Christian Church, Murfreesboro, Tenn.
Central Christian Church, San Diego, Calif.
Central Christian Church, Seymour, Ind.
Central Christian Church, Van Nuys, Calif.

Christian Church, Hoisington, Kan.
Christian Church, Humboldt, Neb.
Christian Church, Marine, Ill.
Church of Christ, Canton, Pa.
Church of Christ, Lubbock, Tex.

East Lincoln Christian Church, Lincoln, Neb.
Eaton Church of Christ, Crafton, Ohio
Edenside Christian Church, Louisville, Ky.
Eighth Street Christian Church, Greenville, N. C.

First Christian Church, Alexandria, La.
First Christian Church, Alva, Okla.
First Christian Church, Baker, Ore.
First Christian Church, Beaver Falls, Pa.
First Christian Church, Bluefield, W. Va.
First Christian Church, Bowling Green, Ky.
First Christian Church, Bremerton, Wash.
First Christian Church, Carrollton, Tex.
First Christian Church, Centralia, Ill.
First Christian Church, Charleston, Ind.
First Christian Church, Clarinda, Ia.
First Christian Church, DuQuoin, Ill.
First Christian Church, Garden City, Kan.
First Christian Church, Hobart, Ind.
First Christian Church, Jackson, Tenn.
First Christian Church, Jonesville, Wis.
First Christian Church, Jeffersonville, Ind.
First Christian Church, Klamath Falls, Ore.
First Christian Church, Lufkin, Tex.
First Christian Church, Lynchburg, Va.
First Christian Church, Maryville, Mo.
First Christian Church, Maywood, Ill.
First Christian Church, Midland, Tex.
First Christian Church, Murray, Ky.
First Christian Church, New Martinsville, W. Va.
First Christian Church, Newton Falls, Ohio
First Christian Church, Nortonville, Ky.
First Christian Church, Ottumwa, Ia.
First Christian Church, Ozark, Mo.
First Christian Church, Paris, Mo.
First Christian Church, Patronsburg, Mo.
First Christian Church, Saginaw, Mich.
First Christian Church, Salem, Ind.
First Christian Church, San Bernardino, Calif.
First Christian Church, Sandusky, Ill.
First Christian Church, Sheridan, Ill.
First Christian Church, Sioux Falls, S. Dak.
First Christian Church, South Bend, Md.
First Christian Church, Tekoa, Wash.
First Christian Church, Tillamook, Ore.
First Christian Church, Vero Beach, Ind.
First Christian Church, Waukegan, Ill.
First Church of Christ, Williamsport, Pa.
First Christian Church, Woodward, Okla.
Fork Christian Church, Fork, Md.

Hampton Park Christian Church, Toledo, Ohio
Highland Park Christian Church, Los Angeles, Calif.
Hillcrest Church of Christ, Toronto, Canada
Hillsboro Christian Church, Tampa, Fla.
Hiram Christian Church, Hiram, Ohio

Kern Park Christian Church, Portland, Ore.
McLemore Avenue Christian Church, Memphis, Tenn.
Minnesota Avenue Christian Church, Washington, D. C.

Monroe City Christian Church, Monroe City, Mo.
Mooresvile Christian Church, Mooresville, Ind.

Ninth Street Christian Church, Logansport, Ind.
North Hill Christian Church, Spokane, Wash.
Northside Christian Church, St. Louis, Mo.

Osborne Christian Church, Osborne, Kan.

Parker Avenue Christian Church, New York, N. Y.
Rocklane Christian Church, Greenwood, Ind.

Union Street Christian Church, Schenectady, N. Y.
University Christian Church, Seattle, Wash.
University Church of Christ, Norman, Okla.
Organizations, Institutions and Publishers

The organizations, institutions, and publishers listed below gave at least one gift of material to the Society; many gave more. Not included in this listing are the names of the publishers of over two hundred periodicals who send their publications regularly to the Society.

Association of Christian Churches in Indiana, Indianapolis, Ind.

The Bethany Press, St. Louis, Mo.
Board of Church Extension, Indianapolis, Ind.

The Christian, St. Louis, Mo.

Christian Board of Publication, St. Louis, Mo.

Christian Theological Seminary, The Library, Indianapolis, Ind.
The Cincinnati Bible Seminary, Cincinnati, Ohio

The College of the Bible, Bosworth Memorial Library, Lexington, Ky.
Council on Christian Unity, Indianapolis, Ind.

Culver-Stockton College, Canton, Mo.

Disciples of Christ, National Church Program Coordinating Council, Indianapolis, Ind.
Disciples Council of Greater St. Louis, St. Louis, Mo.

Disciples Divinity House, Chicago, Ill.
DSF Student Work Office, Indianapolis, Ind.
Drake Divinity School, Des Moines, Ia.

Elon College Library, Elon College, N. C.

Gospel Advocate Book Club, Nashville, Tenn.

Illinois State Library, Springfield, Ill.
Iowa Society of Christian Churches, Des Moines, Ia.

Kansas Christian Missionary Society, Topeka, Kan.

Northeastern Area Christian Churches, Schenectady, N. Y.
Northwest Christian College, Eugene, Ore.

Old Paths Book Club, Rosemead, Calif.

Pacific Bible Seminary, Long Beach, Calif.
Pension Fund, Indianapolis, Ind.

South Idaho Society of Christian Churches, Boise, Idaho

Standard Publishing Co., Cincinnati, Ohio

Tennessee Christian Missionary Society, Nashville, Tenn.

Tennessee State Library and Archives, Nashville, Tenn.

ALEXANDER CAMPBELL

(Continued from page 50)

Periodicals

The Christian Baptist, Buffalo Creek and Bethany, Va., published monthly from August, 1823 through July, 1830. 7 Vols., with A. Campbell as the editor.

Early issues were reprinted by Campbell; reprinted [not a photolithoprint] by the Gospel Advocate Co., Nashville, Tenn., 1955-1956.

Reprinted many times by different publishers.

To Be Continued
Postmasters: Send forms 3579 to P. O. Box 19036, Indianapolis 19, Indiana.

The Society has just received from the Frederick W. Burnham estate, Dr. Wayne H. Bell, literary executor, several boxes containing the personal papers of the late Dr. Burnham. These include correspondence, sermons, diaries, and pictures. Details will be given in later issues of DISCIPLIANA.

The figures used in illustrating the new column "Adventures in Biography," by Eva Jean Wrather, on page 45 are a happy choice. It is especially appropriate that Alexander Campbell and his contemporary biographer be pictured at the head of the proposed biographical studies by Campbell's 20th century chronicler.

The design is based on a stained glass medallion in the lecture hall of the Thomas W. Phillips Memorial.

Miss Wrather describes the scene in her History and Stained Glass for the Thomas W. Phillips Memorial as follows:

CAMPBELL is depicted to the right. He is seated, a copy of The Christian System held on his knee, his eyes seeming to seek out the unfathomable mysteries "of Him who inhabits eternity." His face is that of the rugged warrior of God who through half a century had redeemed his youthful vow to emulate Paul and, as he wrote, "fight for 'the faith once delivered to the saints.' I like the bold Christian hero."

RICHARDSON, his friend, physician, and counselor, stands beside him, his left hand on Campbell's shoulder. His face is that of the seeker and mystic to whom "the great end of religion" is "To unite the soul to God; to erect in the human heart a living temple for his abode." At Richardson's right hand, which is resting on a table, appears the Caduceus, the symbol of medicine and healing, and in the background to his left appear several bars of music.

BURNHAM PAPERS RECEIVED BY THE SOCIETY

The Society has just received from the Frederick W. Burnham estate, Dr. Wayne H. Bell, literary executor, several boxes containing the personal papers of the late Dr. Burnham. These include correspondence, sermons, diaries, and pictures. Details will be given in later issues of DISCIPLIANA.
DISTINGUISHED NASHVILLE ARTIST SCANS ENTRIES IN NATIONAL EXHIBIT OF DISCIPLE ARTISTS

Artist Gus Baker, Nashville's "Artist of the Year," who designed the stained glass windows for the Thomas W. Phillips Memorial, is seen here with four of the paintings included in the first national exhibit of Disciple artists held in the Phillips Memorial, October 27 through November 30. Mr. Baker was in charge of the committee who hung the exhibit.

The paintings in the picture from left to right are: a water color by Mrs. Gaines M. Cook, Indianapolis, Ind.; an oil by William Foster, Nashville; a water color by Mrs. Robert R. Shofner, Nashville; and in the window ledge, an oil by William Clayton Bower, Lexington, Ky.
Editorial . . . .

On page seven of the March 1960 issue of DISCIPLIANA we wrote, "The Gospel Advocate, begun in Nashville in 1855, by Toler Fanning and William Lipscomb has continued to the present day. It has the longest history without change of location, name, and uninterrupted service of any periodical of the restoration movement." We immediately received some objections with other nominations for the oldest honor.

In this issue, page sixty-three, J. Edward Moseley in an interesting and informative article on anniversaries states that "The Christian is the oldest continuously published journal of either Disciples of Christ or Churches of Christ."

Let us examine the record of the four claimants to longevity fame. All were started in the 1850's and 1860's. Three have had periods of suspension and three have the same name with which they started. Three are weeklies and one is a monthly. Only one has not changed location.

The Gospel Advocate, begun as a monthly in 1855, has never changed its name and has never left Nashville. Its service was interrupted during the Civil War for four years. It resumed publication January 1, 1866, as a weekly and has so remained ever since. Its volume numbering has been continuous.

The American Christian Review was started by Benjamin Franklin in Cincinnati as a monthly in 1856. On merger with the weekly Christian Age the periodical became a weekly in 1858, with the volume number starting as one. During 1862 and 1863 the paper was published as the American Christian Quarterly Review and again started on a new numbering series. It again became a weekly in 1865. In 1887 the Review was merged by Daniel Sommer with his Octograph to become the Octographic Review. Later the name was changed to Apostolic Review and in 1940 American Christian Review was resumed. The periodical now published in Indianapolis, has been a monthly for more than ten years. Since we have not examined a complete file of the ACR we do not know exactly what suspensions were made.

The Christian's genealogy is outlined briefly by Mr. Moseley. In addition to Carrollton, Ill., and St. Louis, Mo., the paper has been published at Macomb and Quincy, Ill. For awhile in 1865 the Gospel Echo was a weekly. Monthly publication was resumed by October, 1866. The periodical was suspended from October 1871 to March 1872, when publication was again weekly. The official volume numbering starts with the first issue of the Gospel Echo.

The Christian Standard, edited by Isaac Errett, the only one of the four that started as a weekly, was published first at Cleveland, Ohio, in 1866, then in Alliance, Ohio, and later moved to Cincinnati. It has had no changes in name and its volume numbering has been continuous.

The oldest periodical? The facts are briefly given. Make your own rules and interpret them yourself.
SOCIETY SPONSORS DISCIPLE ART EXHIBIT

On October 27 the Society opened in its lecture hall in the Thomas W. Phillips Memorial, an art exhibition which is the beginning of a series of annual shows. First viewers were members of the Post Convention Tour. The exhibit will remain in place until November 30.

Paintings, drawings, sketches, sculpture, and photographs by the following members of Christian Churches were exhibited:

Miss Polly Ames, member of the University Church of the Disciples of Christ, Chicago, Ill., oil.
Russell Arnold, Associate Professor of Art, Atlantic Christian College, Wilson, N. C., oil.
P. Hunter Beckelhymer, minister of the Hiram Christian Church, Hiram, Ohio, oil.
Carlton Bogel, member Eastwood Christian Church, Nashville, Tenn., ink on scratchboard.
William Clayton Bower, member of the Central Christian Church, Lexington, Ky., oil.
Mrs. Henley Brewster, member of the First Christian Church, Norfolk, Va., pen sketch.
Alice Cleaver, d. 1943, classmate of Vachel Lindsay, oil.
Mrs. Gaines M. Cook, member of the University Park Christian Church, Indianapolis, Ind., water color.
Francis B. Courtney, d. 1952, member of the Central Woodward Christian Church, Detroit, Mich., pen and ink.
Merle Dowd, member of the Hiram Christian Church, Hiram, Ohio, ink on scratchboard.
George Downey, member of the Donelson Christian Church, Nashville, Tenn., oil.
William H. Eppens, d. 1956, member of the University Church of the Disciples of Christ, Chicago, Ill., water color.
Miss Gladys Finn, member of the University Church of the Disciples of Christ, Chicago, Ill., water color.
William Foster, member of Vine Street Christian Church, Nashville, Tenn., oil.
Milton Frenzel, St. Louis, Mo., an oil painting based on Vachel Lindsay's poem "Abraham Lincoln Walks at Midnight."
E. Roger Frey, member of the Downey Avenue Christian Church, Indianapolis, Ind., water color.
Clay Gooden, minister of the Creighton Avenue Christian Church, Fort Wayne, Ind., photographs.
Gene Graham, member of Woodmont Christian Church, Nashville, Tenn., ink and wash.
J. Tom Griscom, Jr., member of Woodmont Christian Church, Nashville, Tenn., oil.
Mrs. Juliet McLean Houston, member of the Donelson Christian Church, Nashville, Tenn., pastel.
Mrs. Willis R. Jones, member of the Vine Street Christian Church, Nashville, Tenn., sculpture, clay.
Vachel Lindsay, d. 1931, member of the First Christian Church, Springfield, Ill., ink sketch.
Mrs. Harold Lunger, member of the University Christian Church, Fort Worth, Tex., water color.
Raymond F. McLaren, Cairo, Egypt, member of Park Avenue Christian Church, New York, N. Y., water color.
Riley B. Montgomery, member of the Central Christian Church, Lexington, Ky., water color.
Riley B. Montgomery, Jr., Charlotteville, Va., water color.
Mrs. Roger G. Nooe, member of the Christian Church, Fort Myers, Fla., ceramic.
W. G. Oliphant, member of Vine Street Christian Church, Nashville, Tenn., oil.
Mrs. Julia Pruitt, resident of the Kennedy Memorial Home, Martinsville, Ind., oil.
Miss Mary Margaret Renner, member of the Heights Christian Church, Cleveland Heights, Ohio, oil.
Mrs. Richard R. Renner, member of Heights Christian Church, Cleveland Heights, Ohio, wash drawing.
D. Ervin Sheets, member of the Nashville Christian Church, Nashville, Ind., oil.
Mrs. Robert R. Shoemaker, member of Vine Street Christian Church, Nashville, Tenn., water color.
M. V. Warner, member of Third Christian Church, Indianapolis, Ind., water color.
Arthur Frank Wickes, d. 1958, member of the Fleming Garden Christian Church, Indianapolis, Ind., architectural drawing.
David Williams, member of Central Woodward Christian Church, Detroit, Mich., architectural drawing.

The show was planned and carried out by a committee composed of Gus Baker, chairman; Dr. and Mrs. Willis R. Jones, and Miss Eva Jean Wrather.

A showing of ninety-four of Mr. Baker’s photographs, pastels, prints, drawings, water colors and oils was held in the Cheek Gallery, the Parthenon, Nashville, Tenn., October 2-30.

A special showing of the Disciple exhibit to Nashvillians was made at an open house, Sunday afternoon, November 13. The affair was in charge of Mrs. Charles E. Crouch and her hostess committee.
NEW DIRECTOR FOR THE CHRISTIAN-EVANGELIST
PROJECT

Miss Mate Graye Hunt, Kalamazoo, Mich., became the indexer in charge of The Christian-Evangelist project, November 1. She brings to the position a rich experience in the field of creative librarianship.

Miss Hunt received her A.B. and M.A. degrees from Southern Methodist University. Her B.S. in Library Science is from George Peabody College for Teachers. After being connected with the Dallas, Tex. public schools she became a member of the staff of the Department of Librarianship of Western Michigan State University at Kalamazoo where she remained until her retirement in 1959.

As an author, Miss Hunt has won various awards. Her writings include books and periodical articles, and she has acted as book review editor of several professional journals.

The Central Christian Church of Kalamazoo elected Miss Hunt an elder in 1958. She has served on many community committees, and has been secretary of the Kalamazoo County Historical Society.

According to one authority, "Her interests and hobbies are various. Historical research, especially local community history, is a constant challenge and pursuit for her. She is a collector of unusual items, semi-precious stones, antiques, books about Michigan, about Indians, and about Christmas. She has a valuable collection of Royal Copenhagen Christmas plates and a genuine old log cabin in the Huron National Forest near Tawas City."

Miss Hunt is not a stranger to the Phillips Memorial. Last fall while teaching in the Library School of George Peabody College for Teachers she shared many a "coffee break" with the staff.

CONVENTION ECHOES
HAVE PLEASANT SOUND

The International Convention in Louisville brought experiences of pleasure and encouragement to members and friends of the Disciples of Christ Historical Society.

Every member of the Board of Trustees, and four members of the staff of the Society attended sessions of the Convention. Sixteen trustees were present for the annual trustee's meeting held on October 21.

Trustees W. E. Garrison and Perry E. Gresham engaged on October 25, in a now famous dialogue which drew an audience of nearly 200 persons to a beautifully appointed Society dinner held in the Terrace Room of the Kentucky Hotel. C. A. Weesner and T. P. Inabinett were present from the Audio-Visual Services of the United Christian Missionary Society to see to it that the Garrison-Gresham conversation was properly taped. It will be placed in the archives of the Society as the first taped interview entry received in a new category called Oral History.

Others taking part in the notable Society dinner were as follows: Harry M. Davis, chairman of the board of trustees, presided; J. Edward Moseley, who was elected chairman of the board at the time the Society was organized in 1941, gave the invocation; Forrest Reed, vice-chairman of the board, introduced the trustees; Willis R. Jones, Society president, introduced the speakers; and Dr. Roger T. Nooe, minister ecumenical of Vine Street Christian Church, Nashville, pronounced the benediction.

Following the International Convention a large number of persons stopped by the Thomas W. Phillips Memorial en route to their homes. Included in this group were sixteen persons who came under the arrangements of the Post Convention Tour. These persons had lunch at the Woodmont Christian Church, tea at the Vine Street Christian Church and selected points for concentration among the many points of Disciple interest in Nashville.

Dr. Woodrow W. Wasson, now doing part-time work as indexer and annotator of Alexander Campbell's letters in The Millennial Harbinger will devote additional time as assistant to Miss Hunt.
THE DECADE AND SIGNIFICANT ANNIVERSARIES

by J. EDWARD MOSELEY

The Decade of Decision for the Disciples of Christ in the 1960's contains significant anniversaries worthy of widespread observance. While the following list is not necessarily complete, it attempts to include general historical concerns in this decade. Involved with vital dates are national agencies, educational and benevolent institutions, publication interests, seminaries, and the pioneer "big four founding fathers."

The anniversaries of only two congregations are listed since they are the only ones which have received recognition and approval in various ways as churches representing more than local groups.

There are obviously many other important anniversaries, particularly those of congregations which have already attained or passed the first century. These are increasingly so numerous, however, as to make it impossible, because of space, to list them here.

The following anniversaries are listed for whatever value they may have for persons concerned with planning significant celebrations of one or more of them during the 1960's. A vital Decade of Decision should involve many churches and individuals in commemorating these significant highlights of the glorious heritage of the brotherhood.

1960

150th—Park Avenue Christian Church
New York City

Founded in October, 1810, when a group of Disciples of Christ withdrew from First and Ebenezer Baptist Churches. Dr. Silas E. Sheppard became first resident minister in 1850. Since April, 1945, congregation has worshiped at Park Ave. and 85th St., in a Gothic structure erected in 1910.

50th—Christian Board of Publication

This brotherhood publishing house came into existence on January 1, 1910, after R. A. Long's purchase of the Christian Publishing Co., from Dr. J. H. Garrison and others. Renamed the Christian Board of Publication, it was chartered by the State of Missouri on a non-profit basis in 1911.

50th—Council on Christian Unity

Organized in October, 1910, as a result of the stirring address of Dr. Peter Ainslie, at the Topeka International Convention. He urged Disciples to return to their original motivation for unity as expressed in Thomas Campbell's Declaration and Address. Incorporated in 1914, the Council was reorganized in 1954.

40th—The United Christian Missionary Society of Disciples of Christ

Established in October, 1920, following approval on Monday, October 20, 1919, by the Cincinnati International Convention. It united six boards—American Christian Missionary Society, Board of Church Extension, Board of Ministerial Relief, Christian Woman's Board of Missions, Foreign Christian Missionary Society, and the National Benevolent Association. The new international board of Christian missions and education was incorporated on Tuesday, June 22, 1920.

25th—Unified Promotion of Disciples of Christ

This promotional agency of all state organizations, most national agencies, and many educational institutions of the Disciples began functioning on July 1, 1935. Total

The first page from a record book listing the members of the Church at 138 Laurens Street, New York, N. Y. The names were evidently transferred from earlier books by Henry Blair, June 29, 1839. The gift of the late David H. Shields.
receipts from churches and individuals (subject to division among fifty-nine participating groups) have grown from $876,377.90 for 1935 to $5,864,910.06 for the year which closed June 30, 1960.

1961

150th—Organization of Brush Run Church and Licensing of Alexander Campbell to Preach

Thirty members of the Christian Association of Washington (Pa.) organized the Brush Run Church in a log building at the crossroads, about three miles from Mount Pleasant, Pa., on Saturday, May 4, 1811. The location was in the Brush Run Valley, two miles above the junction of Brush Run with Buffaloe Creek, approximately two miles southwest of West Middletown, Pa. Thomas Campbell was chosen elder and Alexander Campbell was licensed to preach (he was formally ordained on Tuesday, January 1, 1812). On the next day, Sunday, the Lord’s Supper was observed. The frame Brush Run church building was ready for its first worship service on Sunday, June 16, 1811. This was the first congregation of the Campbell Unity-Restoration movement.

100th—Death of Walter Scott

On Tuesday, April 23, 1861, a few days after the Civil War began, Walter Scott, pioneer evangelist, teacher, and editor of the Disciples, died of typhoid pneumonia at the age of sixty-four at 10:00 P.M., in his home at Mayslick, Ky. His remains rest in the Mayslick Cemetery.

1962

75th—The National Benevolent Association of the Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ)

The organization of the N.B.A. resulted from meetings in 1886 of a group of St. Louis, Mo., Disciples interested in alleviating the sufferings of needy orphans and old people. An association was formed and a charter granted by the State of Missouri on Thursday, March 10, 1887.

1963

200th—Birth of Thomas Campbell

The oldest of the “Big Four Founding Fathers” of the Disciples, Thomas Campbell, Scottish by lineage and education, was born in County Down, Ireland, on Tuesday, February 1, 1763, the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Campbell, who had renounced Roman Catholicism for Anglicanism.

175th—Birth of Alexander Campbell

The outstanding pioneer “Founding Father” of the Disciples, Alexander Campbell, was born at Ballymena, County Antrim, Ireland, on Friday, September 12, 1788. He was the oldest child of Thomas and Jane Conneigle Campbell. His father was then a school teacher. His mother was a descendant of French Huguenots.

100th—Founding of The Christian

The oldest continuously published journal of either Disciples of Christ or the Churches of Christ, The Christian began as the Gospel Echo at Carrollton, Ill., in January, 1863, under the editorship of Elijah L. Craig. It

25th—Home and State Missions Planning Council of Disciples of Christ

Under the guiding spirit of Dr. Willard M. Wickizer this group was organized on Monday, October 17, 1938, at the Albany Hotel in Denver, Colo. The late Dr. Orman L. Shelton was the first chairman. The Council launched a new era of Disciple cooperation in studying missionary needs, opportunities, and the preparation and planning of materials for the national, state and regional missionary organizations (thirty-one at the beginning) of Disciples in the United States and Canada.

1964

50th—Board of Higher Education of Disciples of Christ

A Board of Education, under the American Christian Missionary Society, was formed in 1894. This was later dissolved and the American Christian Education Society took its place in 1901, later becoming defunct. In 1911 an Association of Colleges of Disciples of Christ was formed in Lexington, Ky. When it was reorganized in 1914, and chartered, it became the Board of Education of Disciples of Christ. Since 1938, after several years as a department of The United Christian Missionary Society, this agency has functioned as the Board of Higher Education of Disciples of Christ.

1965

150th—Granting of Property to Alexander Campbell by John Brown

On Monday, March 27, 1815, John Brown, farmer and millwright, deeded his home and 300 acres of Virginia land to Alexander Campbell, his son-in-law. This gift was the basis of Campbell's subsequent financial independence so that he never had to accept remuneration for his preaching and teaching. The original house of three floors was built in the 1790's by Brown on Buffaloe Creek, at the edge of what is now Bethany, W. Va. An addition was built by Campbell in 1819, another in 1836, and a final wing in 1840, making a residence of more than twenty-five rooms. Now owned by Bethany College, its regular maintenance is supervised by a committee representing both the College and the Disciples of Christ Historical Society.

125th—Establishment of Bethany College

The Virginia Legislature granted a charter to Bethany College on Monday, March 2, 1840. This is the "mother" educational institution of the Disciples in that it has had the longest continuous existence. The Board of Trustees first met on Monday, May 11, 1840. The first session of the College began in November, 1841. Alexander Campbell, the first president of the College, gave the school $2,000 and financed erection of its first building, but received $1,000 for the site at Bethany, W. Va.

100th—The College of the Bible

This oldest brotherhood seminary, at Lexington, Ky., began in September, 1865. It was the theological seminary of Kentucky University. Robert Milligan was president. The seminary became a separate institution, with Robert Graham as president, in 1877.
Alexander Campbell's Home, Bethany, W. Va.
A lithograph, source unknown, but probably an illustration from a county atlas or history of the vintage of the 1880's. The gift of Mrs. W. M. Forrest, Cukoo, Va.

John W. McGarvery, professor in the school when it opened in 1865, was president from 1895 until his death in 1911.

1966

175th—Erection of Cane Ridge Meetinghouse
Built in 1791, eight miles from Paris, in Bourbon County, Ky., the year before Kentucky became the fifteenth state in the Union, its name was derived from the “Cane Ridge” so-called by Daniel Boone. The meetinghouse is constructed of blue-ash logs approximately fifty feet long and thirty feet wide. The building was restored to its original condition in 1932. In recent years a superstructure has been erected over the log meetinghouse in order to preserve it.

100th—Death of Alexander Campbell
The last of the “Founding Fathers” of the Disciples of Christ to die, Alexander Campbell passed on Sunday, March 4, 1866, at his Bethany Mansion. President of the American Christian Missionary Society and of the General Convention of Disciples, he was seventy-seven years old. He preached his last sermon in Bethany College Chapel in December, 1865. On Sunday, February 11, 1866, he attended services the last time in the Bethany Church, presided at the Lord's Supper, and heard Robert Richardson preach. His funeral was conducted on Thursday, March 8, with hundreds of friends present. His monument in the nearby Campbell Cemetery at Bethany bears the following epitaph: “Defender of the Faith once delivered to the saints / Founder of Bethany College / Who being dead yet speaketh by his numerous writings and holy example.”

100th—Founding of Christian Standard
The first issue of this weekly periodical appeared in Cleveland, Ohio, dated Saturday, April 7, 1866, from the press of Fairbanks, Benedict & Co. Notice of the death of Alexander Campbell appeared on the front page. The periodical was issued by the Christian Publishing Association, a $100,000 stock corporation. Isaac Erret, founding editor, served until his death in 1888. The paper has been published in Cincinnati, Ohio, since July 31, 1869. President James A. Garfield was a leading spirit in its establishment and participated in the historic founding conference of December 22, 1865, in the home of the Phillips brothers—Thomas W., Charles M., I. N., and John T.—at New Castle, Pa. Opposition of the American Christian Review, leading brotherhood periodical of that time, to missionary organization and its refusal to permit expression of views favoring Christians' support of government during war, caused the founding of the Christian Standard.

25th—Disciples of Christ Historical Society
Organized during the International Convention in St. Louis, Mo., on Wednesday, May 7, 1941, the twenty charter members were all named to the governing board. J. Edward Moseley was elected the first president and Claude E. Spencer was chosen curator. Headquarters were maintained at Culver-Stockton College, Canton, Mo., until April, 1952, when its library, archives, and offices were moved to the Joint University Library in Nashville, Tenn. An interdenominational Nashville planning committee raised $55,000 and enabled the Society to make its move and to launch its full-time specialized service program. The Society is now housed in the Thomas W. Phillips Memorial, a $1,000,000, Tudor-Gothic structure, the gift of the Phillips family of Butler and New Castle, Pa., which was dedicated on Friday, September 12, 1958.

1967
50th—National Christian Missionary Convention

Forty white and Negro delegates attended the First General Convention of Christian (Colored) Churches in the U.S.A., held in Nashville, Tenn., on August 5-9, 1917. Preston Taylor, leading Nashville Negro, was the principal organizer. A forerunner of this National Christian Missionary Convention, which exists now only as a fellowship assembly, was the organizational meeting in 1867, in Nashville, of the American Christian Evangelizing and Educational Association which in 1878 became the National Convention of Churches of Christ.

1968
125th—National City Christian Church, Washington, D. C.

This congregation held cottage meetings following its organization in 1843, the initial one being held in the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Barclay who organized the group into a church. He was pastor until 1850. James A. Garfield became a member in 1863 when he entered Congress. The congregation moved, in 1869, into its frame building on M St.; this was purchased from the Methodists and moved to Vermont Ave. in 1871 to a lot purchased with funds which Alexander Campbell helped to raise. The Garfield Memorial building was dedicated in 1882. The congregation moved from Vermont Ave. in 1930 when the classic structure of the National City Christian Church was dedicated on Thomas Circle during the first World Convention of Churches of Christ (Disciples).

75th—Appointment of Disciples' First Living-link Missionary

The missionary link, a personalized plan of support by churches, groups, and individuals, was authorized by the Foreign Christian Missionary Society in 1893. It was one of three devices "to increase the number and the amount of the offerings." Central Christian Church, Des Moines, Iowa, was the first link church. It supported Harvey Hugo Guy (1871-1936) as the first missionary link when he went to Japan in 1894. The term meant that "the missionary thus supported was a living link between the field and the church."

H. H. Guy, the first living-link missionary. Illustrated from Centennial Living Link Souvenir, 1909, published by the Foreign Christian Missionary Society.

(Continued on page 71)
Alexander Campbell . . . Theses and Dissertations about Him

This is a list of doctor's, master's, and Bachelor of Divinity dissertations and theses about Alexander Campbell and his work. It is as complete a list as we have been able to compile.

ABERNATHY, Elton M.

ALLEGOOD, Heber R.
Alexander Campbell's Conception of Authority in Religion. B.D., College of the Bible, 1918.

BOWER, Milton W.
A Comparison of the Doctrinal Positions of Martin Luther and Alexander Campbell. B.D., Eugene Bible University, 1923.

BURNS, Marshall Shackleford
Formative Influences Determining the Life and Letters of Alexander Campbell. B.D., Vanderbilt University, 1930.

CARLSON, John Eric
Some Doctrinal Positions of Martin Luther and Alexander Campbell Compared. B.D., Eugene Bible University, 1923.

CROEL, Karl H.
Alexander Campbell's Use of Scripture in the Purcell Debate. B.D., College of the Bible, 1958.

CROMWELL, Alfred B.
Alexander Campbell's Doctrine of the Person and Work of Jesus. B.D., Phillips University, 1931.

DAVIS, William Linton

DOTY, Orris Lee

DUNCAN, Charles Finlay

EAMES, Samuel Morris

EDWARDS, Arthur Bailes

ELLERBROOK, James Harry
The Influence of Thomas Reid on the Thought Life of Alexander Campbell. B.D., Christian Theological Seminary, 1947.

ELLIS, Carroll Brooks

FAULCONER, Joseph Stanley
Alexander Campbell's Conception of Conversion. B.D., College of the Bible, 1929.

FERRE', Gus

FIFE, Robert Oldham
FLEMING, Samuel Lafayette

FULLER, Robert Douglas

GAMES, Lilliard Coleman

GARRISON, Winfred Ernest
The Sources of Alexander Campbell's Theology. Ph.D., University of Chicago, 1897. (Published as Alexander Campbell's Theology, Its Sources and Historical Setting. St. Louis, Christian Publishing Co., 1900.)

GEARHART, Herbert Gerald
Alexander Campbell's Concept of the Church as Community and Institution. M.S., Butler University, 1957. 96 p.

GONCE, Albert Anderson, Jr.

HART, William Henry
Alexander Campbell as a Speaker in Debates on Religious Subjects. M.A., Phillips University, 1930.

HARTMAN, Kenneth E.

HAVENS, Athol Vivian
Alexander Campbell's Restoration Philosophy. B.D., College of the Bible, 1929.

HILL, Henry Emerson

HUBER, Robert Titus
The Doctrine of the Trinity in the Thought of Thomas and Alexander Campbell—Including a Comparison with the Thought of Barton W. Stone and Walter Scott. B.D., Christian Theological Seminary, 1956.

HUMBLE, Billy Joe

HUMPHRIES, Ward Stewart

KECKLEY, E. Weldon

KEISTER, Dorothy Louise
Alexander Campbell's Concept of the Church. B.D., Christian Theological Seminary, 1949.

KELLEMS, Jesse Randolph

KINGSBURY, Leslie L.

LILLIE, Harold Clayton

LINDLEY, Denton Ray

LUNGER, Harold Lehman
The Political Ethics of Alexander Campbell. Ph.D., Yale University, 1949. (Published: St. Louis, Bethany Press, 1954.)

McDONALD, James Edgar, Jr.
Alexander Campbell and the Church Fathers B.D., College of the Bible, 1955.
McINNES, William Dale
A Comparison of the Concept of Christian Liberty in the Theology of Martin Luther and Alexander Campbell. B.D., College of the Bible, 1959.

MARSH, Douglas

MONEY, Henry Thomas

MOORE, William J.

NORTH, Ira Lutts

PACKARD, Carl Melvin

PALMER, Mary Maxine Jones

PLETCHER, Thomas Elmer

PRATT, George Harold

REEVES, George C.
The Campbell-Owen Debate. M.A., Cincinnati Bible Seminary, 1930.

RICHARDSON, William Judson

ROTHENBURGER, William Frederic
Alexander Campbell's View of the Scriptures. B.D., University of Chicago, 1907.

SHARRATT, William Bert

SHAW, Henry King
Alexander Campbell—Educator, an Inquiry into the Life and Writings of Alexander Campbell to Discover His Contributions in the Field of Education. M.A., University of Akron, 1942.

SHELBURNE, Carl Francis
To What Extent Did Alexander Campbell Advocate and Use Education in the Restoration Movement? M.A., Eastern New Mexico University, 1951.

SOLLIDAY, Horace Nichols
Alexander Campbell’s Attitude toward Children. M.A., Phillips University, 1926.

STEFFER, Robert Wesley
Alexander Campbell as Preacher and Worshipper: His Influence upon Contemporary Disciples. B.D., College of the Bible, 1959.

STEPHENS, Barney Leeth
Alexander Campbell's Philosophy of Religion. B.D., Christian Theological Seminary, 1943.

SWISHER, Grace Lillian

THOMAS, Cecil Kermit

THOMPSON, James Maurice
A Study of the Principles of Stewardship in the Works of Alexander Campbell. B.D., Christian Theological Seminary, 1940.

WALKER, Granville Thomas

WEST, Robert Frederick
Alexander Campbell and Natural Religion. Ph.D., Yale University, 1943. (Published: New Haven, Conn., Yale University Press, 1948.)

YATES, Carlyle
Historical Study of Alexander Campbell's Writing on Christian Union to 1850. B.D., Christian Theological Seminary, 1952.
What's New
...in Our Library

Materials continue to be received faster than can be processed even though nearly a thousand books have been catalogued since July first 1959. In addition much material has been arranged temporarily for use without complete processing.

Although space does not permit the listing of all materials received we do feature in DISCIPLIANA special and unique items and gifts of large amounts of material. During the past year the receipt of several such gifts has been announced. In this issue additional gifts are described.

From Nebraska—The Williamses

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. A. Williams of Lincoln, Neb., have been sending books and other materials to the Disciples of Christ Historical Society for more than a decade. Since 1953 Mrs. Williams has been a member of the Society and both became life members in 1958.

Mr. Williams, as an attorney, and Mrs. Williams (Dr. Hattie Plum Williams), as a member of the faculty of the University of Nebraska, have spent a life time in Lincoln where they have been members of the First Christian Church for sixty-two years. At all times their home on North Twenty-sixth was a center for Christian Church activities. A guest book, 1906-1917, now on exhibit in our Society museum, shows the signatures of Disciple preachers, missionaries, educators, and laymen. Mrs. Williams recalls that at Woodbine, Ia., she heard Charles Clayton Morrison preach one of his first sermons.

During the years, Mr. and Mrs. Williams collected a library rich in religion and social science. Since retirement they have generously shared their loved books with the University of Nebraska, Culver-Stockton College, our Society, and many others.

Occasionally want lists have been published in DISCIPLIANA and our first contact with the Williams' came when Mrs. Williams sent an item which was needed in our library. Several times a year since then materials have been received from the Williams'.

In September 1959 after the International Convention in Denver the president and curator of the Society visited the Williams' for the first time and came away with more than fifty books, some periodicals, pamphlets, clippings, and manuscripts. Among these were cherished Bibles, hymnals, and other small books owned by Mrs. Williams' mother, Etta Whitmore Plum.

A page from the Williams' guest book. Prominentely seen are the signatures of missionaries Abram E. Cory, Royal J. Dye, and D. O. Cunningham, dated April 17, 1913. The gift of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. A. Williams, Lincoln, Neb.
This summer Society president, Willis R. Jones, returned from a trip to Lincoln with more than sixty books. A dozen of these were books on work in India given to the Williams' by their missionary friend, Miss Olive Griffith.

Although there have been many Disciple items in Williams' gifts the main value is in the many fine titles in background material in regional history and social problems. These include volumes from the American Guide Series, county and state histories, Mormon and temperance materials.

Two items of special interest are A Social Study of the Russian German, a published revision of Mrs. Williams' University of Nebraska Ph.D. dissertation and a manuscript copy of "Pastors of the First Christian Church, Lincoln, Neb.," an address given by Mr. Williams before the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams have a box in their study in which they are placing materials for our Society for next summer's annual pick-up.

From Illinois—Miss Meribah Clark

When one of the Society life members, Miss Meribah Clark, Mount Sterling, Ill., visited the Thomas W. Phillips Memorial in August, she brought several boxes of books, periodicals, and pamphlets. Among the periodicals were two issues of The Monthly Commentator, edited by Alfred Padon, 1864 and 1865, and twenty-six numbers of The Gospel Echo, Macomb, Ill., 1868-1871. The latter periodical, the fore-runner of the present The Christian, was edited by J. C. Reynolds and E. L. Craig. J. H. Garrison became a co-editor in January 1869.

From Kentucky—Hopkinsville

Harry M. Davis, chairman of the Society Board of Trustees, and minister of the First Christian Church, Hopkinsville, Ky., deposited with the Society a considerable amount of records of the Hopkinsville church. Included were minutes of board meetings, correspondence, manuscript histories, special programs, bulletins, year books and directories, Sunday school records and account books.

The cover of the second number of The Monthly Commentator, edited by Elder Alfred Padon, Quincy, Ill. Only eight issues were published. The gift of Miss Meribah Clark, Mount Sterling, Ill.

From Missouri—Alexander Procter's Library

On his trip to Missouri Dr. Jones also brought back books from what was left of Alexander Procter's library in the First Christian Church of Independence, Mo. Former minister, Donald McKay, made arrangements for the books to be given to the Society.

Alexander Procter, said to have been the first Missouri graduate of Bethany College, long-time minister of the Independence Church, was one of the outstanding liberal leaders of the Church in Missouri at a time when liberalism was unpopular. Not much of his library remained. Out of the fifty-six books received only ten were Disciple. A needed copy of the 5th volume of The Christian Pioneer and a first edition of J. M. Mathes' The Works of Barton W. Stone were included.
From Missouri—Liberty Christian Church

In August the Christian Church, Liberty, Mo., William F. Davidson, minister, allowed Society president, Willis R. Jones, to choose many books from the libraries of A. B. Jones and J. M. Sandusky. These libraries, given to the church by a former minister and a leading layman, were rich in religious and historical books and pamphlets.

Sixty-one Disciple books and thirty-one non-Disciple ones were secured. Long-wanted copies of The Literature of the Disciples, by J. W. Monser and a first edition of The Art of the Moving Picture by Vachel Lindsay were included. A needed general reference work was Place Names in the United States by Henry Gannett.

The title page of The Literature of the Disciples by J. W. Monser. Although published in this century it is a relatively scarce book, as very few copies turn up in preacher's libraries. The gift of the Liberty Christian Church, Liberty, Mo.

DECADE OF ANNIVERSARIES . . .

(Continued from page 65)

1969

125th—Death of Barton Warren Stone

The venerable pioneer, Barton W. Stone, another of the "Founding Fathers" of the Disciples, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Amanda Bowen, at Hannibal, Mo., at the age of seventy-one, on Saturday, November 9, 1844. He was the first of the four "Founding Fathers" to die. His death occurred twenty-one years before that of Alexander Campbell, the last of the "Big Four" to pass on. Stone attended a district church meeting in Boone County, Mo., three miles north of Columbia, on Monday, October 21, and gave his last address. He was enroute to his own home, near Jacksonville, Ill., when he became ill at his daughter's home at Hannibal. Paralyzed, he died in an armchair at 4:00 A.M., while smoking his pipe and talking about the love of God while resting his head on his son Barton's shoulder. Burial took place on his farm near Jacksonville. In 1846 the body was removed to the cemetery of Antioch Christian Church, seven miles east of Jacksonville. Then, in the spring of 1847, Kentucky friends took the remains to the Cane Ridge Meetinghouse Cemetery and provided a monument to "The Distinguished Reformer of the 19th Century."

75th—Disciples Divinity House of The University of Chicago

When ministerial graduate study came into vogue during the years before the turn of the century, a group of Disciples, recently identified with the new University of Chicago, established the Disciples Divinity House there in 1894. It was the Disciples' first educational institution in direct affiliation with a major American university. Dr. Herbert Lockwood Willett became the first dean and served until 1921. The building was erected in 1928. Mrs. Gertrude Gary Sutcliffe was a generous contributor to the permanent endowment fund.

50th—Founding of World Call

The monthly international missionary and educational magazine of Disciples of Christ began publication in January, 1919. It combined American Home Missionary, Business in Christianity, Christian Philanthropist, Missionary Intelligencer, and Missionary Tidings. They were, respectively, publications of the American Christian Missionary Society, Board of Church Extension, National Benevolent Association, Foreign Christian Missionary Society, and the Christian Woman's Board of Missions. Dr. William Robinson Warren (1868-1947), the first editor, served from 1919 to 1929.
The drawing Isis by famed Disciple poet, Vachel Lindsay, is one of the works exhibited in the Disciple artists' show in the Thomas W. Phillips Memorial during the month of November.

The drawing has a captivating history. It was given as a wedding present by the poet to Dr. and Mrs. Charles Clayton Morrison when they were married in 1906.

Lindsay, who had an unquenchable yearning to be known widely for his creative art, preferred to give his dearest friends examples of his drawings rather than his writings. The drawing now belongs to Jane Morrison Dickerson, daughter of the Morrisons and wife of Dr. F. Reed Dickerson, member of the faculty of the Law School, Indiana University.

Why not include our Society in your gifts for the year 1960. We need your support. You can deduct from your income tax 30% of your adjusted gross income if your contributions are made to churches, schools, hospitals and educational institutions. The Disciples of Christ Historical Society has been approved under this classification.

Thanking you in advance for your gifts,

Charles E. Crouch, treasurer
Disciples of Christ Historical Society
The Mead Portrait of Alexander Campbell

Inscribed on the brass plate of this copy presented to the Society by William Woods College are these words: "Alexander Campbell, from a portrait by Mead of Philadelphia, original located William Woods College, Fulton, Missouri." For full story see page seventy-five.
Who Saves Discipliana?, and Other Matters

After issuing 105 separate numbers of DISCIPLIANA over a twenty year period we wonder how many complete files are in existence today. We are also curious to know the names of individuals and institutions that are currently saving their copies. Are enough sets being kept to justify the preparation and publication of an index?

All those who save the periodical are requested to register their holdings with us and state, in their opinion, as to whether or not an index might be a useful reference tool. Perhaps an index might be a project for the twenty-fifth anniversary in 1966.

For all those who have recently started files of the publication the Society may be able to supply earlier issues. All numbers back to January, 1951 are available with the exception of April, 1952.

Actually needed for our own reserve files are copies of the following months and years: May, October, and December, 1941; April, 1942; October, 1954; January, April, and July, 1946; July and October, 1950; and April, 1952.

CAMPBELL PORTRAITS

The use of the reproduction of the Mead painting of Alexander Campbell on the front cover of this number makes the sixth Campbell portrait printed in DISCIPLIANA. (Illustrations were first used in the April 1946 issue.) In the July 1946 number, page 19, a picture was shown of a unique ambrotype of Campbell which was later featured on the cover of the September, 1950, World Call.

The M. C. Tiers lithograph, showing Campbell in an Andrew Jackson pose in front of the Campbell home, was printed on page 35 of the January, 1951 number. In January, 1953, on page 47, was shown the photograph from Matthew Brady's National Portrait Gallery. The "fireside" Bogle (the most familiar one) was printed on page 165 in December, 1954. Campbell made the front page in October, 1957, with the reproduction of a large portrait from the Harriet Errett home in Carbondale, Ill.

A questionable photograph of Campbell appeared on page 40 of the combined October, 1951-January, 1952 number. The July 1949 front cover pictured W. E. Garrison's bust of Campbell. Another bust, the one made by sculptor Edge was shown in a group picture on page 25 in June, 1958.

Gus Baker's stained glass window medallion of Campbell and Richardson was pictured on the back page of the September, 1960 issue. Although unrecognizable, Campbell was probably in the group in front of the Campbell residence (Henderson photograph), page 45, January, 1947.

(Continued on page 79)
William Woods College Gives Copy of Alexander Campbell Portrait to the Society

On Saturday, October 22, at the International Convention Assembly in Louisville, Dr. Randall B. Cutlip, president of William Woods College, Fulton, Mo., and presidential assistant L. E. Pitman presented to Dr. Willis R. Jones, president of the Disciples of Christ Historical Society, a fine copy of the Mead portrait of Alexander Campbell. William Woods' J. H. Atkinson, president of the board of directors, shared in making arrangements for the gift.

Eva Jean Wrather in her "Portraits of Alexander Campbell," in the April, 1942 DISCIPLIANA states that "quite an improvement on the Elliott picture was the portrait painted by Meade at Bethany in October, 1865—doubtless the last time Campbell sat for his portrait." Frank W. Allen in his brochure, A Great Picture of Alexander Campbell, 1909, said, "My father (Albert Allen of Lexington, Ky.) had the artist Mead of Philadelphia, come to Bethany and paint this picture."

Mead or Meade

Because the portrait is unsigned, and contemporary references to the painting of the picture fail to give the first name or the initials of the artist, or even to agree upon the spelling of the last name, there is uncertainty as to who the artist was.

The New York Historical Society's Dictionary of Artists in America, 1564-1860, 1957, gives information concerning two artists with similar names, who resided in Philadelphia in 1860. They were Henry E. Mead, artist, born in Massachusetts about 1832, and Francis Meade, portrait artist, born in Pennsylvania about 1814, who was active in Philadelphia from 1837. Both, according to the 1860 census, were living in hotels. Either one could have painted the picture.

Reproductions

Pictures printed of the Mead portrait have been few. Members of the Allen family did not allow reproduction until 1909, when W. T. Moore persuaded them to let him use the portrait in his A Comprehensive History of the Disciples of Christ where it was reproduced as a full page plate between pages 124-125. The next use was in the Alexander Campbell number of The Christian-Evangelist, September 8, 1938.

Frank Wisdom Allen, owner of the painting in 1909, had planned to have colored prints, 10 x 15 inches in size, ready for sale at the 1909 Centennial Convention, but "to my great regret this company failed to carry out the contract, and left me insufficient time to secure the pictures elsewhere." His brochure, mentioned above, offered prints on the subscription plan for $3.00. Evidently he did not get enough subscribers to enable him to finance the project.

Testimonials

Allen's brochure contained testimonials from several Disciple leaders in regard to the likeness of the portrait to the subject. W. T. Moore wrote: "This is to certify that I have examined carefully the portrait of Alexander Campbell owned by Bro. Frank W. Allen and take pleasure in saying that it is by far the best portrait I have ever seen of that distinguished man. It is absolutely a correct likeness of him as I knew him from 1854 to the time of his death . . . and I do not hesitate to affirm that I have never seen a portrait of him, or a photograph, which equals the one owned by Mr. Allen." Other endorsers were H. O. Breeden, W. P. Aylesworth, and J. H. Garrison.

Perhaps Moore's evaluation of the painting was influenced by his friendship with the artist. Mary Anna Purvis Campbell wrote in her diary,* "Friday, October 6, 1865: Dr. Moore and his friend Mr. Reid, the artist [evidently Mary Anna mistook Mead for Reid], came out to get father to sit for his portrait." On October 7 an entry read: "Mrs. Moore at home and we looked at all their fine paintings—those of Mr. Meade particularly as Mr. Barclay wishes Dessie and Virgie painted by him." And again on October 26, "An artist, Mr. Mead has been painting Father's portrait, Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Mead came out with him one afternoon."

According to a letter from Mrs. F. W. Allen to Alden Lee Hill, August 19, 1941, the portrait was sent to William Woods

(Continued on page 79)

*From Eva Jean Wrather's "Notes on Campbell Portraits."
II. In the Campbell Country: Britain and Ireland, 1960 . . .

The wail of the bagpipe echoed through Inveraray Castle, and back and forth across the gallery walked the piper, high above the heads of the crowd seated in the great-domed Armoury Hall. The occasion was the first gathering of the Clan Campbell to be held at this Scottish home of the Dukes of Argyll, the headquarters of the Clan. And the evening's entertainment was a "ceilidh," a Gaelic "singing" in the ancient language of the Celtic Highlanders.

This, too, was research. For research is books. But it is also places—and people. It is the evocation of the feel, the spirit of a land and its past. So, in this summer of 1960, on a second quest for the Campbells in the countries of their origin:

* * *

Research was a tour of the Highlands and the Hebrides, in the happy company of an old friend, Dorothy Melville, in her new English Morris. Our first stop—a climb up a wildly beautiful glen to the ruins of medieval Castle Campbell, once the lowland stronghold of Highland chieftains. Next, through Braemar, to Aberdeen and Banff, which were visited by Campbell during his lecture tour of 1847, and on to Inverness and down the lovely Lochs to Oban—and our sailings to the Hebrides.

First, a boat to Iona. Dr. Johnson's "sacred isle" to which the young Alexander Campbell also traveled, but only in imagination, seeking to envision the scene of the once-flourishing monastery established by one of his favorite churchmen, the Irish St. Columba who first brought the enlightenment of Christianity to pagan Scotland.

Then another sailing, from Tarbert on Kintyre to Port Askaig on the island of Islay, which the Campbells visited in fact, but not by choice. One of the old, whitewashed houses still facing the Askaig pier was in 1808 an inn where they stayed after their shipwreck, and across the narrow channel rise the "Paps of Jura" where Alexander enjoyed a day's mountain-climbing while awaiting their boat to Glasgow.

To end as it began, at a castle of the Campbells, our route led at length from Oban to one of the most delightful spots in the Highlands, the present headquarters of the Clan Campbell on the shores of Loch Fyne.
Research was six days at Inveraray. A Sunday at the Kirk of Scotland in the village, where the Reverend Donald McKenzie still conducts afternoon services in his beautiful Gaelic. The courtesy of the castle, first extended, in the Duke's absence, by his Chamberlain, Major Iain MacLennan; and a special tour conducted by the head castle guide, Alexander Jackson (who was also helpful about possible ingredients for mixing "the Doom of the Campbells," an extracurricular line of inquiry prompted by a John Dickson Carr mystery laid in the Loch Fyne country).

Research was His Grace the Duke of Argyll, dressed in the green, black, and blue kilt of the Campbells, speaking with pride to the Clan Gathering: "The records of the Campbells preserved here at the Castle are an amazing collection, a mine of Scottish history even yet largely unexplored though we've spent the last ten years in sorting, arranging, cataloguing. I don't believe my family has destroyed a paper for eight hundred years. I can show you a receipted tailor's bill of the fourteenth century."

A collection—preserved in the castle vaults and on the shelves reaching the ceilings of the "Green" and the "Brown" libraries—so extensive as to be useful to a brief explorer only through the interest and assistance of the Duke himself, suggesting sources, laying out selected materials for reference on the table in the "Green Library." Among these—a large manuscript volume on various branches of the Clan, laid open to the pages headed, "The Geneology of the Ancient House of the Campbells of Strachur."

Was Thomas Campbell, pastor of Ahorey, descended from a Campbell of Strachur? So says tradition in County Down—according to that most excellent authority, T. G. F. Paterson, curator of the County Museum at Armagh. Therefore—

Research was a visit to Strachur, a village across the Loch from Inveraray. And it was a day at "Hammonds," a country house near London, with the family of Niall MacArthur Campbell, the younger of Strachur, and his father, the present head of the house, Lt. Col. Campbell of Strachur. Here were to be found the records in the family's "Charter Chest" dating from the thirteenth century, and family papers compiled by Col. Campbell—and a warmth of hospitality becoming an ancient house of the Highlands.

Research was a delightful old Irish Inn, the Beresford Arms, in Armagh and the company of Mr. Paterson, the curator—for twenty-five years friend and mentor of all who would search out the Campbells in Ulster. Again, together, we happily retraced the steps. Derrylackagh in County Down, where Thomas Campbell was possibly born; and Sheepbridge, where he certainly taught school. The various Campbell homes in County Armagh, at Markethill, Hamilton's Bawn, and Richhill; and Thomas's church of Ahorey. The Nathaniel Greer farm, where Alexander on his return tour of 1847 spent the night with an old pupil from Richhill Academy; and the scenes of Alexander's own schooldays at the academy of his uncles Enos and Archibald in Newry, County Down.

Only one evidence of the Campbells now remains in Newry—the tombstone of Enos and his wife in the churchyard of St. Patrick's Cathedral. And even that will not... long remain unless steps are taken for its preservation. The stone is broken across the middle, the upper half lying buried in the grass. Perhaps some of us who have followed, or hope to follow, this historic trail will wish to restore this evidence of the Campbells' Irish heritage.

* * *

Research was Edinburgh and the trail of the Campbells in its environs. This time in company with the biographer of Thomas Campbell, Dr. Lester McAllister of Bethany College.

There was an afternoon in Whitburn—and the thrill of sitting by the fire to talk with Dr. W. B. McMartin of the Brucefield Church of Scotland in the manse once occupied by Thomas Campbell's theological professor, Dr. Archibald Bruce, and of later walking across the road from the manse to stand on the site of the Seceder Seminary once attended by Thomas. On another afternoon, there was a diesel train ride across the Firth of Forth so that Don Jarman might show us his discovery, a Campbell Anti-Slavery placard in the museum of Kirkcaldy; and from there a taxi ride to the village of Auchtermuchy in search of "Bethany Cottage," where Campbell visited his friends, the Drons, in 1847.

* * *

In a very real sense, indeed, on this second journey—from the Highlands, to Ulster, to England—research was friends.

It was old friends. The Melvilles of Belfast, whose parents' home was both a haven of welcome and a center for research on my first quest to Ireland. And Scottish friends, some of whose forefathers were among Campbell's most valued friends and supporters—Elizabeth Gilmour and the Crockatts of Glasgow, and Ann Wishart Miles of Hunter's Quay, who made the Highland Games at Dunoon a part of my education in Argyll.

It was new friends. Three days passed quickly in the country about Chester, England, with Ivy Stephen Talbot, a descendant of John Davies of Mollington, as a guide both informed and enthusiastic. There were hours of delving through her family papers at the Stephen home, "Kingswood," which John Davies had built for her great-grandmother in 1857 near his own "Tarrant Farm," where Campbell had enjoyed some of his happiest days in Britain. There were trips (to which four-year-old David Talbot regularly contributed his own brand of research assistance), and one day we were joined by Joseph Robinson, the lay minister of the church at Saughall, who happily contributed both historical curiosity and poetic talents recalling Campbell's own love of versemaking.

We went to "Tarrant Farm," of course, and to the homes of other members of the extensive Davies clan, including "Cox Lane" where Campbell preached on his one brief excursion into Wales. Another day's trip carried us into Staffordshire, where with the aid of Norman Cope, schoolmaster and antiquarian, we searched out "Oulton Retreat," a country house of Selina Campbell's family, the Bakewells, and through the generosity of the family at "Kingswood," two prized mementos, eventually destined for the Disciples of Christ Historical Society collection, were brought away from Cheshire—two mirror daguerreotypes of Campbell and his wife, Selina, doubtless given by him to his friend and host, John Davies.

The first days, in fact, of Campbell's British tour of 1847 were spent with Davies at "Tarrant Farm." Also, his last days before sailing home to America. So there we'll leave him, for the present.
[Not all the time in Britain 1960, was concerned with Campbells. There were also Cats, and lovers of cats—Egyptian and contemporary—from London to Sussex to St. Ives. This, too, is research, in different vein. And so, perhaps, may be the subject of a later tale.]

EDITORIAL . . .

(Continued from page 74)

CAMPBELL HOME SOURCE IDENTIFIED

Three specialists in West Virginia imprints saw the picture of Alexander Campbell's home on page 64 of the November DISCIPLIANA and immediately wrote to us concerning the source of the lithograph. All agreed that the print was from the History of the Pan-Handle; Being Historical Collections of the Counties of Ohio, Brooke, Marshall, and Hancock, West Virginia, compiled and written by J. H. Newton, G. G. Nichols, and A. G. Sprinkle. Wheeling, 1879.

The picture of the mansion occupies the lower half of the plate between pages 346-347. The top half of the plate shows "Pendleton Heights," the home of W. K. Pendleton, Bethany College president and Alexander Campbell's son-in-law. Also in the book is a six page biography of Campbell with a full page steel engraving of him.

This information was received in the following order from: Boyd B. Studler, managing editor of the West Virginia Encyclopedia, Charleston, W. Va., Miss Joan Ellis, assistant curator of the West Virginia Collection in the library of the University of West Virginia, Morgantown, and H. E. Matheny, collector of West Virginia materials, Akron, Ohio. We are grateful for their letters.

WILLIAM WOODS COLLEGE GIVES . . .

(Continued from page 75)

College, in the fall of 1927, on the death of Mr. Allen. Allen had been the first president of the college. In 1941 Henry G. Harmon, president, and Willis R. Jones, director of public relations of the college had the painting cleaned and framed preparatory to placing it on exhibition at the St. Louis meeting of the Internation Convention. It had been shown at the 1909 convention at St. Louis.

At St. Louis

The World Call of June, 1941 pictured the portrait as exhibited in the William Woods College booth at the convention, with Edgar DeWitt Jones pointing out the merits of the picture to Oreon E. Scott, Roger T. Nooe, and George Walker Buckner, Jr. Mrs. Allen, in her letter to Mr. Hill commented upon the World Call picture and volunteered the information that she had "recently written Bro. Harmon that I have set a price upon the portrait of $200.00." Later it was given to the college by Frank W. Allen, Jr.

The reproduction made for the Society, 16 x 20 inches in size, is a photograph of the original painting retouched in oil by Mrs. Hazel Vawter of Sedalia, Mo. Currently it is hanging over the mantel of the fireplace in the Trustees' Conference Room of the Phillips Memorial.

WANTED:

Aylesworth, B. O.—Song and Fable, 1897.
Bacon, Langston—Songs of Every Day Life, 1922.
Bacon, Langston—Songs of Faith and Trust, 1921.
Baker, E. D.—Masterpieces, 1899.
Bicknell, G. V.—The Vawter Family in America, 1905.
Bryan, Mittie—And the Valley Bloomed, 1944.
Combs, G. H.—I'd Take This Way Again, 1944.
Davis, J. L.—The Mountain Preacher, 1909.
Fairhurst, Alfred—My Good Poems, 1899.
Hall, B. F.—Every Man His Own Dentist, 1847.
Freese, J. R.—The History and Advocacy of the Christian Church, 1852.
Griggs, N. K.—Hell's Canyon, 1899.
Moon, M. A.—Sketches of the Moon and Barclay Families.
Thomas Campbell, 1763-1854 . . . Books by and about Him

Any serious student of Thomas Campbell’s life and work must use, in addition to the works listed below, the files of The Christian Baptist and of The Millennial Harbinger. He must be familiar with Richardson’s Memoirs of Alexander Campbell and with the basic books dealing with the general history and doctrine of the Disciples of Christ.

Although Thomas Campbell wrote little, compared to his son Alexander, his Declaration and Address is probably the most widely distributed piece of literature published by the Disciples. It has been reprinted many times as a single booklet and has been included in the body or as an appendix of numerous books.

The Declaration and Address likely was not given as an address, but was a document intended as a means of carrying into effect the important ends of the Christian Association of Washington. The writing of it was authorized at a meeting held on the headwaters of the Buffalo, August 17, 1809.

The Christian Association, which had held its early meetings in its member’s homes, erected a log meeting place on the Sinclair farm about three miles from Mount Pleasant, upon the road leading from Washington to that place, at the point where it was crossed by the road from Middletown to Canonsburg. The building was used also as a school.

Near the house was the residence of Mr. Welch. Here Thomas Campbell composed the document that he read to the committee which authorized its publication, September 7, 1809.

By Thomas Campbell

Reprinted many times; a facsimile edition was published in 1909 and the most recent printing is that of the Bethany Press in 1955.

About Thomas Campbell

BOLES, Henry Leo

CAMPBELL, Alexander

Reprinted in 1871; photolithoprinted in 1954 by the Old Paths Book Club, Rosemead, Calif.

HAYLEY, Jesse James

“Thomas Campbell, Creative Personality of the Union Movement of the Nineteenth Century.” (In his Makers and Molders of the Reformation Movement, 1914, pp. 11-24.)

HANNA, William Herbert

HAYDEN, Warren Luse

“Thomas Campbell and the Declaration.” (In his Centennial Addresses Delivered in 1909, 1909, pp. 3-11.)

KERSHNER, Frederick Doyle

This well known picture of Thomas Campbell was first used as a frontispiece in Alexander Campbell's Memoirs of Elder Thomas Campbell, 1861.

McALLISTER, Lester Grover, Jr.

Thomas Campbell; Man of the Book. St. Louis, Mo., Bethany Press, 1954. 294 p., port., bibliography, index. (Bethany History Series.)

The research for this book was done as a Th.D. dissertation at the Pacific School of Religion, 1953.

McLEAN, Archibald

SNODDY, Elmer Ellsworth

“Thomas and Alexander Campbell, Pioneers of Christian Union.” (In his Texas State Convention Addresses, 1931, pp. 10-13.)

TIERS, Montgomery C.

“Thomas Campbell.” (In his The Christian Portrait Gallery, 1864, pp. 55-60.)

WILLET, Herbert Lockwood

At head of title: The Memorial Pulpit.

Theses and Dissertations

FRALEY, Adrian V.

The Historical Setting and Some Influences of the Declaration and Address as Reflected in the Religious Press From 1810 to 1860. B.D., Christian Theological Seminary, 1946.

HUBER, Robert Titus

The Doctrine of the Trinity in the Thought of Thomas and Alexander Campbell—Including a Comparison With the Thought of Barton W. Stone and Walter Scott. B.D., Christian Theological Seminary, 1956.

HUMPHRIES, Ward Stewart

JOHNSON, Harry Eugene

Principles and Projections of the Declaration and Address, [of Thomas Campbell]. B.D., Phillips University, 1953.

McALLISTER, Lester Grover

Thomas Campbell; Man of the Book. Th.D., Pacific School of Religion, 1953. (Published: St. Louis, Bethany Press, 1954.)

ALEXANDER CAMPBELL, 1788-1866 . . . HIS WRITINGS

(Continued from the Sept. issue, page 55)

The Millennial Harbinger, Bethany, Va., published monthly from January 1830 through 1863, 34 vols., with A. Campbell as the editor. The periodical continued through 1870 with W. K. Pendleton as editor, 7 vols.

Photolithoprints of the first ten years have been issued by the Harbinger Book Club, Nashville, Tenn., and the Old Paths Book Club, Rosemead, Calif.

(Continued on Page 87)
Congregational Histories

During the last six months the library has received several well prepared and excellently printed new local church histories. These are listed and described below:

Illinois

Champaign. University Place Christian Church. "Lest We Forget," a History of the University Place Christian Church, Champaign-Urbana, Illinois, 1883-1957, by Denie L. Dungan, [1960]. 157 p., illus., index, cloth cover.

Kentucky

Michigan

Orchard Lake. Community Church. The Story of Orchard Lake Community Church, Presbyterian, compiled by J. A. Van Coevering, 1959. 32 p., illus., paper cover.

From 1871 to 1940 this church was a Christian Chapel.

Ohio

Pennsylvania

Mather. Christian Church. From Coal Dust to Star Dust, History of Mather Christian Church, 1925-1960, [by Mrs. Wade Speicher, 1960]. 40 p., illus., paper cover.

Texas

Virginia

The cover of the Centennial Book, 1860-1960, First Christian Church, Plano, Tex. Copies of this hard cover college annual type of history are available for loan upon request to the Society.
Books of Recent Date

In this column will be found a bibliographical listing of books and pamphlets of recent date that have been received in our library since last issue.

AGEE, Warren K., and others
Dr. Agee is a member of the First Christian Church of Morgantown, W. Va.

BALES, James David

BOATMAN, Don Earl

BRISTOL, Gerald and Moss Dennis

BRODERICK, Robert C.
Churches of Disciple interest that are mentioned are: Cane Ridge and Old Mulkey in Kentucky; First Christian Church, Columbus, Indiana; First Christian Church, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma; and The Richland Christian Church, Richland, South Dakota.

BROWN, Leland A.

BROWN, Tommy C.

BURKE, Jessie May, ed.

BURNETT, B. Bendyshe

CHRISTIAN Theological Seminary

CHRISTIAN WOMEN'S FELLOWSHIP

CLARK, Richard L. and Bates, J. W.

COLLINS, Willard

CRAWFORD, Cecil Clement

DAVIDSON, J. L.

This is the fourth in a series of yearbooks of direct support mission work. Others were published in 1955, 1957 and 1958.

ENGLAND, Stephen Jackson
The One Baptism; Baptism and Christian Unity with Special Reference to Disciples of Christ. St. Louis, Mo., Bethany Press, ©1960. 95 p.
EYNON, Dana

Bible 1, 2, 3’s. [Cincinnati, O., Standard Publishing Co., 1960.] 24 p., illus.

FERRE’, Gustave A.

FERNTHEIL, Fern

FIELDS, Wilbur R.

The Glorious Church; A Study of Ephesians. Joplin, Mo., College Press, 1960. 207 p., illus. (Bible Study Textbook Series.) Distributed by the Old Paths Book Club, Rosemead, Calif.

FLANAGAN, James Martin, ed.

GARNETT, Arthur Campbell

GILKEY, Langdon Brown

GRESHAM, Perry Epler, comp.

The contents include:

- "Alexander Campbell—Schoolmaster," by Dr. Gresham.
- "The Drama of Alexander Campbell," by Louis Cochran.
- "Alexander Campbell and Church Unity," by Roland Bainton.
- "Alexander Campbell and the Social Order," by Dr. Bainton.
- "Alexander Campbell Against Socialism," by Dr. Gresham.
- "Alexander Campbell’s Political Activity and Views," by Harold L. Lungen.

HALL, Samuel Henry

At head of title: Scriptures Studies Volume IV.

Contents: The Debate with H. K. Pendleton; the Debate with R. C. Harrell; and the Debate with J. J. Walker.

HALLADAY, Anne M.

These Cuddle Bear stories are different from those published in a book of the same title by the Bethany Press in 1930.

HARMON, Margaretta

HILL, Ferrell K.

HILL, Ferrell K.

JACOBS, James Vernon

JACOBS, James Vernon

JONES, William Freeman

KEMP, Charles Frederick

KUNTZ, Kenneth A.

_Forty devotional meditations._

LEAK, Roscoe R., and others

LEAVITT, Guy P.

[McCAY, Mabel Anna (Niedermeyer) (Mrs. C. C. McCaw)]

McGARVEY, John William

Also published as _The College of the Bible Quarterly, Vol. XXXVIII, No. 2, April, 1960._

MACY, Paul Griswold

McFARLAND, Harrold W.

"Being a condensed, interpretative history of the mission work of Restoration Movement Churches."

MCKINLEY, John

MARSH, Jessie Brown

MAUS, Cynthia Pearl and others

MAXEY, Robert Tibbs, Jr.

The personal story of the author in his relationships with Negroes and especially the story of the College of the Scriptures.

METCALFE, Isaac Edmund

O'BRIEN, Marian Maeve

OSBORN, George Edwin

"The contents of this book first appeared in _Encounter, vol xx (1959) 172-243._"

PUGH, Samuel F.

_The Church's Ministry to the Homebound; A Manual for the Department of Membership to Use in Serving Shut-ins of All Ages_. Indianapolis, Ind., Department of Church Development, United Christian Missionary Society. [1960]. 31 p.

ROBERTS, Emmett Ephriam

RUDD, Don and Johnson, S. C.

SECHLER, Earl Truman, ed.

SECHLER, Earl Truman, ed.

WHEELER, Joseph Clyde

UNITED Christian Missionary Society.

Reprints

CAMPBELL, Alexander

Christianity Restored; the Principal Extras of the Millennial Harbinger, Revised and Corrected. Rosemead, Calif., Old Paths Book Club, [1959]. 21, 404, 44 p.

A photolithoprint of A Connected View of the Principles and Rules by Which the Living Oracles May Be Inteligibly and Certainly Interpreted ... Bethany, Va., 1835. This was the first edition of The Christian System.

CARR, John

Chapters 7, 8, and 9, deal with the Kentucky revival and Barton Warren Stone. Reprinted from the original edition of 1857. Dust jacket end-covers picture the Barton W. Stone and Alexander Campbell sides of the cenotaph in the forecourt of the Phillips Memorial.

CHALMERS, Thomas

Photolithoprint of the original edition published 1892.

CRAWFORD, Cecil Clement

Originally published in 1933.

DOWLING, William Worth

A photolithoprint of the original edition published by the Christian Publishing Co., St. Louis, Mo., 1887. Also distributed by the Christian Family Book Club, Nashville, Tenn.

ERRETT, Isaac

Photolithoprinted.
FRANKLIN, Benjamin

A photolithoprint of the original edition published by John Burns, St. Louis, Mo., 1879.

JOHNSON, [Ashley Sidney]

Photolithoprinted.

MOSHEIM, John Lawrence

Photolithoprinted. Mosheim was a favorite church historian of first and second generation Disciples.

ROGERS, William C.

A photolithoprint of the original edition published by the Christian Publishing Co., St. Louis, Mo., 1889. This long out-of-print book is a "must" for the Disciple historian.

WHITMER, David

Originally published Richmond, Mo., 1887.

BASIC BIBLIOGRAPHIES . . .

(Continued from page 81)

The Millennial Harbinger, Extra:

No. [1], July 5, 1830. Remission of Sins. 60 p.

2 , December, 1830. Breaking the Loaf. 61-88 p.

3 , October 10, 1831. Extra Defended; Being an Examination of Mr. A. Brodus "Extra Examined." 48 p.

4 , August 6, 1832. [Questions and Answers.] 337-372 p.

6 , August 5, 1833. Regeneration. 337-384 p.

8 , October, 1835. Order. 481-528 p.

9 , December, 1836. Education. 577-608 p.

[12], December, 1844. Life and Death. 529-574 p.

[13], [April, 1847]. Bethany College. 8 p.

Notes

Norman E. Jacobs, minister of the Knoxville Christian Church, Pittsburgh, Pa., has called our attention to two doctoral dissertations about Alexander Campbell that should have been listed in the November 1960 issue. They are:

ASHBY, Leo

WILLIAMS, Horace G.

Theology of Alexander Campbell. Th.D., Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, 1934.

LeRoy Hay, Phillips University professor, Enid, Okla., informs us that his Th.D. dissertation, The Development of Missionary Administration in the Christian Churches of Kansas, done at Central Baptist Theological Seminary in 1954, is a study of the Kansas Christian Missionary Society. It should have been listed in the August, 1959, DISCIPLIANA in "New State Histories . . . and Some Old Ones."
The Walter White Papers Come to the Society

The cover of the Program of the International Missionary Conventions of the Disciples of Christ, Los Angeles, California, July 18 to 25, 1915. Two copies of this long needed booklet were included in several boxes secured from the library and personal papers of the late Mrs. Walter M. White of Nashville. Dr. White was the president of the convention in 1915.

Among the many pieces of material were the sermon notes of Dr. Walter M. White, 1868-1948, together with a record book he kept of funerals, marriages, and baptisms, 1895-1918, and "My Journey," the journal of a trip abroad, July 21 to September 17, 1935. There were books, pictures, clippings, letters, and programs all concerning the work of a busy minister and his wife over a long period of time.

These papers and books were placed with the Society by the daughters of Dr. and Mrs. White: Miss Frances White, Nashville, Tenn.; Mrs. Louis Cochran, Santa Monica, Calif.; Mrs. John Paul Pack, Seattle, Wash., and Mrs. Russell Persing, Clyde, Ohio.

During the 1960 calendar year, seven persons became Life members of the Society bringing the Life membership total to sixty-two. This is the largest number of Life memberships to be received in one year since 1955. Those taking out the new memberships are: David Nelson Sutton, West Point, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Wrathe, Nashville, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. John Rogers, Tulsa, Okla.; Mrs. William M. Forrest, Cuckoo, Va., in memory of her late husband, Dr. William Mentzel Forrest; Dr. Charles E. Crouch, Nashville, Tenn. Life memberships are secured by the single payment of $100. The Society is deeply grateful for the encouragement provided by Life memberships received in 1960.