CHERRY BLOSSOM TIME IN D C.

The Nation's Capital is a city extremely attractive for visitors from around the world, and especially 2012 as the Nation celebrates the centennial celebration of the cherished Japanese Cherry Blossoms. This year the celebration has been extended for five weeks, Tuesday, March 20, and continuing through Saturday, April 27, 2012. Visitors are being warned, especially first time visitors, to be prepared for congested traffic.

One of the beautiful historical sights includes the Martin L. King, Jr. Memorial which has been integrated physically and emotionally into a fresh circle of history and beauty. This is due to the vision of chief landscape architect Sheila A. Brady, who scouted the site. The four-acre, land-scaped memorial was set in the most historic belt of Yoshino flowering cherry trees in the nation. According to the Park Service the trees should start to bloom around March 20, and peak between March 24 and 25.

There will be plenty of fun at this year's Festivities which start as early as March 17th at the Corcoran Gallery of Art on Kite Making. On the 18th there will be a Japanese Tea Party for children. Many events are free and others have an admission fee between $10.00 and $200.00. You will be able to send blossoms to friends far away with Cherry Blossom Centennial Forever stamps which will be available March 24th.

Persons may learn more about the blossoms through the purchase of "Cherry Blossoms:" the official book ($30) of the National Cherry Blossom Festival. There is also a book for children, "Cherry Blossoms Say Spring" $5.95. To learn more about family activities associated with the cherry blossoms, go to wapo.st/blossomevents.
JACOB KENOLY, 1876-1911, was our first African American Disciples missionary to Liberia, Africa which was founded in 1821 by the American Colonization Society as a settlement for freed U.S. slaves. It was located on the West Coast of Africa. Kenoly was a 1902 graduate of Southern Christian Institute, Edwards, MS. He was one of 13 children born to former slaves, and grew up in Missouri.

Jacob wanted to serve the cause of Christ in Africa. He traveled there in 1905 aboard a steamer. He worked in the kitchen of the steamer and arrived at his destination with only the clothes on his back. Upon arrival Kenoly wrote to a friend in the U.S. – telling him “I was landed in Africa where I met the greatest trial of my life; in so much I began to think it was a mistake to have come and God did not want me to do this work here.” Despite a siege of climate sickness and numerous difficulties, he opened a mission school for children at Schiefflin in a log house which he himself built.

Clayton C. Smith, Secretary of the Disciples Board of Negro Education and Evangelization advised the Christian Women’s Board of Missions (CWBM) of Kenoly’s plight and in 1907 they adopted him as a missionary. The CWBM assumed responsibility for the missionary endeavor that was named the Liberian Christian Institute. Four years later Kenoly drowned while fishing to provide a supply of food for the boys in his school.

Emory Ross (1887-1973) accepted the challenge to replace Kenoly. The two had been close friends at SCI where Emory’s parents, the A. T. Rosses, taught. The Friendship had grown between the two much like that of David and Jonathan. Their souls were knit together. They had often played and sailed their little handmade ships on the ponds of the plantation.

Mother Ross recollected “In their play they were always sailing off to some far country and it looked like boy’s play, but in the light of what has since come to pass, it seems more like a prophecy for the day came when the black man sailed the great waters and the day came when the white boy followed him.”

(May Reid, retired staff member of the Disciples of Christ Historical Society)
After being interviewed by the school administration, the prospective teacher said: "Let me see if I've got this right. You want me to go into that room with all those kids, correct their disruptive behavior, observe them for signs of abuse, monitor their dress habits, censor their T-shirt messages, and instill in them a love for learning, also

You want me to check their backpacks for weapons, wage war on drugs and sexually transmitted diseases, and raise their sense of self esteem and personal pride, also

You want me to teach them patriotism and good citizenship, sportsmanship and fair play, and how to register to vote, balance a checkbook, and apply for a job, also

You want me to check their heads for lice, recognize signs of antisocial behavior, and make sure that they all pass the final exams, also

You want me to provide them with an equal education regardless of their handicaps, and communicate regularly with their parents in English, Spanish or any other language, by letter, telephone, newsletter, and report card, then

You want me to do all this with a piece of chalk, a blackboard, a bulletin board, a few books, a big smile, and a starting salary that qualifies me for food stamps?

You want me to do all this and then you tell me ..... I Can't Pray!

Mr. William Jackson, Reston, VA

As we embrace spring in 2012, I find myself recalling the “Arab Spring” of 2011. Dissidents in many Arab countries have had varying levels of success in their mass protests against oppressive regimes. It all started with a fruit vendor having his property taken by government authorities. He went to municipal offices to demand his property back and was beaten. He went to the governor’s office and was turned away. In front of that building, he set himself on fire and perished in protest. It could have happened in many countries, but in this case it happened in Tunisia. Ten days after the death of fruit vendor Mohamed Bouazizi, Tunisia’s dictator of 23 years, Zine el-Abidine Ben Ali, fled the country. The people rose up and said ENOUGH, and people in many other Arab lands have done the same.

By the fall of 2011, many in our own country were mounting mass protests against policies favoring the “one percent.” The Occupy Wall Street movement grew to cities across our land and into other countries. Like me, you have likely heard within your circle of acquaintances a wide variety of views about this OCCUPY movement. But statistics show broad support for a fundamental premise of the movement: HUMAN NEED, NOT CORPORATE GREED. We still read or hear in the news, as just one example, of huge bonuses being paid to executives in enterprises that are receiving taxpayer bailouts or government guarantees. Another fundamental premise of the movement is peace, and most OCCUPY rallies include significant numbers of VETERANS FOR PEACE. Who better than the very persons who served, to help us understand how our use of service persons and our military budgets are so often misguided? The makeshift OCCUPY villages might very well label themselves Compassion Corner. Persons are seeking fairness for the “least of these.” They seek peace. Just like Jesus. As we enter a new spring and prepare for a resurrection celebration, may we each seek to crusade (and pray!) in our own ways for fairness and peace. God’s peace be with you, OTG Friends!
Dear Friends,

It is a real joy to be back in touch with you. I pray you welcomed Spring with joy as we hopefully can put our heavy garments in storage and trip the light fantastic among budding trees and early blossoms. We welcomed Spring here in Washington, DC with the early blooming of the beautiful Japanese Cherry Blossoms. Festivities started the 20th of March and will continue until April 27, 2012. This will be the longest period of the official celebration. The Oldtimers' Grapevine Newsletter Ministry begins it's 21st year of publication with the January-March issue with mixed emotions as we celebrate 21 years of continuous publication but without our very competent, dedicated Editor/Manager, Mrs. Joyce Knox. Due to her illness we failed to mail the last quarter issue of 2011, but the volunteer staff has come to her assistance so we pray you enjoy this first issue of 2012. Joyce is a life long friend of mine and a coworker in service to our God and other community projects. She suffered the loss of her devoted husband, Melvin, and has nurtured her son over the last year as he successfully fought the threat of Cancer. We ask our newsletter friends to please join with staff in prayers for this courageous church and community leader. Also send up prayers for our Assistant Editor, Ms. Ellen Crowder. Ellen has been an effective staff leader for over six years and a dear friend. These experienced journalist have requested the team to come together for a brainstorming over exploring fresh ideas to a brighter future for this newsletter ministry. We are also asking our readers to send in ideas sharing your vision for this quality publication and continued success. Please include in your thoughts the goals of founder, Rev. Dr. William K. Fox. During an interview in February, 2004, by Rev. Dr. Ernest Newborn, first president of the Board of Directors, Dr. Fox began his answer with "When a crude four-page issue of The Oldtimers' Grapevine was mailed first class in February 1991 to about 100 church friends and former associates for their response it proposed a five-fold purpose. The purpose included 1- enhancement of communication and sharing of mutual experiences; 2- conveying a holistic view of aging and health; 3- being an advocate for seniors to become a support and loving, caring community; 4- giving honor and dignity to the lives of those included in For Whom the Bells Toll; and 5- highlighting opportunities for the maintenance of a high quality life style and service in retirement." It was my sincere promise that I "with God's blessings" would strive to accomplish all five of his goals and even achieve additional ones. His vision for the future included researching E-Zine publishing and web sites. He said technical resources and guidance can be secured on the Internet to assist staff in doing this. "The mission should never be tainted with politics in church or society. It is grounded in Jesus, the Christ, and this challenge should always be kept in focus." In his opinion all this is obtainable with full faith of dependence on God. "We can operate through individual, voluntary donations he declared, and "We are discovering this to be a fact and will continue the policy of free subscriptions."
ST. LOUIS, MO – Centennial Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) celebrated the Congregation’s 107th Anniversary by including the significant day of beginning and then including five days of historical events in their rich history. Rev. Derrick L. Perkins, Pastor, and Rev. Dr. Samuel W. Hylton, Jr, Pastor Emeritus, were the moving force of this phenomenal event.

Structuring the multi-factual program under the Theme “Faith that Binds the Past, Present, and Future”. Romans 5:1-2) the history began in 1904 when a small group of African American Women from Kentucky, led by Ella Brooks Thompson, organized what is now known as Centennial Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in St. Louis, MO. It is now often said the rest is history!

On Sunday, March 11, 2012, the worship was built on the importance of the Future. Youth and Young Adults were featured leaders. The next service in this unfolding story was March 17, 2012, in a gala banquet at the New Northside Baptist Conference Center, highlighting the masterful preaching skills of the Rev. Dr. Cynthia Hale, founding pastor of the Ray of Hope Christian Church, Decatur, GA. Her title was “Imagine This!”

The Sunday, March 18, 2012 worship services featured Dr. Hale, preaching and recognition of the pastor and members of the New Vision Christian Church, Kansas City, MO. A relatively new Community of Faith.

These rich spiritual events depicting the 107 years of service by Centennial Christian Church, were portrayed on Sunday, March 25, 2012, designated “Disciples of Christ Sunday,” recognizing the entire congregation of Memorial Boulevard Christian Church, St. Louis, MO. These activities were concluded with a special musical entitled “Fanciful, Fabulous, Females of Centennial Christian Church.

Rev. Perkins and Dr. Hylton planned these anniversary events to highlight the significance of the rich history of Centennial. “As the people of God, if we do not value our history we cannot appreciate the present nor hold before us the Vision of the Future. An anniversary offers the opportunity to mark this important milestone in our journey as Christians. As pilgrims, we tell the story or our faith to the world and to each other.”

COLORECTAL CANCER

Colon Cancer and Cancer of the Rectum usually start as a small polyp. Colon cancer symptoms may include a change in bowel habits or bleeding from the rectum, but usually colon cancer strikes without symptoms. That's why it's important to get a colon cancer screening test, such as a colonoscopy. If the cancer is found early, the doctor can use surgery, radiation, and/or chemotherapy for effective treatment.

You are at an increased risk if you have:
- A family history of polyps
- Been diagnosed with Crohn's disease or ulcerative colitis
- Previously had ovarian or uterine cancer
- Poor lifestyle habits, such as unhealthy eating habits and poor physical activity

10 Important questions to ask your doctor about colorectal cancer

1. How far has my cancer spread
2. What are my chances for recovery
3. What is your experience in treating patients with this disease
4. Am I likely to need a colostomy, if so, might it be permanent
5. What specialists will I see in my treatment and recover, what will their roles be
6. Which post-op treatments do you recommend, if any, do I have any other options other than radiation or chemotherapy
7. What side affects should I look for if I need those treatments
8. How often should I be screened for recurrent cancer
9. Is there any way to help prevent the return of my cancer can you recommend a good support group or resources where I can get more information

It's easy enough, go get screened...make an appointment TODAY...don't wait. get up and go and have a colonoscopy, today. (Kim Atwater Kaiser Nurse) that “you are what it is that you do.” This is considered an influence from her grandmother, Elizabeth McCoy Templeman who opened the first school for African American children in Colonial Beach, Virginia.

Mrs. Saddler is a graduate of Frederick Douglas High School, Baltimore and attended Morgan State University. She was a payroll clerk in the U.S. Air Force during World War II. She later earned a professional degree in Design from DeBalaz-Fleischer School of custom garment and millinery for the elite of Atlantic City and Philadelphia areas. Her fashions appeared in Ebony Fashion Fair shows and some of her designs and millinery were featured in Ebony Magazine. She designed and made gowns for contestants in the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City in the 1950s and 1960s. She was a consultant to DuPont Industries for the emergence of Ultra Suede material which she enjoyed before retiring in 1985.

Mrs. Saddler was a devout Episcopalian member of St. Augustine’s Church in Atlantic City. Her distinguished career was highlighted on November 6, 1988 when the late James L. Usry, Mayor, declared November 6 as Mary Tilghman D. Saddler Day. Mary hostessed many fashion shows at Casinos in Atlantic City to raise funds for advancing the mission of her church. She was a world traveler who especially enjoyed time in Paris, Spain and China. In less than three (3) weeks, this active church member would have celebrated her 98th birthday. During the final days of her most active life, she often stated “life owes me nothing.” She was preceded in death by husband, John Edward Saddler, brothers, William and James, and sister Beulah.

Mrs. Mary T. Saddler is survived by son Rev. John T. Saddler, (Patricia); Rev. Dr. Paul H. Saddler, Senior Pastor, Twelfth Street Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), (Honorable Fern Flanagan); daughter Linda Saddler Joyner (Alonza), granddaughters, Joanna, Myah, and grandson, Cainaan, Bradford and Christopher.

"For I know the plans I have for you, declares the Lord, "plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future."

Jeremiah 29:11 TNIV

REMEMBERING
REV. DR. WILLIAM K. FOX, SR.

"I am proud to say that my life was partly shaped by William K. Fox, Sr., even though our contact was not extensive. His influence was powerful. He taught me lessons in persistence, hope, resourcefulness, and giving everything you have to the task."

"In 1983, Ernest Newborn and William Fox hatched the improbable plan of raising money for the Reconciliation Fund of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) by organizing a bicycle ride from Indianapolis, IN, to San Antonio, TX, some 1175 miles. Bikers would seek financial pledges for their efforts and plan to be in San Antonio in time for the General Assembly of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) United States and Canada.

I had never undertaken bicycle touring but inspired by the biking exploits of Disciples seminary professor Keith Watkins, I signed up and began training. I biked solo from Oak Park, IL to Indianapolis to verify I actually may not drag down the group. I showed up on Monument Circle in the heart of Indianapolis, joining a good sized group for the first leg of the journey with Rev. Fox, the clearly experienced leader of the pack.

“As other riders left us after a day, week, or whatever, I continued with Bill and Ernest until we reached Little Rock, AK, when I needed to return home. Most of my memories of the details have vanished into the mists of the intervening 29 years. However I do have clear recollection of conversations with Bill. The first was about Ernest. I was concerned that he was not drinking much water, nor eating generously."
Bill assured me 'Ernest's choices were, well, unusual, but it works for him. Don't worry about Ernest,' so I didn’t worry any more – out loud.

"Another memory is still quite vivid. It is about dogs. We encountered several dogs. City dogs mostly barked and stayed close to home but country dogs would come after us. Most of them could run faster than we could pedal. I needed some way to cope with a snarling dog that was rapidly gaining on me. The dignified Rev. Fox had the solution. When the dog begins to show interest you yell at the top of your lungs ‘Hey DOG.’ This usually stops them and they trot back home. If it didn’t work, and this part takes courage, you stop, stand your ground and stare the dog down. That gives the dog an opportunity to change its mind and go back where life is more familiar.

Most of the miles there were only three (3) riders, Bill Fox, Ernest Newborn and yours truly. On a blistering hot day we came upon what seemed to be a gift from God. In the middle of nowhere there is a watermelon stand, and the owner was happy to slice a half of a huge watermelon into three slices and we dove into that cool sweetness. I prepared to take a picture of my two companions when Bill asked the operator to take a picture of all three. Knowing exactly what he wanted Bill put me in the middle, the picture was snapped and Bill gave it the title: ‘Leon teaches Ernest and Bill how to eat watermelon.’ (It is politically incorrect, I hardly dare show that picture in public. But, privately? I treasure it!)

"We reached Little Rock as my time ran out. I was regretful as I boarded the plane for home. But I was confident that, because Bill Fox was leading the way, Bill & Ernest would surely complete the journey to San Antonio.

"In those tedious, difficult, boring, glorious days of the 1983 Ride for Reconciliation, William K. Fox personified for me persistence, hope, resourcefulness, and giving the task everything you have. In following years I biked many times to Assemblies, raising money for the Reconciliation fund. Eventually I pieced together the rightful claim that I have ridden coast to coast. That would not have happened had I not share the road for some hundreds of miles with Bill Fox.

"I am grateful to God that my life path crossed with this saint on a bicycle. Every mile in his company was a blessing."

What causes infections?

Most cases of the common flu and cold are caused by viruses. But bacteria can cause infections such as strep throat, ear and sinus infections, and some cases of pneumonia.

How are infections treated?

Antibiotics kill Bacteria but do not help with Viruses. Bacterial infections are sometimes treated with antibiotics. You and your doctor will make this decision based on your health problem and your symptoms. How do bacteria become resistant to antibiotics?

Every time you take antibiotics, many bacteria are killed, but some are not. Those that are not killed are called RESISTANT bacteria. Resistant bacteria can stay in your body and may continue to grow. The more antibiotics you take, the greater your chance of getting resistant bacteria.

What can I do at home when I have a viral infection?

- get plenty of rest
- drink plenty of fluids
- avoid smoke
- breathe moist air from a hot shower
- take acetaminophen (always check with your doctor before starting any medication regimen)

SOUTH CAROLINA REGION Wins
PRO-RECONCILATION AWARD

The John Gillison Award for Racial Healing has been awarded to the Region of South Carolina. The award acknowledges extraordinary leadership and service toward Racial Healing in the state. Gillison, an elder in the African Methodist Episcopal Church, was the first African American president of the South Carolina Christian Action Council and the first African American president of an integrated body in South Carolina.

During the panel discussion of their work, the South Carolina Disciples of Christ, the Rev. Sotello V. Long, Regional Pastor, shared their views on racial healing and informed the group that the church has come a long way in the past 50 years. However, in spite of the progress there continues to be much more work along the journey towards realizing the goal of becoming a "pro-reconciling anti-racial" church.

The Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in South Carolina in 2004 decided to intentionally begin to do ministry jointly by birthing the South Carolina Regional Conference. This event marked the unity of the 125th Regional Assembly (predominantly white) and the 135th South Carolina State Convention (predominantly Black) "Disciples" churches.

In October 2012 the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in South Carolina will celebrate a Regional Conference that honors the its dual racial history. The State Convention will be laid to rest and a humbling transformation in the working of the assembly churches will be lifted up.

When we prayerfully discern the ways God calls us to be compassionate, we have difficulty selecting from the many needs for donating our time and talent and treasure. Hunger ranks right up there as a human need, and millions (even in the USA!) do not have adequate and proper nutrition. What about housing? Victims of war and disaster know how life-threatening it is not to have shelter. Should adequate housing for all God's children be our compassionate cause?

Carol Meyer, Executive Director of Sustainable Sanctuary, makes the case that we must care first for Mother Earth. Without that care, life as we know it cannot be sustained. There won't be people in need of food and shelter, because there won't be people! God equips us, of course, to address more than one earthly need through our stewardship. I hope you will join me in making stewardship of God's creation one of your compassionate cause choices. It allows us to help God's children for generations to come.

I like a statement attributed to Oren Lyons, chief of the Onondaga Nation: "We are looking ahead, as is one of the first mandates given us as chiefs, to make sure and to make every decision that we make relate to the welfare and well-being of the seventh generation to come..."

Let us look ahead together, OTG readers, practicing (or continuing to practice!) some of the following Sustainable Sanctuary recommendations for our homes and our churches:

- Energy efficiency/conservation
- Waste reduction and recycling
- Greening our grounds

Dear Friends,

As I write these notes for our readers I pray that you enjoy them with the same enthusiasm I have reporting them. As we begin I share that this heated political campaign led by the Tea Party has created fear in my thoughts of where our country is headed. This fear increased when several millionaires became staunch supporters.

Meanwhile, there has become a distinct division between the two political parties and this has led to shocking action in the halls of Congress. The country is politically engaged in a war of evil against good. In my humble opinion, goals of the Tea Party will lead this Nation toward these following prophesys becoming a reality.

In researching the histories of U.S. Presidents for a feature story I discovered this prediction by (Rep). President Abraham Lincoln, November 21, 1864. "I see in the near future a crisis approaching that unnerves me and causes me to tremble for the safety of my country...... Corporations have been enthroned and an era of corruption in high places will follow, and the money power of the country will endeavor to prolong its reign by working upon the prejudices of the people until all wealth is aggregated in a few hands. And the Republic is destroyed."

My fear increased as I recalled this comment by the Rev. Sharon E. Watkins, General Minister & President of The Christian Church (Disciples of Christ). Dr. Watkins declared, "We are Disciples of Christ, Disciples of Jesus Christ, a movement for wholeness in a fragmented world."

I have been in awe as I think of these profound statements by President Lincoln 148 years ago and Dr. Watkins, 146 years later. Two of the Nation's top political and religious leaders. As we ponder over these statements and what we are experiencing daily in this great country, all Americans should be in prayer, especially as to whom is most trustworthy in the leadership of the United States of America.

This Nation has truly been experiencing the impact of these predictions over the last three (3) years. There is apparently a well designed plan to take over this Republic by a crafty, wealthy group and the exposure came with the election of President Barak Obama which triggered the action of the Tea Party. My assumption is that the election of President Obama created fear in participants of this well planned scheme and forced them to unleash their attack earlier than planned.

My assumption is based on the announcements of President Lincoln just four (4) months short of 148 years ago and Rev. Dr. Watkins, 146 years later. The first prediction from our top political leader and the latter from a key female religious leader. I am neither a politician nor notable religious leader but then you do not need to be a rocket scientist to agree with the logic in my assumptions.

I have been an ardent follower of both the Bible and Politics my adult life and never experienced the unbelievable actions in Congress against the president as has been these last three (3) years. His election faced strong opposition but he was swept into office by a strong first time youth vote, and voters who envisioned an honest, qualified political leader with an exciting platform which promised all Americans a future. As you reach the polls ask yourself this question "will the logo on our currency 'IN GOD WE TRUST' become everlasting or will it become a nightmare?"

Until the next issue,

Be blessed
COLOR ME WITH LOVE

My poetry isn't Black!
My poetry isn't White!
It's no particular color
but for people, through God's eyes seen all alike.
There are poor of every color in all the land;
color never held a monopoly on feelings
in pertaining to any man.
All pain is painful,
and all tears look the same,
and whenever I hear laughter its sound is happy
whomever from it came.
My soul never thought of black words or white though I know there's many differences and prejudices to fight;
but somehow my pen flows free
for this is the way
God gives words to me.
Blood is the soul of all humankind;
the life of all flesh in Black and White you'll find I'll paint this world with words gathered from above - They're splattered all around me singing... "Color Me With Love."

GREENSBURG, PA -- The Rev. Dr. Jack Sullivan, Jr., has come back. Back to regional ministry, that is, after coming home to Ohio from an eight-year stint as Regional Minister and President of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in the Pacific Northwest.

Dr. Sullivan returned to his Cleveland, OH, birthplace in 2007 to assume the pastorate of Fifth Christian Church. In August 2011 he received a unanimous call to serve as Regional Minister and President of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in Pennsylvania. He officially began the new post Oct. 1, 2011.

Sullivan's return to regional ministry culminates a 29-year ministerial career that began in 1983 at Hill Street Christian Church in Louisville, KY. He later was called as associate for African American Educational Ministries by the Disciples’ Division of Homeland Ministries (now Disciples Home Missions), in Indianapolis, IN.

Feeling a call to congregational ministry, he then served as senior pastor of United Christian Church, Detroit, MI, before accepting a call to lead the Pacific Northwest Region.

Dr. Sullivan also wrote an article entitled, “What Black Churches Can Teach White Churches,” published in the July/August 2006 issue of Disciples World Magazine. He is completing his first book of sermons, with a targeted release date of fall 2012.

An 85-year-old couple, married for 60 years, died in a car crash and had gone to Heaven. They were in good health due to health food and exercise. After entering heaven Peter took them on a tour beginning with a beautiful kitchen, and master bath suite with jacuzzi. The old man asked, how much will this cost? "It's free," replied Peter, "this is Heaven"

They next saw this championship golf course and golfing everyday. What are the fees he asked Peter, who replied. "fees are free, this is heaven." They next visited the club house when a lavish buffet was being set up. "How much to eat" asked the old man? Peter tersely responded, "Don't you understand yet? This is Heaven, it is free!"

"Well where are the low fat and low cholesterol tables" the old man timidly asked. Peter replied, "That is the best part...you eat as much as you like and never get fat or sick. This is Heaven." With this the old man went into a fit of anger, stomping on his hat! Peter and his wife tried to calm him and asked what is wrong?

The old man looked at his wife and said, "This is all your fault! If it weren't for your blasted bran muffins, I could have been here ten years ago!"

Shingles is a skin rash caused by a nerve and skin inflammation from the same virus that caused chicken pox. After a person had chicken pox, this virus lives dormant in the nervous system and is never fully cleared from the body. Under certain circumstances like stress, cancer, or chemotherapy, the virus reactivates and causes shingles. Shingles usually occurs after the age of 60, but anyone who has had chicken pox is at risk. Over 1,000,000 cases of shingles occurs each year in the U.S. Since shingles is caused by the same virus that causes chicken pox it can actually be spread to people who have not had chicken pox. Shingles may cause pain that can continue after the rash disappears.

What is the treatment for shingles?

There are several effective treatments for shingles. Drugs that fight viruses (antivirals), can reduce the severity and the duration of the rash. If started early (within 72 hours of the appearance of the rash). Pain medications may also be needed for symptom control. Non-steroidal anti-inflammatory medications may also be used for pain management with shingles. The area involved should be kept clean. The involved area should be kept clean with soap and water. You may also use anti-itching lotions such as calamine lotion. You can also use meds to dry up the blisters such as Domeboro or Burow.

The Sessions 2012 of Disciples Men (and some women) was held at Bethany College in Bethany, West Virginia on July 13-15, 2012. Approximately 250 men from all around the country attended. The weekend provided a combination of mission projects and program workshops.

The men worked on installing a prayer labyrinth and benches at the Campbell Mansion under the direction of Randal Dawson and Dave Freeman. Bob Dobbins headed up a team building benches for the labyrinth. Freeman Wickham led a crew preparing and painting windows at the Bethany Memorial Church.

A Friday evening tailgate pig roast was followed by spiritual songs performed in the gym. Everyone participated in communion outside on the football field in perfect weather. Saturday activities included mission projects or attendance at one to two workshops from among the numerous programs offered.

During the business meeting the men voted for the first time to bestow Oscar Haynes with an honorary lifetime membership. He gave a speech providing some of the rich history of the Disciples Men and the impressive keynote speakers at Sessions including Jimmy Carter, who was later elected President of the United States. The men also voted to have a separate but coordinated event in 2014 with the Disciples Women in Atlanta, GA. They also voted to affirm the recommendation to hold the next I Sessions event in 2016 in California.

Saturday’s keynote speaker Derek Maul spoke from materials in his just published work “10 Life Charged Words – Real Faith for Men”. He interspersed scriptures, inspiring pictures, some hardy shouting, prayer and songs in his presentation. He followed introductions of the Session Leaders and Disciples of Christ General Minister and President Rev. Dr. Sharon Watkins.

Rev. Watkins directed the Laying of the last prayer and brick in the labyrinth. She shared how she had walked the labyrinth at Chartres, France and at New Harmony, IN. Her prayer included how on the day in 2005, when she interviewed by the Administrative Committee for the position of GMP, “my soul was calmed by walking the labyrinth at St. Luke United Methodist Church in Indianapolis. Here is a link to a video of my remarks at the dedication of the Campbell labyrinth at Bethany. It’s both a reflection on some of what the labyrinth means and also what it’s like to be part of the Disciples of Christ family.”

Hearing 250 men belting out songs, shouting praise to the Lord and praying in small groups was an inspiration. It was amazing to see the men so moved by the experience. It was truly an inspirational weekend.

One of the highlights for the summer of 2012 was the National Convocation 22nd Biennial Session held in Houston, TX. (July 26-29) Rev. Marilyn S. Fiddmont, Vice President of Christian Church Foundation served as the Local Arrangements Committee chairperson. Fiddmont reported that Disciples throughout Texas helped in a variety of capacities to make the session a success. Focused on the theme, “...Yet, I will Rejoice”, nearly six hundred were in attendance in the worship services.

A pre-Convocation Historic bus tour was coordinated by the Local Arrangements Committee. Betty Jo Brown and other members of University Christian Church, Houston, served as tour guides. Participants were able to visit the updated Buffalo Soldiers Museum, Project Row House, the cobblestone street of Freedman’s Town, Texas Southern University Library the Hartman and Barbara Jordan collections and other historic sites in the African American community of Houston. The tour included a box lunch from one of the popular black owned restaurants in Houston.

“Camp Convocation”, the children’s ministry program was directed by Patrice Virgil, Bonnie View Christian Church, Dallas, Rev. Tammy Fincher, Tree of Life Christian Church, Tomball, Texas and Patricia Law, University CC, Houston. The children had a field trip to the Children’s Museum of Houston and enjoyed a lunch sponsored by First Christian Church, Houston.

The youngsters also delved into a day-long study of Daniel and what it means to remain faithful in the midst of conflict and oppression. As part of their service project, they collected school supplies for Yellowstone Academy of Houston. A faith-based institution, the Academy provides outstanding programming in one of the lowest economic communities of Houston. The children also made picture frames and prayer boxes that were sent to special friends of National Convocation.

Fiddmont noted that one of the best parts of the months of planning was getting better acquainted with clergy and members from congregations in Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, Austin, Beaumont, and other parts of Texas.

“Everyone focused on what we could do to make participants feel welcome, comfortable, and that it was worth the time and effort to come to Houston. Whatever talents and resources were needed, we found them. It was a great spirit of cooperation and community”

Rev. Marilyn Fiddmont,
Chair Local Arrangements Committee
The ability to communicate verbally and in writing is what sets humans apart from lower species. But what we communicate determines how civilized we are. There are all kinds of information disseminated in all kinds of ways: face to face, phone, broadcast news, social media and newspapers. We hope that the information passed on is truthful.

Truth strangely enough has become a fungible entity. Look no further than our current political campaigns. I am making no political statement here, but I do call forth the partial and contextual truths not to mention untruths propagated by both parties in the interest of winning at all costs. The misspeaks and stammers by politicians in their speeches most certainly are the result of their trying to remember the “truths” that their handlers have constructed and coached. I would remind them and us what Mark Twain said, “if you always tell the truth, you never have to remember anything”.

Broadcast media often fail to bet their stories in order to be first with breaking news. Electronic and social media may be the most dangerous perpetrators and propagators of untruth, and the unedited misstatements of fact circulate with the speed of light. At least print media has the opportunity and hopefully lets cooler heads prevail in fact checking, editing and getting the story right. There is still a place for newspapers and newsletters to tell the stories as completely and truthfully as possible.

Another thing about the truth is that it promotes credibility and respect in communication. This is critical to trust in interpersonal as well as international relations. Peace comes from respect. Truth also encourages empathy, and empathy requires listening which permits understanding and advances loves which is the ultimate relationship.

Communication, truth, listening, empathy and love, but the greatest of these is love!

WASHINGTON, DC -- The steering committee of Christian Churches Together in the USA (CCT) has appointed the Rev. Carlos L. Malave as Executive Director, as of June 21, 2012. CCT is a national organization that brings together churches from all the Christian traditions in the US. He is former Associate for Ecumenical Relations for the Presbyterian Church (USA). He has served in pastoral ministry in California and Puerto Rico. He holds a Master of Arts from Loma Linda University and a Bachelor of Arts in religion from University of Antilles.

Rev. Malave noted that one of the most important challenges for CCT is to seek deeper relationship with churches of the African American and Evangelical traditions. In plans for an April 2013 event that will celebrate the 50th anniversary of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr's "Letter from Birmingham Jail." CCT is preparing a formal response to that historic letter.

CCT's next annual meeting, to be held early next year in Austin, TX, will focus on the human realities, legal implications and challenges of immigration in the US. The focus builds on previous meetings devoted to the topics of poverty, evangelism, and racism.

Created in 2001, CCT is a forum of more than 35 churches and Christian organizations that encompasses the broad diversity of Christianity in the US. The members are organized into five "families" -- Catholic, Evangelical/Pentecostal, Historic Black, Historic Protestant, and Orthodox. Rev. Carlos L. On April 21, 2012, Centennial Christian Church, (Disciples of Christ), St. Louis, MO, hosted the inaugural session of the Rev. Dr. W. K. Fox's leadership Institute. Pastor Derrick L. Perkins, Sr, spearheaded the process of naming the institute for the founding publisher of the Oldtimers' Grapevine Newsletter. In his opening Rev. Perkins stated: "It is with great joy that Centennial names this Leadership Institute in honor of the Rev. Dr. William K. Fox. We do so to keep legacy and the tenets he displayed alive and before us, as we seek to empower, transform, and train church leaders of all denominations. Our vision and hope is that it will become a critical and faithful experience of our church, as it trains leaders to help the people of God to fulfill God's mission and vision for the church today."

Dr. Norma Ellington Twitty and Patricia Clark, members mentored by Dr. Fox during the years he was pastor, led a session that shared his contributions to the local, regional and general church manifestations. Their historical overview revealed a preacher's kid, growing up in Milwaukee in the 1920's, in schools "mostly white"; a B.S. in History from Tennessee State, a B.D. from Chicago University Divinity School; a M.D. in 1965 from Christian Theological Seminary (CTS) and Butler University, where he was a Lilly Fellow. He later received an honorary doctorate from Tougaloo College, Jackson, MS. He later served as an assistant professor of History at Tennessee University, Nashville and later was ordained at Gay-Lea Fellowship Christian Church.

An overview of Dr. Fox's history revealed a pioneering man of God deeply rooted in the love of God and family. He revealed that "I met Jesus through a believing and courageous mother...She led me into reverence for life and sensitivity to the presence of God in the midst of life and struggle. His firm foundation in Milwaukee in the 1920s, sustained him throughout his 60 year marriage to Reubena Stultz Fox and a career that moved from university professor to local pastorates, ecumenical positions, and ultimately the number two executive position as Assistant to the General Minister and the Administrative Secretary of the National Convocation.

Dr. Ellington-Twitty declared, "So we see this man of God who heard God's for him to take over ever increasing responsibility and to expand his sphere of influence to over 1.4 million members of the denomination as the number two executive in the general structure of the church." The presentation ended with the enviable fame Dr. Fox had attained through his phenomenal strength in bike riding. He pioneered the historic Reconciliation Bike Ride of 1983 to raise funds to support the "race and poverty" program. In the famous 1983 bike ride, riders were to bike from denomination headquarters in Indianapolis, IN to the General Assembly in San Antonio, TX. At the age of 66, Rev. William K. Fox and Rev. Ernest Newborn, Reconciliation director, were the only two riders to complete the entire route of 1,300 miles. These two men, through the several sponsors, raised over $12,000 and through engaging countless Disciples along the way raised a grand total of $20,000. This innovative program has continued over the years. At the General Assembly in Nashville, TN, two bikers were Rev. Dr. Sharon Watkins, GMP, and Rev. April Johnson, Reconciliation Director, who biked and the Oldtimers' Newsletter was a sponsor in memory of Dr. Fox, (deceased) and Dr. Newborn.

It is safe to say that the vast majority of OTG readers have just suffered through the hottest summer they can remember. Many of us could say we suffered more without the benefits of air-conditioning some decades ago, but that was little comfort through the dog days of summer 2012. We who love our God say “How can we help others through these days, especially the homeless?” Churches and shelters help thousands escape from brutal weather summer and winter. God plants in us the seeds to find more permanent remedies.

Good news! Throughout our land (and that includes where YOU live!) the 100,000 Homes Campaign is a national movement of communities working together to find permanent homes for 100,000 vulnerable and chronically homeless individuals and families by July of 2014. This movement is already transforming America’s response to homelessness by giving communities concrete tools that work and connecting them to like-minded advocates across the country. These communities are experiencing tremendous results that continue to prove that homelessness is a solvable problem.

To date 154 communities have enrolled in the campaign, and collectively they have housed over 20,000 of their most long-term and vulnerable homeless people. Part of the success has come from efforts to reduce the number of steps and length of time required to move homeless people from the streets into permanent homes. Communities like Washington, DC have shrunk this process from upwards of 9 months to just two weeks! Less bureaucracy, more homes. Yes, with God all things are possible, including ending homelessness. Learn more at 100khomes.org or call me at 816-686-5624 for more information.
Dear Friends,

It has been my prayer that by the time I shared my notes with you again there would be less hostility in our 2012 Presidential election but disappointingly things are still immoderate. While researching the issues causing so much bitter fighting let me share with you legislation approved by congressional action which should not be fought over again, many of them in the late 1800s but dealing with social legislation.

History shows that on July 2, 1964, President Lyndon Johnson signed the Civil Rights Bill; on August 6, 1965, Pres. Johnson signed the Voting Rights Bill; Aug. 28, 1963, Dr. Martin L. King, Jr., leads March on Washington and delivers "I Have a Dream" speech; July 20, 1848, the Women’s Rights Convention assists anti-slavery movement; July 27, 1948, Legal Basis established desegregating the Armed Forces; July 28, 1868, Congress ratifies the 14th Amendment; Aug. 14, 1862, President Lincoln speaks to African American audience at the White House; and Sept. 8, 1875, African American voters turn down federal protection.

I am focusing on these key events because it shows, I believe, there is an effort in congress to no longer abide by legislation that has enabled the United States of America to provide full protection and equal rights for every citizen. Members of congress even show disrespect for the President of the United States of America even in the Sacred Halls of Congress.

I am a history buff who constantly follows history and in continuously researching our political past evaluate such rich history as in my notes in the last issue sharing the predictions of Pres. Lincoln, and Rev. Dr. Sharon Watkins. I am more fearful of our future now than I shared then, recalling President Lincoln’s words, on Nov. 21, 1864, “I see in the near future a crisis approaching that unnerves me and causes me to tremble for the safety of my country ... Corporations have been enthroned and an era of corruption in high places will follow, and the money power of the country will endeavor to prolong its reign by working upon the prejudices of the people until all wealth is aggregated in a few hands. And the Republic is destroyed.”

Just a few weeks later I received the5e notes of legendary ABC radio commentator Paul Harvey, made on April 3, 1965. This broadcast, entitled "If I were the Devil," increased my concern of the earlier predictions by President Lincoln and Rev. Dr. Watkins. Paul declared, "If I were the Devil...I mean, if I were the Prince of Darkness, I would want to engulf the whole earth in darkness. I would have a third of its real estate and four-fifths of its population and then set out to seize its ripest apple, the United States.”

As the Devil he predicted he would begin a campaign of whispers, to Eve, do as you please, to the young “The Bible is a myth”, “Man created God.” I would caution people to not be extreme in religion, in patriotism, in moral conduct,” and to the old, say “Our Father, which art in Washington” he continued, I would convince authors to make literature more lurid, threaten TV with dirtier movies, infiltrate unions to do more loafing and less work, peddle narcotics to whom I could, and sell alcohol to women and gentlemen of distinction. Tranquilize the rest with pills. This broadcast so clearly focused on the happenings which are clearly gaining strength in America. As I end these notes I share words of wisdom which I have followed over the years, by my Idol of PEACE, Indian leader Gandhi. “Seven Deadly Social Sins”.

Politics without principle, Wealth without work, Commerce without morality, Pleasure without conscience, Education without character, Science without humanity, Worship without sacrifice

Exercise your wisdom and prayer while casting your important vote.

THOUGHTS AND CONCERNS

November is when we are to
All vote again.
A day of hope, some doubt but with determined decision.
Let each one vote with a thoughtful mind,
Truly looking at the facts and not as though blind.
No one need tell another what to do
But just weigh what you know is the truth,
What is true.
Daily news sometimes lifts, sometimes confuse
But the children suffer most when we errantly choose.
More and more the nation is coming apart;
Voices of anger, resentment, bitter retort.
When the WORD is known,
firmly
Planted in one's heart,
No confusion, worry or fear will ever reign or impart.
Let faith, not fear, lead you on that day.
Go and vote in November;
Let truth prevail, I pray.

CANDL FOUNDATION CELEBRATES 14th ANNIVERSARY

HUNTSVILLE, ALABAMA -- A standing-room-only crowd gathered in the Holiday Inn Banquet Room on Wednesday, May 2, 2012 to celebrate the 14th Anniversary of a non-profit organization begun by Dr. Louis Brown and wife Carolyn. This prominent, successful business owner (Available Plastics, Huntsville) and wife decided to form the foundation with the thought "what do you do when you have all you need?" Their decision was to start the CANDL (Carolyn & Lou) Foundation.

Mr. Brown and wife, are, active members of First Christian Church, Huntsville, sought to share their success with the community so the Foundation's focus is on children's literacy. LEXINGTON, THEOLOGY -- The Lay School of Theology, Lexington Theological Seminary, a continuing education program primarily for those who wish to enrich their Christian faith is offering a fresh look at Paul's career and how to better understand his writings, on Oct, 13, 20, 27 and Nov. 3, 2012.

Lexington Theological Seminary is an accredited graduate theological institution of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ). Consistent with the Disciples' historic commitment to Christian unity, the Seminary is intentionally ecumenical with students, faculty, staff and trustees of various denominations. The Lay School of Theology is a continuing education program primarily for those who wish to enrich their Christian Faith.

Participants may register on line, www.lextheo.edu/2012/08/the. The $60.00 fee is due by October 6th. The focus will be on Paul, the controversial Disciple in his day and now in ours for opposite reasons. “We will examine what he has to say about women leaders in the church, about the end times, and about salvation (the faith and works question)” stated Dr. Jerry Sumney, Professor of Biblical Studies at LTS.

“In Paul, we will find a teacher deeply engaged with the problems his churches faced, how the gospel can be lived out in new situations, and how to answer some of the questions raised by the tension between church and culture,” Dr. Sumney said.
Encouraged by his parents, and their full support, Darrell D. Jackson, son of Mr. William & Mrs. Mary Jackson, Reston, VA, immediately following graduation from South Lakes High School, never tired of seeking a good education and most recently reached his goal of his PhD from the University of Colorado (Boulder) School of Education.

Darrell, the youngest brother of three, was born in Cleveland, OH and at the age of three his parents moved to Reston, VA. As a youth he loved soccer but when he entered South Lakes High School he began playing football and running track. He was wide receiver on the football team and ran the 110 meter dash, the 110 high hurdles, and the lead off leg on the 4X100 relay team.

When Darrell graduated from high school he immediately entered William & Mary College in Williamsburg, VA, where he also played football and ran track. Soon after graduating from William & Mary, he entered George Mason University, School of Law, Fairfax, VA. Building great strength for body and mind, Darrell founded and was editor of the Black Law Journal.

Upon graduating from William & Mary, he entered the George Mason University School of Law in Fairfax County, VA. While at Mason he was the founder and editor of the Black Law Journal.

Upon completing his law school studies and successfully passing the Virginia Bar Examination, Darrell went to work as an Assistant County Attorney in Fairfax County, VA. From there he moved on to become an Assistant United States Attorney in the Office of the United States Attorney in Washington, DC. He returned to the George Mason University Law School as an Assistant Dean and Director of Diversity Services.

Darrell left George Mason Law School to enter a doctoral program in Educational Foundations, Policy and Practice at the University of Colorado's Byron White Center for the Study of Constitutional Law. He successfully completed his studies and passed his oral examination in 2011. He then went to work as a Scholar in Residence and Director of Public Sector & Diversity Outreach at the University of Colorado teaching classes in the Graduate School of Education as well as the School of Law.

Darrell's research interests surround supporting historically marginalized communities (HMC) as their concerns are voiced and they struggle to obtain an equitable share of power within truly democratic societies. His theoretical framework is formed at the intersections of three primary disciplines: law; education; and race, cultural, or ethnic studies; and primarily utilizes critical race theory. Using counter-narratives from HMCs and legal analysis that suggests protecting those whose interests are often overlooked and overwhelmed, he critically analyzes institutional status quo through research, writing, teaching, commentary, and community service.

Darrell is currently a Visiting Professor of Law at the University of Wyoming College of Law.

The Oldtimers’ GRAPEVINE, Attn: Doris Daugherty, 3611 Bangor St., SE Washington, DC 20020-1245
Brooklyn, NY -- The Rev. Mary Anne Glover began this journey on the east side of Wilson, NC, twenty-six years ago, ten minutes from 'Atlantic Christian College' (currently named Barton College) and the Christian Church in North Carolina Regional Church office. Rev. Glover’s initial steps included traveling to Lexington, Kentucky to attend seminary, then to New York City as an Intern with the United States Office of the World Council of Churches and to the Ecumenical Institute in Bossey, Switzerland.

Reared in a new church start of the Christian Church in North Carolina Macedonia Christian Church, (Disciples of Christ), which later affiliated with the Church of Christ, Disciples of Christ, then back to the Christian Church, Disciples of Christ, Rev. Glover experienced the best of two worlds: the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) and the Church of Christ (Disciples of Christ). As a youth, Rev. Glover attended two summer camps: Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) Camp Caroline and the Goldsboro Raleigh Institute of the Church of Christ (Disciples of Christ) Summer Conference. It was during her summer camp experiences that she felt the call to ministry, but as a youth, Rev. Glover clearly saw the devaluation and discrimination of women in the church, so she intentionally negotiated with God that social work would be the ministry she would do. Prior to fully accepting her call to ordained ministry, Rev. Glover served as a social worker for six years. She preached her initial sermon and was licensed in 1986; she was ordained to Christian Ministry "twice": first by the Church of Christ (Disciples of Christ) and after seminary graduation, by the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in North Carolina and Kentucky.

On December 22, 2011, the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) Northeastern Regional Church Board unanimously called Rev. Glover to serve as the Northeastern Regional Minister. She was installed as the Regional Minister in the Northeastern Region on Saturday, September 15, 2012. This is a historical moment in the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) as Rev. Glover is the first African American woman to be installed in the office of Regional Minister.

Rev. Glover had served as Transitional Regional Minister of the Northeastern Region since September, 2008. Her prior service included pastorates of congregations in Indianapolis, IN, Minneapolis, MN, and Louisville, KY. Additionally, for almost nine years, she served in the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in Ohio as Associate Regional Pastor.

Rev. Glover holds a B. S. degree from East Carolina University, an M.Div. from Lexington Theological Seminary, Lexington, KY, where as a graduating student, she was one of two students who delivered the commencement address. She also holds a certificate from the Ecumenical Institute Bossey, Switzerland, where she served as the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) representative in the 1991-1992 school year. During her 2003 sabbatical, Rev. Glover, a Merrill Fellow, studied at Harvard Divinity School. She has also undertaken studies in Clinical Pastoral Education.

She has been engaged in many areas of ecumenical ministries and Disciples church life, including Vice-President of the National Black Ministers Fellowship, Vice-President of Common Global Ministries Board, and a member of the Council on Christian Unity, Church Women Staff Fellowship Vice-President, and the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) representative on the United Church of Christ Executive Council, Young Church Women United Representative to the Church Women United National Board, and co-chair of the Greater Minneapolis Council of Churches Beyond Racism Together Committee. Rev. Glover also served on the Nurture and Certification Committee of the Christian Church in Indiana and was teaching assistant in the class, "Introduction of Preaching" at Christian Theological Seminary, Indianapolis, IN. Currently, Rev. Glover serves on the board of the Faith and Public Policy Institute, Princeton, NJ, and is a member of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc.

The facets of justice and reconciliation—with emphasis on "people building and justice making"—are woven throughout each step of her journey. Rev. Glover states, "The steps on this journey have been life-challenging and life-changing; if I were to tell you the whole story, even in 2012, you would gasp for breath for the injustices against women, particularly Black women and all dark skinned people, which continue to exist within the church and society!" But God ... but God continues to state, "I am about to do a new thing; now it springs forth, do you not perceive it?" God is already doing a new thing, moving in a new and different way! Quoting her congregational pastoral mentor, the late Rev. Dr. Walter D. Bingham (former Moderator of the Christian Church, Disciples of Christ), "Mary Anne, you pray; God will answer; speak the truth in love—with power and conviction, and God will bring the change, in God's time!" God's time is now! God is doing a new thing!

Rev. Glover is the daughter of the late Willie M. and Tamer Hinnant Glover and the youngest of four siblings: George Burns, Charles Edward, and Timothy Cefare.

This is the second in a series on Regional Ministers:

There are 33 regions and all 33 regional ministers are members of the College of Regional Ministers, Rev John Richardson, regional minister of the Christian Church in North Carolina is the current president.

The primary purposes of the College are coordinating and networking with the other manifestations of the Church. Its goal is to avoid duplication and to do ministry more effectively and efficiently. The group meets three times a year and a portion of its time is devoted to discussing the needs of pastors and churches regarding the search and call process.

The College also takes up personnel matters involving alleged misconduct by regional or congregational personnel. The college also assists local pastors who are engaged in congregational transformation and clergy who have an urgent need for relocation or repair of their facilities.

Regional ministers serve as pastors to congregational pastors. The college of regional ministers is divided into five fellowship groups. Each fellowship group meets once a year and serves as a support mechanism among College members. They also provide support for the churchwide stewardship initiative, conducts training that leads to peer review of regional ministries and shares funds with smaller regions experiencing economic difficulty.

Importantly, the College of Regional Ministers, along with its General Ministry partners, explores ways that the College can be engaged in adaptive change, so that the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) can more faithfully respond to the challenges of the 21st century mission field.
Then he said to his disciples, “The harvest is plentiful but the workers are few. Ask the Lord of the harvest, therefore, to send out workers into his harvest field.” Matthew 9: 37-38 NIV

The Texas Christian Missionary Fellowship (TCMF) Men’s Ministry Department has declared that it will put feet, arms, muscles, talents, and skills together to support the Hands on Mission Program of Jarvis Christian College. On August 3, 2012, with the blessings of Jarvis President, Dr. Lester Newman, the college supplied the materials and TCMF members supplied the labor to paint the Fellowship Hall on the first floor of the Jarvis Chapel.

The crew consisted of Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) members: Tommy Cole, Jr., Alvin Ervin, Bobby Williams, and Howard Coleman, Warren Avenue Christian Church; Marlon Edwards, Millie Edwards, and William Smith, Center Point Christian Church; Armie Mitchell, Ida Mitchell, and Barbara Davis, First Christian Church, (Hawkins); and Pastor Olin Fregia, Myra Clift, Joyce Miller, and Lela Jackson, Jarvis College Christian Church.

The ladies of First Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) and Jarvis College Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) provided breakfast, lunch, and dinner for the workers. Lela Jackson, retired Jarvis staff member, has participated in every Hands On Mission project since the late Rev. Dr. William K. Fox, The Oldtimers’ Grapevine founder, initiated the program in 1995. Fox proposed the program in response to a request from Jarvis President, Sebetha Jenkins, to recommend ideas to enhance the campus environment, as well as promote fuller support of the college by Disciples of Christ church members. He described the program as a way to combine the works of “head, heart, and hand” by inviting Disciples’ members from around the country to spend a week on campus to work on needed projects. For the next decade, in any given year there were as many as 75 participants, from around the country, involved in campus beautification and facility upkeep projects.

This broad level of participation in the Mission Program has not been sustained in recent years, particularly for participants outside the state of Texas. Lela Jackson provided this update on the program to, Dr. Norma Ellington-Twitty Grapevine Board chair when she was completing research for a presentation at the inaugural session of the Rev. Dr. William K. Fox Leadership Institute at Centennial Christian Church (Disciples of Christ). Ms. Jackson served as Director of Volunteer Services at Jarvis for many years and worked directly with Fox. She provided good historical data and expressed a determination to keep the program alive. The two ladies committed themselves to work toward that end.

At the National Convocation of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in July 2012, Dr. Ellington-Twitty met with Lela Jackson, William Smith and Bobby Williams of the TCMF who declared their determination to revive the Hands On Mission Program. They indicated that the TCMF had agreed to adopt the Hands On Mission Program as one of their annual mission projects. TCMF President, Bobby Williams said: “We watched Bishop College die in Dallas, but we must refuse to sit by and let Jarvis go the same way.” The Oldtimers’ Grapevine is fully committed to support all efforts to revive the dream of our founder, Rev. Dr. William K. Fox to involve our Disciples of Christ members around the country in mission projects that can help them “show their love” and grow in appreciation for the wonderful work Jarvis is doing.

The next annual Hands on Mission project is planned for May/June 2013. The prayer of Lela, Bobby and William is that Disciples of Christ Men’s groups, Disciples of Christ Church members across the country, Jarvis alumni, and other supporters of Jarvis College will join the effort next year. Further details and plans for the Mission Project will be publicized in The Oldtimers’ Grapevine, as well as the college alumni affairs communications. Those interested in supporting this Mission Project next year are asked to contact Lela Jackson at HinchenHats@gmail.com.
"The pen is mightier than the sword" is an old adage coined by English author Edward Bulwer-Lytton in 1859. It is fitting to reflect on this truism as we pay tribute to a dynamic church leader, Rev. Dr. Raymond E. Brown, who excelled in every leadership position he held in over two decades.

His sharp mind was exceptionally important in developing the merger of the National Convocation into the structure of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ); the first president of the Convocation; vice president of Church Extension; interim president of the Division of Homeland Ministries, (now Disciples Home Missions); the first African American vice moderator of the General Assembly of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ). Rev. Brown served on a wide multitude of church boards.

Ray, as warmly addressed by friends, will be truly missed. His wisdom was constantly sought by others. He was a strong supporter of the Oldtimers’ Grapevine Newsletter and friend of the founding Managing/Editor, Rev. Dr. William K. Fox and yours truly.

The Board, Dr. Norma Ellington-Twitty, Chairwoman, and Staff of the Oldtimers’ Grapevine Newsletter celebrates the life and legacy of this great Saint of the Church.

ROANOKE, VA -- Rev. Dr. William Lee celebrated 35 years of service, Sept. 8 and 9, 2012, at Loudon Avenue Christian Church. He was honored by a standing-room-only crowd whose lives he had touched with deeply committed service. Beginning in 1989 Dr. Lee has led his congregation in providing health care to those in need. The health program began with blood pressure checks following Sunday services.

Sensing a real need the blood pressure checks grew to include cancer screenings, nutrition, fitness education and non-emergency transportation to physicians and pharmacies. This congregational health program, New Horizons Health Care, became community-wide, serving 9,000 people annually. In 1910 the remodeled educational wing of the facility was named in Dr. Lee’s honor.

Dr. Lee is a former Moderator of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) and is recipient of the Historical Society Faithful Servant Award, an annual award that recognizes those who have given an extra-measure of service to causes in the whole church. His service to the Roanoke community includes Chair of the Blue Ridge Health Care Board of Directors.

NASHVILLE, TN- Rev. Dr. Glenn T. Carson, President of the Disciples of Christ Historical Society, and Editor-in-Chief of Discipliana, (a journal of Stone-Campbell history), has announced the Stone-Campbell Global History will be available in early 2013. Dr. Carson revealed that this publication "will become the foundational resource for historians, researchers, ministers, followers, students, and others craving knowledge about the Stone-Campbell Movement that led to the Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ); the Churches of Christ, the Christian Churches/Churches of Christ and other related strands of the movement.

Serious work for the book began in 2005 at the American Academy of Religion meeting in Philadelphia, PA. The key players were Russ White, Dr. Carson, and three editors, Dr. Paul Blowers, Dr. Douglas Foster, and Dr. D. Newell Williams. The project was approved by the boards of Chalice Press and the Historical Society. Work began in earnest in 2006. With the idea that it would be more widely accepted it was truly global from the beginning. The Stone-Campbell heritage spans over 200 years and more than 100 countries.

This has been an extensive costly project in both time, talent and finances. There have been 15 prominent historians working on the completion of this historical document. The two premier editors are Dr. Williams, president at Brite Divinity School, and Dr. Foster, professor at Abilene Christian University. They spent countless hours working together to insure the final integrity of the book.

“True compassion is more than flinging a coin to a beggar; it is not haphazard and superficial. It comes to see that an edifice that produces beggars needs restructuring.”

Martin Luther King, Jr., civil-rights leader (1929-1968)

There are many holidays to look forward to as I write for this issue. The one that shapes my New Year’s Resolutions is the commemoration of Martin Luther King, Jr. on January 21. We see that the beloved Dr. King did not say to stop flinging coins. “True compassion is MORE than flinging a coin…” So might I suggest that we keep figuratively “flinging the coins” in the following ways that address immediate needs:

- Be a part of food distribution (meals or groceries) at least once a month.
- Write at least one note a week to someone known or unknown who is suffering hardship.
- Drop off or otherwise contribute a shampoo or deodorant or soap or toothpaste for a shelter for the homeless at least once a month.
- Offer to answer the phone at Salvation Army for a week during the year when the regular employee/volunteer is on vacation.

True compassion also has us resolving to “restructure the edifice that produces beggars.” Some ideas for us to consider:

- Help build a home with Habitat for Humanity or volunteer at one of HFH’s ReStore shops.
- Be a part of a tutoring program in a low-income neighborhood.
- Volunteer at a clinic that offers free mammograms or vaccinations.
- Write to your Congressman to promote fairness in nutrition, housing, health care, and education.

If each of us did each of these things in 2013, what a difference it could make for the future of this country and the world. It is not too long a list. Tithing our time and talent would allow us to do all these things, or things equivalent, in 2013. God and all the saints – including Dr. King – will be blessing our good works.

Happy New Year OTG readers!
As I prepared to share my notes with the wonderful supporters of the Oldtimers’ Grapevine Newsletter my mind was flooded with memories of my predecessor, the present and the future of this ministry. This issue marks the end of 21 continuous years of publication, during a time when the future of printed media is in question and I stand on the cusp of my 97th birthday, January 18th.

The founder of this legacy, Rev. Dr. William K. Fox, Sr., established five basic purposes for its future: 1 - enhance communication and sharing of mutual experiences  2 - convey a holistic view of aging and health, being engaged in "God/activity  3 - advocates of seniors supporting community with personal loving care  4 - give honor and dignity to all persons, especially including "For Whom the Bell Tolls"  and 5 - highlight opportunities for maintaining a superior lifestyle in retirement.

During the years of my leadership of the Oldtimers' Grapevine I strived to strengthen Dr. Fox's goals and add those which I envisioned would improve the publication. There has been commendable progress and now it is time for change. My goals have included: to identify the newsletter as a ministry of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), put the publication on a more sound financial footing; broaden its appeal to a larger reading audience and lastly, provide strong support to ministries facing difficulty in surviving.

I have requested the search for a successor during the period of my birthday (Joan and I like the idea of celebrating our birthdays for at least 30 days. Publishing this newsletter is a love of mine but I realize my best years of productivity are decreasing. As you read my notes and someone comes to mind who loves journalism and communication I encourage you to share their name with me and I will share your recommendation with the Board.

I along with the Staff and Board pray the abundance of God's blessings you and your family as you live faithfully into 2013! Happy New Year!

My Tribute to
BILLY PINKSTON BRIDGES

I’d known her since the 60’s,
Always helpful, sweet and kind.
You couldn’t help but love her;
A hug and smile you’d always find.
Billye, a true servant, had a special way and touch,
She was dedicated, loyal, with a laugh we Loved so much.
A Disciple’s Disciple with a zeal to learn
And the ability to help others receive and discern.

Her season was ending,
Getting ready to go.
All seeds had been planted,
With a smile on her lips and HIS Light
In her eye.
Billye slipped quietly away,
No more tears to cry.
Let us run on for one day we too will see
The face of our dear Savior and

That smile of our Billye.

ceive the Oldtimers’ Grapevine.

My sincere gratitude goes to the Directors, Editors, and other staff personnel for the beautiful jobs they are doing in keeping us informed of our sisters and brothers across the brotherhood. I shall always treasure our friendship. A check is on its way to The Old Grapevine.

May the Good Lord continue to bless each of you.

Love! Peace! Joy!

P.S. This flower—"the rose," was one that I had in my rose garden this summer.

Dear OTG Board & Staff.

As we celebrate the Christmas Holidays, Ken and I wish to celebrate the love and sacrifice you give to us with the publication of The Oldtimers’ Grapevine Newsletter.

Ken & Jimmy Mohler, Kansas City, MO
DETROIT, MI: Kenneth N. Hylton Sr. Esq:

On September 7, 2012, Kenneth N. Hylton Esq., 83 years of age, passed after several weeks battling throat cancer. He was the beloved brother of Samuel W. Hylton, Jr., Pastor Emeritus of Centennial Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in St. Louis, Missouri, and the beloved uncle of Rev. Dr. Cynthia L. Hale, Grapevine Board Member and Senior Pastor of Ray of Hope Christian Church in Decatur, Georgia.

Born in Roanoke, Virginia in 1929, he grew up in a religious environment in which his father, the late Rev. Dr. S. W. Hylton Sr., and mother, Idenia Hylton, instilled in him unshakeable Christian values. He grew up with older brother S. W. Jr. “Buddy” and sister Janice. In his youth, he saw many heart wrenching instances of poverty and resolved early on to be on his feet, and work to alleviate the hardships he saw in the African-American community of the segregated South.

In 1946 he went to Talladega College and graduated with a Bachelor of Arts Degree in 1950. While at Talladega, he met the woman he would marry, Ethel Washington. He was admitted to Boston University (BU) Law School in 1950, where he befriended Martin Luther King Jr. (for whom he would help organize the 1963 Detroit prototype of the historic March on Washington). He graduated from BU in 1952, among the few of an early generation of African American lawyers who would tear down color lines around the United States and move this country in large strides toward racial equality. He continued his education at Wayne State University, earning a Master’s Degree in 1954, while serving in the United States Army. Discharged from the army after three years of service at the rank of First Lieutenant, he, his wife Ethel, and first son Kenneth Jr., moved to Detroit, Michigan. Although his early practice of law was in major Detroit law firms, he ended his career in his family practice of Hylton & Hylton, P.C. Honesty, integrity, purpose, and service were the threads of his life’s fabric as a lawyer, businessman, politician, civil rights organizer, and family man. He was a member of a number of law related associations. Kenneth was a Fellow of the Michigan State Bar Foundation, a former Chairman and member of the State Bar Grievance Board for Michigan, and a former referee for the Civil Rights Commission of the State of Michigan. He was considered an expert in Probate Law and Practice, including Legal and Fiduciary roles in administration of estates of deceased persons. Along with his passion for the law, which saw him opening his office almost every week Day (and some Saturdays) during his 56 years of practice, his other involvements were many, including the Alpha Phi Alpha and Sigma Pi Phi fraternities, the NAACP, the NAACP National Housing Corporation (for which he was counsel), Westlawn Cemetery Association of Detroit, Inc., the State Democratic Party for the State of Michigan (former Vice-Chairman), First Independence National Bank of Detroit (former Secretary of the Board and Legal Counsel), National Housing Conference (former Secretary and Chairman of the Board of Directors), Omnibank Detroit (former Secretary of the Board and General Counsel), and the Board of Trustees, Talladega College.

His son Kenneth N. Hylton, Jr. died after a long struggle with cancer in 2001. His wife of 59 years preceded him in death in 2010. He is survived by his brother Samuel Wilber Hylton Jr., sister Janice Hale, sons Kevin Hylton and Keith Hylton, and grandchildren Kenneth N. Hylton III, Cecelia Theodora Hylton, Ethel Louise Hylton, Antonia Alma Hylton, Norma Kimberly Hylton, Consuelo Karen Hylton, Margaret Maria Hylton, Keith Edward Hylton, Nieces Karen E. Hylton and Cynthia L. Hale, and a host of other beloved relatives and friends.

WASHINGTON, DC -- Rev. Ronald T. Tate, an anointed, spirit-filled man of God, went home to be with God on November 29, 2012. A memorial service was held at National City Christian Church December 8, 2012 led by Pastor Stephen Gentle.

Rev. Tate, native Washingtonian, was the son of Alice F. Tate & William O. Tate (deceased). After graduating from McKinley Tech High School he entered George Washington University (1975--1976) and Southeastern University where he graduated summa cum laude with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Business Administration in 1982. He received a Master of Divinity Degree from Wesley Theological Seminary in May 1986.

Rev. Tate was licensed to preach July of 1976 by St. John Baptist Church (Rev. John H. Jackson, pastor). He was ordained March 1978.

While in Seminary Ron worked part-time at National City in the capacity of Associate Minister of Christian Education (1983-1988). He was responsible for the Christian Education Department, Evangelism, and Church Membership.

Ron was a man of many talents. He was a property Management Specialist/Program Manager, Department of State (1989-2012); one of the founders and lifetime board member of the Marshall Heights Development Organization; President of the Burrville Parent-Teacher Association; founder and coordinator of the St. John Computer Lab at National City. Rev. Ronald Tate is survived by his wife Laurese Dancy, sister Gladys Loretta Tate, brother Frank O., two sons Taylor Mathew and Cameron Tobias, and several aunts, uncles, nieces, nephews and friends. Although it was difficult for him speak he delivered his final sermon to his wife, which conveyed this thought: “No matter what you are going through, God is there. He is always there to help you.”

ARVADA. COLO – Bruce Tilsley, 80-year-old graphic designer and life long member of The Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) will be remembered for defining the now familiar, Chalice Logo of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ). The drawing was presented to him on a paper napkin drawn by Robert Friedly and Ronald Osborn at the 1971 General Assembly in Louisville, KY.

Mr. Tilsley was a prominent artist who had been a resident of Colorado most of his life. He was an active member of the General Board, Administrative Committee. Pictured is an example of his work when he saluted the Oldtimers’ Grapevine on its 16 years of service.

Memorial gifts may be made to the Tensyon Center for Children at Colorado Christian Home, 2950 Tensyon St., Denver, CO 80212.
